Simeon E. Hedding, oldest passenger engineer on the St. Paul road died at his home in Minneapolis. During his forty years' service he never had a wreck and never lost a cent of property belonging to the company as the result of accidents of any kind. He had the honor of pulling the first train which ran out of Minneapolis on the St. Paul road. This was on Christmas day, 1874.

Four weeks beneath a hay stack is the tale of a valley dairy cow brought to Crookston by Ole Hoven, a farmer. Hoven has a large hay stack on his farm, at which cattle feed. The stack tumbled over in March. Hoven missed the leanest of his cows and had given her up for lost. A few days ago he was amazed to see the cow sleek and fat, emerge from the ruins of the big hay stack.

James Gordon lies in his room in Minneapolis in a precarious condition, having escaped death by the fraction of an inch as the result of a vicious assault of Roy Miller, enraged because he thought the affections and trunk of his sweetheart had been stolen from him.

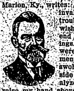
Steam shovels will start work at once on the Northern Pacific's new line in the Fountain cut, near Hawley. It is proposed to put a bridge over the big sink hole at Stockwood and a new bridge over the Buffalo river at the site of the old Jacobson mill.

The 25,000 club of Crookston will canvass the question of holding a big Fourth of July celebration there this summer. Preliminary plans have been arranged for fire team run, races and ball games. The city has not held a celebration for a number of years.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.
Raised Up When Science Said There Was No Hope.



G. W. L. Nesbitt, Depot Street, Marion, Ky., writes: "I was a chronic invalid with kidney troubles, and often wished death might end my awful sufferings. The secretions were thick with sediment, my limbs swollen and my right side so nearly paralyzed I could not raise my hand above my head. The doctor held out no hope of my recovery, and I had given up, but at last started using Doan's Kidney Pills and made a rapid gain. After three months' use I was well and at work again."

15 YEARS OF SUFFERING.
Burning, Painful Sores on Legs—Tortured Day and Night—Tried Many Remedies to No Avail—Cured by Cuticura.
"After an attack of rheumatism, running sores broke out on my husband's legs, from below the knees to the ankles. There are no words to tell all the discomforts and great suffering he had to endure night and day. He used every kind of remedy and three physicians treated him, one after the other, without any good results whatever. One day I ordered some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. He began to use them and in three weeks all the sores were died up. The burning fire stopped, and the pains became bearable. After three months he was quite well. I can prove this testimonial at any time. Mrs. V. V. Albert, Upper Frenchville, Me., July 21, 1907."

In Danger.

"Bobby will develop into a joke writer if he is not squelched," said Bobby's father with the gleeful expression which always accompanies a my-child story. "We have been discussing the South's going dry pretty frequently lately, and that may account for his choice of subject. At table last night he said: 'Papa, why is a postage stamp not a prohibitionist?' 'Give it up, son.' 'Because,' said kid, 'it sticks to its licker.' Not bad for a ten-year-old, was it?"

Tree an Old Man's Friend.

Charles Nickolson, Sr., has a pecan tree of which he is justly proud. In 1855 he was brought to Texas as a slave, says the Houston Post. When he was set free he bought a small farm and there was one pecan tree on it. He planted a few more trees, but they were small or common pecans.

While young and strong he raised cotton and corn and made a living, but no money to save. To-day he is no longer able to work the field, but devotes his attention to pecan trees. One tree bears the largest pecans grown in America. They can be found at the department of agriculture, Washington, where he sent a few.

Last year he sold $54 worth from this one tree. He gave his friends some and planted more. The young trees he is selling rapidly at $1 each, and yesterday said he had none left.

FRIENDS HELP.
St. Paul Park Incident.
"After drinking coffee for breakfast I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down.
"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited by quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to quit coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum.
"Another lady who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years, found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and beginning Postum twice a day. She was wholly cured. Still another friend told me that Postum Food Coffee was a Godsend to her, her heart trouble having been relieved after leaving off coffee and taking on Postum.
"So many such cases came to my notice that I concluded coffee was the cause of my trouble and I quit and took up Postum. I am more than pleased to say that my days of trouble have disappeared. I am well and happy." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Congress.

Resume of the Week's Proceedings.

Thursday.

Washington, May 1. — The consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed in the house yesterday. Mr. Townsend of Michigan offered an amendment increasing from $50,000 to $350,000 the appropriation for the enforcement by the interstate commerce commission of that clause of the Hepburn act directing the commission to cause to be made examinations of the accounts of the interstate railroads of the country to determine whether that law is being violated, and to make public the results of such examinations. After a debate lasting four hours the amendment was agreed to.

The senate had under consideration all of yesterday the agricultural bill. Practically all of the committee amendments were disposed of except those relating to the forest service, which will be taken up to-day.

Friday.

Washington, May 2. — The time of the senate was taken up for two hours yesterday with a speech by Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas asking that the committee on the judiciary be discharged from further consideration of his bill for the suppression of trusts. The remainder of the day was given over to the consideration of a resolution by Senator Elkins suspending until Jan. 1, 1910, the commodity clause of the Hepburn railroad rate law. The resolution provoked so much debates and so many amendments were offered dealing with other phases of railroad legislation that the whole matter went over until Monday.

The commodity clause, under the provisions of the Hepburn bill, went into effect yesterday and railroads therefore which haul interstate commerce products of mines or manufactories in which the carriers are interested are liable to maximum fines of $5,000 for each offense.

The Elkins resolution proposes to give the railroads 20 months additional in which to divorce themselves from those properties, on the ground that the financial condition of the country has been such that the railroads have been unable to find buyers and to settle such questions of joint ownership as are involved in mortgages covering both the railroad property and mining or manufacturing property.

The house spent all of yesterday's session in considering and passing, paragraph by paragraph, under suspension of the rules, the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Monday.

Washington, May 5.—Senator Bulkeley of Connecticut, a member of the military committee, spoke at length in the senate yesterday on the Brownsville affair. Mr. Bulkeley declared his belief in the innocence of the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth regiment.

The senate passed the house resolution appropriating $250,000 to relieve the recent tornado sufferers in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The house yesterday completely overrode the committee on appropriations in connection with several items in the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Tuesday.

Washington, May 6. — A lively debate was kept up all day yesterday in the house on the sundry civil appropriation bill. Repeated efforts were made by Messrs. Crines of Tennesseee and Chaney of Indiana, supported by many other members, to procure an appropriation for an investigation looking to increasing safety in mining, and they had about got Chairman Tawney to the point where he could consent to an appropriation of $50,000 when Mr. Henderson of Alabama objected and the proposition for the time at least was dropped. An extended speech in opposition to the forestry service was made by Senator Heyburn of Idaho in the senate yesterday, while the agricultural appropriation bill was under consideration.

Washington, May 7.—By the overwhelming vote of 167 to 46 and following a two-hour debate, the house of representatives yesterday again went on record against the re-establishment of the canteen in the national soldiers' home. During the discussion a man giving his name as George F. Gridley of Providence, R. I., unfurled an American flag and proceeded to make an address from the gallery on the temperance question. He was promptly taken out.

The senate yesterday passed a bill prohibiting the employment within certain hours of chiuren under fourteen years of age in the District of Columbia in any factory, work shop, telegraph office, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, saloon, pool or billiard room, bowling alley of theater, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages. No such child is permitted to work at any employment for wages during school hours nor before 5 a. m., nor after 7 p. m.

BUYING PAINT BLINDLY.
Many people look upon paint buying as a lottery and so it is, the way they do it. It is not necessarily so, however. Pure White Lead and linseed oil are the essential elements of good paint. Adulterants in white lead can be easily found by the use of a blowpipe. Adulterations in linseed oil can be detected with a fair degree of certainty. See that these two elements are pure and properly put on and the paint will stay put.
National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York City, will send a blowpipe outfit and instructions for testing both white lead and linseed oil, on request.

NATURE
AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM
Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.
In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.
The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.
From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.
Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:
"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public.
"For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."
What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

MAKE PROGRESS IN MURDER MYSTERY

Identity of Three Additional Gunness Victims Positively Established.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN IS LUCKY

Gust Gunness Twice at Laporte Death Farm, Being Offered Job as Manager.

Laporte, Ind., May 12.—While no more bodies of skeletons have been unearthed at the "Port of Missing Men," as the Guinness farm has come to be called, evidence accumulated that the death of at least nine more victims—six men, a woman, a girl and an infant—must be laid at the door of the woman, who, whether dead or alive, must be regarded as the arch-criminal of her time.

All Roads Lead to Farm.

All roads in Laporte county led to the Guinness farm yesterday, upwards of 15,000 sightseers visiting the place of death before sunset. Several of the out-of-town visitors, however, were seeking information concerning missing friends or relatives, and some further information regarding the possibility of identifying some of the unknown vctims of the farm resulted from their inquiries. There was nothing in the attitude of the crowd to indicate that they were visiting a place where the most grewsome tragedies of a decade had taken place.

Make Merry on Farm.

Jokes and laughing comment on the antecedents of the farm were heard on every side and exclamations of joy from successful relic hunters were numerous. Family picnic parties grouped themselves on the sloping lawn under the pines and cedars which dot the dooryard, or found resting places beneath the flowering apple and plum trees of the orchard.

Probing the Mysteries.

Laporte, Ind., May 13.—The Guinness farm failed to reveal new mysteries yesterday, but some excellent progress was made in solving the puzzles already involved in the homestead which has witnessed the tragic deaths of at least fourteen persons. A series of heavy showers made excavating impossible.

Dr. J. H. William Meyer sent to the coroner his findings resulting from the autopsies of the bodies supposed to be those of Andrew Helgelein of Mansfield, S. D., and Jennie Olsen, the foster daughter of Mrs. Belle Guinness, who disappeared in 1906.

Dr. Meyer reported that a mass of hair had been found in the clenched fist of Helgelein and that the fingers grasping it had been severed above the first phalanx.

Woman Feared Arrest.

Thomas Way, a pallbearer at the funeral of Peter S. Guinness, told of how the widow had been absent from the ceremonies preceding the burial of her husband and asserted that it was subsequently learned that she had been in Laporte consulting an attorney regarding her possible arrest on the charge of having killed her husband.

William Rogiski, who formerly worked on the Guinness farm, told of having dug several ditches at the behest of the woman. He said that she told him that the holes were to be used for the burial of rubbish and refuse.

The grand jury which is to consider the evidence against Lamphere next week convened and started to clear the docket of several minor cases intervening.

Evidence of Struggle.

The Meyer report on the bodies of Helgelein and Miss Olsen formed the most interesting chapter of the day's developments at the coroner's office. Both, the doctor declared, met unnatural deaths, but in the case of the young woman the condition of the corpse precluded any possibility of determining the manner in which she was murdered. Helgelein's body, however, had been in the ground only a few months at the most, and it gave evidence of a terrific death struggle. The sheriff and other county officials were again in conference last evening. At the conclusion of their deliberations it was announced that the case of Ray Lamphere probably will be taken up the grand jury Wednesday. Some thirty witnesses are to be called before the inquisitorial body by Prosecutor Smith.

Three More Bodies Identified.

Laporte, Ind., May 14.—Evidence to establish the identity of three additional victims of Mrs. Bella Gunness was the most positive development of a day filled with contradictory happenings here yesterday.

Both prosecution and defense received setbacks from the discoveries and revelations, but on the whole substantial progress was made toward bringing the case to the stage where it will be transferred to the courts.

The reports of the four physicians who conducted the post-mortem examinations on the bodies found in the ruins of the Gunness home April 28 were given yesterday morning.

Collecting Evidence.

The procedure in Indiana does not provide for coroners' juries, so the finding will be the individual conclusions of Dr. C. S. Mack. Dr. Mack yesterday said that he had no idea as to what his return will be.

Prosecutor R. N. Smith is still collecting evidence which he asserts will connect Ray Lamphere with the deaths of Mrs. Gunness and her three children. It is possible that the case against Lamphere may be presented to the grand jury before the coroner's jury reaches a decision in the matter.

Clinches Identification.

An additional factor clinching the identification of one of the corpses as that of Ole O. Bulsberg of Iowa, Wis., came to light during the day, when a letter from the Farmers' State bank of that town was given to Coroner Mack. It contained the numbers of the watch purchased by him in Iola on Feb. 28, 1907. These were found to correspond with those of one of the timepieces picked up in the debris of the Gunness farm.

Thanks His Lucky Stars.

Minneapolis, May 14. — Gust Gunness, 2408 Thirtieth avenue south, Minneapolis, brother-in-law of Mrs. Belle Gunness, the Indiana murderess, believes he is the luckiest man in the country. Twice he was offered the position of manager of the property near La Porte, Ind, which has become known as the "death farm."

Gust Gunness probably knows more about the Gunness woman and her ways than any other living person. He twice visited her house and she tried to persuade him to remain with her as an employe. He intimates that the woman killed her husband and his brother, Peter Gunness, and Peter's small child.

Crookston, May 13. — McIntosh, east of here, is raising a garden by encouraging the efforts of the pupils of its public schools. The village has just had a big "clean-up day," and all the stores and other business houses were closed, while every one joined in the work. The public highways were thoroughly overhauled, as well as the private properties.

NURSE WEDS PATIENT.

Munsing, Mich., May 13.—A romantic marriage united Leonard Johnson and Mrs. Mattie Crozier of Ishpeming. The bridegroom is head chemist for the Marquette range mines of the United States Steel corporation, and his bride was a trained nurse at the Ishpeming hospital. They became acquainted several months ago when Mr. Johnson, suffering from appendicitis, was taken to the hospital to undergo an operation and Mrs. Crozier was assigned to attend him.

AIDED WOMAN IN LURING VICTIMS

Evidence Discovered That Mrs. Gunness Had an Accomplice at Work.

PROSECUTOR IS THREATENED

Laporte, Ind., May 14.—Denials by Laporte officials that the Rev. R. A. Schell had revealed to them the substance of his conversations with Lamphere and the discovery of evidence that Mrs. Bella Gunness was aided by an accomplice in luring her victims to the farm were the chief developments in the case yesterday.

A threatening letter came to Prosecutor Smith yesterday. It is a brief typewritten communication, postmarked Brooklyn and reading: "If you don't stop search for Mrs. Gunness you'll be a dead man in two weeks. This applies to the sheriff, the chief of police and other officials."

Points to Accomplice.

The evidence regarding the aids of Mrs. Gunness came in a letter from a resident of Cleveland, addressed to the local chief of police. It told of the writer's having met a stranger in that city last August who gave him a photograph of "a rich widow who resided in Laporte," and tried to persuade him to come here to see the woman. The photograph is a fairly good photograph of Mrs. Gunness and was evidently taken some time ago.

Louis Schultz, the miner who is sluicing the ashes and cinders from the cellar of the Gunness house, turned over to Sheriff Smutzer a number of pieces of fused metal which he had found in the tailings of the sluice box. Several of these relics are globules and believed to be bits of gold. Schultz also found some small pieces of bone. One of these, the sheriff says, is thought to be a portion of a vertebrae.

Woman Feared Lamphere.

A new witness regarding Mrs. Gunness' fear of Lamphere was found yesterday. Bertha Schultz, a clerk in a local dry goods store, said that the woman was in the store several days before the fire and told her that she was afraid Lamphere would set fire to the farmhouse.

PROOF OF LAND FRAUDS.

California Official Is Taking Evidence to Washington.

San Francisco, May 14.—Lewis E. Aubury, state mineralogist of California, left for Washington Monday night with considerable documentary evidence bearing upon his charges that land frauds in this state affecting mineral lands have been upon so extensive a scale as to affect fully 3,000,000 acres of land and that federal officials and thei ragents have not properly attended to the unearthing of the frauds and punishing the guilty parties. Aubury is to confer, it is said, with President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Garfield.

10,000 DROWN IN TIDAL WAVE

Chinese Are Drowned by Thousands When Huge Bore Sweeps Up Yangtse-kiang.

Seattle, Wash., May 14.—News of one of the greatest disasters that China has ever known, a sudden tidal wave bore in the Yangtse-kiang, which involved the loss of nearly 10,000 lives at Hankow, was brought by the steamer Titan, which arrived last night.

A bore twenty-six feet in height flooded without warning down the river, over which hung thousands of junks, sampans and small boats, and wrecking some large river steamers.

Some 3,000 Chinese were sleeping in sampans and small craft and mat sheds and huts by the riverside at Hankow, and they were enveloped by the great wave, which swept broken junks, splintered sampans and a heterogeneous mass of debris, with swarms of drowned Chinese mixed with the wreckage. The scenes for many days after the disaster were horrible, the riverside being strewn with dead and debris of wrecked craft for many miles.

WILL CALL HALT TO PRODIGALITY

Governors Plan Prosperity for the American People of a Century Hence.

CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE

Conservation of Natural Resources Will Be Topic for Three Days of Deliberation.

Washington, May 14. — Two ideas, destined to mark material progress in America's future, resulted from the first of the three days' conference at the White House, in which President Roosevelt, the governors of forty-four states, cabinet officers, supreme court judges, senators, representatives and experts are participating in efforts to reach conclusions on the best methods of conserving the natural resources of the United States.

The first is that a permanent organization by the states and the nation is necessary and will likely result from the present conference to accomplish the end sought.

Would Accomplish Result.

The second — suggested by Secretary Root—is that there is no limitation by the constitution to the agreements which may be made between the states, subject to the approval of congress. The two ideas, fully developed, it is predicted, would result in the conservation of the energies and resources of the nation through uniform and unconflicting laws, both national and state.

There was no doubting the first climax of the day. It was the reception of the president.

Ovation to President.

He entered the East room on the minute of 11 o'clock, as the Marine band rendered the presidential honors. The governors arose; they clapped their hands, they shouted. Five hundred others took their cue, and the demonstration became tumultuous. Then followed a hush. The venerable Dr. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the senate, leaning one arm on the back of the chair on which the president was seated, read the Scriptures, the description of the fertility of the land promised the children of Israel, and followed it with a supplication for guidance in the present undertaking.

President Makes Speech.

President Roosevelt here began his explanation of the reason for the conference. His fifty-minute speech was many times interrupted by applause, and when he finally reached his point of praise to the inland waterways commission and declared with characteristic vigor that should congress neglect to perpetuate the commission, "I will do it myself," he "captured" the assemblage.

The president's speech ended the morning session. The governors and delegates were photographed with the president on the porch of the White House. The picture will also show William J. Bryan, Andrew Carnegie, J. J. Hill and Gustav Schwab, specially invited participants.

Gov. Johnson Will Preside.

The afternoon session proceeded at a rate that broke all speed regulations. The president finds it impossible to devote his entire time to the meetings, but he will call each session to order and then designate some governor to preside. This honor yesterday fell to Gov. Noel of Mississippi. To-day Gov. Johnson of Minnesota will wield the gavel.

It was from the utterances of Andrew Carnegie and those who followed him that the gravity of the problems to be considered was given weight. Two hundred years of coal supply and half that of iron was the prediction of the famous ironmaster.

Johnson Makes Lively Talk.

Gov. Johnson of Minnesota made a lively talk, in which he took issue with Mr. Carnegie's statement that wasteful methods prevailed in iron mining in the Lake Superior region and cheerfully assured that gentleman that "Mr. Hill would take issue with him on some things." Other speakers were John Mitchell, Dr. C. R. Van Hise, John Hayes Hammond and Secretary Root. The latter was received with as great enthusiasm as that accorded the president.

St. Paul, May 14.—Suit was started in the Ramsey county district court yesterday by the state legal department against F. G. Warner, former state oil inspector, to recover $12,891.85 alleged to be due the state as the result of an investigation of the accounts of that office during his incumbency. No action has been started against J. A. McDermott, who succeeded Mr. Warner in the office and against whom the state has a claim of $4,705.20 for an alleged shortage in his accounts.

Assurances have been received from Mr. McDermott and his friends that the amount claimed will be made good as soon as the money can be raised, and they have been given a few days to make the payment. Mr. Warner, however, denies that he is indebted to the state and the action is brought to have the matter settled.

TWO TOWNS ARE WIPED OUT

In the town proper only one death resulted, Wayne Hester, a boy, being killed by flying timbers. Three are fatally injured and ten others badly hurt. The marvel of the town is the fact that the death list is so small. A number of buildings were blown down literally about the ears of their occupants without touching them.

Increase in Nebraska Dead.

Reports, which came into Omaha slowly yesterday from the tornado stricken district south of here, added three victims to the list of the dead and put the monetary damage at $500,000. The casualty list continues to grow as communication is partly restored. With the five towns which suffered most from the storm, the list of the injured, some of whom are fatally hurt, will reach at least fifty.

Saturday May 16 1908

Congress may skidoo for home on the 23rd of this month.

The cheerful news comes from Washington that congress will adjourn soon.

Minnesota was fifty years old last Monday, May 11th, having been admitted as a state on May 11th, 1858.

Minneapolis present two new candidates for the republican nomination for governor this week in M. W. Savage and P. S. Snider.

Forty state governors met with the president this week at Washington to formulate a plan to best conserve the nation's resources.

Just at this time no one is willing to be named as a candidate for vice president. So noone will, however, sacrifice himself at the last moment.

The Prohibitionists of Red Lake county will hold a convention at Thief River Falls on Monday, May 18th, to elect delegates to the state convention.

There seems to be very little doing so far in county politics. A. R. Jones of this place being the first and only one to file so far for the republican primaries.

The seed has gone in the ground in first class shape, and we now have plenty of moisture, all that is needed for a big crop now is warm weather and sunshine.

Governor Johnson had things all his own way at the democratic state convention on Thursday, and Minnesota will now present him for the democratic nomination for president.

After this year it is the intention of the state tax commission to have all property, both real and personal listed for taxation at full value. This year the property will be listed, or should be, at fifty per cent.

Sunbeam—If the republican party in this state want to see the history of their defeat in the last two campaigns repeated this year, all they have got to do is to allow the politicians to railroad resolutions thru the county conventions instructing the delegates that are elected by the people, who vote and "fight" for, at the state convention, and if they are beaten in the convention, they keep right on fighting and help the democratic party beat the man that beat them. Then history will repeat itself.

Northwestern Agriculturist.—It pays to advertise the community in which you live. It pays to advertise your creamery, your co-operative elevator, your flouring mill, your canning factory, in fact everything that makes your community a better place in which to live and at the same time makes your real estate more valuable. Merchants and other business men in many of the towns in the Northwest are making a united effort to boom their particulars town. Booster clubs are being organized quite generally. Farmers in the vicinity of those two towns should appreciate the fact that their interests are identical with those of the business men. Join the boosters club and boost.

Tame Ducks

It was Sunday and almost at the close of day, when one small boy told another that there was a flock of ducks in the pond up the river. The game laws, the observance of the day of rest were forgotten; they went after those ducks, six shots did the work, and there were seven dead ducks. The water was cold but the boys brought them to shore and there they discovered that the ducks were of the tame variety.

Two youthful hunters are not saying a word. Two fathers are paying for high priced ducks. The boys have promised to be good and will do odd jobs this summer to pay the bill. Nuff said?

Secretary N. A. Nelson of the St. Hilaire creamery, is receiving congratulations on the arrival of a new boy born at his home on Thursday. Mr Nelson is a thorough disciple of Pres. Roosevelt and the new boy is the tenth one to arrive at his home.

The young peoples' society of the Synod church will give an apron bazaar and supper at the Hoff building on Friday evening, May 22nd. All are cordially invited to attend.

The funeral of Wm. Findeisen, who was suffocated by gas in a Minneapolis hotel, was held at Red Lake Falls last Tuesday, the I. O. O. F. and Woodmen lodges participating. Mr. Findeisen was one of Red Lake Falls pioneer citizens and highly respected in his community, and will be missed by a large circle of friends.

Drag the Roads

Supt. of Highways Martz has a hobby, in fact he is fast getting to be something of a crank. Road overseers, farmers, visitors from the neighboring towns are all approached by Mr. Martz and the burden of his song is always the same: "Drag the roads, use the split log drag." The other day he came into the office as happy as a boy with a new pair of red topped boots and all on account of the fact road overseer Anton Peterson, of Wyandotte, had seen the light and had given blacksmith Dahl an order for four of the drags for Wyandotte. Mr. Martz is firm in his belief that good roads means good times and prosperity for the community and he is certainly doing his share to help the good work along.

This community is certain to become a dairy center and good roads are much more a necessity than they were before.

Let us all take this subject up and see if, by concerted action, we cannot make this road question an issue and do the country an immense amount of good. Surely there is need of action and credit will redound to the men who do the work.

MAGIC MIRRORS.

Now and then mirrors of a curious kind are seen in Europe. They are called "magic mirrors" and are of Japanese origin, made not of glass silvered, but of cast bronze, polished on the face and bearing on the back raised patterns, inscriptions, symbolical designs, crests or pictures. When exposed to a bright beam of light from the sun or from an electric lamp they reflect in the light from their polished face the image of the pattern on their backs.

This is a purely optical property and has of course nothing in common with the fortune telling magic crystals of the astrologer or the alleged magic mirrors of necromancy, yet it long puzzled the scientific optician and even now is little known or believed. The researches of various scientific men have established the fact that the phenomenon is due to very minute differences of curvature in the polished face, differences so minute that they do not affect the ordinary use of the mirror as a looking glass and that can be detected only by delicate optical tests.

The only remaining mystery has been as to how these delicate differences of curvature were produced in exact correspondence to the pattern on the back. The makers themselves are often in ignorance of the magic property and do not know which of their mirrors possess it and which do not. The mirrors are cast in molds and afterward polished by hand, and it is held by scientific men that the difference of curvature is caused by the metal's yielding unequally under that pressure of the tools used in scraping and polishing, the thin parts naturally bending more than the thick. This accounts for the mirrors' becoming magic.—Chicago News.

A court martial was being held on board the Hibernia at Malta for the trial of a gunner who had been drinking not wisely, but too well. The evidence had been taken, the finding decided on and the court cleared to consider the sentence. The court was reopened and the prisoner ushered in. Hardly had he crossed the threshold when, to the astonishment of the members of the court, he threw himself face downward, uttered a wild shriek and pleaded piteously for mercy. Every one looked at the president, and the reason for the prisoner's strange behavior at once dawned on their perplexed minds. The president's hair on top was conspicuous by its absence, and in private life he invariably wore a black skullcap. Now, the Hibernia was one of the draftiest ships in the navy, and the deliberations had been somewhat long, so in the prisoner's absence the president had covered his head with its usual protector, but on the man's re-entry quite forgot to hide it by putting on his cocked hat. The unfortunate gunner, whose nerves were somewhat unstrung as a result of his recent debauch, jumped at the conclusion that the wearing of the black cap by the president signified that he was to be hanged for his offense, instead of which his punishment turned out to be a few days in the cells.—London P. T. O.

Robbing the Mail.

General Post Office, Dec. 17, 1796.—The Post-boy, carrying the North Mail from Warrington to Chester, was stopped on Monday evening, the 5th inst., between 7 and 8 o'clock, within a mile of Chester, by a Man on foot, who took from him the Mail, containing the Manchester, Warrington, and Frodsham bags of letters. The Robber was dressed in a blue jacket and White Trousers, and had an oil case cover to his hat. Whoever shall apprehend and convict, or cause to be apprehended and convicted, the person who committed this robbery, will be entitled to a reward of Two Hundred Pounds over and above the reward given by Act of Parliament for apprehending of highwaymen; and if any accomplice in the robbery, or knowing thereof, shall surrender himself and make discovery, whereby the person who committed the same may be apprehended and brought to justice, such discoverer will be entitled to the said reward of Two Hundred Pounds, and will also receive his Majesty's most gracious pardon. By command of the Postmaster-General.

Is She Working Herself to Death?

Does your wife complain of too much dairy work? Do you ever hear her say she'll never get through washing milk things? How often does she say, "Oh, if I only had fewer pans, crocks and cans to wash, I could read, write or sew more, or even take a little rest each day."

AN EASIER TIME

Ask her about it. Arrange to make the dairy work one half easier, one half neater, one half more pleasant, and 25 to 150 per cent more profitable by using a Sharples Tubular Cream Separator. Until you try the Tubular, you can't imagine the difference it makes. It skims the milk immediately after milking—there's no milk standing around—no cans or pans to wash. The Tubular is entirely different from all others, so much more simple and convenient. Bring your wife and let me take a tubular apart for you. We also have a good second hand U. S. separator for sale

To Make a "Merry Widow"

Norman Co. Herald—Since the Famous millinery opened across the street from the Herald office ye scribe has had ample opportunity to study the styles of headgear worn by members of the gentle sex and has also learned some of the secrets of the manufacture of "creations." As the "Merry Widow" hat seems to be all the go this season, we bent our energies in that direction, and as a result of our studies and experiments we offer the following directions for one of these hats at home:

Take one bicycle wheel. Superimpose on the hub one deep granite saucepan, first snipping off the handle with an ax.

Rip nineteen yards of box ruching off your shirt waist box, and wind about your crown, and add a feather duster or two.

A soup ladle and a joint fork will give a jaunty effect if used as hatpins.

It will please you to know how well we do cleaning and dyeing—how quickly—and how little the cost.

A trial will prove a delight, for no matter what the article may be from flimsiest lace to clothing, draperies or rugs, our facilities are unsurpassed, and satisfaction is guaranteed.

Why not send a trial bundle today?

We pay return express on orders of $3 or more. Information booklet free.

Several of the boys have gone up to work on the log jam four or five miles up the river, among them being Arthur Hall, Joe McAndress and Archie and Eddie Whaley. The lumber company is having a hard time to secure men with which to carry on the work.

Anton Peterson, road supervisor for the town of Wyandotte, was in town Saturday and ordered four split log drags from J. C. Dahl which he intends to make extensive use of as soon as finished. Mr. Peterson is an energetic and hard worker in his capacity as road supervisor and he is largely responsible for the good condition of the roads in his township.

The Red Lake Falls high school base ball team met defeat at the hands of the St. Hilaire club on the local diamond last Saturday afternoon by the score of 11 to 4. The game was unavoidably delayed so that only five innings were played. The local club showed considerable improvement over their form of a week ago and ought to be in fairly good fighting trim before very long.

Eli Lochrem has presented ye editor with an ebony stick which would come handy in a heated argument. The stick was grown on his farm which he purchased last fall in Texas, close to the Mexican line. Mr. Lochrem is very enthusiastic about that part of Texas and will return there with his family in the fall. The farmers raise several crops a year and are very successful in raising vegetables for the early spring market.

We understand that a certain farmer in this vicinity claims to have saved $15 on a load of shingles by getting them from Thief River Falls instead of from us but we can prove that that is not so. This man bought a cheaper grade of shingles at Thief River Falls than we have. He could not have saved a cent on the same grade that we have as our best Washington R. C. shingles are now selling at $4 per. St. Hilaire Retail Lumber Co., St. Hilaire, Minn.

S. Currie, of Park River, N. D., arrived Saturday morning and took his daughter, Miss Eleanor, to the St. Vincent hospital at Crookston for treatment that evening. Miss Currie was taken ill on Friday, May 8, and her condition became so serious that her father was sent for. He immediately consulted a physician which resulted in her removal to the hospital as her condition showed symptoms of typhoid fever. Mrs. G. L. Austin will complete Miss Currie's unexpired term in the schools here.

And then the gentle spring will come and the poet will essay, with swelling breast and bliss his hum and Muse attended and lay; the rooster will announce the dawn, the hen will scratch the dust and everybody will put on a thinner undershirt. The sassafrass will brew again to tone the system rank, and the washout will upset the train and throw it down the bank; the gander and the goose will molt, the meadow will be wet, and the spring-intoxicated colt will turn a summerset. The house will be cleaned up again, robins come in droves, and the husband will eat bread and cheese behind the stove. The young man's heart will beat for love, and the widow in her weeds will find a man and seize him where Estella wore the beads.—Stolen.

Attorney McDonald and Supt. Larken of the Crookston Lumber Company were here from Bemidji last Tuesday looking over the damage done by the Red Lake River cutting a new channel at the dam between here and Thief River Falls. The river made an island of about forty acres of land owned by Hans J. Hanson and we learn that he contemplates bringing an action for damages. It is also reported that the Messrs. McDonald and Laken did not succeed in effecting a settlement with Mr. Hanson. In the meantime the Grand Forks Lumber Company is having all kinds of trouble in getting their logs off of the now dry dam. Whether they or the Crookston Lumber company, which owns the dam, are responsible for the damage that has been done remains to be solved probably by the courts.

Recently in a public address, C. O. Carlson, the well known dairyman of Erskine, says it is a mistake if people thought that it is an easy matter to become successful from dairying. He took up dairying after he had suffered a wheat crop failure and it was only after he had learned that business methods had to be introduced into the dairy did he receive the largest returns. He found that cows for the herd had to be carefully selected and only the best kept and in order to be sure on this point a record book had to be kept of the daily productions of each cow in the herd. The result has been that while five years ago this herd produced on an average per cow $20 income, last year the average was $66.36 per cow. He showed by his record that from scientific and systematic care of his herd, he paid out during the month of January $126 for the feed of his herd, and he received from the creamery a check for $293.24, or a net income from the herd of over $167.

A gang of seven tough looking characters came up on the train Monday morning, evidently intending to secure employment on the log jam a few miles above the village. Before starting out, however, they hung around town for a while and one of their number concluded that something to eat would not be amiss and walked into the butcher shop of Wilson, Steen & Co. and proceeded to help himself to the sausage without further ceremony. Mr. Wilson put in appearance about this time and proceeded to mix things and it fared badly with our man of the river. Shortly after noon the gang started to walk to their destination but concluded that walking was rather heavy in the mud and hit upon the idea of trying to relieve Ed. A. Aubol, whom they met a mile or two out of the village, of his team and wagon. One of their number jumped into the wagon, but had hardly landed when a well directed blow from Ed. toppled him onto the road again. This concluded the performance of the seven, as far as any further trouble was concerned, and they were content to go the rest of the distance on foot.

The work on the new line will commence at once and it is expected that it will be completed some time in June.—News

...Important To Home Builders...

Most people have an idea they can get better and dryer lumber where there is a saw mill than they can get at a retail lumber yard, but that is not so.

If you are going to build come and take a look at our stock before buying your lumber. We have nearly thirty yards in Minnesota and North Dakota and the Crookston Lumber Company is in a position to provide a special stock for these yards and every stick of our lumber is kept in sheds.

We have just received a few car loads of lumber and if you are going to build bring us your bill and you will be well pleased if you get your lumber from

WYLIE NEWS

The prairie fires of last week in Polk Center and Black River townships did more damage to the coming prairie chicken crop than all the poachers could have done during the closed season. Many a nest of roasted eggs were found—even the duck nester did not escape. The fire were so fierce that they swept over the low ground and sloughs killing several thousands of the Montreal band (frogs). Taking it all in all it was a bad week for the game birds etc.

August Muren had two teams busy all day Monday hauling grain which netted him over one dollar per bushel. Mr. Muren lives only a half mile from town.

Chas. Westby was in the village Tuesday and reports a nice vein of water was struck on the Mike Drager farm at a depth of 147 feet. He says the well drilling outfit will be shipped to Butler, N. D. and will be worked there this season.

The Wylie base ball boys are talking some of organizing and after that will throw out a few challenges—including the St. Hilaire club.

Five or six of the Wylie boys drove up to St. Hilaire last Saturday on a fishing excursion, but as all were ameteurs in that line, they returned fishless so to speak.

Seeding is about over in this vicinity, barring flax and barley, and there is plenty of time for that.

Village is Lucky

About a year ago the village came very near buying the river rights including the dam here and the one up the river from the Crookston Lumber Company. Now that the river has cut across lots at the up river dam and made an island of a large piece of land owned by Hans J. Hanson, the chances for a big damage suit are excellent.

It is reported that Mr. Hanson is demanding damages in the sum of three thousand dollars. It looks as if the the village was decidedly lucky when they did not buy that property.

Democrats Convene

The Red Lake county democrats held a convention at Thief River Falls last Saturday. The convention was fairly well attended and was unanimous for John A. Johnson for president; John Morgan being endorsed for national delegate. Harmony prevailed, in fact the affair was a veritable love feast. The following were elected delegates to the state convention: John E. King, W. T. Spillane, Joseph Helm, Matt Skala, E. M. Hoff, John Morgan, C. C. Jackson, W. B. Fuller, K. M. Hansen and Mike McAndress.

Slightly in Error

Crookston Daily Journal—The Red Lake Falls base ball club cleaned up the St. Hilaire sports last Saturday to the tune of 14 to 4. E. Toupin caught T. Garceau for St. Hilaire and Boen caught McCandless for the St. Hilaire fans with Lewis for umpire. A big crowd attended the game.

Evidently the Journal's source of information was not of the best for a more conglomerate mixture of facts would be hard to find. E. Toupin caught T. Garceau for Red Lake Falls and McAndress caught Boen for St. Hilaire. The score stood 11 to 4 in a five inning game in favor of St. Hilaire.

A Regretful Fact

The traveler mourns the disappearance of the picturesque costumes of the European peasantry. One has to go far away from the cities nowadays to know that such a thing exists. The clatter of the wooden shoe is a lost joy of Holland towns of any size. The Welch women have given up their stove pipe hats and quilted kertles and gay cotton bodices of their mothers. The up-to-date American woman, however, keeps the family table supplied with golden grain belt beer. You will find it a delightful drink for the whole family at all times and on all occasions. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Firemen's Tournament

News:—The city of Thief River Falls will entertain the Northern Minnesota Tournament Association this year and all the details of the meet are complete. The committee on entertainment has made a canvas on hotel facilities and private houses and find that ample accomodations can be secured. The visiting running teams will be provided with quarters separately a little off from the main streets if desired that way. The fun will begin on the morning of June 29th and continue four days, being at a time of the year when it is especially convenient for the farmers to attend. Every effort will be made to provide first class athletic exhibitions for the visitors. There will be plenty of good music by a number of the best coronet bands in northern Minnesota. First class concerts. Dances in the evenings. Boat excursions every day. This Tournament is so near the Fourth of July that it will be practically a double celebration, and the greatest event of the season.—Committee.

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles. I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains, and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

COMPLAINTS ABOUT PAINT.

The time to complain about paint is before the painter applies it. The man who puts up the money should not shirk the responsibility of choosing the paint. True, the painter ought to know paint better than the banker, the professional man or the merchant. The trouble is, the house-owner too often deliberately bars the competent and honest painter from the job by accepting a bid which he ought to know would make an honest job impossible.

Secure your bids on the basis of National Lead Company's pure White Lead and pure Linseed Oil and see that you get these materials.

No one need be fooled by adulterated white lead. A blowpipe testing outfit will be mailed to anyone interested in paint.

USE OF ICE IN ZERO WEATHER.

Novel Method to Keep a Car Comparatively Warm.

A government expert has devised a novel method of keeping a car or compartment comparatively warm in zero weather—not by fire, but by the utilization of ice. A well insulated car is fitted at each end with four galvanized iron cylinders reaching from the floor to the top of the car. In summer these cylinders are filled with ice and salt to keep the car cool. In winter they are filled with ice to keep the contents of the car from freezing.

Ice is nominally at a temperature of 33 degrees Fahrenheit, and is a substance that changes temperature reluctantly, being a poor conductor of heat or cold. Consequently, when zero weather prevails outside the cylinders of realtively warm ice prevent the escape of heat—in other words, they maintain the temperature within the car.

Another method whereby ice is employed for protection against cold consists in throwing a plentiful stream of water on the car when the temperature is near zero point, which freezes at once and forms a complete coat over the car. The action of this ice is the same as in the case of the cylinder filled with ice. A similar plan is frequently adopted in the transportation of bananas—a fruit particularly susceptible to cold.

CHANGE IN FOOD

Works Wonders in Health.

It is worth knowing that a change in food can cure dyspepsia. "I deem it my duty to let you know how Grape-Nuts food has cured me of indigestion.

"I had been troubled with it for years, until last year my doctor recommended Grape-Nuts food to be used every morning. I followed instructions and now I am entirely well.

"The whole family like Grape-Nuts, we use four packages a week. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you see fit."

The reason this lady was helped by the use of Grape-Nuts food, is that it is predigested by natural processes and therefore does not tax the stomach as the food she had been using; it also contains the elements required for building up the nervous system! If that part of the human body is in perfect working order, there can be no dyspepsia, for nervous energy represents the steam that drives the engine.

When the nervous system is run down, the machinery of the body works badly. Grape-Nuts food can be used by small children as well as adults. It is perfectly cooked and ready for instant use.

IN MINNESOTA.

State News of the Week Briefly Told.

The Spring Valley high school will graduate fifteen pupils on the first day of next June, Helen Greene taking first and Fern Schwartz second honors.

John Lorenson, aged forty-four years, an employe of a mill, was brutally murdered at Lake Benton. The man suspected of the crime has departed.

A valuable team of horses was stolen from Thomas Myhre, a farmer living in the town of Webster. There is no clue and no trace of the animals can be found.

Benjamin R. Smith, who was foiled in an effort to escape from the county jail at Fergus Falls a few days ago, tried to commit suicide by hanging. He now refuses to eat.

The vicinity of Mantgomery was visited by a heavy frost. The extent of the damage cannot be learned, but it will be rather hard on small fruit and garden stuff, and put a check on the growth of all vegetation.

Mrs. Mary E. Ward, an aged woman who lived with her daughter in the town of Central Point, Goodhue county, was burned to death. While she was placing a kettle on the stove her clothing caught fire and she was unable to save herself.

The restaurant of D. C. Herbert at Brainerd was burglarized and several hundred cigars taken. The jewelry and gun shop of A. E. Veon also was entered and several watches and revolvers taken. No clues to the burglars have been found.

The village council of Ellsworth has granted to F. M. Sadler a twenty-five-year franchise for furnishing electric street lights for the village. The franchise carries with it the provision that the city can purchase the plant at the end of any period of five years.

Mrs. G. M. Wright, one of the earliest settlers in the vicinity of Montrose, died at her home, aged eighty years. The family settled on a farm in the early 60's and took an active part in the founding of the village, a portion of their farm being used for the village site.

A severe frost at Winona nipped early pieplant and asparagus and did some other damage to garden truck. In a few cases where hotbeds had not been properly covered some of the greens inside were nipped. Strawberry plants were not hurt to any great extent, very few of them being in blossom.

The Warren board of health reported that during the last three years there had not been a single death in Warren due to scarlet fever, typhoid fever or diphtheria; that the sanitary condition of the city was nearly perfect and that the citizens had responded cheerfully to their request that all odorous material be destroyed.

The Great Western passenger train from St. Paul was derailed one and a half miles north of the city limits of Red Wing. The accident was caused by the tank on the engine climbing the rail. No passengers or employes were injured, although the combination smoker and baggage car was derailed and thrown from the trucks and several windows were broken.

Peter Brown, Jake Hauser and Joseph Straka, boys of nine, eleven and twelve years, have been arrested at East Grand Forks on a charge of burglarizing a car containing beer. They stole twenty-six bottles of the amber fluid, drank quite a lot of it themselves and called in companions to aid them in the festivities. The Northern Pacific railway is prosecuting the case.

The township assessors of St. Louis county were on Tuesday instructed by Franklin L. McVey, chairman of the Minnesota tax commission, to assess all property at its real value. Now they have received a letter from County Auditor Halden, saying it is the practice to assess at 50 per cent of the value in other counties, and that it would be unjust to make a full levy in St. Louis county.

A dramatic suicide occurred at Virginia when Thomas Wren killed himself. He was in the dining room of his boarding house when he tied a stick of dynamite to his head and set fire to the fuse. He first called some women to see him commit the act, but when they saw the dynamite they fled, one being badly hurt. The explosion, which tore the man to pieces, also wrecked the boarding house. The man was blown to fragments.

Thomas W. Hyde died in a Duluth hospital, a county charge. Though he died a pauper he played for big stakes in his time, and years ago he spurned an offer of $80,000 for his claim in the "Section 30" iron mine, which property was then in litigation. Hyde was a strange, almost silent man. It is believed by some that he had money at the time of his death, though his poverty was not questioned by the county poor board. Death was the result of cancer.

The mangled body of Isaac Mills was picked up on the Northern Pacific track near his home, in the eastern part of Otter Tail county. He had been run over by a freight train, and it is thought he may have committed suicide.

The Aardahl congregation of the Norwegian lutheran church of the town of Frohn will celebrate May 17. As the date comes on Sunday, services will be held in the church in the forenoon, Rev. A. Amundson officiating. Dinner will be served, after which there will be speaking and music.

At a meeting of the Bemidji city council the members of the council by unanimous vote carried, over the mayor's veto, the resolution establishing a municipal court in that city, the court to commence its existence in August.

Peter McCracken is dead at Spring Valley at the age of seventy-nine years. Death was caused by pneumonia. He is survived by his widow, one son, William, and a daughter, Jessie. Deceased went to Spring Valley fifty-two years ago and settled on the farm where his death occurred.

BOY KEPT SCRATCHING.

"When my little boy was six weeks old an eruption broke out on his face I took him to a doctor, but his face kept on getting worse until it got so bad that no one could look at him. His whole face was one crust and must have been very painful. He scratched day and night until his face was raw. Then I took him to all the best specialists in skin diseases but they could not do much for him. The eczema got on his arms and legs and we could not get a night's sleep in months. I got a set of Cuticura Remedies and he felt relieved the first time I used them. I gave the Cuticura Remedies a good trial and gradually the eczema healed all up. He is now seven years old and I think the trouble will never return. Mrs. John G. Klumpp, 80 Niagara St., Newark, N. J., Oct. 17 and 22, 1907."

PICKED A DEAD ONE

RETRIBUTION THAT OVERTOOK UNTRUTHFUL WASHINGTONIAN.

Explanation Intended to Deceive Trusting Wife Recoiled on His Head—And It Cost Him All His Winnings.

Not many moons ago a poker game was pulled off in one of the clubs of Washington which caused a prominent merchant to wander home in the wee small hours. Nor is that all. Excuses were in order to mollify wifey, and of course—but listen.

At half-past one o'clock on the morning of that game the young merchant had acquired a pile of red, white and blue chips which to see over he was compelled to stand up. They represented about $300 velvet.

He knew that in the cause of domestic tranquillity he should be going home, but when he suggested that the game be called off a then member of the house of representatives dropped a verbal pearl to the effect that "If you've got cold feet, put 'em right up here in my bosom an' warm 'em."

There was no drawing out for the merchant, and so about 5:30 the next morning he found his pile had grown to double its size and he cashed in about $700 to the good.

After he had gone to the Turkish bath, which brought his chronometer around to noon time, he sauntered home, to be met by his wife, who, to say the least, was some peevish.

But the merchant beat her to it. "Wait!" he commanded, "before you say anything. I had to go to Baltimore late yesterday afternoon. Man who bought a $1,500 bill of goods paid for it with a check which was returned marked 'no good.' I couldn't stand to lose it, and so I hopped the first train to Baltimore, got a lawyer, and this morning the man settled up, all right.

"Now, before I rest any I'll take you downtown and buy you something with the gain on that bill."

Now the merchant's wife was a Baltimore girl before her marriage, and naturally inquired what lawyer her husband retained.

"Why, I employed old Judge Emory," the merchant replied, nothing daunted, and he heard his wife call after him as he went upstairs: "I'm glad you did. He's an old friend of the family."

Ten minutes later the merchant's self-satisfaction at having gotten by so well received a jolt when his wife rushed into his room flourishing a Baltimore paper.

"Whom did you say you employed?" she cried.

"I told you plainly Judge Emory," the man answered.

"Think of it, boys," the merchant said, in recounting his troubles that night at the club. "Thousands of lawyers in Baltimore—and I had to pick a dead one!"

Cats in Government Employ.

"Among the many expenditures of the United States government each year there is one that is far more peculiar than that of any other country in the world," said an employe of the postoffice department the other day. "But few people are aware of the fact that Uncle Sam annually appropriates, through the postoffice department, a small sum of money for the support of an army of cats in a number of his postoffices throughout the country. The money is used to buy food for the felines, though this seems somewhat of a reflection upon their ability to catch rats and mice, for which purpose they are kept in the postoffices. At times much trouble is caused by the rodents gnawing the mail pouches and opening mail addressed to another person, regardless of the penitentiary penalty usually imposed upon human beings for such an act. It has been found that the cats cannot live entirely on rat dainties, and milk and meat must be supplied them at intervals. The average cost of the cat food at a postoffice where they are kept is about $18 per year. Uncle Sam has detachments of his cat army stationed at the postoffices at Little Rock, Ark.; Los Angeles, Cal.; New Haven, Conn.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Binghamton, N. Y.; New York, N. Y.; Portland, Ore., and Norfolk, Va.

Virginia Seeks Large Sum.

The state of Virginia wants the United States to pay a debt of $160,000 which was contracted at the instance of George Washington. The first president, who was greatly interested in building up the national capital, had strong influence in his native state and persuaded Virginia to make the government a loan of $120,000 for the construction of public buildings. This money has never been paid back. Representative Carlin, who represents the district in which Washington lived, has introduced a bill for the repayment of the original debt with interest, making the total amount of the claim $1,620,000. Mr. Carlin's bill provides the money shall be paid to the Mount Vernon association to which the state of Virginia has released all claims for the debt. The money is to be used for the building of a magnificent boulevard along the south bank of the Potomac. It is proposed that the boulevard shall be 200 feet wide and that different sections of it shall be decorated and beautified by the 46 states. Several years ago a similar bill passed the senate but was not acted on in the house. An appropriation of $50,000 for a survey of the boulevard has been made by congress. The justice of the claim of Virginia is not denied by the government, but it has never been pushed by the state.

An international electrical show on a large scale will be held at Marseilles, France, this summer.

What is Pe-ru-na?

Is it a Catarrh Remedy, or a Tonic, or is it Both?

Some people call Peruna a great tonic. Others refer to Peruna as a great catarrh remedy.

Which of these people are right? Is it more proper to call Peruna a catarrh remedy than to call it a tonic?

Our reply is, that Peruna is both a tonic and a catarrh remedy. Indeed, there can be no effectual catarrh remedy that is not also a tonic.

In order to thoroughly relieve any case of catarrh, a remedy must not only have a specific action on the mucous membranes affected by the catarrh, but it must have a general tonic action on the nervous system.

Catarrh, even in persons who are otherwise strong, is a weakened condition of some mucous membrane. There must be something to strengthen the circulation, to give tone to the arteries, and to raise the vital forces.

Perhaps no vegetable remedy in the world has attracted so much attention from medical writers as HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS. The wonderful efficacy of this herb has been recognized many years, and is growing in its hold upon the medical profession. When joined with CUBEBS and COPAIBA a trio of medical agents is formed in Peruna which constitutes a specific remedy for catarrh that in the present state of medical progress cannot be improved upon. This action, reinforced by such renowned tonics as COLLINSONIA CANADENSIS, CORYDALIS FORMOSA and CEDRON SEED, ought to make this compound an ideal remedy for catarrh in all its stages and locations in the body.

From a theoretical standpoint, therefore, Peruna is beyond criticism. The use of Peruna, confirms this opinion. Numberless testimonials from every quarter of the earth furnish ample evidence that this judgment is not over enthusiastic. When practical experience confirms a well-grounded theory the result is a truth that cannot be shaken.

Manufactured by Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

In addition to the anxious mothers and meddlesome neighbors, more than 60,000 people in this country are engaged in the match-making industry.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

MRS. GUNNESS IS DECLARED DEAD

Coroner Files Verdict That Woman Came to Death Through Homicide.

OFFICERS GET FREAK LETTERS

Laporte, Ind., May 17.—"The identification of the piece of jawbone taken from the ruins of the Gunness farmhouse as a portion of Mrs. Gunness skull, bears out most conclusively the contentions of the state regarding the identity of the bodies found in the cellar on April 28. It is the clinching bit of evidence which should set at rest the rumors that Mrs. Gunness had escaped."

This statement was made by Mrs. Ralph N. Smith, prosecuting attorney, last night. It followed a report from Dr. C. P. Norton, a dentist, who found that the piece of charred bone presented evident characteristics which he had observed while working on Mrs. Gunness' teeth.

Search Continues.

The search of the premises yesterday revealed almost nothing of importance. The screening of the ashes produced several additional bits of bone, but none of them is of sufficient size or well enough preserved to furnish convincing proof of their origin.

The first of the Gunness victims to be interred with Christian rites was buried last night in Patton's cemetery, on the outskirts of Laporte. The corpse was that of Andrew K. Helgelein of Mansfield, S. D. The body was released for burial last evening, after Coroner Mack had received the reports of the Bertillion experts who have examined it and compared their findings with figures taken from the records of the Minnesota penitentiary at Stillwater.

22 Deaths Laid to Mrs. Gunness.

Laporte, Ind., May 19.—Twenty-two deaths are now charged to Mrs. Bella Gunness, arch murderess of the age, in a semi-official report given out by the authorities. Should it be proved later that Mrs. Gunness is alive and that the headless body of a woman found in the ruins is that of another victim the total number will be increased by four, counting the three children who perished in the fire, and the total number of murders for which Mrs. Gunness will have to answer will reach twenty-six.

Lured to Death.

The list given out by the authorities contains the names of Mrs. Gunness' two husbands and all those who are known to be her victims. Added to this list are the names of all those who have been traced to the Gunness farm and have disappeared. It is the belief of Sheriff Smutzer that all of these were victims of Mrs. Gunness' "lure to death" and that the remains of some of them now lie in a mass, hopeless of identification, in the improvised morgue near the site of the "death garden."

10,000 Visit Murder Farm.

The scenes of last Sunday were repeated yesterday at the Gunness farm. Fully 10,000 persons—not quite as many as a week ago—visited "the farm of mystery" and saw all that there was to be seen, even to viewing the skeletons of the seven unidentified dead. Hundreds brought their luncheons along and at noon family groups dotted the orchard and the large front lawn. Souvenirs of all kinds were sold on the grounds. Refreshments were dispensed on the grounds by enterprising owners of the lemonade, ice cream and peanut stands.

Laporte, Ind., May 20.—The autopsy held yesterday on the remains of the seven unidentified dead exhumed from Mrs. Gunness' private burial ground was completed last evening and revealed the astounding fact that one of the seven was a female. This has aroused new interest in the story of Emil Greening of Oklahoma City, Okla., who was employed by Mrs. Gunness in the fall of 1904. His story was to the effect that on a certain day in September a man and a woman came to the house and that night Mrs. Gunness asked Greening to sleep in the barn, for the couple, whom she said were the professor and his wife from the Los Angeles college which Jennie was to attend, would spend the night at the house and would require Greening's bedroom.

Body of a Woman.

In the morning Greening saw nothing of Jennie nor the man and woman and was informed by Mrs. Gunness that they had left on an early train, taking Jennie along. This body, which is now declared to be that of a woman, was taken from the same hole as was that of Jennie Olsen, and in that hole also were the bodies of Ole Budsberg of Iola, Wis., and the remains of a male person. All the bodies were dismembered, but the trunks of the four were such that it was possible to identify the bodies of Jennie Olsen and Mr. Budsberg, and it made it possible by yesterday's autopsies to determine that one of the other two was that of a female. The theory now advanced is that Mrs. Gunness may have murdered not only Jennie Olsen, but also the man and woman. The disappearance of Jennie Olsen, as well as the couple, occurred in September, 1905, while Budsberg was disposed of in May, 1907. His body was nearer the surface than the other three.

Watch Is Identified.

The mystery surrounding the watch found on the person of Ray Lamphere when he was arrested was cleared yesterday when J. G. Ramden of Manfred, N. D., who came here Sunday to investigate the disappearance of his half-brother, John Moe, of Elbow Lake, Minn., identified the timepiece as the one owned by his brother when he left home. Lamphere said that Mrs. Gunness gave him the watch. Mr. Ramden is positive that his brother was murdered by Mrs. Gunness, but he was not able to identify any of the remaining skeletons and so will not be able to provide proper burial for his brother. The bodies of the seven unidentified dead will be buried today in the potter's field.

Find False Teeth of Mrs. Gunness.

Laporte, Ind., May 21.—If anything additional were needed to prove the contention of Sheriff Smutzer and Prosecutor Smith that Mrs. Bella Gunness, at whose door are laid an even dozen deaths, two husbands and ten others, was dead, it was supplied when Louis Schultz, the expert miner, found in the ashes of the Gunness house the upper and lower bridges, containing the false teeth of the woman, the unraveling of whose life story has occasioned one of the greatest sensations in criminal history. The lower set of teeth tally exactly with the descriptions and diagram furnished by Dr. I. P. Norton, the dentist, who built the bridge and who yesterday identified the teeth positively as those of Mrs. Gunness.

The grand jury continued its labors all day, ten witnesses being examined. Smutzer is investigating the claim that William Riedinger, a farmer at Delafield, Wis., was one of Mrs. Gunness' victims. In a letter received yesterday David Hicken, a friend living at Waukesha, Wis., tells of the disappearance from home of Riedinger, who after a visit from Mrs. Gunness, sold some crops which netted him $1,000 and left for some place in Northern Indiana "to marry a wealthy widow," he said.

Miss Jennie Graham, 119 Tenney street, Waukesha, Wis., is seeking her brother, who left home to marry a rich widow in Indiana and was never heard from after that.

What is considered positive proof that Henry Gurholdt of Scandiania, Wis., came to Laporte and was put out of the way by Mrs. Gunness was supplied yesterday when Sheriff Smutzer received a letter containing a description of Gurholdt's watch, which tallies with one of the watches found in the ruins of the burned house.

Laporte, Ind., May 21.—"It is my verdict that the body so viewed is that of Mrs. Belle Gunness, and she came to her death through felonious homicide and that the perpetrator thereof is to me unknown.

"—C. S. Mack, Coroner."

Such was the verdict rendered late yesterday afternoon by the coroner. The official declaration that the body of the adult female found in the ruins of the fire of April 28, which destroyed the home of Mrs. Belle Gunness, was that of Mrs. Gunness is the sequel to the report Tuesday of Dr. I. P. Norton, Mrs. Gunness' dentist, that the bridges holding various false and gold-filled teeth were those of Mrs. Gunness. The official finding of the coroner will relieve the state's attorney of the necessity of proving in court, should the occasion require, that Mrs. Gunness is dead.

Other Verdicts Soon.

Coroner Mack expects to file verdicts in the other deaths in a few days. This is the first official verdict in the Gunness case.

All the officials continue to receive freak letters.

Sheriff Smutzer and Miner Schultz yesterday afternoon, in sorting the tailings from the sluice box found a gentleman's large gold band ring with the following engraving: "S. B., May 28, 1902." Officers believe this belonged to one of the first victims of the woman.

Looking for T. Lind.

Sheriff Smutzer received yesterday from I. N. Youtsler of Casper, Wyo., a razor which he claims he was given by Jennie Olson one night about a year ago when he stopped over night at the Gunness farm. The razor is an old Swedish make and scratched on one side with a knife is the name "T. Lind, Chicago," and on the reverse side three links, evidently made to represent the links of the Odd Fellows' emblem. The authorities have started an inquiry to ascertain if Lind was murdered.

SENATOR DENIES ALL THE CHARGES

Tottering and Infirm, Mr. Platt Makes Spirited Witness in Own Behalf.

NEVER MARRIED MISS WOOD

New York, May 21.—Physically so weak that practically he had to be carried in and out of the court room, United States Senator Thomas C. Platt was at times a spirited witness yesterday when he appeared to testify in his own behalf in Mae C. Wood's suit for absolute divorce from him. His denial of all the charges brought by Miss Wood in her suit was emphatic, and when prodded too hard by the plaintiff's counsel the aged senator proved himself capable of vigorous responses.

While the defendant in the action was in the court room much of the day, Miss Wodd, the plaintiff, did not attend the trial yesterday. The presentation of the case for the defense, aside from Senator Platt's own testimony, was marked by a sharp attack on the authenticity of the marriage certificate which Miss Wood offered in evidence to support her contention of a matrimonial contract with the senator.

Senator Denies Everything.

This was followed by an effort to show that a letter in which Senator Platt is said to have admitted his marriage to Miss Wood was written over his signature on a blank sheet of paper to which he previously affixed his autograph on request of two women applicants for it while he was stopping at the Hotel Arlington, in this city, in 1906.

Senator Platt himself, in his testimony, categorically denied that he ever married or promised to marry the plaintiff, repudiated the signature purporting to be his on the marriage certificate and the genuineness of several letters which Miss Wood testified came to her from him.

On the conclusion of the afternoon session Justice O'Gorman announced that the trial must conclude with today's sessions, no matter how late a sitting of the court that might involve.

BOAT WRECKED; SEVEN DROWN

Clarendon, Ark., May 21. — Seven prominent young society people were drowned last night when the tank of a gasoline launch in which they were going for a moonlight excursion exploded, wrecking the boat. Other members of the party were rescued with difficulty.

The boat left Clarendon early in the evening, bearing a merry party who had planned to go several miles down the river. When about five miles below Clarendon the tank of the launch exploded, wrecking the boat and hurling the occupants into the river at this point, more than fifty feet from shore, where it is very deep. Few could swim and some were stunned by the force of the explosion and went down before the swimmers in the party could make an effort at rescue.

The boat was owned by E. A. Forter, one of these aboard, and he saved the lives of several of the women of the party.

JOHNSON FIRST AND ONLY CHOICE

NO RUMP CONVENTION HELD

St. Paul, May 16.—The Democrats of Minnesota yesterday formally indorsed Gov. John A. Johnson as a presidential candidate, and at the same time, by a vote of 772 to 166, refused to declare in favor of W. J. Bryan as second choice. The following delegates at large and alternates were chosen:

Delegates at large — W. S. Hammond, St. James; Frank A. Day, Fairmont; F. G. Winston, Minneapolis; Swan Turnblad, Minneapolis; D. W. Lawler, St. Paul; T. D. O'Brien, St. Paul; Martin O'Brien, Crookston; A. C. Weiss, Duluth.

Alternates—J. E. Vanstrom, Yellow Medicine county; J. R. Conway, Becker; S. P. Nelson, Rock; John Morgan, Red Lake; Peter McCoy, Hennepin; Milo White, Jr., Fillmore; W. A. Burnet, Hubbard; Daniel Aberle, Ramsey.

District Delegates.

District Delegates — First, L. L. Brown, J. F. Cook; Second, J. C. Wise, L. A. Fritsche; Third, A. A. Poehler, J. A. Coller; Fourth, R. T. O'Connor, J. G. Armson; Fifth, E. J. Conroy, J. W. Pauly; Sixth, F. A. Silbert, John Reichert; Seventh, J. Driscoll, B. C. Farrington; Eighth, Martin Hughes, John Dwan; Ninth, C. A. Fuller, H. L. Shirle.

The followers of Mr. Bryan did not carry out the threat which had been made within the past few days, that they would bolt and hold a rump convention if their contests were defeated before the committee on credentials, or if they were not able to secure a partial indorsement of their leader. They made a sturdy fight for their man, and when they had been defeated remained quietly in their seats during the remainder of the convention.

Bryan in Platform.

The Johnson men were generous in their victory and declared in their platform that while they entertained an affection for and confidence in the integrity and and ability of William J. Bryan, they believed that Johnson was a man better calculated to bring success to the Democratic party, and was first entitled to the support of Minnesota.

The Bryan men did not make as great a fight before the committee on credentials as had been predicted. They did not seriously contest the vote of Hennepin county. They were awarded the delegation from Itasca county, and one-half the vote of Cottonwood county. In all other of the contests which they had declared they would make they either did not appear or were defeated.

No Second Choice.

It was a foregone conclusion that this would be the result, and they reserved their strength for a fight on the floor in favor of having Bryan declared the sole heir to the votes of Minnesota in the event of any political disaster overtaking Johnson in the Denver convention. Two of the nineteen members of the resolutions committee presented a platform plank to this effect, which they asked be made an addition to the platform. They did not move that it be substituted for the majority report, but Chairman Works declared that he would consider the minority report as an amendment, and the defeat of the Bryan faction came about on the motion to substitute the minorlay report for that of the majority.

The fight at times waxed warm, while the debate on the platform was in progress, but there was nothing approaching disorder at any time.

Leaving all political questions aside, the convention was throughout a flattering tribute to Gov. Johnson. The enthusiasm for him was unbounded and sincere. Every mention of his name was instantly followed by a wild yell of delight, and the final adoption of the platform indorsing him and instructing the delegates to fight for him at Denver was followed by a demonstration of enthusiasm the loyalty of which any man might feel proud.

Saturday May 23 1908

Next Saturday, May 30th, is memorial day and a legal holiday.

As soon as it dries up a little it would be an excellent plan to use the split log drag.

It is claimed that speaker Cannon and his stand pat tariff policy have been making five thousand democrats a day lately out of good republican material.

John Morgan, of Thief River Falls, was honored at the democratic convention by being named as alternate at large to the national convention.

Delegates elected the past week have nearly all been favorable to Bryan and it looks now as if his nomination was certain. His defeat in November appears equally as certain.

The republican state convention to nominate state officers has been called to meet at St. Paul on Wednesday, July 1st. The county conventions to elect delegates will be called to meet on Thursday, June 25th. The basis of representation is the same as at the April convention. Red Lake county will be entitled to twelve delegates. About the only new things to speculate on at the republican national convention next month are who Taft's running mate will be and what kind of a platform will be agreed upon.

While there are plenty of candidates for the republican nomination for governor, it does not seem as if any of them had created a great deal of enthusiasm in their favor. Present conditions would indicate that there will be a large number of uninstructed delegates sent to the convention. In a great many of the counties no candidate will have sufficient strength to carry instructions. Besides a large number of republican voters are adverse to naving a county convention fight for the reason that it has a bad effect on the party. With these conditions prevailing it will be almost impossible to pick a winner until after the convention has decided it. Let the counties select good representative men as delegates, let them go uninstructed and then let the state convention decide who is the most available man. In this way we would stand a good show of electing our entire ticket.

Store Sold

Mrs. Anna Duntley concluded a deal on Thursday afternoon whereby she sold her entire stock of confectionery to Carl Stanning, of Crookston. Mr. Stanning has rented the building and will be here the first of next week to take charge of the business. He is an experienced man in that line of business.

Mrs. Duntley, in the past eight years, has built up a fine business and all will regret that she has decided to leave. She will, however, remain here several weeks in making the transfer and settling up her affairs.

THE SWINEHERD.

With pigs coming at several times of the year it is not easy to prevent some of the larger ones from having the advantage. These robust fellows look out for themselves; they have their share and more. Of course the big ones should be kept away from the smaller ones—that is admitted. But when we give all the pigs considerable range, how large a farm will it take for one or two hundred pigs born during half a dozen months of the year that each may have its share of the land, the shade and the water?

We cannot work it out in this way as we would like to do; consequently some pigs are behind the rest. They are cuffed and abused occasionally. We allow them to creep into an inclosure for their feed which the big fellows cannot enter. If they fall behind and do not grow as they should we shut them up for a week or two and feed them skim milk and other things they like. They should not stay in too long or they may take the thumps. The change of diet and freedom from molestation are good for them. It is not advisable to doctor these pigs with stale buttermilk. This advice is given free, says a writer in Farmers Advocate. It cost two pigs

Sex in Litters of Pigs.

The results of an investigation into the relative proportions of the sexes in litters of pigs is stated as follows by George M. Rommel of the bureau of animal industry:

The number of sows whose litters were reported was 1,477. The number of boar pigs was 6,060, the number of sows 6,025 and the total 12,285. The average per sow was as follows: Boars 4.51; sows, 4.48; total, 8.00. The figures are mainly for litters farrowed during 1906. In forty-nine cases second litters during the year were reported for the same sows, which somewhat raises the average per sow.

Boars are seen to be slightly more numerous than sows, but for all practical purposes the sexes may be regarded as equal in number at birth. The relative proportion was found to be 1,065 boars to 1,000 sows. Expressed, in lowest terms of whole figures, the proportion is 201 boars to [illegible] sows.

Hog Lore.

Make low down pig troughs. If pigs have to habitually hump themselves to reach their feed they will become humpbacked.

Pigs more than three weeks old should be in the pasture, not in a hog house. Access to fresh earth is essential to their thrift.

Hogs have a way of their own of taking a bath. They wallow in the mud, stand in the sun to dry the mud, then rub it off on a post. It works all right, too, removing scurf and opening the skin pores.—Iowa Homestead.

No Foot, No Hog.

According to my observation a large number of hogs shown at the state fairs are lacking in bone. Altogether, too many of them are down on their dew claws. If I were judge I certainly would never place a premium on a hog that did not stand squarely on his feet. There is an old adage, "No foot, no horse," and it is equally true when it is changed to read, "No foot, no hog," remarks a practical farmer.

How One Reads.

The average person believes that in reading a newspaper paragraph he reads the whole of each type's impression, while in fact he only notices the upper half of each letter. Cover the upper half of a line with a sheet of paper, being careful to hold the paper exactly in the middle of the letter, and you will not, without difficulty, decipher a word. Then place the paper over the lower half of the line. It can be read without the slightest trouble.

FLAXSEED vs. BARLEY

[From Duluth Commercial Record, May 17, 1908.]

All advices so far received from the three Northwestern states indicate that farmers have a very decided leaning towards an increase in the area seeded to barley that should result in a materially increased crop of that cereal. We believe any increase in the barley area from last year will be a mistake and farmers should give the matter serious consideration before committing themselves to the error.

The barley crop raised in 1907 was sufficient for requirements and had it not been for manipulation the prices obtained for it would have been little if any above the average. There was a combination of causes that led to the abnormal prices obtained for barley during the fall months of 1907, partly natural and partly artificial.

In the first place there was an entire clean up of all stocks of barley and malt from the previous crop and malsters were anxious buyers of first offerings. It will be remembered that the autumn and early fall weather was very unfavorable for threshing and marketing barley and the slow movement resulting from this led malsters to believe that the crop would again be insufficient. Aside from these natural causes there is but little doubt that the American Malting company started buying, with the first offerings, having in mind the deliberate intention of buying as much of the crop as possible and controlling it. Had it not been for the financial panic of October it is possible they would have been successful in carrying the deal through and maintaining prices for barley right up to the new crop of 1908, but they were not successful and barley and malt can now be obtained for prices 20 to 25 per cent less than prevailed last fall; in fact, there is a cargo of Duluth barley, shipped to Buffalo last fall, still looking for a customer.

Aside from all this, however, is the demoralized condition in which the brewing trade finds itself and the certainty that there will be a decreased demand for malt during the crop years of 1908-9. Whether this decrease in demand will be large or small will cut little figure, as the crop raised last year was more than sufficient for requirements.

A farmer, of course, knows best the condition of his soil and what crop it is best adapted to this year, but it does seem that any land on which barley was cultured could raise a good crop of oats, or possibly a good crop of flaxseed. Possibly oats will not bring the price they did this year, in fact, it is altogether likely they will not. Nevertheless, there is nothing in the situation to suggest that any crop of oats that could be raised would prove burdensome.

In the case of flaxseed some dissatisfaction has arisen because of the relatively poor prices obtained for seed last fall as compared with wheat, barley and oats, but that condition is not likely to occur again this fall, and that the natural value of flax over wheat, for instance, is asserting itself, shows by the relative prices of new crop flax and new crop wheat. In the case of flaxseed $1.25 is bid today (May 14th) for September and October seed, as compared with 92 cents for September wheat, thus making the flaxseed 33⅓ per cent more than wheat, and at that price it should prove a profitable crop.

As to the new barley prices there has not as yet been any suggestion of prices for the new crop, but we are firmly satisfied that unless some accident to the barley crop occurs 50 cents per bushel will look high for barley before Sept. 1.

THE FLAX CROP OF 1908.

Professor Thomas Shaw.

The flax crop of the United States is all grown virtually in thirteen states. These grew in 1906 2,505,927 acres and the entire crop grown was 25,576,146 bushels. The average yield was 10.2 bushels per acre and the average price paid to the grower was $1.013 per bushel. Of this entire crop the three states of North Dakota, Minnesota and South Dakota grew respectively 1,465,745, 431,048 and 379,000 acres, or a total of 2,275,793 acres. The same three states grew that year a total of 23,227,904 bushels. The production of the other ten states was, therefore, only 2,349,242 bushels. Practically, then, almost the entire crop of flax comes from these three states. The average yield that year in North Dakota was 9.9 bushels, in South Dakota 10.5, and in Minnesota 14, or more than the average of the wheat the same season. More than half the crop of 1906 was produced in North Dakota. It was worth to the farmers of that state in that year $14,801,094. The great value of the flax crop to these three states is very apparent.

The yields of the flax crop in all these states may be greatly increased by improved methods of tillage. Much of the crop is sown on land ill prepared to receive the seed and as a result the yields are 50 per cent lower than they would otherwise be. The crop is frequently sown on land but newly broken. The plowing is frequently done poorly. The surface of the land is left rough when it is greatly important that it shall be smooth to facilitate the reaping. The surface of the land is so little stirred that frequently the seed is not all covered. In fact, much of it is left uncovered. Were it not that it is frequently sown as the first crop on new land the yield would be much less than if is.

The flax crop is sown late as a rule. This in a grain growing area is a great advantage, as it makes it possible to sow the other crops earlier than flax and also to reap them earlier, thus dividing better the work of the seed time and the harvest. The month of May is the usual time for sowing flax in the American Northwest, but it is more commonly sown late in May and during the first half of June than earlier. Good crops of flax have been grown sown as late as the end of June, but an early autumn frost would undoubtedly nip such crops. The best season for sowing, all things considered, is the last half of May.

More frequently the land is plowed for flax in the spring than in the autumn. The aim is to put on land broken from grass. When the breaking is new the plowing is shallow, not more than three to four inches. When from timothy sod it is about four inches. In the future not very distant nearly all the flax grown will be produced from tame grass sod. The plowing should be carefully done, all the ground being turned over. It should then be rolled at once with a heavy roller to make it even and smooth. Then, if the plowing is done early, it should be disked to aid in the retention of moisture and probably also harrowed. When treated thus the plowing should be done early rather than late.

The aim should be to sow the crop with the drill. It should be sown shallow, as shallow as the drill will sow it to cover it, unless where the danger is present that the soil will blow. The seedbed should be fine and firm, but not necessarily deep. From one-half to one bushel of seed is sown per acre. When the soil is well prepared and the seed is good not more than half a bushel of seed is used and it is seldom that more than three pecks are necessary.

Under all conditions, unless where the farmer grows all his own seed and is absolutely sure that flax wilt is not present, he should treat his seed with a solution of formaldehyde before sowing it. This is best done by first cleaning the seed. This is important, as formalin will not kill the fungous germs found on bits of straw, chaff or old, shriveled seeds. The solution is one pound of formaldehyde to forty-five gallons of water. The seed is spread on a floor and is shoveled over constantly to prevent particles from adhering when wetted. The solution should be applied slowly and evenly by using a force pump with a finely perforated nozzle and which throws a fine, mistlike spray. One-half gallon is called for to a bushel of flax. If the flax wilt once gets into the ground there is no saying when that ground will be free from it.

At present the waste of flax fiber is enormous. The straw is nearly all burned. Recently, however, the manufacture of the straw into binding twine has been begun. Much of the straw will probably be used in that way in the future. Both flax and straw are purchased for such work the flax being separated from the straw at the mills. A longer fiber is wanted for this work than is usually grown.

Nearly all the flax grown in the United States is ground and oil extracted therefrom. The larger portion by far of the oil cake resulting is sent to Europe. This is not only a grand food for live stock, when fed in moderation, but it is exceedingly rich in fertilizing ingredients. These are forever lost to American soils.

FLAX AS A PAYING CROP.

Winnipeg Record: The recent report issued by the Saskatchewan department of agriculture contains some valuable and interesting information on the subject of flax raising and gives a comparison of the yield of wheat and flax per acre and the respective prices obtained during the past three years. The average yearly yield of flaxseed is placed at twelve bushels per acre and of wheat about nineteen and one-half bushels per acre. As regards prices the report goes on to say that as high as $1.38 per bushel was paid for flaxseed last year and the average price about $1.27.

How far the raising of flax would be a profitable venture for new settlers is an important question and well worthy of every consideration from the farmer's point of view. To obtain the most satisfactory results in flaxseed it must not be sown year after year in the same soil; there should be a proper rotation of crops. The best results are always got when flaxseed is sown after the first breaking of the prairie sod. To new settlers flaxseed is one of the most satisfactory and profitable crops to deal with, not only because it can be sown later than any other crop, but also because when sown on first breaking it prepares the land for a wheat crop the following year. Thus the farmer gets the advantage of a good paying crop the first year from land which would otherwise yield him no return at all and he has a bigger crop of wheat on the same soil the following years, because the flax crop rots the sod and disintegrates it.

The largest speckled trout ever taken from the creeks in the vicinity of Glenwood, Wis., and probably the largest ever landed in Northern Wisconsin, has been caught in Tiffany creek near Glenwood. It weighed four and a half pounds.

Next Monday commences the week of state examinations for the eighth grade and high school pupils, and outsiders wishing to take the examinations should report to Prof. MacGregor on Monday morning. School in the other grades will continue through the week as usual.

In another week the public schools will close for the summer vacation and the teacher will leave for their respective homes on Friday or Saturday. Miss Plowman goes to Frazee, Miss Olson to Lake Park, Prof. MacGregor to St. Cloud, while Miss Gigstad and Mrs. Austin will remain at their homes here.

Edward Brouilcete, the 8 year old son of Mrs. Wilfred Chatel, of Red Lake Falls, was drowned in the Red Lake river, near Healey's milldam late Monday afternoon, while he was fishing with his brotners. His body was carried into the whirlpool below the sluice and all efforts to recover it proved futile.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Post are home again after a five weeks visit at Mount Clements, Michigan where Mr. Post was taking the baths for his health. Mrs. Post returned on Wednesday and Mr. Post on Thursday, having been delayed a day in Crookston on business matters. Mr. Posts health seems greatly improved.

Hicks, the well known weather prophet predicted all kinds of bad weather for the month of May and we have been getting our share of it. It has been cold and wet nearly all of the past week and on Wednesday we had a rain and hail storm with a high wind that was one of the worst we have had for a long time. Very little damage has been done so far, but we have had moisture enough to last for a long time.

We understand that a certain farmer in this vicinity claims to have saved $15 on a load of shingles by getting them from Thief River Falls instead of from us but we can prove that that is not so. This man bought a cheaper grade of shingles at Thief River Falls than we have. He could not have saved a cent on the same grade that we have as our best Washington R. C. shingles are now selling at $4 per. St. Hilaire Retail Lumber Co., St. Hilaire, Minn.

The log jam has now been broken and the eleven million feet of logs will soon be on its way down the river to the saw mills. Last Tuesday while the men were at work they lost control of their bateau and it swung broadside to the current, dumping them all into the swift current. None of them were hurt, however, to any great extent and when they had landed and taken inventory of their outfit they found that thirteen of them were each minus a hat.

Carl Johnson, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Eva, left for St. Paul Monday where they will consult Dr. Riggs, the nerve specialist. Miss Johnson, it will be remembered, suffered a stroke of paralysis two years ago and has never fully recovered from it since, goes to Dr. Riggs in the hopes that he may afford her some relief. Dr. Riggs is known by reputation all over the northwest and it is to be hoped that he may succeed, in the due course of time, in restoring his patient to her usual good health.

The Great Pyramid

The greatest of all pyramids is Khu fu Khut, as the Egyptians call it, or the glorious throne of Khufu. All its four sides measure 755 feet and the original height was 481 feet. It is the most nourishing of all beers because it contains every particle of the healthful, wholesome nutriment of the malt and all the tonic properties of the hops from which it is made. Real Estate Taxes Due

Parties owning real estate should bear in mind that taxes should be paid upon each description on or before the 31st day of May.

Owing to the fact that Saturday and Sunday, May 30 and 31, are legal holidays the tax payer will be obliged to make payment not later than May 29.

Should payment not be made before this date, a penalty of ten per cent attaches on June 1 to all unpaid taxes.

Those who wish to take advantage of the law, which gives the taxpayer the privelege of paying one half of his real estate taxes before June 1, the balance payable in October. In any event, one half the taxes should be paid before it becomes delinquent, to avoid the penalty.

Creamery Express Boat

Sunbeam—The board of directors of the Highlanding Creamery had made arrangements with the Mr. Hanson's of Hilda to have their gasolene boat run to carry cream to the creamery. The boat will start from Hilda in the morning, of creamery days, and will take all the cream delivered to them on the river bank to the creamery at Highlanding. The boat will then go down the river, as far as Kratka, or as far as there is cream to get and bring it up the river to the creamery. You need no cream stations, other than a cream can, as the boat will stop anywhere it is the most handy for the farmers to get their cream to the river bank. The Highlanding creamery wants your cream and will use you right.

The $50 List

The $50 list of the creamery for the month of April, while it contains no very large amount for any one patron, makes a very creditable showing when weather conditions and lack of grass are taken into consideration. From now on until it freezes up in thd fall, there is every reason to expect that the lists will contain amounts in excess to any list published in the Spectator since the creamery started. The list for the month of April is as follows:

Some small frogs of the species known as rhinoderma darwinf have reached London from Chile and have received much attention from the naturalists. The tadpoles are developed in a very curious manner. The lack of external gills is a remarkable characteristic of the tadpoles.

"I thought so," said the butcher. "When we sell a chicken here, ma'am, we sell it feet and all."

If an Advertisement Convinces You, Stay Convinced

When you read in this newspaper the advertisement of a manufacturer who has paid for the space used to convince you that it is to your interest to buy his goods, and you go to a dealer where such articles are usually handled for sale, do not let the dealer or any one of his clerks sell you something else which he claims is "just as good." If an advertisement convinced you, it was because of the element of truth which it contained.

"Aweel," said the Scot, "ye can gie the top o' your heid a bit rub wi't, and I'll look back the morn, and see if ye're tellin' the truth."

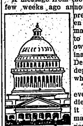
DOCUMENT IN DARK

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE KEPT LOCKED UP.

So Badly Faded Now That Further Exposure to Light It Is Feared Would Render It Entirely Undecipherable.



A message from the White House a few weeks ago announced that the president had given a permit to a man who wanted to see with his own eyes the original copy of the Declaration of Independence, or what is left of it.

The permit, however, must have died a-bornin', for it did not further materialize. If that permit had been issued and had been presented at the department of state it would have enabled its holder to have the first view of the Declaration of Independence that has been had since the spring of 1903.

No one has seen the document for five years. It is locked up in a safe in the library of the state department and not even the officials of that department get it out to look at it.

Even before 1903 it had been kept in the safe, but it was often brought out for admiring citizens to scrutinize and to exclaim over. Since 1903 the light of day has not fallen on it.

There had been too much light of day before that. In fact there had been too much of a good many things; too much folding, too much rolling, too much handling and, alas! too much stealing of its immortal language by a wet press copying operation resorted to in 1820.

This was tried as a means of securing a facsimile coy. It was good enough for the copy, but it was powerful bad on the original, for it resulted in transferring to the copy the ink which belonged on the old parchment itself. Not content with swiping its ink, the government put the document up on exhibition in a nice bright light so that visitors could decipher the traces of ink which remained.

For 30 years the Declaration of Independence hung in the light, and the longer it hung there the more necessary the light became, for the ink that was left grew paler and paler until it was hard to make out any of the signatures except the big black name of John Hancock. Finally it became evident that if anything except the parchment was to be left the document would have to be kept in the dark.

So it went into retirement in the safe, being brought out only upon special requests.

The original parchment was photographed in 1883 and again in 1903. The committee recommended that it be photographed again from time to time. The present indications are that it will not be seen until perhaps another 20 years has gone by and the time comes, in 1923, for taking another photograph.

In the safe with the Declaration of Independence reposes also the original copy of the Constitution of the United States. It is not on exhibition, but if doubt as to its existence continues to grow it may be produced to set fears at rest.

There is nothing the matter with the constitution; that is to say, not with the document itself. The ink is all right, the provisions clear—so far as the writing goes. It is shut up in the safe to preserve it from the fate of the declaration.

One on Mr. Clark.

Representative Champ Clark frequently visited Washington before his election to the house, and thought he was pretty well known there. On one occasion he went to the capital on business for a client. He was surprised and pleased to meet an old friend and townsman at the hotel Mr. Clark had selected for his stay.

"Well, well, if it isn't Brown!" exclaimed Mr. Clark.

"I'm glad to see you. Is there anything I can do for you?"

Then Mr. Clark took his friend by the arm and marched him to the hotel's desk, saying:

"Clerk," added Mr. Clark, when they had reached that functionary, "this is my friend, Mr. Brown; I want you to treat him right. Let him have whatever he wants, and if he gets too extravagant and runs out of cash, just charge it to me."

"Why, yes," said the clerk, "I know Mr. Brown very well, sir, but who are you?"

The Retort Courteous.

A young man in a hurry went through the left side of a pair of swinging doors in the senate wing of the capitol at Washington last session and almost knocked over the late Senator Pettus of Alabama, who was about to push through the right side.

The young man apologized profusely. "I am very sorry—I didn't know I was—I am in a great hurry."

"That's all right, son," said the venerable Pettus. "But let me give you a piece of advice about going through doors like these. Always go through on the right side, and turn to the right. Then, if you meet anybody coming through and bump into him you needn't apologize. He'll be a durned fool, and it won't be necessary. Good morning."—Saturday Evening Post.

Government Employes.

A census bulletin just issued shows that more than 185,844 persons are employed by the government, exclusive of postmasters and their clerks, and mechanics. Of this number nearly 14,000 are women and 8,352 negroes. Although half the total are under 35 years of age, 137 are over 80 years; 465 over 75 years; 1,557 over 79 years, and 4,364 over 65 years. New York ranks first in the number of employes; Pennsylvania second; Illinois third, and Massachusetts fourth. The average yearly salary paid men is $935; that to women $766.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT WHITE LEAD IS?

Its Chief Use and a Method of Determining Good from Bad Explained.

White Lead is the standard paint material all over the world. It is made by corroding metallic lead into a white powder, through exposing it to the fumes of weak acetic acid and carbonic acid gas; this powder is then ground and mixed with linseed oil, making a thick paste, in which form it is packed and sold for painting purposes. The painter thins it down to the proper consistency for application by the addition of more linseed oil.

The above refers, of course, to pure, genuine White Lead only. Adulterated and fake "White Lead," of which there are many brands on the market, is generally some sort of composition containing only a percentage of white lead; sometimes no White Lead at all; in such stuff, barytes or ground rock, chalk, and similar cheap substances are used to make bulk and imitate the appearance of pure White Lead.

There is, however, a positive test by which the purity or impurity of White Lead may be proved or exposed, before painting with it.

The blow-pipe flame will reduce pure white lead to metallic lead. If a supposed white lead be thus tested and it only partially reduces to lead, leaving a residue, it is proof that something else was there besides white lead.

The National Lead Company guarantee all White Lead sold in packages bearing its "Dutch Boy Painter" trademark to prove absolutely pure under this blow-pipe test, and that you may make the test yourself in your own home, they will send free upon request a blow-pipe and everything else necessary to make the test, together with a valuable booklet on paint. Address, National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York.

SEVERE HEMORRHOIDS

Sores, and Itching Eczema—Doctor Thought an Operation Necessary —Cuticura's Efficacy Proven.

"I am now 80 years old, and three years ago I was taken with an attack of piles (hemorrhoids), bleeding and protruding. The doctor said the only help for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. I tried several remedies for months but did not get much help. During this time sores appeared which changed to a terrible itching eczema. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, injecting a quantity of Cuticura Ointment with a Cuticura Suppository Syringe. It took a month of this treatment to get me in a fairly healthy state and then I treated myself once a day for three months and, after that, once or twice a week. The treatments I tried took a lot of money, and it is fortunate that I used Cuticura. J. H. Henderson, Hopkinton, N. Y., Apr. 26, 1907."

JUMP THE ROPE.

If You Would Restore a Full Figure to Its Former Sylphlike Lines.

If you would retain a sylphlike form, or attain one, in case the accumulation of adipose tissue has distorted your former slenderness into unsightly lines, jump the rope.

This is what certain New York women are spending their spare time in doing nowadays. When you see a woman who once tipped the scales at 200 and now balances them at 135 you may be sure that she has been following the latest form of beauty culture.

From Paris comes the beauty culturist who introduced this simple method of flesh reduction, and though she pretends that some mysterious medicinal virtues emanate from the handles of her skipping ropes, yet those who have tried the system with ordinary skipping ropes report remarkable results from the sport.

As a matter of fact, this reformer herself might recommend almost anything in the line of beauty culture for flesh reduction and her adherents would follow it, even to standing on their heads, if that would do any good, for she has a sylphlike form herself. Encased in heathlike corsets over which hangs easily a princess gown of white broadcloth she presents a picture of grace that any woman would do much to acquire.

FIT THE GROCER

Wife Made the Suggestion.

A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

He says, regarding his own experience: "Two years ago I had been drinking coffee, and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves.

"Particularly in the morning I was so irritable and upset that I could hardly wait until the coffee was served, and then I had no appetite for breakfast, and did not feel like attending to my store duties.

"One day my wife suggested that inasmuch as I was selling so much Postum there must be some merit in it and suggested that we try it. I took home a package and she prepared it according to directions. The result was a very happy one. My nervousness gradually disappeared, and today I am all right. I would advise everyone afflicted in any way with nervousness or stomach troubles, to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Whispering Stones in Statuary Hall Completed Estrangement.

Who hasn't heard or experimented with the famous "whispering gallery" in statuary hall? Really, the phenomenon should be called the "whispering stones," for two persons standing exactly on these stones and separated by the wide expanse of the great vaulted chamber can carry on a low-toned conversation. A capitol guide tried to explain the why of it to me once, but got all tangled up and failed miserably, says a writer in the Washington Star. I suppose it is merely that by some sort of outrageously complicated acoustic the human voice, starting as a soft-spoken word from one of these stones, is phonographically treated and magnified until it is a regular bellow when it arrives at the other. But this isn't the whispering stones, but concerns a congressional feud they started.

There are two Democrats in the house from the same southern state who have never been particularly impressed with each other, but who have always taken the greatest pains to remain on the most friendly terms. Let's call them Jones and Smith, and explain their courtesy by saying that Jones, although he didn't like Smith, thought Smith likes him and vice versa.

But it's all over now, for one day last week Jones was standing in statuary hall talking with a constituent and the conversation turned on Smith. There were a few people scattered around the hall, but Jones, always cautious, spoke in almost a whisper. But in that whisper he relieved his mind. He called Smith everything he could think of from a conceited, pinheaded ass up. And after he had concluded his peroration and had paused to draw a long breath he nearly dropped dead when, apparently out of the clear sky, came, in an enraged roar, the voice of Smith. And Smith started off with "Snake!" and from that he branched out and became eloquent.

When Jones recovered his presence of mind he began to glance around, and far across statuary hall, standing on one of the whispering stones—which, it might be explained, are not marked in any way—he saw Smith, gesticulating violently and apparently talking to himself, for there was no one within yards of him. But every word that he said reached Jones, and in a minute he was barking back. The spectacle was perfectly idiotic, but this fact didn't appeal to either Jones or Smith at the time.

And now they don't even speak; also, the tale having been spread around by dear friends of both parties, members of the House are beginning to be careful what they say in passing through statuary hall, where are located the wonderful but somewhat indiscreet whispering stones.

QUICKER TO WALK UPSTAIRS.

Senators take precedence over ordinary mortals in the elevators at the senate end of the national capitol. Whenever a senator enters the elevator the conductor takes him immediately to the floor he wishes to go, no matter if the cage should happen (as is frequently the case) to be filled with men and women headed in the opposite direction. Three rings is a notice to the conductor that a senator wishes to go up or down. Frequently a mischievous page will give the senatorial ring and then run to cover, and at such times the conductor uses language that is quite unparliamentary. Occasionally a delicate situation is created by two senators entering an elevator at the same time, each headed in an opposite direction. Then an Alphonse-Gaston stunt is enacted, to the edification of the onlookers, before the big machine gets under way again.

Not long since Mr. Latta who conveys all of President Roosevelt's messages from the White House to the capitol, stepped in the elevator with a big, black portfolio under his arm containing "a message in writing from the president to the senate of the United States." Just then there was a senatorial signal from the sub-cellar, so instead of going up with Mr. Roosevelt's messenger, the operator lowered the cage to the basement. The senator who entered wished to go to the gallery, so the elevator went up to that point without stopping. Another senator was waiting at the gallery floor who had business in the basement. Several trips from top to bottom were made without stopping at the senate floor, where Mr. Latta wished to get out.

"Hold on," said Mr. Latta just as the elevator reached the bottom after his fourth fruitless attempt to reach the senate floor. "I guess I will get out and walk up. You see, I am in a hurry!"

To Have Novel Floor Covering.

A new fad not likely to become so popular as to lose its present exclusiveness is being introduced by Mrs. Perry Belmont, wife of a former American minister to Belgium and New York politician, who will have the parquetry floors of her new $1,000,000 Washington residence covered with reproductions of rugs and carpets trod by royalty years ago in Europe.

Apropos to this is the service rendered to art by the federal bureau of manufactures, which is collecting through the assistance of Ameridan consuls the best designs used in foreign countries for the manufacture of articles of utility, and not only placing those within the reach of American manufacturers, but calling their attention to them. Ten thousand designs of printed fabrics—cottons, silks, etc., thus collected have been mounted and arranged so as to be available, and are now making the round of American manufactories and industrial schools in the order in which the exhibit is requested.

HOUSE WORK

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Nothing Funny About It.

Husband—Oh!

Touching Gratitude.

"Don't tell me," said the resident surgeon, "that the poor are ungrateful. We have daily proof here of the gratitude of the poor.

"Time and time again it happens, after we have removed a cancer from the face of some old washerwoman, or assuaged the insomnia of a white-bearded watchman, that the patient says:

"'I'm too poor to do much for your hospital, sir, but I'll tell you what I will do—I'll leave directions when I die for my corpse to be given you for dissection.'

"Yes, that happens often," said the surgeon, "and many a free specimen reaches our dissecting room that way."

Not in the Game.

At a recent party in Harlem several games were played. Having exhausted this form of amusement the host proposed something out of the ordinary.

He said: I will give $5 to the lady or gentleman who can make the funniest face."

Looking around carefully, examining all the faces closely, he finally gave the prize to Mrs. Jones, who was sitting way over near the window.

"Why!" she exclaimed; "I wasn't playing at all."

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

SEVEN TRUE BILLS AGAINST LAMPHERE

Charged With Arson, Five Murders and Being Accessory in Helgelein Murder.

SKULL IS DUG UP ON FARM

Believed to Belong to One of Bodies of Mrs. Gunness' Victims Dug Up Two Weeks Ago.

Laporte, Ind., May 24.—In returning seven true bills against Ray Lamphere yesterday afternoon the Laporte county grand jury also indicted Mrs. Bella Gunness for the murder of Andrew Helgelein of Mansfield, S. D. No warrant was issued for Mrs. Gunness, as she was declared officially dead by the verdict of Coroner Mack, but in order to vote a true bill against Lamphere as an accessory in the killing of Helgelein it was necessary to indict Mrs. Gunness as the principal. Lamphere now stands before the bar of justice officially charged with arson, five murders and being an accessory in the Helgelein murder.

Votes Separate Bills.

Separate bills were voted against Lamphere for the murder, in the first degree, of Mrs. Bella Gunness and her three children.

In charging Lamphere with the murder of Andrew Helgelein the indictment says that "Ray Lamphere on Jan. 14, 1908, did unlawfully, feloniously, purposely and with premeditated malice, kill and murder Andrew E. Helgelein."

Lamphere was not arraigned, and this will probably not be done until the cases are set for trial. Bench warrants were served upon Lamphere in the jail last evening. He expressed but slight surprise, as the returning of the indictment had been anticipated.

Will Be Tried in June.

Prosecutor Smith said last night that it would be imposible to reach the Lamphere cases until late in June.

The digging yesterday, under the direction of Sheriff Smutzer, resulted in the unearthing of a human skull, which it was decided belonged to one of the three bodies dug up in the chicken yard two weeks ago. Long hair attached to the skull is considered evidence that it is that of a woman. One of the three dismembered bodies referred to was that of a female.

Laporte, Ind., May 27.—Mrs. Bella Gunness had accomplices. This was satisfactorily learned last night when Martin Gurhelt of Iowa, Wis., arrived to investigate the disappearance of his brother, Henry Gurholt, who left Iola in April, 1905, to go to Laporte to work on Mrs. Gunness' farm. Martin says that early in April, 1905, a stranger came to Iola. He formed the acquaintance of Henry Gurholt. The stranger talked of the beauties of Laporte, said he had a sister, Mrs. Bella Gunness, who was in need of such a man on the farm. The result was that Henry Gurholt left for Laporte.

Drops Out of Sight.

He arrived here on April 12, 1905. He wrote home regularly to his parents, but after a letter written July 4, 1905, they heard no more from him. He said nothing about leaving Mrs. Gunness' farm, but in December, when Martin Gurholt wrote and made inquiries for his brother, the woman replied that he had left, had gone to Chicago with some horse traders, and if he had not returned home she feared that he might have been waylaid, murdered and robbed in Chicago, for he had some money with him.

Identifies Watch.

Martin Gurholt had a description of his brother's watch, which tallies with that of a watch found in the ruins, excepting one digit of the number, which, it is thought, is due to a mistake on the part of the Iola jeweler from whom Martin obtained the number.

The digging yesterday brought to light no bodies, and no incidents of note marked the work.

New Theory Advanced.

Counsel representing Ray Lamphere, charged with the murder of Mrs. Gunness and her three children, have eceived a letter from a man in Arkansas, who positively declares that Mrs. Gunness escaped in men's clothing. The writer declares that not later than May 3, five days after she was burned to death, according to the official statement of Coroner Mack, he received a letter from her.

That the body of Mrs. May Grilley, who disappeared from Rochester, N. Y., last fall, was substituted by Mrs. Gunness for her own is the latest theory advanced by attorneys for Lamphere. They claim to have secured evidence to substantiate such a belief.

WILD SCENES IN CORN PIT

Frantic Brokers Yell Themselves Hoarse, but There Was No Corn to Be Had.

Chicago, May 28.—The "corner" in May corn, in which James A. Patten of this city is the ruling spirit, took on new life yesterday, and the price of May corn shot up 5 1-4 cents from the low point of the day. It closed 4 1-8 cents above the close of Monday.

It was the opinion of many traders that, generally speaking, a settlement had been made with the "Patten crowd" for the greater part of the May deliveries, and for several days prices have been inclined to drag, and the market has been easy. The opening yesterday was weak, and the price of May corn dropped to 73 1-2 cents. There was little corn to be had, however, and when a few buying orders had revealed the scarcity the market started up. By noon it had advanced 2 5-8 cents, and then it commenced to rise with great rapidity.

The scene in the corn pit was one of the most exciting that has been witnessed for several years. Frantic brokers yelled themselves hoarse, but there was no corn to be had. The price of May advanced to 78 7-8 cents, where it closed, 5 cents above the low point of the day and 4 1-8 cents higher than Monday night.

James A. Patten appeared on the board of trade during the excitement, but disclaimed all knowledge of what had caused the rise.

It is the general belief among brokers that a number of the larger shorts have made settlements in the last few days and that the advance of yesterday will badly squeeze those who have hung out, hoping for a lower price.

EVELYN THAW WITHDRAWS SUIT

Her Attorney Says She Was Drawn Into Action by Thaw's Relatives.

New York, May 28.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, through her counsel, yesterday withdrew the suit which she instituted some time ago for the annulment of her marriage to Harry K. Thaw. The motion for withdrawal was sanctioned by Referee Deyo, who had been appointed by the court to take testimony in the proceedings, and the case was declared discontinued without costs to either party to the suit.

Immediately following the dismissal of the action, Daniel O'Reilly, personal counsel for Mrs. Thaw, issued a statement in which he declared that Mrs. Thaw had been an unwilling party to the proceedings from the first. It was only because of pressure on the part of her husband's relatives that she had any part in such proceedings, said Mr. O'Reilly, and that she withdrew the action because she believes her husband's present position demands her loyalty.

Mr. O'Reilly was quoted as saying there had been no reconciliation between Harry K. Thaw and his wife and that Mrs. Evelyn Thaw wanted none. He added that Mrs. Evelyn Thaw thought she had a right to some financial recompense for the sacrifice she had made in Thaw's behalf. Mr. O'Reilly said that some step of that kind might be taken, but he would not indicate what form the movement would take.

CHANCE FOR CURRENCY BILL.

Compromise Measure Will Probably Be Reported.

Washington, May 28. — The senate and house conferees on the currency bills held three meetings yesterday and reached a tentative agreement on which was based the compromise agreement which the Republican members of the conference hope to reach at an adjourned meeting to-day. At the conclusion of the final meeting the probability of the reporting of a compromise bill was much stronger than at any previous time this session. Indeed it was considered a certainty.

SENT PASSIONATE LETTERS TO SNELL

WORKED OLD MAN TO FINISH

Clinton, Ill., May 28. — The celebrated "Maybelle letters," with all their wild flights of exotic passion, at last have found their way into the hands of the jury which will decide the fate of the $2,000,000 Snell estate.

One glimpses at the burning missives, which were read behind closed doors, disclosed the secret of the strange hold which Maybelle Snell McNamara had on the old millionaire, who was wheedled into parting with great chunks of his fortune to retain her favors.

With the submission of the famous affinity letters from Maybelle, the grandniece, and Mrs. Hamilton, the clergyman's wife, and the presentation of the final witnesses, the contestant closed his case.

Satisfied that adequate testimony had been presented to convince the jury that Col. Snell was insane, the contestant decided not to call alienists.

Probably the most important letter in the possession of the contestant relates to an appeal made by Maybelle Snell McNamara to Col. Snell to sell certain bank stock.

Urged to Sell Bank Stock.

"My Own Dear Darling: I am going to ask you a great favor, one that may entail a certain financial loss to you, but of far more importance to me. I want you to sell your Emporia bank stock. Now, darling, won't say no, as it means so much to me. You konw we can't have any fun together as long as you are interested in any business over in Emporia.

"Darling, it is my passionate love for you that prompts me to make such a request of you.

"I wish that you could be here now to press your dear lips to mine and say: 'Darling, it shall be as you ask.' I wish that I could place my arms close about you, draw you close to me and tell you how empty life is without you.

"With millions of passionate kisses, I am —Your Baby."

Stirred Diseased Brain.

There is another long letter which fairly reeks in hysterically affectionate appeals to the amorous old millionaire. This is the sort of letter which experts who have been questioned assert worked upon the diseased brain of Col. Snell until he was not able to control himself. In the progress of expurgation half of this letters was eliminated. Part of the remainder, however, follows:

"My Dearest Darling: I believe, dearie, that I grow more affectionate every day. O but I do miss you and your tender little pets and caresses. Don't you realize how much they are to each of us? Nothing was ever so nice or so good as the way you and I love each other."

Maybelle's letters probably have brought her greater financial returns than the best selling book of the most popular author. It is conservatively estimated by relatives of Col. Snell that $100,000 would not cover the cost of gifts in cash, real estate and clothing which he lavished upon her.

EX-CHIEF COLLINS FREED.

Conspiracy Charge in Chicago Ends in Acquittal.

Chicago, May 28.—Former Chief of Police John M. Collins and Former Police Attorney Comerford were yesterday acquitted of the charge of conspiring to deprive the city of the services of its employes. It was charged that both men had been active in using the members of the police force to further the election of Edward F. Dunne for mayor in the last municipal campaign.

Two Miners Are Killed.

New York, May 28.—Four indictments charging grand larceny were returned by the grand jury yesterday against Thomas A. McIntyre, head of the suspended firm of T. A. McIntyre & Co.

SINK $650,000; MINE NO GOOD

Chicago, May 28.—Another mining bubble burst late yesterday when it became known that the Amador Mining and Development company of Montana, a $10,000,000 corporation with headquarters in Chicago, and come to an end. Letters that will be mailed will inform 1,400 stockholders, the majority Chicagoans, that the Copper Gold Mine in which they have sunk $650,000 is worthless.

With the crash of the concern, which had done a thriving business in selling stock for six years, interest increases in the whereabouts of the secretary and general manager, O. E. MacKinnon, who appears to be the only interested person who ever profited from the enterprise. Mr. MacKinnon organized the company and boomed the stock sales for five years. A year ago he departed to Boston, where he opened a branch office, and since that time he has spent only one day in Chicago.

In the six years' life of the company a total of only five cars of ore was taken from the mine. The stockholders' money was sunk in the extravagant equipment on the surface, in glowing literature, expensive offices and junkets of prospective investors.

ANOTHER DIOCESE FOR STATE.

New Bishop Will Be Located in St. Paul When Selected.

St. Paul, May 28.—Bishop Edsall last night gave his consent to the erection of another diocese of the Episcopal church in Minnesota, with the episcopal see in St. Paul, on condition that the necessary endowment be secured for the maintenanc of the additional supervisory officer of the church. This is an end which has been sought for a number of years. The growth of this diocese has been rapid and the work is too heavy to be taken care of thoroughly by even so capable a man as the present bishop.

A committee of five laymen and five clergy, under the chairmanship of Dr. John Wright, visted the bishop in Minneapolis last night and after presenting the case and thoroughly discussing it the bishop gave his consent, subject to the conditions mentioned.

WIND CAUSES SMASHUP.

Peculiar Accident Occurs Near Jackson, Minn.

Jackson, Minn., May 28.—A special circus train carrying twenty-six cars and pulled by two engines, was wrecked in an extraordinary manner two miles west of Alpha.

Five empty box cars on a siding were started in motion by a terrific wind, and running into an open switch went out on the main track. The empty cars then rushed down the steep hill with the speed of a passenger train and crashed into the approaching circus special. The empty cars were smashed to pieces and the circus train was wrecked and thrown into the ditch. The engine crews jumped just in time.

REHEARING IS REFUSED.

Special Supreme Court Declines to Review Proceedings in Hart Case.

St. Paul, May 28.—The findings of the special supreme court which tried the disbarment charges brought against Capt. F. B. Hart of Minneapolis by the Minnesota State Bar association will stand.

The special court yesterday filed orders denying the applications for a rehearing made by both Capt. Hart and the bar association, both parties having been dissatisfied with the court's decision that Capt. Hart should be disbarred for a period of six months.

TORNADOES CAUSE DEATH AND RUIN

Dozen or More Fatalities Are Caused in Oklahoma by Terrific Wind Storms.

MINNESOTA TOWN IS STRUCK

Ellsworth Suffers Great Damage; Storm in Nebraska; South Dakota Town Is Victim.

Wichita, Kan., May 28.—Ten dead, twelve injured, several fatally, hundreds of head of cattle killed, a vast acreage of crops destroyed, rain and desolation, are the results of a series of tornadoes that visited Alfalfa county, Oklahoma, last night.

Minnesota Town Hit.

Ellsworth, Minn., May 28.—A tornado struck Ellsworth at midnight, destroying the Eagle Brewing company's barn, removed the roof of the Rock Island roundhouse, tore down the steeple of the Congregational church, broke shade trees and windows and overthrew many small buildings. The large farm barns of Robert Hickman, Matt Grady and Peter Martin were completely wrecked and stock therein was injured. The storm appears to have been general, and many farmers have suffered minor losses. It is impossible as yet to state the damage to growing crops.

Tornado in Nebraska.

Omaha, May 28—A severe storm, accompanied by a wind which destroyed everything in its path, struck the north end of the city early yesterday. Park trees and shrubbery were entirely destroyed in Miller Park and a barn was carried a hundred yards and dropped into the middle of the park intact.

Three Nebraska towns were visited by small tornadoes. At Hasings the barns of James Railston and Frank Kellar were razed and their homes badly wrecked. No person was hurt. At Chadron a storm with tornado features occurred, blowing out a number of plate glass windows and wrecking several small buildings. Two persons were injured, not seriously.

At Fremont a small tornado demolished the cribs and sheds of the McCall-Webster Elevator company and destroyed the elevator at Wood Cliff. The storm covered the greater part of Dodge county.

HAIL BEATS OUT CROPS.

Armour, S. D., May 28.—A terrific rain and wind storm visited this section last night, lasting six hours and doing more than $35,000 damage in this locality. Over three inches of rain fell and hail beat the growing crops into the ground. Hundreds of window lights were broken out on the side next to the storm, and two tall chimneys on the Armour high school building were wrecked and went crashing through three floors to the basement. The damage to the building amounts to $5,000. Cyclonic clouds formed in the vicinity of Platte, thirty miles away, and traveled at the rate of eighty milds an hour.

SEVENTEEN MEN ARE DROWNED

Fishing Schooner Fame Is Run Down in Fog on Chaspes Bank by Steamer Boston.

Yarmouth, N. S., May 28.—The Boston fishing schooner Fame, commanded by Capt. Thomas Fay, was run down and sunk on Chaspes' bank last night by the Dominion Atlantic line steamer Boston, and seventeen of the schooner's crew of nineteen were lost.

The collision happened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a fog. The Boston, which was found from Bostor to Yarmouth, the officers state, was proceeding at a slow speed, whistle blowing constantly. Nothing was heard or seen of any vessel until the Boston smashed into the Fame. The sharp prow of the steamer sliced the stern of the schooner and she sank in three minutes. The Fame was struck just aft of the main rigging.

The Boston was stopped and a boat immediately lowered, but by an accident to the fall it capsized. Two more, however, were sent off in a few minutes. One of them found Edward Pitts, the cook, floating about supported by a life belt. John Clark, the other survivor, was swimming in the wreckage and was hauled on board the lifeboat in an exhausted condition. The lifeboats circled about for nearly an hour without finding others of the schooner's crew. They had much difficulty in returning to the Boston, owing to the fog.

VICTORY FOR TURRETS.

Naval Men Pleased With Result of Tests Made on Florida.

Old Point Comfort, Va., May 28.—The biggest naval gun, the heaviest projectiles and the highest explosive known, combined with close range and deadly aim, were yesterday allowed to work their full havoc on the turret plate of the monitor Florida. The result is declared to be a victory for turret construction and, and this notwithstanding, the 11-inch hardened steel plate was blackened, broken, the seams of the turret sprung and the rivets and screws loosened and twisted.

It was not five minutes after the terrible impact that the finely balanced mechanism of the turret was being worked with perfect ease and the 12-inch gun on the left side was trained at will.

Then followed a futile attempt to destroy the newly designed fighting mast on the stern of the Florida. After five shots of the guns had gone through it the mast stood firm.

NINETEEN LOST IN OKLAHOMA FLOOD

Fourteen Take Refuge on Island and Are Swept to Death in Raging Waters.

TEXAS TIED UP BY FLOOD

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 28. — A special from Colbert, Okla., near the Texas line, says fourteen persons who had taken refuge on an island formed between the new and old channels of the Red river are reported to have been drowned late yesterday.

Three children of J. H. Roberts, ferryman, were carried to death when the river swept away a tree in which they had taken refuge south of Lawton. Will and Newton Stidham were drowned near Henrietta yesterday while attempting to leave their home in a skiff.

Railroads Tied Up in Texas.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 28.—In the grip of the most remarkable flood which ever swept down Trinity river at this point, north, east and west of Fort Worth not a railway wheel is moving, nor is any effort being made. Every enegry of railway officials is bent toward saving tracks and bridges in the vicinity of Fort Worth. Trinity river sweeps in a great arc around Fort Worth, surrounding the town on three sides. Across it there are dozens of railway bridges and none of them are considered safe for traffic. The waters show no disposition to recede and every hour piles up the damage. Hundreds of cottages and humble homes are floating down stream, carrying the whole fortunes of the unhappy owners. There was no loss of life yesterday.

Jacob Durand of Falls City, Mo., while attempting to secure his hat, which had blown into Muddy creek, was drowned. A number of barns were struck and burned and much live stock was drowned.

TELLS SECRETS OF SNELL'S LIFE.

Matters Jealously Guarded During Millionaire's Life Revealed.

Clinton, Ill., May 28.—Secrets jealously guarded during the closing years of Col. Tom Snell's life were told by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hanna Snell, from the witness stand in the trial of the will case yesterday. She proved the most notable witness yet examined, and the court room contained the largest crowd since the beginning of the trial. She told of Col. Snell's violent temper and of his habits, how he had struck her in the face, of shockingly profane language addressed to her and to her children by Snell. She declared that he had repeatedly refused to permit the remains of his son to be removed from a public vault for burial or to construct a private mausoleum, claiming that he was too poor to do so.

Mrs. Snell first met Maybelle Snell, the grandniece, at Emporia, Kan., in 1904, when the witness was visiting Thornton, her son. She also saw her at the Snell home in Bloomington three weeks before Snell died. Maybelle Snell, she said, had wired that she was coming to take Snell to Kansas City with her, but the aged millionaire was on his deathbed. While in Bloomington, Mrs. Snell testified, she overheard a quarrel between Maybelle and Snell, she rebuking him for giving a coat to another woman without consulting the grandniece.

While at a Chicago hotel, the witness said, Col. Snell did not want to join a theater party, but Maybelle placed her arms about his neck and patted his cheek and caused him to change his mind.

Threw Check in His Face.

When Harry Snell was married in Elkhart, Ind., in 1905, Mrs. Snell testified, the colonel refused to attend unless an invitation was sent to Maybelle and to her brother. Both were invited. Snell said that it cost him $300 to $400 to have the two there; that he had rented a diamond sunburst for Maybelle and a dress suit for Ben. Maybelle wished him to buy the sunburst for her, but he refused. The witness said that when Maybelle received a check from Snell and it was too small to suit her she would tear the paper into bits and throw it in his face. He would then write a larger one.

Dr. J. C. Meyers, another witness, said that at one time Snell had told him that women had cost him a quarter of a million dollars.

If you have failed to pay your real estate taxes it is now too late to avoid the ten per cent penalty.

It was the intention for congress to adjourn last week but they are still at it. Possibly they are afraid to come home.

It is not probable that any candidate for governor will have sufficient strength in Red Lake county to get an instructed delegation. It is more than likely that a strong delegation will be selected without regard to whom they intend to support.

Norman County Index:—John E. King, editor of the Red Lake Falls Gazette and at present state librarian, and D. D. Daly, the well known insurance man, are propinently mentioned for the chairman of the democratic state committee. Both men are well fitted for the place, both from a standpoint of ability and acquaintance.

Northfield News:—The Republican party doesn't owe the governorship to anybody, but it owes itself to select a candidate who will harmonize and strengthen it. The best way to bring about this result is to make the convention strong by sending representative men of high character as delegates, who will not think so much of candidates claims as of what nominations will prove of advantage to the party and to the State. The candidates have the best right to the party's confidence who are best qualified to serve it.

Grand Forks Herald:—A modern battleship of the first rank, with full armament and equipment, costs upwards of $10,000,000. With that money one could build 143 miles of railroad. With that money a bank could extend $30,000,000 of credit. With that money one could buy 200,000 bales of cotton. With that money 200,000 women could be supplied with $50 spring hats, which have become as much a modern luxury as battleships. With money the universities of Chicago, Wisconsin, Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Cornell and Columbia could be completely financed for one year. With that money all of the students at Hervard, at Yale, and the universities at Chicago and Michigan could defray all of their necessary expenses for a year. And still battleships are cheaper than war.

Purgatory Full of "Knockers"

Occasionally one will hear the remark, "I wish I were out of this town," and then one feels like saying, "I wish you were," for a man who stands on the street corners, cursing the town, finding fault with his grandmother because she was a woman, claiming the merchants are a lot of thieves, that the editor of the local newspaper is a cur and would skin a man to a finish if he got a chance, and a whole lot more, is a nuisance and an abomination. Any town pestered with one or more such worries would be justified in exercising cowhide authority on the bosom of their pants. No one is obliged to live where he is not suited. If one has not an encouraging word for the business enterprise and institutions of town he should shut up, and "go way back and sit down." If things don't suit you, move to where they will. A sorehead and growler in a town is an enterprise killer every time. It would pay the citizen of a town to each donate him $5 and tell him to move.—Brookton Herald.

An Army In One.

By J. LUDLUM LEE.

Copyrighted, 1908, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

The snow had been falling for hours. The air was heavy with dampness, and the streets were crowded with children, glad of the storm, as it offered them an opportunity to use their sleds. And at last here was the snow they had prayed for!

In the middle of High street a snowball fight was in progress. A motley crowd of youngsters had made hundreds of snowballs, and they were ranged on both sides of the street in "gangs." The recruits were lined up ready for action when a sleigh turned the corner.

"Beat it! Beat it!" screamed the leader of the opposite forces. And in rank disorder both sections disappeared around the corner and in doorways.

A passerby might have looked in vain for the sight of the Salvation Army. The sleigh drove up in front of a little cottage in the row, and a young girl, muffled in furs, got out, gave some directions to her driver and went into the tumbledown home.

Members of the "gang" began to reappear, and one particularly brave boy stepped up and patted the horse.

"We was just gettin' ready for a fight, but guess we'll have to wait for the army to go home," he said to the driver. "Couldn't say how long that'll be, could you?" he continued.

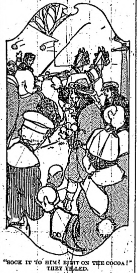
"Ah, go on," said the youngster. "That's what we calls her—Miss Murtha. We calls her the Salvation Army, 'cause she's saved more sick and dyin' around these alleys than a reg'lar army, so that's our name for her. Pa and ma, they calls her Miss Murtha, but the "gang" calls her Salvation Army."



"SOCK IT TO HIM! RIGHT ON THE COCOA!" THEY YELLED.

Inside the cottage Miss Murtha had laid aside her coat and was ministering to a sick child. Her furs were thrown carelessly over a kitchen chair, and she drew up another by the side of the bed.

"Now, Mrs. Quinn, go and take a little rest. I'll sit with Jimmy until the doctor comes. I stopped on my way and told him to come around. I'll heat some broth for Jimmy and do everything that is necessary."

The weary mother went to an adjoining room without any protest. Miss Murtha heated the broth and stared anxiously at the little fellow. She walked to and fro watching the window in hopes of seeing the doctor, but he failed to appear. Going to the door, she called to her driver, who was still in deep conversation with the boy.

"Elston, you'd better drive around to the doctor's and bring him back with you. Tell him he must hurry. Take Michael along with you to hold the horse while you go into the office," she added as she saw the rosy cheeked lad gaping at her.

The sleigh and its two occupants started to turn around. The recruits had all returned by this time and, seeing one of their leaders about to desert them, joined forces against him. With one accord they rushed to the piles of hard snowballs.

The orders were carried out to a T. Of course some of the balls hit the dignified Elston, but he tickled the horse with his whip, and they spun around the corner before much damage was done. They were gone only a few minutes, as Dr. Cosgrove lived within a few blocks of High street. The time was spent in renewing ammunition, however, by the boys who were left in the street.

Elston returned with the doctor, and Michael snugly tucked between them. Suddenly a well aimed shot struck the little fellow in the left eye. With a scream he turned but too late. The blood poured down his cheek as the doctor picked him up in his arms and carried him into the house, where Miss Murtha was waiting for him. She met them at the door in time to have seen the accident. Stepping out in the yard, she called the boys to her.

"Who hit Michael? I want to know at once. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves when you know his little brother is so sick. Who did it, I say?"

Had they been lined up for military orders they could not have replied with more even accord. Twenty voices answered:

"I done it."

Surely there is honor on High street if money is scarce.

Miss Murtha proceeded to lecture them and assured them that she would be out again in a few moments and wanted every one of those snowballs to have disappeared by that time. The boys stood in a group discussing how best to get rid of them, as they were frozen like ice.

"I tell you what, fellers, let's start a fire and melt 'em," said one clever youth.

No one ever knew where the front gate that belonged to the Quinns' fence disappeared, and it was a comment among the neighbors that Mrs. Mulqueen's kitchen shutters were stolen that same day, but the snowballs were duly melted, and the gangs sauntered toward Smith's hill for a few coasts with their new sleds.

Inside the cottage Dr. Cosgrove and Miss Murtha had barely spoken. The doctor was beside Jimmy's bed, while Miss Murtha was holding a piece of ice on Michael's cut.

"Does it hurt much now, Michael?" asked Miss Murtha as she bathed the wound, which proved to be not very deep and of no consequence.

"'Tain't nothin', Salvation," said the child. His eyes sparkled as he continued; "Gee, but that was a swell ride I had in the sleigh, just like a real gentleman. It was worth a biff in de eye. I'll do it again if I git the chanct."

"Kitty, take him out of the room," said the doctor softly. "And maybe you'd better call Mrs. Quinn. Jimmy has fallen asleep, and I don't want him roused."

Michael left the room without the assistance of the Salvation Army, and Miss Murtha went to call Mrs. Quinn. They left the sick child in care of his mother, and Miss Murtha dismissed her driver and drove the doctor to his home.

Dr. Cosgrove looked at the girl beside him. Even a casual observer could see the admiration in his eyes. His very look bespoke his love for her.

"Kitty, I wish you would not expose yourself to these diseases. That child has typhoid, and I simply forbid you to go there again," he said, with some emphasis

"Indeed, doctor, since when were you appointed my guardian?" Kitty answered, with a scornful raising of her upper lip. "I'll go where I please."

Nothing more was said until they drove up to the door of the doctor's office, and then only curt goodbys were uttered. The next morning Kitty was at the Quinn cottage to hear that the doctor had been there all night with Jimmy and had finally fallen asleep on a couch in the dingy parlor. He had pulled the little fellow through the crisis.

Kitty stepped in and looked at the sleeping form of the man who had loved her so long and faithfully. He had forbidden her to come again, yet he would sit up all night with a sick child from whose parents he would never get a fee. She walked a little nearer to him. He roused.

"Kitty! Where am I?" he said as he shook himself and sat up.

"You are here in Mrs. Quinn's parlor, Roland, and I am sorry I was cross with you yesterday," she answered meekly.

"Kitty, darling, won't you promise me to give up this missionary work and take care of me only? I need you, dear, so much," he pleaded.

"Yes, Roland, I will, because I love you more than all the others put together," she answered as his arms went about her and their lips met.

Just then Michael's shining face appeared at the door, but with the honor of the alley he cried:

"I didn't see nothin', Salvation, honest!"

Light refreshments were served throughout the evening.

The weather the past week has been the damp, bad kind. We have forgotten how many times it has rained as it has been trying to rain all the time. The country roads are almost unpassable and considerable water is standing in the low places on the fields. Not a great deal of damage has been done so far but the country is not in condition to stand very much more. Weather prophets who have faith in the moon think a change of weather will occur with the new moon which arrived yesterday.

Diamonds of Various Colors

The mention of the word "diamond" immediately brings to mind the picture of a translucent, white gem. Not all diamonds, however, are white. The most beautiful of all precious stones is said to be the red diamond. This surpasses the ruby in beauty, and, is exceedingly rare. Unsurpassed also, in healthfulness, purity and quality, is golden grain belt beer. Serve this delicious beverage at mealtime and you put health and strength into your system. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

WYLIE NEWS

The farmers tributary to Wylie evidently have a few chickens as a side line. Merchant Smidesang has been shipping every week and this week's shipment was twenty four cases—real count 8640—and all fresh. About this time of the year "biddy" goes on a strike, or runs in opposition to the incubator, so that's below the week's average.

The Wylie base ball nine concluded that high and dry ground would be the best for opening the game and went up to the Carlson ridge Sunday and came back victors. The score was 7 to 8 at the last half of the sixth inning when rain disturbed the contest.

Joe Drager and Chas. Westby left Saturday for Antler, N. D. They figure on driving the distance in five days.

Jim Dreeland was out trying a new split log drag last week and the next day it rained.

Did you ever notice that even the pesky dandelion will shut up before taking too much water?

The township board consisting of Frank Sherrick, Albert Drager and P. S. Hallstrom met here Monday and will put in a few days travelling through Polk Centre and determine where road work is mostly needed.

A washout on the Miller-Eckstrom ditch occured last week—too much rain and quicksand and a curve in the ditch did the work cutting a new channel and left the bridge high and dry.

One of the approaches of the Brown's Creek bridge, a mile south on the range line, was washed out the fore part of the week, leaving it in a very bad condition.

John Kronlik and Jas. Dreeland drove over to the county seat Tuesday on matters pertaining to some ditch contract.

"Subject to change without notice," that is what we got this week, as the train now comes Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Swanson, who left last fall for Washington to make that their future home, returned last Friday satisfied that there is no place like northern Minnesota.

The familiar face of Charley Hull, of St. Hilaire, was seen upon our streets Wednesday.

Jack Soll wore a "merry widow" hat one day last week and it has rained every day since.

On returning home from church last Sunday Swan Johnson found one of his spring colts having the lock jaw. Evidently Swan's hard luck is still with him as he has lost about twelve horses since living here. He is getting in the same class as P. A. Hallstom and Nels Pederson. Let us hope the "hoodoo" has left the country for good.

Coffee as Remedy For Asthma.

Coffee is a very excellent remedy for asthma. Those who do not know how to cut short their attacks and have not tried coffee should do so by all means. It often succeeds admirably when almost everything else has failed. There are one or two little points to be attended to in taking coffee for asthma. In the first place, it should be very strong, in fact, perfectly black. Weak coffee does more harm than good. If made very strong, much of it need not be taken. A large quantity is a positive disadvantage, for it is less rapidly absorbed and only distends the stomach. Then it should be given without sugar or milk, pure "cafe noir." It should be given on an empty stomach, for when taken on a full stomach it often does harm by putting a stop to the process of digestion.—Family Doctor.

The No Grog Law.

In July, 1862, congress revolutionized the American navy by passing the historic law providing:

"That from and after the 1st day of September, 1862, the spirit ration in the navy of the United States shall forever cease, and thereafter no distilled spirituous liquors shall be admitted on board of vessels of war except as medical stores and upon the order and under the control of the medical officers of such vessels and to be used only for medical purposes.

"From and after the 1st day of September next there shall be allowed and paid to each person in the navy now entitled to the spirit ration 5 cents per day in commutation and lieu thereof, which shall be in addition to the present pay."

And since that day there has been no "grog" in the United States navy.

DIGNITY.

THE visible poise of self dominion.
Calm heroism of character facing the inevitable.
Serenity, strength and simplicity in a crisis.
Pride in the hour of abasement and humility in time of exaltation.
The soul's consciousness of rectitude radiated in noble bearing.
The armor of self respect.
Walking calm and courageous through the valley of humiliation.
Character rising superior to conditions or circumstances.
—William George Jordan.

THE REGIMENT OF GOD.

EVERY mason in the quarry, every builder on the shore,
Every woodman in the forest, every boatman at the oar,
Hewing wood and drawing water, splitting stones and clearing sod,
All the dusty ranks of labor in the regiment of God.
Honest toil is holy service, faithful work is praise and prayer.
—Unknown.

"Certainly. But every time I make up my mind to do it somebody comes around and tells me I ought to!"—Puck.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

More proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saves woman from surgical operations.

Mrs. S. A. Williams, of Gardiner, Maine, writes:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health in three months, after my physician declared that an operation was absolutely necessary."

Mrs. Alvina Sperling, of 154 Cleybourne Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I suffered from female troubles, a tumor, and much inflammation. Two of the best doctors in Chicago decided that an operation was necessary to save my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely cured me without an operation."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

No Doubt.

"Heard about the latest?"

"No."

"They're going to build a ship of concrete."

"With verandas, bay windows and a rathskeller, hey?"

Saved From Being a Cripple for Life.

"Almost six or seven weeks ago I became paralyzed all at once with rheumatism," writes Mrs. Louis McKey, 913 Seventh street, Oakland, Cal. "It struck me in the back and extended from the hip of my right leg down to my foot. The attack was so severe that I could not move in bed and was afraid that I should be a cripple for life.

"About 12 years ago I received a sample bottle of your Liniment but never had occasion to use it, as I have always been well, but something told me that Sloan's Liniment would help me, so I tried it. After the second application I could get up out of bed, and in three days could walk, and now feel well and entirely free from pain.

"My friends were very much surprised at my rapid recovery and I was only too glad to tell them that Sloan's Liniment was the only medicine I used."

A Question.

"Did it have any effect on her?"

Wright, eighty years old, who lives in Medford and who wanted to visit Faribault and Owatonna on the same day, found the train connections not to his liking, so he walked to Faribault, a distance of twelve miles, transacted his business, caught the train to Owatonna, finished his business there and got back to his home at 2:30 p. m.

Clad in swaddling clothes, with a lady's silk necktie drawn tightly around its neck, the body of an infant was found in Calvary cemetary in St. Paul. Death evidently was due to strangulation, and the body was placed in another's grave in an attempt to hide all traces of the crime. It had been there for months from all appearances.

PERMITS FOR BURIALS.

State Board Calls Attention to the Law.

H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, is sending out letters to the clerks of townships and the health officers of villages and cities calling their attention to the law with reference to burials.

The law prohibits those in charge of premises where bodies are buried from permitting interment unless a burial permit is presented issued by the proper officials. The law makes town clerks and village or city health officers local registrars and they are required to appoint a deputy registrar. The state board is authorized to appoint sub-registrars and has appointed all licensed embalmers in the state as such. These registrars have power to issue burial and removal permits on condition that a true and complete death certificate is filed with them. The law also requires the appointment of a sexton or person to look after these matters and keep record of burials.

The executive committee of the Old Settlers' Association of Norman County met in Ada and elected the following officers: President, O. S. Bentley of Twin Valley; vice president, D. C. It was decided to hold the first annual meeting of the association at Helberg Park on June 27 and 28. Senator Knute Nelson and Congressman H. Steenerson will deliver speeches. It is expected that 4,000 people will be in attendance each day.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Cure for Headache.

"The best cure I know of for a headache is to wash your face," said a bright looking man. "Yes, I believe to suddenly cleanse your face with cold water will open up the pores and probably start the blood in circulation, and I know it will relieve you of a headache in a jiffy. I have tried it myself a great many times and have always been successful. There is something in the nature of a stimulant in the cold water treatment that braces me right up. My head when it aches gets hot and throbs, and the water makes it cool and fresh. I have a theory, too, that people don't wash their faces nearly enough anyhow, in these days of dusty asphalt streets and soft coal smoke."

NO SKIN LEFT ON BODY.

For Six Months Baby Was Expected to Die with Eczema—Now Well—Doctor Said to Use Cuticura.

"Six months after birth my little girl broke out with eczema and I had two doctors in attendance. There was not a particle of skin left on her body, the blood oozed out just anywhere, and we had to wrap her in silk and carry her on a pillow for ten weeks. She was the most terrible sight I ever saw, and for six months I looked for her to die. I used every known remedy to alleviate her suffering, for it was terrible to witness. Dr. C—— gave her up. Dr. B—— recommended the Cuticura Remedies. She will soon be three years old and has never had a sign of the dread trouble since. We used about eight cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment. James J. Smith, Durmid, Va., Oct. 14 and 22, 1906."

D. M. Neal of Red Wing, president of the State Federation of Commercial Clubs, subject not announced.

Curtis L. Mosher of St. Paul, secretary of the State Federation of Commercial Clubs, subject, "Advertising the Tourist Attractions of Minnesota" and "State and Local Advertising."

A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the Northeast experiment farm at Grand Rapids, "Dairying and Dairy Farm Management in Northern Minnesota;" also farming generally in northern part of the state.

DR. TALKS OF FOOD

Pres. of Board of Health.

"What shall I eat?" is the daily inquiry the physician is met with. I do not hesitate to say that in my judgment a large percentage of disease is caused by poorly selected and improperly prepared food. My personal experience with the fully-cooked food, known as Grape-Nuts, enables me to speak freely of its merits.

"From overwork, I suffered several years with malnutrition, palpitation of the heart and loss of sleep. Last summer I was led to experiment personally with the new food, which I used in conjunction with good rich cow's milk. In a short time after I commenced its use, the disagreeable symptoms disappeared, my heart's action became steady and normal, the functions of the stomach were properly carried out and I again slept as soundly and as well as in my youth.

"I look upon Grape-Nuts as a perfect food, and no one can gainsay but that it has a most prominent place in a rational, scientific system of feeding. Any one who uses this food will soon be convinced of the soundness of the principle upon which it is manufactured and may thereby know the facts as to its true worth." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

MEXICAN LOTTERY TICKETS.

Nearly $100,000 is spent in Mexico City every week in lottery tickets, and in the same period about $70,000 is paid back in premiums, says the Mexican Herald.

On the weeks immediately preceding the big drawings, the sale, of course, mounts up to great sums, as for instance, when the $200,000 drawings are held, there are 20,000 tickets at $40 each sold on the streets, and practically every ticket is disposed of, most of them during the last two weeks before the drawing. But as a general proposition, on an average of $15,000 a day is spent by Mexico City people on the lotteries.

There are, as is well known, three companies operating under concessions from the government for the conduct of lotteries in Mexico City.

Many picturesque figures are included in the list of lottery venders in Mexico, for all must be licensed. Blind men and women, dogs, old men, cripples and deformed persons all seem attracted to the business of selling lottery tickets, for there is an inexplicable fascination about buying a ticket from a misshapen person, for there surely must be luck in it, and this feeling is played upon by the venders.

There have been, from time to time, rumors of changes coming in the lottery business of Mexico, that this industry is going the way of the gambling houses, now entirely driven out of practically all cities of the republic, and one hears that the great new prizes are but the forerunners of the lotteries' last days, and their efforts to gather in what they may while they can. How much truth there is in this one can not say, but it is reasonable to suppose that the lotteries will ultimately be suppressed.

A Little Bit Mixed.

Three tired citizens—a lawyer, a doctor and a newspaper man—sat in a back room recently in the cold gray light of the early dawn. On the table were many empty bottles and a couple of packs of cards. As they sat in silence a rat scurried across the hearth into the darkness beyond. The three men shifted their feet and looked at each other uneasily. After a long pause the lawyer spoke.

"I know what you fellows are thinking," he said; "you think I saw a rat, but I didn't."

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. SEVEN TRAINS ARE HELD UP BY FLOOD

One Thousand Passengers Are Tied Up in Livingston, Mont.

WORST WASHOUT IN YEARS

Livingston, Mont., June 3. — Seven overland Northern Pacific and Burlington passenger trains, carrying about 1,000 passengers, are tied up in this city, with the prospect of being held here two or three days more, as the result of one of the worst washouts in the recent history of the Northern Pacific. Ten miles east of this city two thirty-foot "fills," one eighty feet long and the other more than 100, are completely washed out, and the eastern portal of the Bozeman tunnel is blocked by a landslide which is said to have caved in a portion of the tunnel. The last train to get through to Butte went Saturday night. Big floods have risen east of this city, near Columbus, Mont., tying up traffic. The stalled trains reached Livingston in time to be caught by the washouts east of here yesterday morning. Northern Pacific trains are being sent east from Butte and Helena over the Great Northern tracks.

Wash Out 500 Feet of Track.

Dispatches from Butte, Mont., say that the bridges crossing Silver Bow creek, within the limits of Butte, are threatened by the floods, and the street car tracks on the flats south of that city are under water. The rainfall there during May amounted to seven inches, exceeding all records.

The Yellowstone river also is on the rampage and trains are from twenty-four to forty-eight hours late on the Northern Pacific.

A report from Hell Gate canyon states that the rains of the last thirty-six hours have washed out 500 feet of the roadbeds of the Northern Pacific and St. Paul railroads between Missoula and Clinton. It will take at least three months to repair the damage suffered by the St. Paul road.

Close New Ulm Bridges.

New Ulm, Minn., June 3.—The Minnesota and Cottonwood rivers are on a rampage. The lowlands are flooded, thousands of acres of fertile lands are inundated and this season's crop will be practically worthless. The roads leading into the city are covered with at least three feet of water on the Nicollet county side, and it is only with difficulty that the farmers can reach the city. The city authorities have declared some of the approaches dangerous and have closed the bridges to traffic.

Flood at St. Paul.

St. Paul, June 3. — The Mississippi river at 12 o'clock last night had reached the danger line of fourteen feet above the low water mark. This is the highest point reached by the water in several years, and numerous homes in the lower flats are now surrounded by water and the occupants have been forced to abandon them. The water is rising steadily, fed by an overflow from the Minnesota river, and may rise several inches more.

Several Lost in Arkansas.

Texarkana, Ark., June 3. — Several persons are reported to have been drowned, hundreds of others are marooned and thousands of acres of cultivated lands are under water as a result of an almost unprecedented rise in the Red river in this vicinity.

Four Drowned in Kansas.

Wichita, Kan., June 3.—Four persons were drowned in and near Wichita Sunday night and yesterday on account of the floods.

COPS REFUSE TO BE FIRED.

Helena, Mont., June 3.—Police Captain Bailey and three officers were discharged by Mayor Edwards yesterday in accordance with the provisions of an ordinance passed by the council a month ago, providing for the reduction of the force. The officers refused to relinquish their positions because the mayor appointed one extra or emergency officer in their stead. All five are on duty with the regular force.

ALDERMAN NOT THIEF.

E. G. Anderson Is Acquitted on the Charge of Stealing Coal.

Aberdeen, S. D., June 3.—Ald. E. G. Anderson, who was charged with complicity in the theft of a carload of coal from the Milwaukee railroad, was acquitted by a jury in the circuit court. The principal evidence against Anderson was the testimony of an employe of the coal yards.

Miner Is Killed.

Dubuque, Iowa, June 3.—John Kerwin was killed and J. J. Smith fatally injured yesterday when a skip dropped 225 feet with them down a mine shaft. A defective brake caused the accident.

MAY EXTEMINATE YAQUI INDIANS

Mexican Government Is Making Every Preparation to Resume Campaign.

Mexico City, June 4.—As stated in these dispatches some days ago the Mexican government maintains that any story that peace between the Yaqui Indians and the federal government has been declared or is assured is premature.

On the contrary, the war department is making every preparation to resume the campaign against the Indians should they fail to make the terms as outlined by the military commanders. June 15 is the date set upon which the final decision will be rendered as to whether absolute peace or the continuation of a more vigorous campaign will ensue.

Trouble Is Feared.

The war department is pessimistic as to the future. The Yaqui chief, Bule, it is thought, will be unable to control many petty chiefs who seem determined to continue the struggle.

The Yaquis seem to believe the government is incapable of carrying on the war further because of past peace proposals, and hence have made the following hard terms to the proposed surrender:

Make Hard Terms.

"That the Indians should be put in immediate and complete possession of the Yaqui country; that they be allowed to name their own authorities; that no taxes shall be levied upon them; that the government troops should immediately evacuate the territory, and that no man foreign to the tribes should be allowed to cross the boundary marking the Yaquis' district without their consent."

War of Extermination.

To these proposals the government has no idea of consenting. While the government believe that peace in the region is not far distant, it is considered that more fighting will yet have to be waged to gain that desired end. If necessary the war department is prepared to wage a war of extermination against the Indians until such time as the region in which they inhabit shall be as safe as any other part of the republic.

USE CUSPIDORS IN FIGHT:

Passengers on Mauretania at War Over Dice.

New York, June 4. — A story of a fight in the smoking room of the Mauretania last Sunday night, in which drinking glasses and cuspidors were used, was told by passengers upon the steamer's arrival here yesterday. To give color to the story three badly battered men, who are alleged to have had a principal part in the trouble, were taken off the steamer in custody of detectives and taken to police headquarters. The trouble started when four men who were shaking dice accused another of cheating.

YOUNG GOULD JUMPS BAIL.

Fails to Appear to Answer Charge of Auto Speeding.

New York, June 4.—Judgment on a forfeited bail bond of $100 was entered yesterday against Kingdon Gould, who was not in court yesterday when the charge against him of automobile speeding was brought up for trial. A bench warrant was issued for Mr. Gould's arrest, but the police learned that he had sailed a week ago for a six weeks' vacation in Europe.

DEFAMATION IS CHARGED.

Woman Accuses Fargo Man Under Criminal Law.

Fargo, N. D., June 4. — A peculiar suit was brought in Fargo yesterday against John Morgan, a candidate for constable. He is charged by Helen Stensrud with defamation of character. Ordinarily the action would have been a civil process, but under the North Dakota libel law enacted three years ago it has been made a criminal action.

BARNS BURN AT WESTHOPE.

Whole City Is Endangered by the Flames.

Westhope, N. D., June 4.—Fire destroyed the Burns & Sharvey livery barn, with eighteen horses. Strong winds from the southeast carried the blaze over one block and burned another barn a mile and a half away and set fire to the dump grounds. Only extreme efforts prevented a general conflagration. As it is the loss probably will not exceed $7,500.

ANGLERS TO GET INTO NET.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 4.—Fish and game wardens in a number of the counties of South Dakota are preparing to make an example of a number of persons who are daily violating the state laws by fishing for bass and other protected fish and either selling them or shipping them out of the state.

Court Issues Writ to Compel Board to Consider Removal Petition.

Crookston, Minn., June 4. — Judge Watts issued yesterday at Red Lake Falls a writ of mandamus to require the county commissioners of Red Lake county to meet and consider the petition for the removal of the county seat of Red Lake county from Red Lake Falls to Thief River Falls, a matter which has been hanging fire for years, amid general litigation and factional strife.

TWENTY HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Firemen Effect Many Brave Rescues—Rescuer Swings on Rope High in Air.

New York, June 4. — Fire, starting in the basement of Mrs. Mary Mooney's boarding house, in West Thirteenth street, early yesterday, completely cut off the escape of Mrs. Mooney's twenty boarders, and when the firemen came a young woman had thrown herself to the pavement and was dead. Several others were severely burned and the upper windows, front and rear, were crowded with men and women begging to be saved. The dead woman is Miss Marie Beletraine, who occupied a hall room on the top floor.

Is Badly Burned.

Mrs. Mary Haggerty, who was burned about the hands, face and body and overcome by smoke, is in a critical condition. The fire started in a coal bin in the cellar.

As the first company galloped up Miss Beltraine, in her night clothing, appeared on the roof and plunged over the coping. One of her feet caught in the half-open shutters and for an instant the woman's body dangled in space. Then she fell on her head in the street and was killed.

As there were no fire escapes and the blaze cut off exit by the hallways, firemen were sent up through an adjoining building, whence they crossed to the roof of the burning house.

Mrs. George Mieklo was confused by the smoke and was unable to reach the roof.

Woman Rescued.

Fire Truck Captain Sweeney saw her at a window on the top floor, and tying a rope to the chimney lowered himself to the window, when the other firemen drew them to the roof.

Lieut. Reilly tied a wet cloth over his face and entered the burning house through a scuttle from the roof. Feeling his way through the heavy smoke from room to room he stumbled upon Mrs. Haggerty, in the third floor front. She had fainted. Lieutenant Reilly carried her to the roof and thence to the street. The fire was quickly extinguished, with $1,000 damage.

Plainwell, Mich., June 4. — Arthur Goodacre, aged twenty-two years, was electrocuted here yesterday in trying to pull a young companion named A. B. Goucher away from a high-tension electric wire. The wire was carrying 45,000 volts, but while Goodacre was instantly killed his companion showed signs of life and medical attention restored him to consciousness last night.

Va., June 4.—Frank Johnson, a negro, who killed a married woman because she refused to elope with him and then barricaded himself in a barn, wounding two members of a posse whom he defied for two days, was sentenced to be hanged July 17. This is the first capital sentence in the county since the state was formed.

UNCLE SAM TO TAKE HAND

Presidential Campaign Develops Serious Revolutionary Tendencies.

Washington, June 3.—The Panama presidential campaign, which is to culminate in an election the first week in July, has recently developed revolutionary tendencies to such an extent as to cause grave concern and the serious intention to employ severe measures on the part of the American government to secure a fair and honest election, probably the first in the history of Central American politics. The 500 American marines stationed on the isthmus will be detailed on the two election days to the 1,800 polling places.

Amador Fires Obaldia's Friends.

Arias entered the race as a Conservative and from his entry the machinery of the government has been operating busily in his behalf. The last move was the dismissal by President Amador of the governors of provinces, all of them known to be friends of Obaldia. To still further hamper the chances of Obaldia, the administration has, since the departure of Secretary Taft from the isthmus, reduced the number of presidential electors from the province of Colon, where Obaldia is conceded to have many friends, and increased the number in several provinces known to be favorable to the election of Arias.

The call for a personal report from Minister Squires is the result, it is explained, of the new developments. At the same time Mr. Squires may be asked to explain certain newspaper comment to the effect that he has allowed himself to become enthusiastic in favor of one of the candidates.

PIERCE MUST PAY PIPER.

Federal Supreme Court Holds Oil Magnate Must Answer Perjury Charge.

Washington, June 3.—The supreme court of the United States yesterday affirmed the decision of the United States circuit court for the Eastern district of Missouri in the extradition cases of H. Clay Pierce of the Waters-Pierce Oil company of St. Louis, holding him subject to extradition to Texas, where he is under indictment on a charge of perjury in swearing that his company had not entered into a conspiracy in restraint of trade when the company made application to do business in Texas. It is contended that the Waters-Pierce company is a part of the Standard Oil company.

May Cut Price in Books.

The supreme court decided three important copyright cases, the opinions being handed down by Justice Day. The first decision was in the case of the Bobbs-Merrill Company vs. R. H. Macy & Co. In this case the court dealt with the question whether the sale by a retail dealer of a copyrighted book below the price fixed by the publishers is an infringement of copyright. The Bobbs-Merrill company published a novel and stipulated in a printed notice that it should not be sold for less than $1 a copy. The house of Macy sold the work for 89 cents, and suit was brought in the circuit court for the southern district of New York, but the bill was dismissed. A like result followed when the case was appealed to the circuit court of appeals, and yesterday's decision was in the same line.

The right of publishers to regulate the price at which their books may be sold by retailers and jobbers was also involved in the two cases of Charles Scribner's Sons vs. Isador & Nathan Straus, doing business as R. H. Macy & Co., all of New York, which were decided against the former concern.

MURDER MYSTIFIES POLICE.

Paris, June 3. — The Paris police seem far from a solution of the mysterious murder of the noted painter, Adolphe Steinhell, and his wife's mother, Mme. Japy, which occurred in the artist's residence in the Rue de Baugirard in the early hours of Sunday. A number of the newspapers, which are laying stress on the mysterious element of the crime, dwell upon the fact the police refuse to allow any one to communicate with Mme. Steinhell, who still is suffering from nervous shock after her terrifying experience, or her sixteen-year-old daughter, who returned from the country yesterday. They also point out that jewels which Mme. Steinhell declared Sunday had been stolen by the murderers, were yesterday discovered in a concealed safe.

The examining magistrate before whom preliminary proceedings in the case have been brought spent all the afternoon in the Steinhell house on a mission of investigation. He found finger prints on a small crystal clock, which was handed over to experts for a Bertillon examination. It is thought that this may prove to be a valuable clue in running down the assassins.

SOUTH HONORS THE MEMORY OF DAVIS

LOFTY CHARACTER IS PRAISED

New Orleans, La., June 4.—Honor was paid to the memory of Jefferson Davis all over the Southland yesterday, the 100th anniversary of his birth.

At Montgomery, Ala., "the cradle of the Confederacy," and where the Confederate government was first organized, with Jefferson Davis as president, ceremonies were held which will held to perpetuate the memory of the cause of which Davis was the head.

Mark Historic Spots.

These ceremonies consisted of marking the spots where Davis was elected, where he was inaugurated, where his office as president was situated and the site of the first headquarters of the new government. Simultaneously with the Montgomery exercises memorial meetings were in progress from Virginia to Texas, while business was stopped by holidays in some states and slowed down in others as a tribute to the life and deeds of Jefferson Davis. Among the day's celebrations were those at Fairview, in Todd county, Ky., Davis' birthplace, and at Beauvoir, Miss., for years his home and now a Confederate veterans' home.

Praise Davis' Lofty Character.

Significant among the day's memorials were many speeches in praise of Jefferson Davis' lofty character and analysis of controlling principles of his life. In general the tenor of these speeches was that of remarks of Bishop Charles B. Galloway at Oxford, Miss., when he said that Davis made every effort to avert the clash between the states and that he was one of the conservative men of the Civil war period.

In New Orleans the site of a monument to President Davis was dedicated.

ITALIAN HORSE TAKES DERBY.

Rankest of Outsiders Wins World's Premier Stake in British Classic.

London, June 4.—A rank outsider, Signorinetta, owned by E. Ginistelli and quoted in the betting at 100 to 1 against, yesterday defeated all the American, British and French cracks and captured the Derby stakes, valued at 6,500 sovereigns and the greatest prize of the turf world, in the most spectacular Derby for years. The Italian horse simply cantered home from the hot favorites by two lengths. A neck only divided the second horse, the duke of Portland's Primer, and the third, Barclay Walker's Llangwm.

Washington, June 4. — Postmaster General Meyer announced yesterday that an agreement had been reached with the British government providing for a letter postage of 2 cents an ounce between the United States and Great Britain and Ireland, to become operative Oct. 1, 1908.

Postmaster General Meyer believes that this reduction in the rate of postage to the United Kingdom ultimately will result in an increase in receipts and lead to a freer commercial intercourse.

MISUSE OF MAIL IS CHARGE

Mail Order Publisher Indicted by Federal Grand Jury—True Bills Against Others.

St. Paul, June 4.—James L. Lovering, publisher of the Mail Order Monthly and of Successful Agriculture, and S. A. Phillips, promoter of the St. Paul & Seattle Electric Railway company, were indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on charges of illegal use of the mails. Martin P. Quigley, cashier of the Wisconsin Grain and Stock company, was indicted on a charge of perjury.

The indictments were returned in a partial report to Judge Morris. The grand jury is still in session, as there are other matters to come befoe it.

There are three indictments against Lovering charging him with using the mails for the purpose of promoting a lottery and a scheme to defraud. The alleged fraudulent schemes consist of puzzles and prize contests conducted through his publications. It is alleged that Lovering obtained money by means of announcing prize contests which were advertised through the mails and in which he failed to award the prizes. The publications concerned announced forty-acre farms, machinery, household utensils, organs, pianos and other valuable articles to be awarded to the successful contestants.

DRIVEN OUT BY FLOOD.

Many Families in St. Paul Compelled to Move Out of Their Homes.

St. Paul, June 4.—About twenty-five families along the upper levee and several more on the lower levee were compelled to move out of their homes yesterday by the high water. The waters rose until floors were flooded. Up to a late hour last night no property damage, aside from that caused by soaking, had been reported. It is evident that the river has reached its maximum height and that the worst is over.

Reports from Mankato received yesterday stated that the Minnesota river was falling rapidly at that point, having lowered nearly one foot in twenty-four hours.

Since it was the Minnesota river which was mainly responsible for the local floods, it is expected that the fall will be appreciably observable here this morning.

OPEN SHOP IN LA CROSSE.

Plumbers Will Make No More Terms With Union.

La Crosse, Wis., June 4.—As the result of the strike of the union plumbers every plumbing firm in La Crosse yesterday declared an open shop, and the bosses announced that they would make no more contracts with the union. The announcement has precipitated a war between the plumbing firms and the local trade unions. Several non-union plumbers have been assaulted on the streets.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 4.—Lightning cut some strange gyrations at the home of C. McCoombs of this city. DEMOCRATS SPLIT BY MORMONISM

Idaho Democrats Hold Two State Conventions in the Same Hall.

BLOODSHED FEARED FOR TIME

Twin Falls, Idaho, June 4. — The Democratic party of Idaho is hopelessly split on the Mormon question. Amid the wildest scenes ever witnessed at a convention in this state, two conventions were held yesterday afternoon in the same hall. Both claimed to be regular and a bitter contest before the national committee at Denver is certain.

At one time during the proceedings yesterday afternoon physical encounters seemed imminent and once it looked as if there might be bloodshed.

Are Led by Dubois.

The anti-Mormon faction, led by Former Senator Dubois, seemed to have a majority of the delegates. The other faction elected twelve delegates, one from each of the seven judicial districts and five from the state at large, each entitled to half a vote at the national convention, provided the delegation is seated.

The fight arose over the election of a temporary chairman. The Duboisites nominated Glen McKinley, and the opposition put up K. I. Perky. The vote gave McKinley 148 and Perky 132. It was claimed that the state committee had allowed contested delegations favorable to Dubois to vote and barred contestees that leaned toward the opposition.

Hold Own Convention.

When the riotous demonstrations subsided Perky called upon the opponents of Dubois to gather around him. He then led them to another part of the hall and organized his convention. The Perky delegates to Denver were instructed to vote for the nomination of Bryan as long as his name is before the convention. A resolution deploring the injection of the Mormon question in state politics was adopted.

Woman's Body Found and Inquest Will Be Held.

Black River Falls, Wis., June 4. — Neighbors who forced an entrance to the house yesterday found the body of Mary Siegel, a deaf mute, forty years old, in the village of Irving, ten miles from here. The woman had been lying in the house by herself for some time and evidently had been dead three or four days. Whether death was due to heart disease or the woman committed suicide will be determined at an autopsy.

BOX STOLEN IN 1904 FOUND.

Papers Taken From Brainerd Man Are in Good Order.

Brainerd, Minn., June 4.—A treasury box stolen from the store of J. W. Koop on May 1, 1904, containing notes valued at several thousand dollars, was found yesterday under the floor of the warehouse of the Fisher-Budd Fuel company. Many of the notes have been paid since, but the papers still are of much value. The box had been forced open, but the papers were not soiled.

WOMAN IS ATTACKED.

Hurled to Ground by Strange Man, Who Flees When She Screams.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 4.—As she was passing the University Hill Park after dark on her way home, Mrs. E. A. Pierce was attacked by a strange man, who jumped out from behind a tree and threw her to the ground. Her cries for assistance were so loud that the man was frightened away, while the woman went into hysterics. He has not been apprehended, but a local party is suspected.

Given Up for Lost.

Norfolk, Va., June 4.—All hope has been abandoned for the German steamer Europea which sailed from Hamburg, Germany, forty-five days ago, bound for Norfolk. The trip should have been made in twenty-one days. She carried a crew of twenty men.

For small favors let us be truly thankful—congress has adjourned.

Governor Johnson has announced that he will not be a candidate for governor this year.

The republicans of Minnesota will nominate a candidate for governor early in July—but who?

In a desperate effort to beat Taft out of the nomination over two hundred delegates seats are being contested.

Keep from having trouble in the county conventions, select good men as delegates and let them go uninstructed seems to be the popular slogan of the republicans this year.

It is said that the congress which has just adjourned broke three records in introducing the most bills, spending the largest amount of money, and doing the least amount of work.

C. A. Tullar, a retired farmer of Warren, will, it is stated, be the democratic candidate for congress for this district. Mr. Tullar must be a sanguine sort of a chap to tackle so popular a man as Hon. Halvor Steenerson.

While time have been hard and business slack the Great Northern has been cutting down expenses in every way, many stations are without operators and a large number of their men have been laid off. The statement is now made that the dividend will be heavier this year than usual.

The Discovery of Pharaoh's Mummy

Of the many kings who ruled in ancient Egypt, not one has seized more on the popular imagination than he with whom Moses fought his long duel for the liberation of his countrymen. Up to comparatively recent years even his identity was wrapped in security, but that has been established and now his mummy has been discovered. Shakespeare's Last Illness.

According to a tradition handed down by Ward, the vicar of Stratford Shakespeare's last illness was a fever brought on by a "merry meeting" with Drayton and Ben Jonson. Another authority, Halliwell-Phillips, says that the great poet died of typhoid, caused by the filth and bad drainage about New Place. Like nearly everything else about Shakespeare, the question of the character of his last illness can be answered only conjecturally.

In one of the suburbs of London there is a wholesale firm the senior member of which may be known as Mr. Blank. The firm has two traveling salesmen—a single man, receiving 20 shillings per week, and the other a married man, drawing £2 per week.

A short time ago the single man, being in the shop and looking over matters, discovered that the married salesman was receiving 10 shillings per week more salary than himself, while he (the single man) was selling more goods. He called Mr. Blank's attention to this and suggested that, as he was selling more than the other fellow, he should at least receive as much pay.

The senior partner acknowledged the apparent inconsistency and assured his man that he would look into it and if the statement were correct he would make matters right.

Another week rolled by, and when the single man came to draw his salary from the bookkeeper he was surprised to find only 30 shillings passed out to him the same as before. He demurred. The bookkeeper insisted he had received no instructions to raise his pay and referred him to the governor. Approaching Mr. Blank, he said:

"You remember, sir, I spoke to you last week about my salary, stating that, while I was selling more goods than the other traveler, I was receiving less pay, and I thought I should receive as much as he did. You assured me you would look into it and make matters right."

"Yes," said Mr. Blank. "I remember your mentioning the matter, and I made it right, didn't I?"

"Why, no; I don't see how you have, as the bookkeeper has just paid me the same amount as before. I can't see how that is making it right, sir."

"You don't understand," said the senior partner. "I have made it right. You thought you ought to have as much pay as the other man, and I have made it right by cutting the other fellow's pay down."—London Tit-Bits.

THE ENCORE HABIT.

Sims Reeves, who in his day was accepted as the most celebrated tenor on the concert stage, was so much of a favorite that whenever he sang he was usually greeted with a hearty encore, accompanied with enthusiastic cheers.

Reeves was very good natured about the matter, but he made it a rule never to sing more than one selection when he felt that his voice was not in first class shape. He happened to notice that an elderly man, who turned out to be a dealer in hats along the Strand, London, attended nearly every concert within convenient distance if Sims Reeves happened to be on the bill and generally led the encore brigade. This hatter was a persistent person and often applauded until he had forced Reeves to respond to double and triple encores.

Determined to teach the little hatter a lesson, one afternoon just as dark was approaching Reeves entered his admirer's store and said, "One hat, please," naming the particular shape which he desired. The little hatter didn't recognize the great tenor and handed out one hat.

"Good," said Reeves. "How much is this hat?"

"Five shillings," said the store proprietor.

"Encore," said Reeves.

A second hat was forthcoming, and Reeves ultimately obtained three "encore" hats. When the little hatter demanded £1 sterling for the purchase Reeves pretended to be furious.

"Send these four hats to this address," ordered the tenor in terrible tone, "but I only pay for one hat. Do you understand? The three other hats are 'encore' hats. If you make me sing songs for nothing you must send me hats for nothing."

The little hatter was speechless.—Portland Oregonian.

How One Reads.

The average person believes that, in reading a newspaper paragraph he reads the whole of each type's impression, while, in fact, he only notices the upper half of each letter. Cover the upper half of a line with a sheet of paper, being careful to hold the paper exactly in the middle of the letter, and you will not, without difficulty, decipher a word. Then place the paper over the lower half of the line. It can be read without the slightest trouble.

"You bet he is," replied the self acknowledged brains of the firm. "Why, he never makes a move without asking my advice!"—Chicago News.

Crookston Daily Journal, June 2:—Judge Watts issued yesterday at Red Lake Falls a writ of mandamus to require the county commissioners of Red Lake County to meet and consider the petition for the removal of the county seat of Red Lake county from Red Lake Falls to Thief River Falls, a matter which has been hanging fire for years amid general litigation and factional strife. The case will then come up in the next term of court to be held at Red Lake Falls the latter part of October and final action will then be taken. The case is that of Martin Evenson, a citizen of Thief River Falls, against County Auditor John B. O'Brien, of Red Lake County, and the county board of commissioners. Yesterday H. A. Jacob Butler passed through here last Monday enroute to St. Hilaire where he marketed a couple of 300 pound porkers.

Peter Lindblom had three teams hauling wheat and flax Wednesday. The Lindquist boys two, and Charley Johnson two, and there were others.

From the number of teams hauling wheat and flax to the elevator one would naturally think a few threshing machines were in operation in this vicinity.

A large crowd turned out Sunday to witness the ball game on the home grounds. The outfielders, in fact most of the players, got their feet wet at certain stages of the game.

May 1907 a farmer's cream check brought him $28 with the same number of cows; May 1908 brought him $80. No grass last year—all kinds this year—thats what affected the cows.

If the party who set the poison for wolves last winter a few miles west of here, goes over his route he will find two steers just a few rods from where he set the bait. Later on we may report who gets the bounty.

Five new patrons started hauling milk to the cheese factory Monday. Something over 3,000 pounds is now received daily. Patrons are well pleased as their last pay day netted them $1.30 per hundred pounds.

In bygone days we all know what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina, but you all have a guess coming now as to what the two governors say when they meet: Preserve your guess as it won't be long before a reward will be given to the correct answer.

A couple of Thief Riverites woke up the entire population of Wylie at 4:30 Monday morning caused by a second hand automobile that was wind broken and breathing very loud, that they purchased at Crookston. The last we heard of the men and their prize was three miles north of St. Hilaire where both men were carrying water from the railroad ditch—that was about 4:30 p. m.

Rural Route Changed

Postmaster Post received instructions last week to change the time on rural route number one and on last Monday Carrier George Biskey commenced leaving here immediately after the mail arrives from the south. This will bring the farmers their mail one day earlier and will be a popular move. He returns from the route at 5:15 p. m.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

When the Deacon Fell from Grace

By HUGH PENDEXTER

(Copyright.)

It was on the first day of the county fair that Deacon Plunkett fell from grace. There were many who merely pitied him for ever wagering his hard-earned money on the gaunt mare, Abigail's Pride, but the insistence of the spiteful few that he be disciplined carried the day, and as a result three fellow churchmen met in solemn conclave to mete out justice.

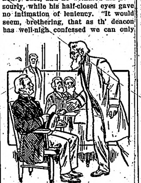
The postmaster, a staunch elder, presided and duly read the charges. The poor deacon could only groan and twist his rheumatic fingers and gaze appealingly from one stern face to another and breathe hurriedly as if pressed for air. The session was held in the back room of the post office, overlooking the old-style, half-mile track, where even now the fair managers were preparing for the morrow by dragging brush around the circle.

The rain had interrupted the races after the day of the deacon's downfall, but the culprit, even amid his heavy groans, realized the sun and wind would thoroughly dry the gravel inside of the next 24 hours.

"Wal, Brother Plunkett, how d'ye plead to this charge of sinfully bettin' on a hoss race?" said the postmaster gravely, his angular lower jaw thrusting forward with a puritanic fixity of purpose.

"Lawd! What can I say, elder? That pesky Widder Peasly says she see me plank down a half dollar on th' fence an' then see Ab Thomas cover it with another half dollar," moaned the deacon.

"We're surprised, Deacon Plunkett, that a man of your years should be so weak," growled Hiram Whitten's heavy bass, and he wrinkled his nose sourly, while his half-closed eyes gave no intimation of leniency. "It would seem, brethering, that as th' deacon has well-nigh confessed we can only return a verdict of guilty as charged an' leave it for th' congregation to say what shall be done."



"I'm Surprised, Deacon Plunket, That a Man of Your Years Should Be So Weak."

"Mebbe, we ought to dig into this a bit deeper," suggested the third investigator, Head Selectman Carr. "Mebbe, his mind was upsot in some way. What hoss did yet bet on, deacon?"

"On that derned Abigail's Pride," sighed the deacon. "She struck me as such a sweet natur'd driver, such a cheerful, gamy little mare, that I didn't think it was gamblin'. Why, I'd asworе Ab Thomas didn't have a ghost of a show. An' where there ain't no chance to lose I don't see how it is gamblin'."

"I dunno about that," protested Mr. Whitten, shaking his head stoutly and pursing up his lips.

"Why, a man that would bet on that nag," cried the postmaster, strongly, "ain't no gambler. He's jest common crazy, that's all. I wouldn't put a penny on her to beat a hearse—that is, s'posing I was sinful enough to bet on a hoss race."

"She made good time las' fall on th' Durginville track," defended Mr. Whitten, shortly. "Track was muddy, too."

"That's jest it," cried the deacon. "She's a hummer on a wet track. That's why to-morrow will see her leavin' everything behind her as if they was hitched. Why, Sim Cole's hired man told me yesterday that after a rain like we've jest been havin' she'll go through th' field like a streak."

Mr. Carr pricked up his ears and twisted nervously in his chair, while the postmaster bit his pencil dubiously and sneered: "What does Sim Cole's man know about her, anyway?"

"He took care of her at th' Durginville track," informed the deacon.

"He knows a hoss all right," declared Mr. Whitten, dreamily. "But I can't say I like th' way th' mare was handled th' 'tother day. Seems if her driver fretted her at th' stretch."

"She grew wuss an' wuss in every heat," added the postmaster, listlessly.

"She'd probably make a fine showin' to-morrer if she was given a fair chance," lamented Mr. Carr.

"An' she'll git th' chance," cried the deacon, seeming to forget the hazard of his position; "for Sim's man is goin' to handle her. Lawd! I pity them folks that's weak an' sinful enough to bet agin her. I feel so repentant I cal'late it's my duty to warn 'em all."

"I should say not," cried Mr. Whitten, his eyes glittering.

"But folks will be givin' odds against her," protested the deacon, humbly. "Joshua Runnells says he'll bet a dollar'n a half to seventy cents she's distanced."

"It ain't our duty to save Josh Runnell's money for him," reminded Mr. Carr, decisively. Then he added: "An' so Josh is stoppin' here at th' village this week, eh?"

"He's workin' at th' livery stable durin' th' fair," informed the deacon.

"Hm," muttered the postmaster, eyeing Mr. Whitten's unfair proximity to the door in gloomy disgust. "Wal," he finally added, "seein' as how Deacon Plunkett is repentant an' don't know hardly nothin' about hosses, I guess we'll draw up a report saying he is innercent."

"I'm in a hurry," explained Mr. Whitten, "an' I guess I'll sign my name to this blank sheet an' let ye fill in th' report to suit yourself, elder."

"I'd trust th' elder to say th' right thing," added Mr. Carr, warmly, as he followed the other's example.

The exoneration of the deacon was warmly applauded by the majority that night. His long life of correct living and his many kindly deeds were not to be outweighed by one foolish act, it was urged; and with a bland smile he accepted forgiveness and bustled about his duties with all his old-time energy.

The morrow saw the same bland smile on his face as he slowly entered the fair grounds where he met the tribunal of yesterday in the immediate vicinity of the stables.

"Lookin' at th' hosses?" he asked, genially.

The postmaster bit at a straw reflectively, and then in a confidential tone returned: "Th' more I see of Abigail's Pride, th' more foolish I think ye was to bet on her."

"I think she's gone plum lame," declared Mr. Carr, joining the two.

"Shoes too heavy," added Mr. Whitten.

And in vindication of the trio's judgment Abigail's Pride that afternoon, despite the shrewd jockeying of Sim Cole's hired man, proved a complete failure and was thoroughly distanced.

"Thought ye said she was all hunky-dory on a muddy track," snarled the postmaster.

"Wal, I'm dod-rotted glad ye lost on th' first day's racin', Plunkett. Wish ye'd lost to-day," growled the postmaster.

"So do I," added Mr. Whitten, grimly.

"I can't lose all th' time," grinned the deacon, complacently, edging toward the door. "Jim Silby's roan, Bluefly, looked purty good to me today, an' I hedged a bit."

How Lace Is Made.

Notwithstanding the talk of hard times, the United States used last year $60,000,000 worth of laces, most of which were imported. At Calais, France, with a population of about 70,000, over 75 per cent. are engaged in lace making, the United States taking about 72 per cent. of the lace made. The United States consuls in Belgium say that much of the lace made is exported to the United States and that the majority of the workers are women who earn from 10 to 17 cents a day only, a few earning as high as 35 cents. Workers in India take five or six days of ten or twelve hours each to make an article that is sold in the United States for less than $1 and the workers receive for the work less than 33 cents. Of course it would be impossible for the United States to compete with such labor.

YES, THEY ARE ALL ALIKE.

Mild-Eyed Man Found Quick Proof of Assertion He Had Made.

As the mild-eyed, slow-spoken man turned from the car window to regard his seat companion his gaze fell on the great letters heading the account of an accident. "That's the only way to do it," he said half to himself.

"What's the only way?" asked the other man.

"Write it," said the mild-eyed man. "Then folks will read it; they won't listen to you telling it.

"If you've been in the most thrilling accident in the history of the nation and begin to relate your experience they'll sit with their mouths open, but not from amazement. O no!"

"No?" echoed the other.

"No, sir," said the mild-eyed man, "it's so that the first time you stop for breath they can burst into the middle of your story to tell about the accidents they were in; or if they weren't ever in any, about the ones their father's great-uncles or their second cousins-in-law were in."

"You speak bitterly," said his companion with interest. "What experience have you had?"

"I was out in San Francisco the day of the earthquake," said the mild-eyed man, "and my hotel—"

"What hotel were you in?" asked the other. "My sister and her husband were—"

"There!" said the mild-eyed man, and he turned his head to the window and he did not speak again till he said good-bye as he clambered out over the other man's feet.—Youth's Companion.

Cured of Stone Throwing.

A sentence, probably unique in this country, was recently pronounced by a magistrate in Everett, Mass. Two youngsters of 12 years had been convicted of throwing stones, to the destruction of property and the peril of passers-by. Just how to deal with such youthful offenders was a puzzle for the court for a while, but after due thought the judge hit upon the happy idea of turning the youngsters' "fun" into a penalty. He ordered a police sergeant to take the boys back to the lot where they had been captured and make them spend a half hour in throwing stones as fast as they could pick them up. The sergeant obeyed orders to the letter, and the youngsters got enough of stone throwing to last them the rest of their lives.

Good Trade with Siberia.

The value of agricultural machines and implements annually imported by Siberia amounts to about 10,000,000 rubles ($5,150,00). The imported articles are chiefly supplied by German and American manufacturers, being far superior to those made in Russia.

A KENTUCKY CASE.

That Will Interest All Suffering Women.

Mrs. Della Meanes, 328 E. Front St., Maysville, Ky., says: "Seven years ago I began to notice sharp pain in the kidneys and a bearing down sensation through the hips, dull headache and dizzy spells. Dropsy appeared, and my feet and ankles swelled so I could not get my shoes on. I was in misery, and had despaired of ever getting cured when I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. One box helped me so much that I kept on until entirely cured."

BAD ITCHING HUMOR.

"Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. For two or three weeks the suffering was intense and during that time I did not sleep an hour at a time. Then one morning I tried a bit of Cuticura. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. George B. Farley, 50 South State St., Concord, N. H., May 14, 1907."

THE MARINER'S COMPASS.

Nothing in the navigational equipment of a ship has been the subject of more anxious scientific research or receives more jealous care than the mariner's compass.

The popular notion of the compass needle always pointing north and south is—well, more inaccurate than even popular notions usually are. Even under the most favorable conditions there are only certain places upon the surface of the earth where the compass needle does point north and south, and it is quite safe to say that such conditions are never found on board of any ship.

But we must go further and say that no more unfavorable position could be found for a compass than on board of a modern steamship, which is a complicated mass of steel, all tending to draw the compass needle from its allegiance to the magnetic pole of the earth, warring influences which must needs be counteracted by all sorts of devices which hedge round the instrument by an invisible wall of conflicting currents of magnetism.

And as if this were not enough there are now huge dynamos to be reckoned with, producing electric currents for all sorts of purposes on board. In the midst of these msytic currents the poor little compass needle, upon which the mariner depends for his guide across the trackless deep, hangs suspended like one shrinking saint surrounded by legion of devils.

THE FIRST TASTE

Learned to Drink Coffee When a Baby.

If parents realized the fact that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which is especially harmful to children, they would doubtless hesitate before giving the babies coffee to drink.

"When I was a child in my mother's arms and first began to nibble things at the table, mother used to give me sips of coffee. As my parents used coffee exclusively at meals I never knew there was anything to drink but coffee and water.

"And so I contracted the coffee habit early. I remember when quite young, the continual use of coffee so affected my parents that they tried roasting wheat and barley, then ground it in the coffee mill, as a substitute for coffee.

"But it did not taste right and they went back to coffee again. That was long before Postum was ever heard of. I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work, I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence.

"At night, after having coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous.

"A friend persuaded me to try Postum. My wife and I did not like it at first, but later when boiled good and strong it was fine. Now we would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever tasted.

"I can now get good sleep, am free from nervousness and headaches. I recommend Postum to all coffee drinkers."

"There's a Reason."

New York, June 10.—Beef packers, throughout the United States, and especially, in this section of the country, are becoming alarmed over the great shortage in beef supply. Since last week the price has risen from 1 to 2 cents on the 100 pounds and the price is now around one-third greater than it was the first part of June, 1907. The sharp rise in prices is said to be due entirely to the shortage in the supply of cattle in the market, and already there is talk of being forced to have beef which was exported to England last winter shipped back to this country in cold storage.

Chicago, June 9. — It was announced yesterday by the Chicago packers that because of a "shortage of cattle and of canned meats the price of beef and of canned meats will be increased." The increase will be between 1 and 2 cents a pound.

Butter Famine Next.

Sixteen of the largest manufacturers of butter in the United States will open their fight against the proposed advance of freight rates on cream and milk before the interstate commerce commission next Wednesday. The average increase in tariffs is from 66 2-3 to 100 per cent. A butter famine is promised should their fight fail.

The butter manufacturers say they see no alternative other than to stop business. The margin of profit, they say, is less than one-half a cent per pound net. A disturbance of the rates that have been in effect for fifteen years, it is alleged, not only would imperil the millions invested in creamery plants and cream-saving stations in Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Indiana and other states, but would cause an actual loss to them of more than $1,000,000 annually.

PICK TEAM TO GO TO LONDON.

Committee Names Athletes Who Will Represent America.

New York, June 10.—To represent the United States in the Olympian games, which will be held in London next month seventy-six men, the pick of the country's athletes, were last night selected as the American team by the American Olympic team committee at a meeting in the Astor house.

A review of the entry lists indicated that in all departments of sport, with the exception of rowing, the United States will have an excellent chance of capturing a creditable share of events. Indeed the outlook, in the opinion of many prominent athletic authorities, is that nothing but sickness or injury to star men can prevent the American team from bringing home the major honors of the Olympia.

MAKES HOBOES PULL WEEDS.

Mayor Fights Dandelion Pest by Putting "Vag" Prisoners at Work.

Iowa Falls, Iowa, June 10. — The unique spectacle of a battle between the hobo and the dandelion has been presented in this city the past few weeks as a result of Mayor Bryson's crusade against the weed pest. In hope of ridding the parks and streets of the dandelions he decreed that all bums or hoboes who were under fine should work out those fines under police guard by digging dandelion roots. As a result there has been a splendid harvest of the weeds.

FOUL AIR FATAL TO SIX MINERS

Eight Others in Dangerous Condition As Result of Breathing Poison Air.

Silverton, Colo., June 9.—Six men are dead, eight others in a dangerous condition from breathing foul air and twenty-five to thirty more temporarily confined to their homes from weakness due to contact with poisoned air in the Gold King mine, located at Gladstone.

On Thursday night fire was discovered in the engine room of the mine, and before it could be brought under control had destroyed that building as well as the shaft house.

Go to Rescue of Comrades.

The two buildings were located near the portal doors of the main shaft, and to prevent the spread of the flames and accumulation of smoke in the workings of the mine, these doors were closed temporarily. The men working the night shift in the mine were hurriedly notified of conditions on the surface and instructed to withdraw. When the flames had been extinguished the list was checked over and discovery was then made that three men were missing. Immediately efforts to rescue them were made. The first men to enter the mine returned in haste and informed those in waiting that the mine was filled with foul air. Two rescue parties were formed and the men started into the mine in groups of five.

Rescuers Succumb.

The air generated by the motion of the elevator had cleared the atmosphere in the elevator shaft, so that but little discomfort was experienced there. Soon after a score or more of rescuers had entered the mine, some of those first in appeared at the foot of the elevator shaft, carrying the unconscious forms of rescuers who had succumbed to the noxious air. Later a party reached the surface bringing the dead body of Victor Erickson and the almost lifeless bodies of John Sumston and Otto Johnson, the three men whose absence caused the necessity for rescue work. Others who perished or were injured were of the rescue party.

ANTI-TAFT MEN WON'T BOLT.

Does Not Have Expected Effect. Recall Statement When They Find It

Chicago, June 9. — Representatives of the "allies" last night recalled their statement that they will bolt the Republican national committee so far as the presentation of evidence to support the claims of anti-Taft delegations from Southern states is concerned. There is evidence that the announcement made Saturday night upon the authority of Representative James Francis Burke, manager for Senator Knox, after he had been in conference with Senator Hemenway of Indiana, J. B. Kealing of Indiana and others identified with the campaign being made by the "allies," created dissension. Some of the other spokesmen for the "allies" declared the announcement to be ill advised, and they busied themselves yesterday to counteract its effect.

It is generally believed that the announcement made Saturday night was designed to test public sentiment and to influence the Taft forces to a compromise proposition, submitted to the committee Saturday just prior to adjournment. That the effect was not what the "allies" expected was admitted yesterday by a number of men who had knowledge of the entire proceeding.

RISING WATER CAUSES PANIC.

Residents of Kansas City Move to Higher Ground.

Kansas City, June 9. — The steady rise of the Kaw river yesterday caused almost a panic in North Topeka and the Armourdale section of Kansas City, Kan. Packing houses and other establishments in the bottoms removed the contents of the basements to upper floors.

BRITISH MONARCH GREETED BY CZAR

Notable Meeting Which May Have Far-reaching Effect in World Policies.

EMPHASIZES GOOD RELATIONS

Monarchs Toast Each Other at State Banquet—Residents Serenade Visitors.

Reval, June 11.—Edward VII., king of Great Britain, and Emperor Nicholas exchanged royal visits yesterday on the waters of the Bay of Reval, in the Gulf of Finland. It was a notable meeting and one which may have a far-reaching effect in the world policies of the future.

The day was brilliant with sunshine. The hills and the wooded shores of the bay were crowded with thousands, and the arrival of the British king by sea and the emperor of Russia by land was made the occasion of unbounded enthusiasm.

Toast Each Other.

During the course of the day the king and emperor were the guests of the dowager empress at luncheon, on board the Russian yacht Polar Star, which was crowded with guests. No speeches were made at this affair, but at the state banquet in the evening on board the Russian yacht Standart toasts were given which were heartily responded to. Both the king and the emperor spoke in English and they emphasized the good relations which have succeeded the coolness between the two countries in the past years and the peaceful nature of the new understanding.

All the warships were brilliantly illuminated, and the yachts Polar Star and Alexandra displayed special electrical effects.

Serenade Royal Visitors.

Early in the evening boat loads of German, Esthonian and Russian residents steamed out into the roadstead and serenaded the royal visitors with national folksongs and village roundelays. The members of the royal parties remained on deck until after midnight listening to the music.

King Edward had a long private consultation with Premier Stolypin after luncheon, returning to the cabin with him. Nothing with regard to the purport of the conversations between the king and the emperor and the ministers has been published, but it is understood that they touched political relations only in a general way.

TO START CRUSADE ON DIVES

Resolution Favoring Eradication of Disreputable Saloons Under Consideration.

Milwaukee, June 11. — Resolutions declaring in effect that the United States Brewers' association is in favor of the eradication of the dive will come before the convention at its closing session to-day.

The resolutions were introduced at an executive session of the convention yesterday, and while their text has not been made public, it is understood that they declare that municipal authorities in all the cities of the country should have the co-operation of the brewers in their efforts to wipe out disreputable saloons.

"Dishonest and Immoral."

President Leibmann, in the course of his remarks before the convention yesterday, took the superintendents of the Anti-saloon league, most of them former clergymen, to task by asking "how can they advocate a policy of confiscation pronounced by Justice Brewer to be both dishonest and immoral?"

This remark called forth a suggestion from H. B. Scharman of Brooklyn that the executive committee of the association present to the legislature of some prohibition state an object lesson in the form of a bill for damages for property "stolen" by prohibition legislation. The suggestion was referred to the committee on resolutions.

The afternoon was devoted to addresses, the star of the program being Arthur Brisbane of New York, with E. J. Giddings of Oklahoma, candidate for governor of that state, a close second in popularity.

Neither Feasible or Possible.

Mr. Gidings was for open war on prohibitionists, but Mr. Brisbane declared that there were two sides to the question, and told the brewers they should clean up the questionable resorts. He declared prohibition was not only not feasible, but not possible. Prohibitionists should be argued with as brothers, and not as wild-eyed anarchists, he said.

BANKERS SUGGEST NEW LAWS.

Two Groups Hold Interesting Meeting at La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., June 11.—Group 1 of Minnesota and Group 7 of Wisconsin State Bankers' associations, in joint session yesterday, heard addresses on financial problems by Representative John J. Esch of La Crosse, George E. Roberts of Chicago and other prominent speakers.

The Minnesota group adopted a resolution protesting against the present system under which the Minnesota state bank examiner's office is conducted and favoring taking it out of politics and placing it upon a salary basis.

The Minnesota group recommended the passage of bills of lading legislation and the adoption of a law in Minnesota protecting banks where certificates or pass books are issued to parties, payable to them or their survivors.

MANY FARMS ARE RUINED.

La Crosse, Wis., June 11. — Farm lands in La Crosse county have been damaged to the extent of $50,000 by the floods of the past three weeks. In various sections of the county huge gullies have been washed in hillside farms and while this loss is severe it is insignificant as compared to the damage to fields in the valleys below, which have been covered by sand and debris washed down from the hillsides to the depth of four and five feet in places. Some lowland farms have been entirely ruined by these deposits.

15,000 PERSONS ARE HOMELESS

Driven From Their Homes by Flood at Kansas City—Rivers Still Rising.

ONE LINE IS CLEAR TO COAST

Kansas City, June 11.—All calculations of the weather bureau and river experts as to the duration and extent of the flood at the junction of the Kaw and Missouri rivers were upset yesterday by the continued rise of the Missouri, due to heavy rains in the Dakotas and Nebraska. There will be a steady rise in the Missouri for the next twenty-four hours, and the river will probably go t: twenty-seven and one-half or twenty-eight feet to-day.

The flood yester ay was highly spectacular, viewed from the bluffs of Kansas City. On the Clay county bank of the Missouri the little village of Harlem was entirely surrounded by water and the river was flowing a mile wide behind the village, over cornfields.

Ten Feet Deep in Streets.

The Kaw has overflowed most of the railroad yards, the stock yards and the residence and manufacturing districts of Armourdale. Ten feet of water is running through Kansas avenue, the main street of Armourdale.

The flooding of the stock yards and the cutting off of railroad communication almost suspended the cattle market yesterday. The live stock exchange building can still be entered but the basement is flooded.

Five railroad lines out of Kansas City are now tied up and three others will be out of service before midnight.

Convention hall was opened yesterday to shelter refugees. At least 15,000 persons have been driven from their homes.

Great Northern Is Clear.

Further washouts occurred on the Northern Pacific west of Missoula yesterday, and that city cannot be reached from the west before Friday.

Winona, Minn., June 11.—The Minnesota State Federation of Labor yesterday afternoon closed a three days' session here with the re-election of President George B. Howley. The election was by a rising vote and three cheers and he was later presented with a gold watch by the convention. There was a genuine demonstration when Secretary-reasurer McEwen was re-elected. Other officers chosen were: Vice president, First district, P. J. Warren, Winona; Second, S. T. Rouse, Mankato; Third, O. M. Nording, Red Wing; Fourth, Joseph Malden and A. L. ST. PAUL TO BE A WOOL MARKET.

Railroads to Make Rates Allowing Storage Here.

St. Paul, June 11.—It is understood that the three transcontinental lines running into St. Paul will put in a tariff on wool which will allow storage at the Minnesota Transfer in transit. This will virtually make St. Paul a wool market, since it is probably the object of wool growers to compel Eastern manufacturers to come West to do their buying instead of patronizing Boston and Philadelphia markets. It is estimated that between ten and fifteen million pounds of wool will be stored in the central warehouse this season, while the probabilities are that this figure will be increased materially if the scheme is found to operate favorably.

MAIL POUCH WITH $100,000 MISSING

Will Prove One of the Biggest Hauls in History of Postoffice Department.

AFFAIR SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

Officials Refuse Explanation of How It Was Lost—Currency Bound for New York.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 11.—Reluctant admissions made by the postoffice officials of thr•• cities yesterday confirm to some extent the belief that the disappearance of a registered mail pouch somewhere within the jurisdiction of the Kansas City (Mo.) postoffice last Saturday night will prove one of the biggest hauls in the history of the postoffice department. From private sources it was learned late yesterday that a package of at least $50,000 in currency was among the contents of the pouch, which carried, in addition, an unusually large number of letters and packages containing money and other valuables to an amount which can only be conjectured but which may reach $50,000 or more.

Officials Admit Loss.

The pouch was in transit from this city to New York, and the postal inspectors who have had the case in charge for at least forty-eight hours refuse any explanation of the manner in which it became lost in transfer from one responsible guardian to another. That a pouch of valuable proportions has disappeared was admitted yesterday by the department at Washington by Postmaster M. H. Fline of Los Angeles and by Inspector W. J. Wickery, attached to the Kansas City postoffice, who appears to have the case for investigation.

There is reason to believe that the $50,000 package of currency, which will undoubtedly prove to be the largest individual loss, was a shipment made by a Los Angeles bank to its New York correspondent.

Impossible to Estimate Total.

Potsmaster Flint of L-s Angeles stated that it would be impossible for any official of the department to even estimate the total contents of the missing pouch until the holders of receipts issued on the day in question had made affidavits as to the matter intrusted to the mails. Mr. Flint admitted after being shown the dispatches from Kansas City that he had been notified of the loss.

In the shipment of registered packages through the postoffice, mail pouches are sealed with a rotary lock at the initial point, with no opportunity of being opened without being mutilated prior to reaching their destination. For this reason, it is argued none of the postal employes was in a position to secure knowledge of the contents en route.

HIT HIM IN TWO PLACES.

In the early autumn of 1358 Petrarch suffered an accident which may be narrated in his own words. "You shall hear," he writes to a friend, "what a trick Cicero, the man whom I have loved and worshiped from my boyhood, has just played me. I possess a huge volume of his letters, which I wrote out some time ago with my own hand because there was no original manuscript accessible to the copyists. Ill health hindered me, but my great love of Cicero and delight in the letters and eagerness to possess them prevailed against my bodily weakness and the laboriousness of the work. This is the book which you have seen leaning against the doorpost at the entry to my library. One day while going into the room thinking about something else, as I often do, I happened inadvertently to catch the book in the fringe of my gown. In its fall it struck me lightly on the left leg a little above the heel. 'What! My Cicero,' quoth I, bantering him, 'pray what are you hitting me for?' He said nothing, but next day as I came again the same way he hit me again, and again I laughed at him and set him up in his place. Why make a long story? Over and over again I went on suffering the same hurt, and, thinking he might be cross at having to stand on the ground, I put him up a shelf higher, but not till after the repeated blows on the same spot had broken the skin and a far from despicable sore had resulted. I despised it, though, reckoning the cause of my accident of much more weight than the accident itself. At last, when the pain was too much not only for my wit, but for sleep and rest, so that to neglect the thing any longer seemed not courage, but madness, I was forced to call in the doctors, who have now for some days been fussing over this really ridiculous wound, not without great pain and some danger to the wounded limb, as they insist, though I think you know just what reliance I place on their prognostications either of good or evil. So this is how my beloved Cicero has treated me. He long ago struck my heart, and now he has struck my leg."—From H. C. Hollway-Calthorp's "Petrarch."

The largest speckled trout ever taken from the creeks in the vicinity of Glenwood, Wis., and probably the largest ever landed in Northern Wisconsin, has been caught in Tiffany creek near Glenwood. It weighed four and a half pounds.

No More Sour Cream

The Minnesota Co-operative Dairies Association is an organization of Co-operative Creameries, organized for the purpose of marketing butter by Co-operative Creameries at the least possible expense. Our creamery has taken two shares in this association and and we have been notified that the association has opened for business at Chicago and are ready to receive and sell butter. Every Co-operative Creamery should stand by this organization. If the farmers can get more for their butter by having their own creameries, why can't they do better by having an organization for selling the butter in the market? They will get paid for every pound of butter which is not the case under the Commission plan of selling. There will be no commission charges and all that will be charged up against the butter will be the freight and actual expense of selling it.

But the best part of this method of selling will be that the butter will be sold according to the quality. Under the old plan of selling this was not the case; poor butter sold for just about as much as the good butter.

We have received returns from one shipment sent to this Association and the only fault found with it was the poor, old cream flavor. Under this plan of selling our butter it will be impossible for us to accept any old, sour or bad flavored cream. We will either have to have nice, sweet cream altogether or spend about $2,000 on modern machinery so that we can make better butter out of the poor cream if you insist on bringing that kind of stuff. It all depends upon you patrons whether we have to go to this extra expense or not. TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOUR CREAM AND DELIVER IT THREE TIMES A WEEK and there will be no trouble, otherwise, there will. We have arrived now at the point where we absolutely must have good cream.

The flys will soon be here and I wish to urge the patrons to get some one of those preparations now on the market to keep the flys away from the cows. Put it on night and morning with a little hand spraying machine, and you will be well repaid for your trouble in the increased milk flow. The expense is practically nothing.

* * * * *

How about fodder corn? Are you putting in something of this kind to feed the cows during the fall and early winter so the milk flow will not shrink so much during the winter. I don't like to see the busi- at the creamery fall off so in the winter and I wish the patrons would prepare more for winter dairying. The price of butter is always higher in the winter and the average farmer has more time to look after his cows than in the summer time. Have the cows come in in the fall and prepare to give them good care and feed during the winter, and it will be better for the community, better for your patrons, and better for the creamery. I am always glad to do anything for the interest of my creamery patrons.

GEO. L. AUSTIN, Buttermaker.

A great many boys, young and old, are earning big days' wages hunting crows now-a-days. There is a bounty of ten cents each placed on this specie of the feathered tribe and as a consequence their total number is decreasing rapidly, some of the boys bringing in as many as thirty or forty in a day. Most of the crows secured, however, are young ones taken from the nests, although quite a large number of the older ones are shot. The crow probably destroys more prairie chickens than are drowned out by the spring rains as is evidenced by the number of eggs shells found on the ground beneath a crow's nest. The bounty on crows is offered only during the nesting seasons.

Fell to Watery Grave

Crookston Times:—Edward J. Millette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Millette, of 408 North Main Street, met with a fatal accident yesterday afternoon at Red Lake Falls. He was at work on the bridge being built across the Clearwater river at Red Lake Falls, and he lost his balance, falling headforemost into the river fifty feet below. The accident was so unexpected that fellow workmen are at a loss to know how it happened. At the time it happened he was on the very apex of the span.

An effort was immediately made to rescue him, but the most diligent efforts did not recover the body until three hours later. The remains will be brought to Crookston this evening and will be taken at once to his parents' home. The young man is well known in this city and the accident has cast a heavy gloom over his large circle of friends.

The funeral of the young man will take place from St. Anne's church next Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

St. Hilaire Will Celebrate

At a special meeting of the commercial club held last week it was decided to celebrate the Fourth of July here in view of the fact that none of the surrounding towns will make a demodstration this year.

The soliciting committee reported a goodly sum pledged by the business men of the village and preparations for the celebration were begun at once by the appointment of Jens Nelson, Dr Swanson, Knute Kolstad, Chas. Fellmand and Arthur Hall as the program committee. This committee met the early part of the week and decided to try to secure the Red Lake Falls band and orchestra, and the Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls ball teams as some of the principal attractions of the day. There will also be the usual parade, speeches, races, contests, dances etc.

Providing the two teams can be secured, Red Lake Falls will try conclusions with the Thief River Falls nine on the local diamond here and a fast, clean game of ball will be assured as both teams are about equally as strong according to the "dope."

The Red Lake Falls band and orchestra need no introduction to the public in this section of the state, at least, and will add very materially to the celebration should they decide to come.

The complete program will be published just as soon as the final arrangements have been made and the outside orgaizations secured.

Red Lake Falls Band Coming

Just as we go to press we receive the assurance that the famous Red Lake Falls band and orchestra will be here for the Fourth of July. This in itself is an assurance of the success of the celebration.

The ball team has not been heard from as yet.

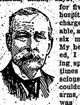
FIVE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL.

Discharged Because Doctors Could Not Cure.



Levi P. Brockway, S. Second Ave., Anoka, Minn., says: "After lying for five months in a hospital I was discharged as incurable, and given only six months to live. My heart was affected, I had smothering spells and sometimes fell unconscious. I got so I couldn't use my arms, my eyesight was impaired and the kidney secretions were badly disordered. I was completely worn out and discouraged when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they went right to the cause of the trouble and did their work well. I have been feeling well ever since."

"Eczema appeared on my son's face. We went to a doctor who treated him for three months. Then he was so bad that his face and head were nothing but one sore and his ears looked as if they were going to fall off, so we tried another doctor for four months, the baby never getting any better. His hand and legs had big sores on them and the poor little fellow suffered so terribly that he could not sleep. After he had suffered six months we tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies and the first treatment let him sleep and rest well; in one week the sores were gone and in two months he had a clear face. Now he is two years and has never had eczema again. Mrs. Louis Beck, R. F. D. 3, San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 15, 1907."

TWO IOWA TOWNS ARE UNDER WATER

SEVEN DROWNED IN MONTANA

Pisgah, Iowa, June 11.—The Soldier river, swollen by recent rains, is from three to five miles wide at this place. The water, backed up by the current of the Missouri, has inundated the whole valley of the Soldier, and the towns of Pisgah and Moorhead are submerged.

In the business portion of Pisgah every store but one was abandoned yesterday and water stands from one to four feet deep in the buildings.

The flooded condition exists for a distance of fifty miles, and thousands of acres of farming land have been overflowed and the crops entirely destroyed.

Seven Drowned in Montana.

Helena, Mont., June 11.—Seven persons were reported drowned north of here as the result of high waters, the Missouri river claiming all the victims. Six casualties occurred at Sunnyside ranch, where the foreman, his wife and four children are reported drowned, while an unknown Greek, working at Craig for the Great Northern, fell into the stream and was drowned. It is difficult to obtain particulars of the Sunnyside catastrophe, the wries being down.

Roads Are Badly Hit.

St. Paul, June 11. — Utterly unable to cope with an apparent conspiracy of the elements, the Northern Pacific was finally compelled to refuse through passengers to the coast yesterday. With the Hellgate river surging over its banks from Garrison to Missoula, the large crew of men who have been rushed to the scene are compelled to remain idle pending the recession of the water.

According to official reports received from the tie-up points, the passengers are not on short rations, are not suffering in any way, and absolutely no complaints have been received.

The Great Northern's through service to the coast has also been interrupted, with trains tied up all along the Kalispell division in Montana.

Relief at Hand in Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., June 11. — The Kaw valley flood at Topeka and farther west is subsiding as rapidly as it rose, and Kansas City, now the chief sufferer, sees relief at hand in the prediction of the weather bureau that both the Kaw and Missouri rivers will be stationary by 1 o'clock to-day and that twenty-four hours later both rivers will begin to fall slowly.

The railroads are the heaviest losers by the floods. Crops have been destroyed, but will be replanted with the assurance of a large yield.

CRAWFORD IN THE LEAD.

Kittredge Probably Defeated in Republican Primary Election.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 11. — Returns at midnight from the Republican primary election, though far from complete, indicate the nomination of Gov. Coe I. Crawford for United States senator over A. R. Kittredge, the incumbent, by at least 8,000 majority. The nomination of State Senator W. G. Vassey of Watertown, the Crawford candidate for governor, is equally probable, while indications point to the success of Burke and Martin, the Kittredge or "stalwart" candidates for congress. Returns from the Black Hills counties, which are supposed to be solid for Kittredge, have not yet been received.

DIED IN HIS BUGGY.

Rushford, Minn., June 11.—En route from his home here to West Union, Iowa, Peter Miller, one of the wealthiest men of Southern Minnesota and widely known among stockmen of several Northwestern states, suddenly expired yesterday in his buggy.

The body was found by a passing farmer. Death was due to apoplexy, believed to have been caused by grief over the loss of his wife, who died suddenly recently of an attack of heart disease.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 9.—A fatal accident was narrowly averted in the town or Nidaros. John E. Anderson, who resides there, was cleaning a .22-caliber revolver and accidentally let it fall. The weapon was discharged and the bullet struck Mrs. Anderson in the hip, inflicting a serious wound. A physician was immediately called, and it is thought she will recover.

WOODS FINED $2,500 EACH

Plead Guilty to Conspiracy to Use Mails to Defraud—Other Counts Are Nolled.

St. Paul, June 10. — Geoger W. Wood, Lewin A. Wood and Forest B. Wood pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Page Morris, in the federal court, to the first count in the indictments charging them with conspiracy to defraud and misuse of the mails in the operation of the Edwards company.

A fine of $2,500 on each of the defendants was imposed. It was paid at once.

The defendants, who were represented in court by Attorney John F. Stryker, were arraigned at 3 o'clock, and on their behalf Mr. Stryker said they had always borne excellent reputations and that they had abandoned the business some time before the proceedings were instituted.

Judge Morris in imposing sentence remarked that in view of the fact that the defendants had been for some time out of the business complained of, he thought that a fine of $2,500 would be a sufficient demonstration that the offense was one that could not be palliated.

The other counts in the indictments were nolled and the defendants left the court free men.

The charge to which the Wood brothers pleaded guilty had nothing to do with their alleged connection with the Wisconsin Grain and Stock company for which they were tried last winter.

Brings Woods' Case to Close.

St. Paul, June 11.—Another chapter in the litigation of the government against the Wood brothers et al. was concluded yesterday, when Clinton B. Phelps, the self-acknowledged president of the defunct Wisconsin Grain and Stock company pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud, and was given the maximum fine of $500 by Judge Page Morris, before whom he was arraigned.

On motion of United States District Attorney Charles C. Houpt, the indictments pending against George W. Wood, Martin P. Quigley, Bruce Tuttle and A. W. Brown were nolled.

Mr. Houpt said that all the other defendants, with the exception of George Wood, were merely employes of the company, and that they were indicted to further the aim of the government in convicting the real officers.

In regard to George Wood he moved that the indictment be quashed as to him also, inasmuch as he had pleaded guilty and had been fined on another charge.

This brings to a sensational close a case that has bristled with sensational incidents throughout.

The only remaining incident of the case will be the arraignment of Martin P. Quigley on the perjury charge.

TRAMP STRIKES AT WOMAN.

Second Outrage Arouses People of Little Falls.

Little Falls, Minn., June 11. — Following an attack on a woman here Monday, in which a tramp threw acid in her face after she had brought him food, a second outrage was perpetrated yesterday. The police followed the hobo and found an even dozen tramps about a campfire near town. They arrested ten of the gang, but two escaped. None of the ten under arrest has been identified as the assailant of the woman.

Mrs. I. Todahn was the victim of yesterday's attack. A tramp climbed to the roof of the house and pretended to be cleaning the chimney with a brick and a piece of clothesline. After about five minutes' work he descended and demanded $1.50 for his services. Mrs. Todahn refused to pay him, as he had not been instructed to clean the chimney, and he then asked for some eggs. She got these for him, but he repeated his demand for money, and when it was refused he struck at the woman. She gave him $1.50 to get rid of him and notified the police, who went with a number of citizens and broke up the hobo camp.

HERO DIVES TO SAVE YOUTH.

Leaps Twenty Feet and Goes Fifteen Feet Under Water to Save Man.

Chetek, Minn., June 11.—H. R. McIntyre of Chetek is deserving of a Carnegie medal. He rescued Theodore Olsen, a farmer from drowning by jumping twenty feet from a bridge, diving fifteen feet under the water and bringing Olsen to the surface. The youth had gone down the third time, but efforts at resuscitation were successful.

DEAFNESS IS FATAL.

Casselton, N. D., June 9.—J. A. C. Marshall of Wheatland, while walking along the Northern Pacific track, was struck by an east-bound freight and was instantly killed. It was supposed that he was deaf and did not hear the train.

Drowned While Bathing.

St. Boniface, Manitoba, June 9.—Edmund Mesiders, aged thirty-one, was drowned in the Seine river. He was bathing and got out of his depth.

Mangled by Train.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., June 9. — A man believed to be Isaac Ingwald of Sherman was mangled by a passenger train near Menomonie Junction.

Beloit, Wis., June 9. — Mary Ann Ladhens Hunt died yesterday at the age of 106 years. She was born in Goshen, Conn., Jan. 22, 1802.

Sturgis, S. D., June 9. — Word was received here that Fred Mohr of Tama was drowned in Sulphur creek Friday night.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

"I am glad to write my endorsement of the great remedy, Peruna. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe.

Any remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves.

In other words, Peruna goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the disagreeable symptoms disappear.

Mrs. J. C. Jamison, Wallace, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. Was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Peruna, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured."

Let Us Hope So.

"William," she said, "means good. James means beloved. I wonder——"

A flush mantled her cheek.

"I wonder," she softly murmured, "what George means?"

"George means business, I hope," said her mother, looking up from the Easter wedding announcements in the evening paper.

NOT TO BE PUT OFF.

Farmer Triumphs Over Judge and Hearsay Evidence Is Admitted.

An eminent lord chief justice, who was trying a right-of-way case, had before him a witness—an old farmer—who was proceeding to tell the jury that he had "knowed the path for sixty yeer, and my feyther tould I as he heered my grandfeyther zay——"

"Stop!" said the judge; "we can't have any hearsay evidence here!"

"Not!" exclaimed Farmer Giles. "Then how dost know who thy feyther was 'cept by hearsay?"

After the laughter had subsided the judge said: "In courts of law we can only be guided by what you have seen with your own eyes, and nothing more or less."

"Oh, that be blowed for a tale!" replied the farmer. "I ha' got a bile on the back of my neck, and I never seed 'un, but I be prepared to swear that he's there, hang 'un!"

This second triumph on the part of the witness let in a torrent of hearsay evidence about the footpath which obtained weight with the jury, albeit the judge told them it was not testimony of any value, and the farmer's party won.

Right Food Gives Strength and Brain Power.

The natural elements of wheat and barley, including the phosphate of potash, are found in Grape-Nuts, and that is why persons who are run down from improper food pick up rapidly on Grape-Nuts.

"My system was run down by excessive night work," writes a N. Y. man, "in spite of a liberal supply of ordinary food.

"After using Grape-Nuts I noticed improvement at once, in strength, and nerve and brain power.

"This food seemed to lift me up and stay with me for better exertion, with less fatigue. My weight increased 20 lbs. with vigor and comfort in proportion.

"When traveling I always carry the food with me to insure having it."

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION BEGINS WORK

BURROWS STRIKES KEYNOTE

Chicago, June 18.—Amid scenes of stirring enthusiasm the Republican national convention of 1908 began its deliberations at noon yesterday in the presence of an assemblage estimated at upward of 14,000 people, with the sounds of patriotic airs alternating with the frenzied shouts for Roosevelt, Taft and the other popular heroes, the first tocsin of the coming struggle from the graceful orator of Michigan, Senator Julius Caesar Burrows, and the initial formalities which started this momentous gathering into motion.

Opening Session Short.

The opening session lasted less than two hours and was less notable for the business accomplished than for the opportunity it afforded of seeing again this stirring picture of the people assembled from every corner of the country to select a candidate for president of the United States. The actual work of the day was quickly accomplished, and last night the various important committees on credentials, platform, organization, etc., were preparing for the more important business to come.

All Roads Lead to Coliseum.

Early in the day all roads in Chicago turned toward the huge stone pile known as the Coliseum, with its back toward Lake Michigan and its Gothic turrets fronting a rather shabby section of the city. Here centered the convention throngs, state delegations, singly and in groups, some with marching clubs and bands and banners for their favorites, the Ohio delegation with a huge blue silk standard bearing the portrait of Secretary Taft. At front and rear the great building was besieged by steady streams of humanity, until at noon almost every seat in the structure was occupied and great crowds stood outside to catch the echoes from within.

Gathering of Party Giants.

The scene when the vast assemblage was called to order was one of impressive dignity, of animation and of color. It was truly a gathering of the giants of the party, and every group had its figure conspicuous in national affairs.

Just as the opening hour arrived the Ohio delegation swung down the middle aisle bearing aloft the blue silken banner with the portrait of Ohio's candidate.

"Taft!" "Taft!" went up from a thousand throats as the well known face of the secretary candidate was borne to the front.

Burrows Takes Cheer.

Cheer after cheer echoed from floor to gallery and back again, and for a time Chairman New was unable to proceed with the opening formalities. Again Wisconsin stirred the echoes with a real college yell which resounded through the building and exploded with a final "Rah! rah! rah! Wis-con-sin!" closing it all with the cry of "La Follette."

It was not until 12:18 that Chairman New stilled the tumult and with brief formalities introduced the temporary presiding officer of the convention, Senator Burrows of Michigan.

Tells of Party's Deeds.

The venerable senator, white-haired, white-tied, white-vested, spectacled, dignified in his long black coat, stepped forward, a ponderous roll of manuscript in his hand. Slowly the buzz of confusion died away and he began to speak. His first words were barely audible five feet away. Gradually he warmed to his subject, for he told of the glories of the party he had served so long, and the well rounded sentences carried to the remotest corners, hammered in here and there by an expressive gesture. But it was not a speech calculated to set the blood tingling. It dealt with the party's record and achievements.

Starts the Noise.

Not until the senator made the first mention of "Roosevelt" did the words seem to start the assemblage as by a magic thrill. Instantly the speech was drowned in a great shout which went up from every side as delegates sprang to their feet, waved their hats, echoing back the tumult of the galleries, where fluttering handkerchiefs, fans and parasols broke into moving color and the whole assemblage joined in vociferous demonstration. Every succeeding mention of the president's name brought another wave of enthusiastic tribute. The names of Taft and of Root also sent the cheers ringing from gallery to gallery.

Policies Are Approved.

Aside from the names of popular idols, the speaker' swords awakened a stir of enthusiasm for the navy, the "man behind the gun," the continued occupation of the Philippines and a tariff revision which would give "just and adequate protection to American industry." These policies appeared to appeal strongly to the assemblage, but the greatest enthusiasm on a question of policy came when he delivered his fervid apotheosis to the American judiciary as the great conservative bulwark of the country.

Star Actors in Scene.

The formal proceedings of the convention gave the spectators an opportunity to see three of the conspicuous actors on the scene—Sereno E. Payne, who moved that the rules of the last convention prevail until new rules be presented; Senator Long of Kansas, who presented the customary resolution for the appointment of committees on resolutions, credentials, permanent organization and rules and order of business, and Senator Lodge, who cut short the monotonous droning of names of committees by having the lists turned in to the secretary without reading. It was 2 o'clock when the last formality was accomplished and the strains of a stirring national anthem broke forth as the convention adjourned.

Committees Get Busy.

Last night the work of the committees was proceeding, while hotel corridors were the scenes of heated discussion over the vice presidency and platform. The permanent organization of the convention has been fully outlined by the committee in charge of the work, with Senator Lodge of Massachusetts as the permanent chairman. The work of the committee on credentials and on resolutions has been marked by greater difficulty and the reports which come from their deliberations indicate sharp contention before the final details of credentials and platform are effected.

FIRST CHAIRMAN IS DEAD.

Leader of Original Republican Mass Meeting Dies in Michigan.

Jackson, Mich., June 18. — Eugene Pringle, the oldest member and president of the Jackson county bar and for more than half a century prominent in Michigan politics, died at his home in this city last night of apoplexy.

Mr. Pringle was the man who conducted the mass meeting at which the Republican party was formed in the west part of this city "under the oak," in 1854. Twenty years afterward he deserted that party and became a Democrat.

New York, June 18.—James J. Hill has arrived in this city from Washington and will remain here until the latter part of the week, when he starts on his annual fishing trip to Labrador.

LODGE SENDS CONVENTION INTO UPROAR

Mention of President's Name Starts Outburst Which Lasts Forty-five Minutes.

TAFT DELEGATES ARE SEATED

Credentials Report Adopted Without a Fight—Plan to Cut Representation Killed.

Chicago, June 18.—The second day of the Republication convention has brought the long expected Roosevelt yell, a whirlwind of enthusiasm which raged within the vast amphitheater of the Coliseum for fully forty-five minutes yesterday, and for a time presenting to the timid the specter of a Roosevelt stampede. This demonstration was decidedly the feature of a day otherwise notable for a stirring speech from the permanent chairman of the convention, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, for much practical procedure in placing the convention on a smooth running basis, and for the final defeat of the plan to reduce the representation of Southern states at future national conventions.

Seats Taft Delegates.

Probably the most important act of the day, and the one having greatest significance, was the adoption of the report of the committee on credentils, seating the Taft delegations practically in toto. If there had been any lingering doubt of the Taft strength it disappeared before this decisive action, which in effect placed upward of 700 delegates in the Taft column. Equally important, and even more remarkable, was the final acceptance of this result by the "allies" without the formality of a dissenting minority report and without carrying the question to the floor of the convention for the open fight which long had been threatened. Instead of this all further opposition seemed to crumble; those who had promised trouble quietly accepted the inevitable and thus the path was cleared for the fulfillment of plans already well matured for the nomination of the head of the ticket.

Stick to "Favorite Sons."

The "favorite sons," however, still have their bands of steadfast supporters, who will show their loyalty when the first ballot is taken.

The scene within the Coliseum yesterday repeated that of Tuesday in the magnitude and brilliancy of its spectacular features. Again every seat was occupied and 14,000 people, packing floors and aisles and galleries and platform, joined in the ebb and flow of agitation and enthusiasm. Temporary Chairman Burrows called the convention to order promptly at 12:20, but the delay of committees in reporting gave an hour for diversion before the serious work of the day was begun. This time was given over to the visiting clubs, with bands and vocal choruses, bearing banners and strange devices of G. O. P. elephants. In front of the delegates paraded this motley throng, eliciting laughter and applause.

Get Down to Business.

This diversion over, the convention turned to the committee reports. First was that of credentials — the very foundation on which delegates held their seats and voted. It was presented by Senator Fulton of Oregon in a three-minute speech stating that the action of the national committee had been fully investigated and upheld. The report was quickly approved with only a few scattered votes in opposition.

The presentation of the report on permanent organization was the signal for Senator Burrows to yield his place as temporary chairman and to escort to the platform the permanent chairman of the convention, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts.

Stirred by Lodge.

Mr. Lodge, trim and businesslike, looked as from a later generation than the white-haired retiring chairman. His voice, too, had that resonant New England twang which made it ring out to the farthest corners of the galleries, carrying metaphor and sarcasm which startled the listeners to attenton and applause.

"The fevered fancy of an uneasy dream" was his indictment hurled against the visionary policies of opposition parties. The applause had hardly died away when Mr. Lodge launched his sentence which electrified the assemblage into its first real demonstration of wild enthusiasm.

"The president," exclaimed Mr. Lodge, "is the best abused and most popular man in the United States today."

Tempest Breaks Loose.

This was the long-awaited signal. Instantly a shout broke from the galleries and was echoed back from the floor, at first only a tempest of detached yells and catcalls and shouts of "Teddy!" but gradually gathering force and volume until it swelled to a whirlwind of sound and motion, as delegates and spectators rose en masse, mounting chairs, waving banners, hats, handkerchiefs, flags, newspapers — anything which could be seized upon to add turbulence to the scene. Amid the tumult the band struck up, but the crash of the brass and drums was completely lost in the babel of sound which welled from 14,000 throats.

Uproar Increases.

For the first minute Senator Lodge stood waiting to proceed, occasionally raising his hand for silence, only to awaken a defiant yell twice louder than before.

Five minutes passed, and instead of abating, the uproar was increasing. The sergeant-at-arms moved up a chair for the presiding officer, and Senator Lodge sank back to await a lull in the storm.

Five minutes, ten minues, fifteen minutes!

There was no lull, no abatement. A hoarse roar had taken the place of the detached yells.

"Four, four, four years more!" came in a deafening chorus from the full sweep of the gallery, as if preconcerted, each "four, four, four," exploding like the boom of heavy artillery.

Mad With Enthusiasm.

Fifteen, twenty, twenty-five minutes!

New delegations were joining in the outbreak. Some had mounted chairs —Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee—and were gesticulating madly. One delegate, far to the left, had torn off his coat and was whipping it wildly above his head. Texas and Kentucky appeared to be the center of the agitation on the floor. New York viewed the storm with calm and so did Ohio, except, strangely, one of the lonesome Foraker delegates, Judge Marcus Shoup, who, mounted on a chair, kept both arms in motion with a waving flag and a newspaper and his voice joining in the general pandemonium.

Keep Is Up for Forty-five Minutes.

Thirty minutes, thirty-five minutes, forty minutes, forty-five minutes!

A full three-quarters of an hour had passed in this bewildering confusion of sight and sound. For a time some fear was felt by some that a stampede was imminent. But the political generals were glad to give the pent-up enthusiasm of the multitude this outlet of expression, and at no time was there the slightest apprehension among them that the well devised plans would miscarry by some overpowering movement.

With the subsidence of the Roosevelt storm Senator Lodge completed his stirring speech, and then the convention turned to the reports of the other committees.

Burke Resolution Killed.

That on rules and order of business brought a majority report against the resolution offered by James Francis Burke of Pennsylvania, reducing the representation of states to a basis of Republican votes cast by those states. Mr. Burke presented a minority report, in which seventeen of the states concurred.

A sharp contest occurred on this question, bringing for the first time before the convention some of its best known orators. The resolution was finally defeated by the close vote of 506 against 471.

The final details of the platform were being arranged by the platform committee last night, and this accomplished, the convention will be equipped to-day to make its declaration of policy and proceed to the selection of candidates.

Cut Down Speechmaking.

Chicago, June 18. — An agreement was reached last night by representatives of all the candidates by which the nominating and seconding speeches for president will be materially curtailed. This agreement is that only one nominating and one seconding speech shall be made for each candidate and that the long list of seconding speeches which have been heretofore announced will be abandoned.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 18.—Edward J. Svenneby was terribly burned at his home here last night. He was carrying a lighted lamp and a can of paint up stairs and fell just as reached the top. The oil and paint spilled over him and took fire, burning him until his skin literally peeled from portions of his body. The house took fire, but the flames were extinguished.

"BLACK HAND" MEN KILLED BY VICTIM

New Orleans Wine Merchant Kills Three Blackmailers and Wounds One.

DEMAND MONEY AND VALUABLES

New Orleans, June 19. — A "Black Hand" tragedy with the usual sequel that the blackmailers, numbering four, were killed or wounded, while their victims escaped without a scratch, was enacted here yesterday in the historic former home of Gen. Beauregard, in the French quarter, and now the residence of Pietro Giacona, a wine merchant, reputed to be one of the wealthiest Italians in the South.

Giacona and his son told the police that these men had frequently bought wine from them by the barrel and had invariably refused to pay for it. According to their story, the three forced them to ship a barrel of wine to a point in Louisiana yesterday and returned early and ordered them to prepare a meal.

Answers Demand With Bullets.

The elder Giocona suspected that trouble would ensue and hid a repeating rifle near the table. When one of the visiting Italians drew a heavy revolver and ordered them to produce money and valuables the elder Giacona answered with a shot from the rifle. The man he fired at fell dead and the other two attempted to escape.

One was killed before he had gotten ten feet from the table. The other reached a staircase, only to receive a bullet in his brain.

Another Italian, badly wounded, was found in a shed near the Giacona home. He was identified as one of those who had attended Giacona's feast, the only one who escaped with his life. His wound is dangerous.

The tragedy followed a series of crimes by the so-called "Black Hand" society in the Italian quarters of New Orleans.

CARACAS IS IN TERROR.

Dreaded Plague Breaks Out, and the People Are Wild With Alarm.

Caracas, June 19. — The dreaded plague at last has come to Caracas, which for a few months past has been hoping against hope that it might be spared from the scourge which had stricken the neighboring port of Laguayra. The city awakened yesterday to the full knowledge that the disease was here, and the fact that the case will be that of an employe of the famous Lainlia cafe, one of the finest in Caracas, did not tend to decrease the general alarm. It was realized that the presence of the bubonic plague in such quarters meant that no section of the city was safe from its ravages. The population is on the verge of a panic.

PICK BRENT SECOND TIME.

Again Is Choice of Diocesan Convention as Bishop of Washington.

Washington, June 19. — Bishop Charles Henry Brent of the Philippine islands was yesterday again elected Protestant Episcopal bishop of Washington to succeed Henry Y. Satterlee, deceased. Bishop Brent declined the first election, but the diocesan convention insisted upon his choice in the hope that he would reconsider his action.

Mrs. Hartje Wins Again.

Pittsburg, June 19. — Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje, wife of Augustus Hartje, the millionaire paper manufacturer, whose unsuccessful divorce litigation against his wife has been widely published, won another victory yesterday when by a decison of Judge Fraser she was awarded $5,000 a year alimony, $26,750 for court expenses and $7,000 for attorneys' fees.

Child Poisoned by Phosphorus.

Ishpeming, Mich., June 19.—Playing with matches, three-year-old Ellery Butler, daughter of John Butler of Quincy Mills, was suddenly taken ill. KEEP TAB ON CONVENTION

Roosevelt and Taft in Constant Touch With Great Gathering in Chicago Coliseum.

Washington, June 18.—With every incident in the great gathering at Chicago flashed to them on direct wires, President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft kept in constant touch yesterday with the Republican national convention, had a brief conference and each wound up the afternoon by driving into the suburbs while the convention was still in session. All day long the wires brought news of what was transpiring in the convention. There were direct telegraph circuits from the convention hall to the executive office of the White House and the private office of Secretary Taft, and a long-distance telephone in Mr. Taft's office as well. These permitted ready communication with the convention leaders. Confidential telegraph and telephone operators were on duty at the Chicago ends of the wires, and not a move was made on the floor of the immense hall that was not almost simultaneously reported to Washington.

Mrs. Taft manifested her keen interest in the Republican convention proceedings at Chicago yesterday by joining the secretary in his private office and getting at first hand the reports from Chicago. She remained throughout the session of the convention and scanned closely all of the dispatches received.

BEEF HIGHEST IN 25 YEARS.

Money Troubles Last Fall and Tariff Laws Are Blamed.

New York, June 19.—Tracing the present high price of beef directly to the money panic last October and the operation of the tariff laws, retail butchers, wholesale dealers and packers yesterday declared that they could see nothing on which to base predictions of lower prices on the best grades of meat. Dressed carcasses brought from half a cent to a cent a pound more yesterday in New York than they did on Monday, reflecting an increase since last week of one and a half cents in the Chicago price of live steers, bringing the cost of beef "on the hoof" higher than it has been in twenty-five years.

ST. PAUL ROAD FINED $1,000.

Case of Telegrapher Who Worked Overtime to Be Appealed.

Milwaukee, June 19.—For violating the eight-hour law, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company must pay to the state a fine of $1,000 and $50 additional costs according to the judgment entered by Judge Warren D. Tarent, on motion of Atttorney General F. L. Gilbert. The action, which was a test case on the part of the railroad company, involved the working overtime of a telegrapher at a way station. The case will now be appealed to the supreme court and then taken to the United States courts.

SNATCH TOTS AND WOMEN FROM FIRE

Lives of 130 Children and Helpless Old Women Threatened by Fire in "Home."

MANY MIRACULOUS ESCAPES

Minneapolis, June 17. — Scores of lives were threatened and many miraculous escapes made at a fire which threatened to destroy the Home for Children and Aged Women yesterday afternoon. The children had just finished dinner and were filing out of the building when fire was discovered by Miss Elizabeth Taylor, resident teacher. She turned in an alarm at once and with the aid of other teachers and maids hurried to the assistance of the old ladies, many of whom were in their rooms. Several of the most aged women had to be carried from the building. On the second floor is located the nursery, and here were twenty small children, ranging in age from three months to six years.

Display Rare Heroism.

The teachers displayed rare heroism in the rescue of the old people and the children. The fire broke out in the third floor, which is occupied by the older boys and the help. A defective flue, which ignited a straw tick, is held responsible for the fire. In a short time the entire floor was a blaze and in spite of the able work of the department the upper part of the building was destroyed. The home sheltered a hundred children and thirty aged women. Had the fire started at any time when the children were all in the building there would have been heavy loss of life, owing to the helplessness of the inmates. The loss is estimated at $5,000, most of which was caused by fire.

"You bet he is," replied the self acknowledged brains of the firm. "Why, he never makes a move without asking my advice!"—Chicago News.

A Mean Question.

Charles—I heard the other day that Gerald is going to get married.

Edward—Well, why shouldn't he? He's comfortably well off.

"That's just the whole point. Why doesn't he remain so?"

Broke the Record

Tuesday was a red letter day at the St. Hilaire creamery, Buttermaker Geo. L. Austin reporting a total output of 4,300 lbs of butter that day. This exceeds the output for any one day previous to this, in the history of the creamery, by 500 lbs.

In proportion to its size and the quality, as well as quantity, of butter made every year, the St. Hilaire creamery holds second place to none; and nowhere can a better example of a buttermaker and patrons working in unison be found, which is evidenced by the ever-increasing output of butter.

GUIDEPOSTS IN FRANCE.

A Striking Feature of the Roads Throughout the Country.

A feature of the roads of France is the ever present guidepost. These guideposts consist of an iron plaque about two feet long and a foot high securely mounted on sturdy posts or fastened to some substantial wall. They are painted in white and blue and show without any possibility of mistake not only the commune or township in which they stand, but the next important place in either direction as well as the distances between all the chief points upon that route. Thus you will find if you are traveling on a road which leads to Paris that the name of the metropolis will appear on the signboard, although it may be several hundred kilometers distant.

In addition to these guideposts the Touring Club of France has put on the chief roads a series of signs and symbols to indicate to motorists and bicyclists what sort of a road they are approaching. The sign "ralentir," which translated into good United States means to "let up," has caused many a motorist who is unfamiliar with the road he is traveling to slow down and to find shortly after the sign had been passed that it was well that he paid attention to it because of a steep grade or some abrupt turn. There is no excuse, in view of the symbols and signboards, for any one motoring in France to get on the wrong road or to come unexpectedly into trouble.—Frank Presbrey in Outing Magazine.

An Easy Way Out of Trouble.

"We simply can't go on as we have been going," he declared. "We are spending more than I'm making. You surely must be able to understand that such a state of affairs can't last long."

"Then, dear," she soothingly replied, "why don't you make more?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

News:—An exchange tells a horrible tale about a young lady who thoughtlessly jerked back her head so suddenly to keep from being kissed that she broke her neck. This should be a warning to all other girls not to jerk back. In fact it would be better to lean forward a little.

Misses Olga Swenson and Eda Brink have been circulating a paper this week soliciting money to help defray the expenses of Miss Eva Johnson while she is at the sanitarium in Minneapolis. The young ladies have been untiring in their efforts and, as a result, had approximately $115 solicited up to yesterday noon. The public is giving liberally toward the fund and are loud in their praise of the young ladies who are displaying such energy and hustle.

Last Sunday afternoon the Wylie ball team and the local pickups indulged in a game of ball which resulted in a score of 10 to 15 in favor of Wylie. Trouble began in the first inning over umpire Martin McAndress' decisions and continued in each succeeding inning of the game. St. Hilaire evidently had to contend with the umpire as well as the Wylie ball team for she seldom recieved a favorable decision from that official. His work was so apparently rank and coarse that the onlookers could only give vent to their feelings in words which, should we publish them, would bar this paper from the mails. As a result it wound up in the most disgraceful wrangling which has yet been witnessed on the local ball grounds.

In Justice Court

Business in Justice Nelson's court took a new lease of life Monday, two cases deing disposed of in one afternoon.

The first case to come up was that of G. H. Sandum vs. John J. Johnson, of River Falls. Mr. Johnson had been arrested at the insigation of Mr. Sandum on account of certain threats he was alleged to have made to do Mr. Sandum bodily harm.

County Attorney Germo came up from Red Lake Falls to prosecute, but the case was dismissed on account of the lack of sufficient evidence to convict.

This case had hardly been disposed of when two boys were brought into court to answer to the charge of stealing $5.75 in cash and a revolver valued at $5 from Leo Schultz, a farmer residing in the vicinity of Wylie. The boys gave their names as Frank Daly, of LaCrosse, Wis., and Joe Smith, son of a prosperous and highly respected farmer residing in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls.

According to the testimony Frank Daly had been in the employ of Mr. Schultz since last April and had always a disposition toward "crooked" work of all kinds.

Monday morning young Daly had gone into the house and relieved the bureau drawer of its revolver and the pocket book of the $5.75 which it contained. Then he, in company with Smith, walked up the track as far as this village with the intention of catching the freight from here in Thief River Falls and going out on the Soo from there.

In the meantime Mr. Schultz's suspicions were aroused as young Daly did not attend to his work as usual and he immediately looked for his money and revolver. Finding them missing he lost no time in hitching up and driving to this village and enlisting the services of Pete Simonson, the marshal. The boys were found at the G. N. depot and brought into court at once as County Attorney Germo was already on the grounds.

Frank Daly was found guilty and K. R. Killand, acting as Sheriff Nelson's deputy, took him before Judge Watts at Red Lake Falls Tuesday, where he was sentenced to a term in the reform school at St. Cloud.

Smith was permitted to go home as, according to the testimony, he was totally innocent of the theft. One half the booty was, however, found on each boy when searched in court.

Frank Mahara's Minstrels

The minstrel show last night was a successful performance and was greeted by a large house. Good singing of solo, quartet and chorus characterizes the program. John Hill rendered an old favorite "Asleep in the Deep," to the delight of everyone. Mr. Hill has a splendid, deep and resonant bass voice. Not less popular with the crowd was Edward Frye, in the Zulu travesty, "A Dream of Dahomey."

Leroy Bland deserves special mention in his Indian characterization of Big Chief and Nola exhibiting the truly romantic and passionate of the noble Redman.

John Pamplin is a very prince of jugglers and introduced several new features that amazed the audience. All his acting is marked by alertness, strength and masterful precision. Either Mr Pamplin's or Mr. Bland's performance is alone worth the admission price. Among other features the unicyclist, Count deRobero, has a place, as also James Harris, with his hoop rolling.

The show is really good and deserves the patronage of the theatre going public.—Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta, July 21, 1906.

WYLIE NEWS

Polk Centre invested in three wheel scrapers and six "slips".

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Wilson, of St. Hilaire, were down here last week on a short visit.

The "Wylie Whay-eaters" went up to St. Hilaire and skinned the bunch by five scores. Nuff said.

Theodore Fournier, the Wylie cheese maker, received a card this week from State Commissioner E. K. Slater, to the effect that sample of cheese sent in, was awarded ninety four per cent. This is way above the average, so you can see Wylie cheese is in the same percentage column as usual—and that's a top-notcher.

Chas. Gustafson, of St. Hilaire, was noticed among the party that had eleven teams to haul away the poles of the abandoned telegraph line between the St. Hilaire "Y" and Shirley Tuesday. The small boys thought it must be the first section of Ringling Bros. circus. The poles will be used again on the Farmer's telephone line.

P. E. Smidesang & Sons, general merchants, gave their patrons thirty days notice to the effect that no more snuff would be handled—the time is up—to the "snuce" users sorrow; but this is a move heading off some would-be law maker making a mark for himself, this early in the twentieth century. Other towns please take notice.

In Montana

Saco, Montana, June 14, '08.

Mr. H. E. Ives,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Dear Sir:—So many have asked me to write to them from this part of the country that it would take a great deal of time to do so; and I am very busy building my house at this time. I will, therefore, write a letter for publication, if it be in your opinion worthy of publication. It is easier to send "comic postals" than to write letters; but here goes for a letter for once.

It was nearly noon before we came to Saco last Wednesday.

We were delayed in Williston, N. D., for 7 hours. The Missouri river makes a big bend and comes close to that place. Say but the Missouri is swift and so muddy. For fun we took a bottle of water and let it settle for about twenty minutes and there was about three-fourths of an inch of mud on the bottom. There is an irrigating "plant" run by the government at that place. The water is pumped out of the river by large electric motors and sent thru pipes and canals across the land. Very interesting to see for the first time

While sitting on the bank of the Big Muddy—as the Missouri is called—I recalled from the narrative of the expedition of Lewis and Clark, that here the great explorers labored against this boiling current over a hundred years ago to explore this western county. The illusion was somewhat diminished when I was informed that the river, at that place, had changed its course about a mile during the last decade.

The river is exceedingly high at present by reason of big floods on the foot-hills of the Rocky Mountains. Trees, timbers, logs and debris of all kinds struggle promiscuously down the current. Transcontinental traffic on the G. N. and N. P. lines was stopped for several days. When we came into Glassgo Tuesday morning we could get no furthur that day. Beside the passengers held there by the Great Northern, there were two Northern Pacific passenger trains, with over seven hundred people on board; and they had been there for two whole days, before we came.

I went out to my homestead 3 miles from Saco, and I find that altho there has been plenty, and too much rain all around, it has missed this immediate vicinity almost altogether and ranchers have for the time being taken their herds to greener pastures. This is, however, an exceptional year ann it does not affect my plans much because I did not expect to cut any hay this summer.

The soil seems dry on top but immediately below the surface it is quite moist in spite of the drought, and I am quite confident that a crop of the right kind of grain could be grown, even at this time, if the plowing had been done last fall, so that a moisture ladder had been established thru the plowing.

To those who asked me to write about this part of the country and its possible agricultural resources. I can say very little about it at this time, but it is my opinion that the land, although semi-arid, will come into good value in a few years.

Respectfully yours
Otto E. Olson

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Will Young, of 6 Columbia Ave., Rockland, Me., says:

"I was troubled for a long time with dreadful backaches and a pain in my side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to try it; after taking three bottles I can truly say that I never felt so well in my life."

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had very severe backaches, and pressing-down pains. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a new woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

Secretary Taft a Perfect Poser.

Secretary Taft, who owes more to the camera than perhaps any other statesman, is as pleased with good pictures of himself as is any other of the great men I have snapped. I suppose I have upward of 1,000 plates of him. He has mastered the secret of the perfect pose. There is no worry in it for him, no dread that he will not look fit. He is always ready, always natural, and always happy, and, thanks to these three conditions, whatever he may have had of vanity has long since disappeared.—Success Magazine.

ONE WOMAN'S ENDURANCE.

Southern Woman Suffers Torture Without Complaint.

Racked and torn with terrific pains, nightly annoyed by kidney irregularities, Mrs. A. S. Payne, of 801 Third ave., So., Columbus, Miss., suffered for years. She says: "The pains in my back, sides and loins were so terrible that I often smothered a scream. Every move meant agony. My rest was broken by a troublesome weakness and the secretions seemed to burn like acid. I was in an awful condition and doctors did not seem to help me. Doan's Kidney Pills benefitted me from the first and soon made me a strong and healthy woman."

He Had Broken Something.

Mrs. Wilson had a young Japanese servant who had a habit of trying to conceal from his mistress any breakage of dishes of which he chanced to be guilty. The good lady explained that it was wicked to deceive, and directed the Japanese to tell her whenever he broke anything. The boy promised to do as she advised. One day, while Mrs. Wilson was entertaining some friends in the parlor, the Japanese suddenly appeared in the doorway. His teeth were bared in a childlike smile and his eyes sparkled with the light of conscious virtue:

"Meesa Wirson, you ter-ra me, when break somesing to ter-ra you. I break my pants!"

It Depended.

"Is your husband ill?" asked the solicitous neighbor.

"It all depends," replied the wife. "If you believe the doctor, he'll be out in a day or two, but if you believe my husband he's so sick he's liable to die any minute."

INVALID'S SAD PLIGHT.

After Inflammatory Rheumatism, Hair Came Out, Skin Peeled, and Bed Sores Developed—Only Cuticura Proved Successful.

"About four years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. My skin peeled, and the high fever played havoc with my hair, which came out in bunches. I also had three large bed sores on my back. I did not gain very rapidly, and my appetite was very poor. I tried many 'sure cures' but they were of little help, and until I tried Cuticura Resolvent I had had no real relief. Then my complexion cleared and soon I felt better. The bed sores went very soon after a few applications of Cuticura Ointment, and when I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment for my hair it began to regain its former glossy appearance. Mrs. Lavina J. Henderson, 138 Broad St., Stamford, Conn., March 6 and 12, 1907."

AN ARTIST'S RECOGNITION.

Steichen Has Helped to Give Individual Photographic Print Unique Place.

While waiting for recognition, Steichen had established himself in a little room at 291 Fifth avenue, which is now one of the galleries of the "Photo-Secession," says February Century. The turn of his fortune came with the sale of two or three of his oil paintings, and a little later with an exhibition at the Glaenzer galleries on Fifth avenue, which proved an artistic success, and brought him to the notice of a very discerning class of picture-lovers.

The following year he gave two exhibitions—one of his paintings and another of his prints. Of the former, seventeen out of twenty-two found purchasers, and of the latter some 50 per cent of the total exhibits. The price paid for the individual prints varied from $50 to $150, which, considering the number that were sold, represented the largest amount yet paid for photographic pictures. But people had begun to regard them in the spirit of the connoisseur, estimating them on their own merits, according to their technical qualities and capacity to satisfy the esthetic sense. They had got away from the idea of photographs that are turned out mechanically by the dozen, and had learned to scrutinize the individual print in etching or engraving, and to discover that it possessed certain qualities that gave it uniqueness.

"TWO TOPERS."

A Teacher's Experience.

"My friends call me 'The Postum Preacher,'" writes a Minn. school teacher, "because I preach the gospel of Postum everywhere I go, and have been the means of liberating many 'coffee-pot slaves.'

"I don't care what they call me so long as I can help others to see what they lose by sticking to coffee, and can show them the way to steady nerves, clear brain and general good health by using Postum.

"While a school girl I drank coffee and had fits of trembling and went through a siege of nervous prostration, which took me three years to rally from.

"Mother coaxed me to use Postum, but I thought coffee would give me strength. So things went, and when I married I found my husband and I were both coffee topers, and I can sympathize with a drunkard who tries to leave off his cups.

"At last in sheer desperation I bought a package of Postum, followed directions about boiling it, served it with good cream, and asked my husband how he liked the coffee.

"We each drank three cups apiece, and what a satisfied feeling it left. Our conversion has lasted several years and will continue as long as we live, for it has made us new—nerves are steady, appetites good, sleep sound and refreshing."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

WASHINGTON NOW GREAT CITY.

Continued Progress and Increased Prosperity Assured to Capital.

A police count of the inhabitants of Washington, shows a total of 339,403. The gain in the last year is given as 9,812. Of the whole population 241,920 are whites and 97,483 are colored. There is no other city outside of Africa with so many people of negro blood.

These figures show that the capital of the United States is getting to be a big city, judged by any standard. It takes rank now with historic places like Alexandria, Frankfort-on-Main, Turin, Stockholm, Mexico, Edinburg, Lisbon and many more. Washington has more residents to-day than Cincinnati, Pittsburg, New Orleans, Detroit or Milwaukee could show in 1900. Of course all of these American cities have gained fast in the last eight years, and probably all of them are still ahead of Washington. It is not certain about New Orleans, however.

Many American cities will grow faster than Washington, and many will always be much bigger and more important, industrially and commercially. But the national capital is as sure as any of continued progress and increasing prosperity. Panics and periods of business depression touch the seat of government as lightly as any other center of population in the country. The nation's work goes on, unchecked. The treasury is a sure source of wages and salaries. More and more, Washington is destined to be a home of retired wealth and settled incomes. It is a rich city now, and it will be much richer before many years come and go.

The capital is already one of the most beautiful and attractive cities in the world. It is certain to be still more interesting, still more noteworthy in architecture and public monuments, parks and pleasure grounds. It is a city of great promise. Its future is as well settled in esthetic charm as it is in material prosperity. More and more, Washington is living up to its name and proving worthy of its position as the seat of government off the richest of all nations, the capital of the world's foremost repuglic.

Thought the Clerk Was Insane.

Senator Teller called up a bill in the senate recently, giving its number, and asked that it be passed. "The clerk will read it," said the vice-president, but the clerk had not gone far before Senator Kean of New Jersey, the eagle eye of the senate, was on his feet, apparently to interpose an objection.

The clerk resumed reading: "An act to amend an act entitled an act to amend an act—"

"Mr. President," interrupted Mr. Kean.

"I tell you it's all right," whispered Mr. Gallinger again.

"What's the matter with him?" asked Mr. Gallinger.

"I don't know," said Mr. Kean, "but it's evident that there is no bill with that ridiculous title."

"He was reading correctly," asserted Mr. Gallinger. "Just let him finish."

So the clerk began all over again: "A bill to amend an act entitled an act to amend an act amending the act entitled an act to authorize the receipt of United States gold coin in exchange for gold bars."

"Good Lord, is that really the title of that bill?" exclaimed Mr. Kean. "I honestly thought the clerk had gone suddenly insane."

The bill was passed.

Wanted to Be Mentioned.

William Bill Sulzer of New York is a man with the right idea. It is also a big idea, an idea which has made men famous before Mr. Sulzer was born and will prove equally efficacious after he is dead. A couple of weeks ago Mr. Sulzer occupied the middle ring of the big tent for some days with his personally conducted specialty, the "only genuine living one-man filibuster." And William Bill being an exceptionally prominent mark for newspaper quirks, I gave him, in mentioning his filibustering activities, all the traffic would bear. And next day I met him on the floor.

"My boy," he said, as he clutched my right hand and placed his left lunch-hook on my shoulder, "I'm obliged to you. Thought I was going to get mad, didn't you? Forget it. If you'd knocked me any harder you'd made me feel so good I couldn't have stood it. Knock me some more. Go as far as you like. Say anything you please, but"—and here Mr. Sulzer became impressive and confidential—"but don't leave my name out of the paper."

Present Disturbed the Past.

Pierre Loti, who has ransacked most parts of the globe in search of impressions, and whose sketches of eastern life are among the most delightful things in modern literature, has lately visited Egypt and found disillusionment in the land of the Pharaohs. He tried hard to project himself into the tranquil immemorial past, but the noises of the present kept breaking in upon his meditation.

Italy's Great Water Power.

It is estimated that Italian rivers would yield between four and five million horse-power, of which scarcely 20 per cent. is at present turned to account. The city of Rome has obtained a concession which will mean an addition of 25,000 horse-power, and Naples also adds 16,000 horse-power to her supply.

To Debate Woman Suffrage.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell is to take the field in behalf of the New York and Massachusetts Association Opposed to the Extension of Suffrage to Women. She will make her first appearance on the last day of the present month in a New York club and will speak against Mrs. Margaret Chanler Aldrich, who is as much in favor of suffrage, for woman as Miss Tarbell is opposed to it.

Too Much for "Uncle Joe."

By the side of a certain Illinois suburban railway stands a fertilizer factory which gives out a particularly offensive smell. A lady who frequently has occasion to travel on this line always carries with her a bottle of lavender-smelling salts. One morning Speaker Cannon took the seat beside her. As the train neared the factory, the lady opened her bottle of salts. Soon the car was filled with the horrible odor of the fertilizer. The speaker stood it as long as he could, then addressing himself to the lady, whom he saw holding the bottle to her nose, he said: "Madam, would you mind putting the cork in that bottle?"

"They did not have it at all."

"And why not?"

"Mother," was the answer, "the cat was too dead."

TAFT AND SHERMAN ARE CHOSEN BY REPUBLICANS

Standard Bearers Selected by Republican National Convention to Lead Party in Coming Conflict—Sessions Marked by Tumultuous Outbursts.

For President,
WILLIAM H. TAFT OF OHIO.
For Vice President,
JAMES S. SHERMAN OF NEW YORK.

These are the men selected by the Republican national convention as the standard bearers for the Republican party in the national campaign now at hand.

The convention just closed was in many respects one of the most remarkable in the history of American politics. The noisy demonstrations in honor of various favorites among the party leaders have never been equaled in any Republican convention.

The Republican national convention was called to order at 12 o'clock Tuesday by Chairman New of the national committee. Temporary Chairman Senator Burrows of Michigan was introduced and made his keynote speech. Committees on credentials, resolutions and rules of order were appointed and the convention adjourned until 12 o'clock Wednesday.

Permanent organization was effected immediately after the convention was called to order Wednesday, with Senator Lodge as permanent chairman. The session was made remarkable for one of the most wonderful demonstrations ever seen in a national convention. Senator Lodge, in his speech, referred to President Roosevelt as "the best abused and most popular man in the United States to-day." The mention of the president's name started a whirlwind of enthusiasm which raged for forty-five minutes. Several times Senator Lodge attempted to quiet the tumult, but at last gave it up and the frenzied enthusiasts were allowed to wear themselves out. At the end of three-quarters of an hour Senator Lodge was able to resume and conclude his address. The report of the committee on credentials was then adopted, and after a brief debate the Burke resolution to cut down the representation in convention was lost. The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

TAFT NAMED FOR PRESIDENT.

Such is the record of the culminating day of the Republican national convention of 1908, effected amid scenes of tumultuous enthusiasm and after a nerve-racking, continuous session lasting nearly eight hours. With the candidate for president named and the platform enunciated, there remains only the nomination of the vice president to complete this momentous work. Last night the whole city was given over to wild exultation in honor of the new candidate whose name goes echoing through the country.

Favorite Sons Named.

The picture within the walls of the vast amphitheater as the presidential candidate was named yesterday was one truly grandiose in its magnitude. In front and to the right and left, below and above the billowing sea of humanity, restless after hours of waiting and stirred from one emotion to another, was in a fever of expectancy for the culminating vote. The favorite sons of other states had been named, save Knox and La Follette, and now on the roll call came Ohio. As the Buckeye state was reached the tall, gaunt form of Theodore E. Burton, with studentlike face and severe black, clerical garb, advanced to the platform to nominate Ohio's candidate. He spoke fervently, with the singing voice of an evangelist, which went ringing through the great building.

Taft Legions Break Loose.

The close of his speech was the signal for loosening the long pent-up feeling of the Taft legions. Instantly the Ohio delegates were on their feet, other Taft states following, while the convention hosts, in gallery and on floor, broke into mad demonstrations:

All semblance of order had been abandoned and the delegates' arena was a maelstrom of gesticulating men.

Tired Voices Die Down.

The band was inaudible, a mere whisper above the deafening volume of sound. For ten, fifteen, then twenty minutes, this uproar continued.

It was a repetition of the scene of Wednesday when the name of Roosevelt threw the convention into a frenzy; repeated in intensity and almost in duration. But there is a limit to the physical resources of throat and lungs; relays had not been established, and at last the tired voices died down to a hoarse shout and at last subsided.

Do It Again for La Follette.

It was late in the afternoon before the convention, now literally sweltering with the intense heat, weary after nearly seven hours of continuous session, reached the end of the flood of eloquence, and the decks were at last cleared for the culminating act. But no, just as the last swell of oratory, the seconding speech for La Follette, had died away, like a cyclone from a clear sky burst a La Follette demonstration which swept the convention from its very bearings. It was the same deafening wave of sound that had greeted Roosevelt Wednesday and Taft a little while before, intense and maddening and with the vital ring of genuine enthusiasm. It seemed as though Wisconsin had suddenly peopled every foot of the galleries. The delegates sat calm and waiting except the frantic Wisconsins, but the convention for the time being was in the possession of the galleries.

Another One for Roosevelt.

Now a singular transformation occurred—gradually the whirlwind veered from La Follette to Roosevelt. A banner bearing the Roosevelt portrait and waved from the gallery was the signal for the change, but in the confused babel of voices there was no distinguishing where the La Follette cheers ended and those for Roosevelt began.

Amid this pandemonium, and with the galleries in full control, Chairman Lodge decided upon heroic action in order again to make the convention master of its affairs. He ordered the roll call of state to begin for the vote on president.

702 Votes for Taft.

A hush of expectancy hung over the assembly as the call proceeded. Hasty summaries showed that Taft was far in advance. When New York was reached the Taft column totaled 427. Ohio carried the Taft total to 511, or twenty more than enough to nominate. Still the call went on until the final result was announced by Chairman Lodge:

"For Theodore Roosevelt, 3 votes; for Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio, 16 votes; for Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, 40 votes; for Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois, 61 votes; for Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, 25 votes; for Charles E. Hughes of New York, 63 votes; for Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, 68 votes, and William H. Taft of Ohio, 702 votes."

A great shout went up as Lodge concluded his announcement, and with one accord the cohorts of Cannon and Knox and Hughes and the other heroes joined in a common tribute fo for the candidate of the party.

Make It Unanimous.

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, for Gov. Hughes, leaping upon a chair, moved to make the nomination of Taft unanimous; Senator Penrose, for Knox, and Boutell, for Cannon, and Henry of Georgia for Foraker, and Cochems of Wisconsin, for La Follette, seconded the movement for a unanimous vote for the candidate. The vote was given with ringing cheers.

Early in the day the battle over the platform had occupied the close attention of delegates and spectators.

The platform as framed by the committee on resolutions was read by its chairman, Senator Hopkins of Illinois, while the minority report, reflecting the views of the supporters of Senator La Follette, was presented by Congressman Cooper of Wisconsin. The platform was adopted by an overwhelming vote, after many separate planks in the Wisconsin plan had been buried under adverse votes.

Revision of the tariff by special session of congress immediately following inauguration of next president.

Development of permanent currency system to meet needs of nation.

Establishment of postal savings is favored.

Federal supervision over stock and bond issues of railroads and provision that railways make inoffensive traffic agreements.

Rules of procedure in federal courts with respect to injunctions should be more accurately defined, and no injunction, or temporary restraining order, should be issued without notice, except where irreparable injury would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing should be granted.

Free rural mail delivery and good roads favored.

Vigorous protection of American citizens abroad is commended.

Extension of foreign commerce.

Enforcement and extension of civil service law.

Merchant marine should be revived and prestige of nation upon the seas restored.

Attitude of the administration in regard to Philippines, Porto Rico, Cuba and Panama canal is upheld.

SHERMAN FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

The convention concluded its work Friday with the nomination of James S. Sherman of New York for vice president, amid a final roar of tumultuous demonstration.

From the outset it was distinctly a Sherman crowd. Among the early arrivals on the floor was Speaker Cannon, only the day before a candidate for president, but yesterday here as a pillar of strength in the Sherman movement. The widespread affection for the old warhorse of the party was shown by the crowds of delegates surging about him to grasp his hand and bid him welcome.

The preliminaries were brief, and at 10:30 the nominating speeches for vice president began with a limit of ten minutes to each speaker. On the call of states Delaware yielded to New York and Former Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff of New York mounted the platform for a glowing speech placing in nomination Sherman as New York's choice for the vice presidency. Now came a surprise, as the venerable Cannon, with his Lincolnlike visage and shaggy beard, emerged from the Illinois delegation and stepping to the platform was yielded unanimous consent to second the nomination of Sherman.

From the outbursts of enthusiasm which greeted every mention of Sherman's name it was plain that the mind of the convention had been made up and that the decision was only to be recorded. But for a moment there was a halt in the Sherman movement, as Senator Lodge, leaving the presiding officer's chair, advanced to nominate Gov. Guild of Massachusetts for the vice presidency. The senator's voice was strained with the exertions of recent days, but he spoke eloquently and forcibly for the Massachusetts candidate. Michigan, through Charles T. Osborne, added her voice for Guild, and New Jersey brought forward her favorite son in a speech by Thomas N. McCarter nominating Former Governor Murphy of New Jersey for the second place on the ticket.

Pandemonium Breaks Loose.

Now began the vote, taken amid confusion first, which increased as the figures climbed upward to the nominating point. The result was never in doubt, as the totals of states were heaped one upon another. There were scattering votes, but the great body of delegates swelled the total for Sherman until it touched 816. With keen appreciation of the effect of climax, Chairman Lodge announced the result, reserving Sherman's total until the last:

Again the floodgates of wild enthusiasm were let loose as floor and gallery joined in the pandemonium of demonstration for the nominee.

Convention Adjourns.

The nominations completed, final details were quickly perfected—committees from the various states to wait upon the candidates for president and vice president and formally notify them of the action of the convention in nominating them; prospective meetings of the national committee to perfect plans for the coming campaign, and thanks and congratulations to the Chicagoans who have given a convention of such perfect equipment. And then, just before noon, amid cheers still echoing and the inspiring strains of the national anthem, the national convention finally adjourned and the multitudes dispersed.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO CLEVELAND

Former President Unexpectedly Passes Away at His Home in Princeton.

NOTABLE CAREER IS ENDED

President Roosevelt Orders National Honors in His Memory—Sorrow Is Universal.

Princeton, N. J., June 25.—Grover Cleveland, twice president of the United States, died at 8:40 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, "West Land," in this quiet college town, where he had lived since his retirement as the nation's chief executive, almost twelve years ago.

When death came, which was sudden, there were in the death chamber Mrs. Cleveland, Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of New York, Mr. Cleveland's family physician and personal friend; Dr. George R. Lockwood of New York and Dr. John M. Carnochan of Princeton.

An official statement, given out and signed by the three physicians, gave heart trouble, superinduced by stomach and kidney ailments of long standing, as the cause of death.

Death Is Unexpected.

While Mr. Cleveland had been in poor health for the last two years and had lost a hundred pounds in weight, his death came unexpectedly. Some three weeks ago he was brought home from Lakewood, where his condition for a time was such that the hotel at which he was staying was kept open after its regular season because he was too ill to be moved. But when Mr. Cleveland was brought back to Princeton he showed signs of improvement and actually gained five pounds in weight.

Although confined to his room continuously after his return to Princeton, it was not until Tuesday that Mr. Cleveland's condition aroused uneasiness on the part of Mrs. Cleveland. Undoubterly affected by the heat, Mr. Cleveland showed signs of failure and Mrs. Cleveland telegraphed Dr. Bryant, and Dr. Carnochan, who had been Mr. Cleveland's local physician since the former president came to Princeton, was also called in.

The End Is Peaceful.

During the evening Mr. Cleveland seemed to rally, and Mrs. Cleveland felt assured it was merely another of the many attacks Mr. Cleveland had suffered, and she informed those who inquired that Mr. Cleveland's condition was not serious.

Mr. Cleveland became worse during the night, and Mrs. Cleveland was called to the bedside of her husband. The distinguished patient sank into unconsciousness, from which he recovered at times only to suffer a relapse. This continued throughout the night and early morning. The last time he became unconscious was about two hours before he died. Death was peaceful. Just before he died Mr. Cleveland sought to say something, but his words were inaudible.

The news of Mr. Cleveland's death came as a sudden shock to the people of Princeton, as it did to the people of the rest of the world.

Roosevelt Sends Coldolence.

Many intimate friends of the family and many others not so close called at the Cleveland home. Few were able to see Mrs. Cleveland, and all of them left cards. The visitors, newspaper men, photographers and others became so numerous that the police authorities placed a policeman on guard at the Cleveland home, and no one but intimate friends and those in charge of the funeral arrangements were allowed to approach the house.

It was not until late in the day that messages of condolence began to come in from all parts of the world to Mrs. Cleveland. One of the first was from Mr. Roosevelt, who will attend the funeral, which will be held on Friday afternoon, and which in deference to Mrs. Cleveland's wishes will be as private as possible.

To Rest in Princeton.

Mr. Cleveland's body will be buried in Princeton cemetery, in the family plot where lies the remains of Ruth, the eldest of the Cleveland children, whose death was a sad blow to her father.

So suddenly did Mr. Cleveland's death occur that not one of his four children were at home. The children are at the Cleveland summer home at Tamworth, New Hampshire, under the care of Mrs. Perrine, Mrs. Cleveland's mother. Word was sent to them of their father's death, and they will start at once for Princeton. The children are: Esther, aged fourteen; Marion, aged twelve; Richard, aged ten, and Francis Grover, aged five.

Ever since Mr. Cleveland's arrival in Princeton, eleven years ago, he has been a conspicuous figure in Princeton. Although his only official connection with Princeton university was his lectureship, known as the Stafford-Little lectureship on public affairs, and his membership in the board of trustees, he was regarded as a strong friend of the institution.

Telegrams Pour In.

Grover Cleveland was well liked among students and faculty. His last public appearance in the university was while delivering a public lecture about two years ago. Princeton university is closed now. Except for a half dozen students who are doing special work, there are none but the professors here who are connected with the university.

The telegrams of condolence came in by the hundreds from all parts of the United States and other countries during the day, and they continued to pour into the telegraph office here far into the night. Besides President Roosevelt's telegram, messages of condolence came from government officials, governors, legislators, prominent educators and citizens of various walks of life.

Tribute From Taft.

New Haven, June 25.—News of the death of ex-President Grover Cleveland yesterday threw into a shadow of genuine sorrow the commencement festivities at Yale.

Secretary Taft was informed of the demise of Mr. Cleveland as the procession of the officials of the university, the faculty and the graduates were forming to march to Woolsey hall, in which the commencement exercises were held. He expressed his deep regret at Mr. Cleveland's death and said:

"President Cleveland was one of the very great men of the country. His death is a distinct loss to the American people."

ROOSEVELT DEEPLY SHOCKED.

President Orders National Honors to Be Paid Deceased Statesman.

Oyster Bay, June 25.—News of the death of ex-President Grover Cleveland was communicated to President Roosevelt at his summer home here yesterday and caused radical changes in the president's plans for the immediate future. Mr. Roosevelt was visibly deeply shocked at the tidings and immediately telegraphed to Mrs. Cleveland at Princeton, tendering his sympathy and that of Mrs. Roosevelt and asking to be notified at Mrs. Cleveland's earliest convenience of the time of the late president's funeral. Afterward announcement was made that the president and Mrs. Roosevelt would attend the funeral services at Princeton Friday. Mr. Roosevelt made it known immediately on receipt of the news of Mr. Cleveland's death that he would abandon his proposed trip to New London, Conn., to witness the Harvard-Yale boat races, on which he was to have started to-day. He also at once prepared and subsequently caused to be issued a proclamation to the people of the country, eulogizing the dead statesmen, ordering all government flags half-masted for thirty days and directing that military and naval honors be accorded the late president on the day of the funeral.

Washington Hears News.

Washington, June 25.—Appropriate honors will be paid to the memory of ex-President Cleveland by all branches of the government. Immediately upon the receipt yesterday of the president's proclamation formally announcing Mr. Cleveland's death steps were taken to carry out the provisions of the executive proclamation.

In Washington, where many of those who are now leading officials of the government came into office during his administration and where thousands of residents met him at social functions at the White House, the news of President Cleveland's death caused a profound sensation. Many forceful tributes were paid to the memory of the late president by those who had been more or less associated with him and by those who had succeeded to the cabinet councils of his regime.

THREE SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

Federal Officers Believe Wolsey (S. D.) Trio Are Counterfeiters.

Huron, S. D., June 25. — Sheriff Young of this city arrested three men in Wolsey believed to be counterfeiters. They were turned over to a deputy United States marshal, who took them to Pierre for a preliminary examination. The men gave their names as Al Schredman, Ben Byrnes and W. S. Cavanaugh. They were operating a wheel of fortune scheme and other gambling devices. Their arrest was the result of an attempt to pass a counterfeit dollar on a merchant.

KALISPELL COMPLAINS.

State Land Board Charged With Being Partial to Big Companies.

Helena, Mont., June 25.—Complaint was made yesterday by residents of Kalispell that the state land board is favoring the big companies in the sale of timber lands in the northwestern portion of Montana. An investigation will be held July 22 at Kalispell.

TWO INJURED IN WRECK.

Engineer and Express Messenger Severely Hurt in Wreck.

Aberdeen, S. D., June 25. — In a wreck on the St. Paul west-bound passenger train near Bristol, the engineer was badly hurt. His eye was gouged out, his arms broken and the express messenger was badly hurt in the arms and body.

Pardons Ten Convicts.

Student Is Drowned.

Lincoln, Neb., June 25.—Fred H. Matteson, a student of the Ames (Iowa) agricultural college, was drowned in Salt creek, near Lincoln, last evening.

CASTRO IS GIVEN A BIG SURPRISE

Venezuelan President Startled by Drastic Action of the United States.

MOVE WAS NOT SUDDEN ONE

Severance of Relations Was Result of Careful Deliberation in Washington.

Washington, June 25.—Senor Veloz Goiticoa, the Venezuelan charge d'affaires in Washington, was a caller at the state department yesterday. He talked with Secretary Adee, but the latter declined to indicate what the nature of the conference was. Mr. Veloz has not the remotest idea of demanding his passports as the outcome of the withdrawal of Jacob Sleeper, the American secretary and charge at Caracas. Mr. Sleeper is coming home by direction of the state department, and it is admitted in official circles that the act means a practical cessation of diplomatic relations with Venezuela.

Veloz Is Surprised.

Mr. Veloz had been in New York for several days and only returned to Washington yesterday morning, and knew nothing of what had occurred in Venezuela in connection with the closing of the American legation there until he read the morning papers. Nothing had prepared the charge for this action on the part of the state department, and he was somewhat taken back at this last news, but after all he was not much disconcerted, for Venezuela has had many similar ruptures in the past and is even now not on speaking terms with France. Certainly, in the absence of any direct instructions from his government, the charge will make no demand for passports, and it is quite evident that he scarcely expects such instructions.

Break Long Premeditated.

It develops that the program adopted by the state department is after all not one of the moment, but is the result of careful deliberation on the part of Secretary Root and Assistant Secretary Bacon, dating back to last winter, when, at the request of Senator Lodge, the state department submitted to the senate all of the great mass of correspondence that has been exchanged between Washington and Caracas within the last five years in regard to American claims. That the withdrawal of the American legation from Venezuela was a complete surprise to President Castro and that he was somewhat startled by the drastic action of the American government there is no doubt.

Castro Is the Big Noise.

What the next step in this international complication will be is a problem that no one connected with administration here appears able to answer. It is said that the present is a time to wait developments, especially to see whether President Castro, always resourceful, is willing to permit the United States to take the next step without any intervening movement on his part to mend the situation which he has brought about. Castro alone is the dominant figure in Venezuelan affairs, and it is believed here that he will continue to play that role, as he has done for nine years, until conditions be developed to break his one-man power.

NEW RICHMOND IS RAIDED.

Circus Crowd Brings Horde of Crooks Into City.

New Richmond, Wis., June 25.—The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which showed here yesterday, brought to the town the biggest crowd seen here in years. Incidentally there was the biggest number of complaints the police ever had to deal with. In addition to the time-honored shell games and the good old gambling devices, there were more than the usual run of cases of short-changing and "flimflamming." Many residences were broken into and ransacked from cellar to garret and valuables taken. In most cases the plunder consisted of money, watches and jewelry. The raid was general and all sections of the city were covered.

THINK ROBBERS ARE YOUTHS.

Police Blame Dime Novels for Series of Burglaries.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 25. — The business men and other residents of Eureka, McPherson county, are greatly annoyed by the depredations of what appears to be a regularly organized band of burglars. The band appears to be organized on dime novel lines and for this reason it is believed that youths of the vicinity are striving to emulate the deeds of the heroes of penny dreadfuls.

WHITNEY DOOMED TO CELL.

Stephen Bank Robber Suspects Are Indicted at Warren.

Warren, Minn., June 25. — District court opened here with Judge A. Grindeland presiding. E. F. Whitney, a druggist of this city, arrested on a charge of criminal assault, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven years at Stillwater.

The Stephen bank robber suspects were indicted and trial set for July 7. The state seems confident of conviction.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

Every Precinct in the County Was Represented

When the republican county convention for Red Lake county was called to order at the court house at Red Lake Falls last Thurday at 1 p. m., every precinct in the county except two, Numedal and Mayfield, was represented by delegates who held credentials and later the convention seated voters present from the two towns making representation from every voting precinct in the county. The test vote came early when D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls and Dr. N. M. Watson of Red Lake Falls were nominated for temporary chairman. A roll call, Numedal and Mayfield not voting, gave O Neill 44½ and Watson 30½. Dr. Watson moved to make it unanimus which was carried unanimously. C. L Hansen and C. H. Martz were nominated for secretary and Hansen won by the same margin as O'Neill.

The chair appointed Messrs. Eastman, Patterson and Enderle as a committee on credential.

On resolutions Hunt, Sivertson and Martz.

On permanent organization Halvorson, Germo and Gustefson.

The credential committee advised seating voters present from Numedal and Mayfield which was adopted by the convention.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was that the temporary organization be made permanent was adopted.

We, the Republican party of Red Lake County, in convention assembled, laud with special approval the splendid work of the truly representative convention of our party in Chicago, for its forceful expression of progressive republican principles, and for its work in presenting to the country as the standard bearer of the party in the coming presidential campain that experienced jurist, statesman and administrator, who has been tested in each capacity and made good in each, that best example of sturdy American manhood, William Howard Taft, and we congratulate the party in their standard bearers, Taft and Sherman, who will lead the party to a memorable and enthusiastic victory, pledged as they are to carry to fruition the policies of our peerless president, Theodore Roosevelt, whose administration marks an epoch in American history.

The state campaign, which we are approaching, demands that the party exercise its best wisdom in the nomination of a man for the exalted office of Governor whose character, courage and ability shall command the confidence of the entire people to the end that we may have a republican Governor to co-operate with a republican legislature in promoting needed legislation, and who will discharge the important duties of that office in no passive or perfunctory manner, but one who will energetically promote reforms where reforms are necessary and enforce the laws within our state as President Roosevelt has enforced them in the nation. With such a candidate an overwhelming victory awaits us at the polls in next Novembur.

What is needed in the governor as a candidate is equally essential in the make-up of all the candidates from the highest to the lowest, and with a ticket so constructed, the people of our state, normally republican, will see to it that we return to our normal conditison and elect the ticket from top to bottom.

Be It Furthur Resolved, That we recognize in Harry E. Ives, our candidate for the legislature, a man ably qualified for the position, of commanding influence in the party councils, and well fitted to serve all the people faithfully, and we pledge him our earnest and unqualified support.

We furthur commend him to the entire district, since it is generally conceded that Red Lake county is entitled to representation at this time.

The following were selected as delegates to attend the state convention at St. Paul on July 1st:

John Eastman
G. Halvorson
A. H. Fasel
D. P. O'Neill
O. J. Schei
C. L. Hansen
D. Patterson
Oskar Odegaard
N. M. Watson
A. P. Toupin
Thos. Germo
E. S. Wickerman

The delegation were instructed by the convention to vote as a unit.

The following will serve as the new Republican County Central committee for the ensuing two years.

D. P. O'Neill, chairman
C. L. Hanson, secretary
1st district, Richard Larson
2nd district. G. Halvorson
3rd district, J. C. Cummings
4th district, N. M. Watson
5th district, J. Pidjion

NOTES

The reservation sent delegates who were new to Red Lake county affairs.

Dr. N. M. Watson proved a cheerful loser and did much to restore harmony.

D. P. O'Neill, the new chairman, is a hard fighter but is always fair and on the square.

It was the first convention in the history of Red Lake county to have every precinct represented.

Only two newspaper men were delegates, "Sunbeam Hunt" and Eastman of Thief River Falls.

There is little question but what Red Lake County will cast twelve votes for Jacobson at the state convention.

Joe Du Champ who in olden days used to represent Numedal in the Polk county conventions was a delegate from Kratka.

Just as the roads begin to dry then use the split log drag.

The death of Grover Cleveland removes the last of our ex-presidents.

The republican state convention meets at St Paul next Wednesday and it looks like an easy victory for Jacobson for governor.

The creamery statement for May will be published next month. There are now 201 patrons and 9,000 pounds of butter made each week.

We are going to predict that Jacobson will be nominated for governor on either the first or second ballots at the convention next week.

Judge Brown and Mayor Haynes of Minneapolis, T. W. O'Brien and Mayor Lawler of St. Paul, Secretary Day, Congressman Hammond, and P. M. Ringdal of Crookston, are all mentioned for the democratic nomination for governor.

A Queer Goose

Ducks swim the world over, but geese do not. In South America a species is found that cannot excel an ordinary hen in aquatic accomplishments. It has lived so long in a country where water is only found in wells, that it has lost its aquatic tastes and abilities entirely. It has also been demonstrated that the daily use of a good malt tonic such as golden grain belt beer will strengthen the weak build up the run-down and cheer the depressed. Lewis-Montgomery

Miss Ada M. Montgomery and Roy V. Lewis were married at 11 o'clock, Wednesday morning, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Montgomery, Rev. G. B. Wilder, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The marriage was a quiet home affair, for only forty relatives and intimate friends were present in the parlor, where the vows were spoken, the color scheme was pink and white, colors which predominated throughout the house. Miss France d'Argent sang, "O Promise Me." As Mendelsohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. G. A. Lincoln, Misses Ruth Montgomery and Mildred Loveless, stretched white ribbons to the improvised alter. The bride was gowned in white bastite over white silk, trimmed in cluny and valcenes lace, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Florence Lewis, a sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of pink shadow silk over pink silk. Mr. Lewis and his best man, Mr. Gustav Bachman, awaited the bride at the alter. After the service a dainty wedding breakfast was served in the dining room. The bride's going away gown was of light brown trimmed with dark brown silk.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis left on the 2 o'clock train for Minneapolis and Crookston where they will spend a short honeymoon. After August 10th they will be at home at St. Hilaire Minn., where Mr. Lewis is established in the practice of law, and has already acquired a lucrative business. The people have a host of friends here and at Wilmont who join in extending congratulations.—Worthington Globe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have leased the residence on Water St. formerly occupied by Dr. H. E. Nelson and expect to be settled in another week or two.

New 4th of July Law

Crookston Journal:—The dealers in the sinews of war for the 4th of July should be very careful this year not to bump up against the state law in the sale of goods that are prohibited.

The last legislature of Minnesota passed a very stringent law prohibiting the sale of cannon crackers, blank cartridge firearms, blank cartridges, dynamite caps, etc., which have caused so many thousand accidents in the past, many of them resulting in death.

Mayor McPhee requested City Attorney O'Brien to define the law covering the situation and received the following communication:

Hon. J. D. McPhee,
City.

Dear Sir;—In response to your request for information in the premises I would state that Chapter 28, Laws of Minnesota for the year 1907, provides as follows:

"Section 1. Every person who shall manufacture, use, sell or keep for sale within this state any blank cartridge pistols, blank cartridges, caps containing dynamite, and firecrackers exceeding three inches in length, and exceeding one-half of an inch in diameter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Respectfully,
Martin O'Brien, City Attorney.

ROADS ARE BETTER

Red Lake County Roads Show Effect of Split Log Drag.

Supt. of Highways C. H. Martz informs us that the split log drag has been more generally used on the Red Lake County roads this season than ever before and that the roads are beginning to show a decided improvement, although the spring has been a very wet one and conditions not good for road making; the roads in the county are at present far from being in bad condition.

Mr. Martz is very enthusiastic over the merits of the split log drag and sees in their general use a great improvement in the county roads. Nearly every township in the county has been busy at road making, according to Mr. Martz, but he is of the opinion that Rocksbury has shown the best results.

The county board has been busy this season and state roads have had more attention than ever before. The present members of the board together with Mr. Martz, are all enthusiastic about good roads and their work and influence should naturally help the good roads problem in Red Lake county. With our changing conditions good roads are much more of a necessity than before and everyone should give the superintendent of highways and the county board every possible assistance in the good work they have started. Help it along.

Many Going to Circus

The circus seems to be the popular topic of conversation these days and many are making arrangements to visit Crookston when Ringling Bros. exhibit there on Monday afternoon (only), June 29th.

The splendid new parade at 10 o'clock in the morning, the greatly improved menagerie, a brilliant introductory spectacle, the sensational mid-air automobile double somersault and the greatest European company of artists ever seen under one convas are the features of this year's exhibition, which the press and public of cities where the show has been are praising to the skies.

The Ringling Brothers are celebrating this season the twenty-fifth jubilee year of their splendid enterprise by giving the public a circus entertainment that exceeds anything ever done in the past in the way of amusements. They have searched the world for novelty, they have imported at great cost the most wonderful European and Asiatic acts, they have had builded in foreign studios and shops the finest outfit ever used by a circus, and they have so enlarged their already gigantic show that twelve acres of ground are now required for their many tents.

The circus this year numbers 1,280 men, women and children, 650 horses, 30 camels, 40 elephants, 110 cages of animals, 85 double length railroad cars and 300 parade vehicles. The main tent is the largest ever built. The great program is given in three rings, on two stages, in a vast hippodrome track and in the spacious dome. There are 375 performers, 300 of whom are making their first tour of America under the management of the Ringling Brothers.

In addition to the dangerous and thrilling automobile double somersault act, presented by Miss La Belle Roche of France, here are a few other remarkable features never before witnessed in America: The Great Mirza Golem family, from the court of the Shah of Persia; the man from France who walks up and down stairs on his head; Riccobono and his "Good-Night" horse, which wears pants, coat and boots, from Russia; the pig that skips the rope and shoots the chutes; the ape that stands on its head; the twenty-camel team in the parade, and the remarkable zebra tandem riding act.

Mrs. Sallie French, of Paucaunla, Ind. Ter., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had female troubles for seven years—was all run-down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different troubles but did me no good. While in this condition I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now strong and well."

OUR LADY OF CLEVERNESS

By MINNA THOMAS ANTRIM

(Copyright.)

Holding her finger upon the pulse of the world, the Woman of Cleverness governs her life by its heartbeats.

A clever man hides half he does not know. A clever woman hides half she does know, therein doubling her strength.

The women of history have been women of mystery; therefore, a clever woman mystifies.

The life of a clever woman is a perpetual secret. Beyond the vestibule of her mind, none may venture.

Intimacies are tabooed by her. Aloofness, untinged by hauteur, is her metier. She argues, reasonably, that the career of individuals must be jeopardized, or retarded by intimates.

Ever, though covertly, are her eyes regarding the circlings of Opportunity.

Haste has no part in her. She is enviably serene, habitually tactful, gaining thereby, as tribute, all that stupid women lose through tears.

Extraordinarily gifted, sans doute, she is; yet by no self-conducted tom-tom is it heralded.

Her wisdom is finely tempered by wit, and when she is most witty, she is weirdly wise.

She knows—none better—that by ambition fell the angels. Although wingless, she intends to rise by it.

Obstacles are regarded sans tremor, they but add piquancy to her itinerary.

Rarely is she rich. Often her talents must clothe and sustain her. To ambition she offers up hourly sacrifice.

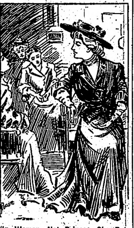
To fast for a month, in order to look like a Parisienne for a night, is dolorous, but falters not our lady.

At 30, she has reached the second threshold of destiny, and ever onward and upward she is looking.

Her social standing vibrates a little. This is fatal, unremedied. She determines to make her standing-place secure.

Shod in resolve, and girded with hope, she starts.

Her beginnings are instructive. Initially, she creates a personality, and never for one moment fails to live up to it. To be denominated "original," she is aware, is to focus attention. She goes constantly masked, incognita toning perfectly with her role. Where she goes, attention follows.



"In Women, Not Princes, She Puts Her Trust."

In women, not princes, she puts her trust; perfectly realizing that always it has been women who made society, princes ofttimes who marred it.

The three deadly vices of woman, gush, gossip and gluttony, she eschews, nor is she enamored of primness, therefore all women do not esteem her.

Prudery and prejudice, twin daughters of malice, make the clever woman, mourn. Hobbies she has, but keeps them perfectly groomed and tightly reined, lest they overrun the great god—opinion.

In man, she prefers the manners of a courtier to the morals of a saint; for courtesy is the scale upon which woman weighs man. Man's morals concern himself, his manners affect woman.

Searchlights are her eyes, whose deep vision fathoms man's soul. From them flees the wicked man, as a hare from the gunner.

Concerning the new woman, she is deeply and darkly silent. Prates she never of equality, nor would she vote if paid personally, preferring woman's privileges to woman's rights. But, be it understood, she does not publish her choice.

A mortal she has, therefore, emotions, even sentiments, but laughs at sentimentality. She thinks love a tricky little fellow, with an insufficient wardrobe, whose antics she is up to, and never permits him to throw dust into her eyes.

Being exquisitely feminine, she prefers being loved well, rather than too wisely, but sacrifices her preference. History tells us that women of her sort have loved like demons, but rarely like fools.

At 30, and thereafter, her heart is submissive to reason, for she has given intellect charge concerning it.

It is not often that she is beautiful. What has beauty to do with cleverness, or cleverness to do with beauty? But she has charm; she fascinates; she attracts; she inspires.

Knowing that men admire a limited perspicacity in women, she often essays the role of pupil. Oracular she never is.

By 35 she is married. Generally her lord antedates her in age by a score of years. Always, he has money. Notwithstanding, he is very respectable, and—she respects him, which is unique.

In her spending, she also demonstrates an originality that amazes the Mammonites. Her home is not a-glitter. It expresses her; it is like no other.

Continually she is utilizing the gifts the gods have bestowed, and, by their aid, is enabled to tie the strengthening strands of merit to the chariot of opportunity, and is carried steadily forward. Obviously, having no intimates, she has no enemies.

She prudently reserves herself. She is not over-quick to respond to overtures.

Her personality each year clothes itself anew in a fresher and more modish mantle, and her progress is marked.

She meets many, but never "knows" any woman until they have dined—antiphonally. She "remembers" no great personages before she has been recognized. "Pushing" has no part in her role.

At 40, she is known by and knows a few "proper" people. She meets grandes dames casually, as peer meets peer. She is to the manner bred if not to the manor born. Her air is perfect; her bearing fine. When dining out, she errs never in being wittier than her learned host. When entertaining guests, she is the synonym of ease.

Her tact at all times is faultless. It wins favor wherever she is found. Society often laughs with her, never does she permit it to smile at her; wherein lies the gospel of attraction.

She shines, but does not dazzle, talks well, but never too long.

At 45, she is persona grata at the court of the smart. She is of the moderns most modern, and yet—distinctive.

Years pass. She still keeps her finger upon the great pulse. Her judgment ripens, her humor increases, her sympathy broadens, for she finds life as lived by the worldlings a tragic comedy. Nevertheless, she has few illusions, and is never without her grano salis, which she uses unnoted.

At 50, she is noted by the great censors. They approve her. She appeals to them by never appealing. Her reserve doubles theirs. Moreover, they tell one another she has never decorated the social edge, nor sat insolently isolated and obviously forlorn, in an opera box, tiaraed and loaded with Hebraic splendor; that she is plainly unrelated to the "Climbers." Whereupon, the inner circle opens wide the doors, that this queen of tact may enter in. Her welcome is sincere. She has "arrived." Her standing-place is quite secure.

Easter in Montenegro.

Easter in Montenegro is accompanied by many interesting festivals. In the best room of every house—with the poorer classes often the only room—a table is set forth covered with a white cloth, and conspicuous on every table, says Mr. R. Wyon in "The Balkans from Within," is a plate of eggs, colored red and blue.

Any one with the remotest claims of acquaintance is made as welcome as the closest relation or dearest friend. It is a season of unbounded hospitality. As I enter the house of my friend Petar I am warmly greeted. The wife kisses my hand and brings me a chair. We sit while she brings me a little of all the good things upon the table. I taste the food and drink to their prosperity. Then I select a colored egg with care, testing the more pointed end on my teeth. Petar laughs delightedly.

"Thou knowest our custom," he says, and likewise chooses an egg.

I hold the egg in my hand, the pointed end upward, while Petar taps it with his egg. Neither cracks, and then I tap Petar's egg. It cracks.

Petar gives me his broken egg, and chooses another with more care. Again we tap, and again his egg is broken. Other men come in and watch our harmless game with interest. My egg vanquishes one egg after another, and Petar retires from the contest.

"Thou hast a good egg," says a newcomer, "but I have a better. This one," he says, drawing a purple egg from his capacious breeches' pocket, "has cracked 11 to-day."

"Mine is better," I answer, gravely, and we tap. A shout greets my victory again.

"Verily, it is a hard shell," says my adversary, handing me his egg with a sigh.

It reminds me of my schoolboy days when we battled with chestnuts on a string. Yet in Montenegro the game is played every Easter in every house by grizzled veterans of a hundred fights, and youths proud of the possession of a rifle which proclaims them men and active members of that soldier race.—Youth's Companion.

Owes Position to Wife.

It is pretty generally admitted that the present prime minister of England owes much of his success to his wife, who as Miss Margot Tennant was one of the most beautiful and talented young women in English society. She is said to have suggested the "Dodo" of E. F. Benson's novel of that name, and her engagement to the quiet home secretary of Mr. Gladstone's administration was the sensation of the year in which it occurred. Mr. Asquith had been a widower for many years and cared very little for social life. He is said to be rather unprepossessing in appearance and has a puritanical aloofness that makes him personally unpopular. Naturally, the "world" feels justified in saying that had it not been for his wife he would not occupy the position of premier.

London Has Many Meetings.

In the next two months no fewer than 200 meetings of religious and charitable organizations are scheduled to be held in London, the earliest being those of the Wesleyan Missionary, the Church Missionary and London Missionary societies, the Church Army and the Sunday school union.

Japan Increases in Area.

As a result of its war with Russia the area of Japan's territory was raised from 180,000 square miles to 283,000 square miles, and her population increased by 10,000,000.

YOU'RE TOO THIN.

It's Stomach Catarrh

Some people are thin and always remain thin, from temperamental reasons. Probably, in such cases nothing can be done to change this personal peculiarity.

But there are a large number of people who get thin, or remain thin, who naturally would be plump and fleshy but for some digestive derangement.

Thin people lack in adipose tissue.

Adipose tissue is chiefly composed of fat.

Fat is derived from the oily constituents of food.

The fat-making foods are called by the physiologist, hydrocarbons. This class of foods are not digested in the stomach at all. They are digested in the duodenum, the division of the alimentary canal just below the stomach.

The digestion of fat is mainly, if not wholly, the work of the pancreatic juice. This juice is of alkaline reaction, and is rendered inert by the addition of acid. A hyperacidity of the digestive fluids of the stomach passing down into the duodenum, destroys the pancreatic fluid for digestive purposes. Therefore, the fats are not digested or emulsified, and the system is deprived of its due proportion of oily constituents. Hence, the patient grows thin.

The beginning of the trouble is a catarrhal condition of the stomach which causes hyperacidity of the gastric juices. This hyperacidity is caused by fermentation of food in the stomach. When the food is taken into the stomach, if the process of digestion does not begin immediately, acid fermentation will take place. This creates a hyperacidity of the stomach juices which in their turn prevent the pancreatic digestion of the oils, and the emaciation results.

A dose of Peruna before each meal hastens the stomach digestion. By hurrying digestion, Peruna prevents fermentation of the contents of the stomach, and the pancreatic juice is thus preserved in its normal state. It then only remains for the patient to eat a sufficient amount of fat-forming foods, and the thinness disappears and plumpness takes its place.

The Latest.

Where did the flamingo? Why, to see the sunfish.

Not Exorbitant.

The summer resident looked sharply at Mr. Jameson's guileless moon face and then at the mild and none-too-uprightly horse he was offering for sale.

"Don't you think $150 is rather a stiff price to ask for a horse like that?" asked the summer resident. "How old is he?"

"He's only just thutty," said Mr. Jameson, calmly.

"Thirty years old, and you expect to get $150 for him?"

"I don't know as I expect to get it," said Mr. Jameson without rancor, "but it seems as if I'd ought to have full as much as that. It don't come to but $5 a year, and he's cost me a good deal more'n that most years."

NIAGARA AND ZAMBESI.

Latter More Stupendous, but Former's Proportions More Striking.

"A question which travelers often ask each other in various parts of the world is: 'What is really the greatest natural wonder on earth?' It is easy to answer now, says the Travel Magazine, since the stupendous falls of the Zambesi river have been discovered.

"David Livingstone called the main fall 'the most wonderful sight I had visited in Africa.' And when one imagines the spectacle of one of the world's mightiest rivers, two miles wide, falling sheer 420 feet it is not hard to agree with one of the greatest travelers and missionaries that ever lived.

"Our own Niagara is only half a mile wide and 158 feet high, so that it figures as a mere cascade in comparison."

This is all very well, but Niagara still leads in the impressiveness of its proportions. The Zambesi falls are two miles wide, four times the width of Niagara. In order to preserve the relative proportions of the latter the African falls should therefore be four times its height, or 632 feet.

Its real height of 420 feet is less than three times that of Niagara. This changes its relative proportions decidedly and not in a way to increase its impressiveness.

Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.

It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements of brain and nerves in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon.

"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished.

"Nerve and brain power, and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I have improved, are now using Grape-Nuts.

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."

State News of the Week Briefly Told

Weslin B. Applin of Glencoe was struck by a freight train about seven miles east of Benson and instantly killed.

Nicholas Siebenaler, a farmer residing about eight miles south of St. Charles, expired suddenly of heart failure.

A freight wreck occurred a short distance above Hastings, fifteen cars loaded with merchandise going into a ditch. The wreck was due to a broken journal.

Burglars broke into the Northern Pacific station at Deer Creek, Otter Tail county. Several express packages were broken open and the cash drawer was rifled. The exact amount taken is not known.

Henry, the young son of Frederick Busso of South Stillwater, was dangerously injured by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge. His right hand was shattered so that three fingers had to be amputated.

Charles A. Lindberg of Little Falls, congressman from the Sixth congressional district, filed with the secretary of state for the Republican nomination. Mr. Lindberg is now serving his first term in congress.

Unable to get work, Minnie Peterson, a domestic, is believed to have thrown herself from one of the bridges which span the Mississippi at Minneapolis. The body was found in the river near the Ramsey county line.

Edward Dundon, an employe of the Northern Pacific on the construction work at Glyndon, fell into the jaws of a cogwheel which furnishes power for the cable of the unloading plow and his left arm was caught at the shoulder, two large pieces of flesh being torn from the bone in his arm.

While Lucian Robbins of Prairie View township was driving into Barnesville with his daughter, and while crossing a coulee the team became frightened by the rattling of a can and ran away, throwing the girl into the coulee, breaking her collar bone and causing several other injuries. Mr. Robbins had his shoulder badly bruised.

While arresting two Indians east of International Falls, G. W. Loman, Koochiching county game warden, was shot in the hand during the mix-up after he had drawn his revolver to enforce his orders for the Indians to go to town with him. Mr. Loman said that the two Indians had venison in their possession and had been offering it for sale in town.

A drive of 3,000,000 feet of logs has arrived at the inlet of Lake Irving, where the Mississippi river flows into the lake near Bemidji, being in charge of L. Amadon, who cut and banked the logs last winter, near the Itasca State Park. This drive of logs was brought from Lake Itasca in exactly thirty days, which is a record-breaking feat in driving logs down the Mississippi river.

The eight-year-old son of B. Sanders of the town of Aurdal was seriously injured by being struck by a baseball bat in the hands of a neighbor. A number of young men were playing ball, and the boy stepped up beside the batter just as he swung the bat. The bat struck him on the forehead above the left eye and stripped off a considerable section of scalp. It is thought he will recover.

The general land office has affirmed the decision of the Crookston United States land office to cancel the entry of Lizzie Allen in a contest suit brought by Thomas O'Connor on land in the vicinity of Beaudette, on the grounds of abandonment for a period of more than one year, that the woman never established a permanent residence and never made any permanent improvements.

The steamer Wilpen of the Shenango Steamship company hit the crib work supporting the north end of the draw of the interstate bridge at Duluth and moved a span three-eighths of an inch. The span was knocked into the channel by the steamer Troy two years ago, and the bridge has been out of commission ever since, but was approaching completion again when the last accident occurred.

Clark Monette, a farmer residing four miles from Chatfield and an expert in bee culture, was cremated in his home early one morning last week. His brother discovered that the house had burned and search of the ashes revealed only a few bones and a watch that was identified as the property of the missing man. No one saw the fire and there is no evidence that would in any way give a clue to the cause.

William Reitmeier, sixty-eight years old, one of the oldest settlers of the Red river valley, died on his farm in the town of Lowell. He emigrated from Westphalia, Germany, when twenty-five years old. Ten children and a widow survive.

After having a few days before consented to the consolidation of the bank in which he was president with another concern so that he might retire after thirty-eight years' active service, Samuel A. Harris unexpectedly died of pneumonia in Minneapolis.

The immense floating dredge recently placed on the Grand Marais about thirty miles northwest of Crookston and digging the deepest cut in the vicinity, has been stuck in a bridge for three days. State workmen left headquarters at Crookston to remove more of the bridge in order to let the dredge through.

Torkel Gunnusson, eighty years old, has died at Mentor. He is one of the oldest settlers of that part of Minnesota. A widow, four sons and a daughter survive.

ECZEMA ALL OVER HIM.

No Night's Rest for a Year and Limit of His Endurance Seemed Near—Owes Recovery to Cuticura.

"My son Clyde was almost completely covered with eczema. Physicians treated him for nearly a year without helping him any. His head, face, and neck were covered with large scabs which he would rub until they fell off. Then blood and matter would run out and that would be worse. Friends coming to see him said that if he got well he would be disfigured for life. When it seemed as if he could possibly stand it no longer, I used some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. That was the first night for nearly a year that he slept. In the morning there was a great change for the better. In about six weeks he was perfectly well. Our leading physician recommends Cuticura for eczema. Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DEATH AND RUIN IN PATH OF TORNADO

SOUTH DAKOTA TOWN IN RUINS

Graceville, Minn., June 30. — Seven dead, eleven badly injured and sixty more or less injured and a property loss of at least $145,000 is the record of a tornado which wrecked the village of Clinton Saturday evening.

The storm covered an area of 300 yards wide and four miles long, and a tour along the path of the storm yesterday showed desolation as complete as it is possible to picture.

People who have experienced other tornadoes say that this left the most complete ruin in its wake of any in their experience. The marvel is that so few were killed and that the list of injured isn't longer.

Havoc Is Complete.

Coming to the village of Clinton the real havoc is seen. All the southwest corner of the town is absolutely cleaned out. Thirty-three houses were completely destroyed and twenty-five practically ruined.

A most serious problem presents itself to the people of Clinton. About 200 have to be cared for. The medical aid is sufficient, as the doctors from Graceville and Ortonville have been in constant attendance for over twenty-four hours. They have every case handled in the best shape. But all the clothing and property of those whose homes are ruined are gone, and the rest of the village is so small that it is not able to give sufficient help. The neighboring towns have responded magnificently, but it is not enough, and something will have to be done to help put those people on their feet.

Pukwana Almost Wiped Out.

Mitchell, S. D., June 30.—The little town of Pukwana, in Brule county, about fifty miles west of Mitchell, was nearly wiped out of existence Saturday night by a tornado, which covered a territory about a quarter of a mile wide and did damage that will take a long time to repair.

The storm struck the place about 11 o'clock, when the town was sound asleep. It came with terrific force, lasting about five minutes, but the damage was awful. The tornado came from the northwest, leveling houses in its pathway.

Not a House Escapes.

Between twelve and fifteen stores and residences were entirely destroyed, and there is not a house in the town that was not wrecked to some extent. People rushed from their homes in a panic, but they had no place to go, and the darkness made the disaster seem more severe than it was.

Two large elevators were blown down across the track, covering a freight car. The depot was practically wrecked, and the main track of the road was closed to traffic for the day.

Crop Is Ruined.

Accompanying the tornado was a hail and rain storm. The hail covered a section of country aobut three miles wide and what the tornado failed to do the hail storm finished. The entire farming country passed over by the hail storm was ruined, hardly a vestige of the once promising crop remaining to tell the story when the light of morning revealed the fearful waste.

No One Hurt.

Telegraph and telephone wires were wrecked in the storm and the town was cut off from outside communication except Sunday passenger train service.

Throughout all the storm there was not a person injured, which is considered miraculous on account of the flying debris through the darkness. The damage to Pukwana is very large, but no estimate could be secured of the loss entailed from the storms.

Small cyclones were reported about ten miles east of here, but the damage was slight.

FAMILY MISSING; SUICIDE.

George Wheeler Drinks Acid on Failure to Find Mother.

Des Moines, June 29.—Disheartened, it is thought, over his failure to locate his mother and brothers in Des Moines, George Wheeler of Kansas City, Kan., committed suicide last night by drinking carbolic acid.

HIT BY DERRICK SCOOP.

Workman at Dayton Hollow Dam Seriously Injured.

Fergus, Falls, Minn., June 30. — N. Anderson, who is employed at the Dayton Hollow dam here, met with a severe accident. A big derrick, which was swinging scoops loaded with cement into place, broke suddenly and the scoop fell on him, partially burying him in cement. He was quickly dug out, and it was found that one arm was broken and his face terribly cut, internal injuries are also feared.

A Mean Man.

"They're teaching Johnny at school," said Mrs. Grouch, "to sew and cook."

"Well, he'll find those accomplishments very useful," declared Mr. Grouch, "when he grows up and marries."

DRANK BUG POISON.

F. J. Glenn of Bowbells, N. D., Makes Fatal Mistake.

Minot, N. D., July 2. — Frank J. Glenn, one of Bowbell's most popular citizens, met with a horrible death by mistaking bedbug poison for alcohol and drinking a large quantity of the deadly stuff.

Mr. Glenn had been using the alcohol to relieve a slight cold, and in some manner got hold of a bottle of the poison which happened to be standing close to the bottle of alcohol. Immediately realizing what he had done Mr. Glenn rushed to a physician, but the latter was unable to save him.

STOPS CAR AGAINST BODY.

Motorman Saves Life of Man Who Naps on Interurban Track.

Clinton, Iowa, July 2.—Lying down to sleep on the Iowa & Interurban railroad tracks near the Wapsipinicon river bridge, John Nicholson had a narrow escape from death. Motorman John Homer, seeing the prostrate form revealed by the headlight brought the car to a stop in time to save the man. Nicholson was just touched by the car wheels, and a scalp wound was inflicted, for which he is receiving treatment in a Clinton hospital.

D., July 2. — The northbound passenger and express train on the Chicago & North-Western railway struck a bunch of cattle near Ordway, resulting in the derailing of the locomotive, express and baggage cars. The train was in charge of Conductor Prothrow, with Michael Murray as engineer and Fred Sirkow as fireman, both of whom were severely injured.

FATE CRUEL TO HOMESTEADERS

Mitchell, S. D., July 1.—A tragedy involving three deaths is reported from the reservation country, twenty-five miles northwest of Chamberlain. A family by the name of Easters moved out there a month ago to settle on a claim near Van Meter. The wife was in the last stages of consumption and she was taken to a hospital at Pierre for treatment, but after remaining there a short time the physicians advised the husband that his wife could not be cured.

Mr. Easters started to drive back home when his wife became suddenly worse. While stopping at a roadhouse his wife passed away.

The daughter of Mr. Easters, and Mrs. Reiter, with whom she was staying, started to drive from Van Meter to the claim upon learning that her mother was being taken home. Reaching Bad river, they attempted to ford the stream, not knowing how deep it was. When half way into the river, which was high, the buggy turned upside down and precipitated the two women into the water, both of whom were drowned, together with the horse. When they did not appear at the ranch a rescuing party started out to hunt for Mrs. Reiter and the girl. Only the latter's body was found.

The Easters were strangers in the country, having moved there recently from Indiana.

TWO DIE IN RIVER.

Fort Madison, Iowa, July 2. — Ezra Parmenter and his four-year-old daughter lost their lives in the Mississippi river yesterday afternoon. The family, consisting of Mr. Parmenter, his wife, daughter and two-year-old son, were in a launch, when the top caught in an overhanging limb of a tree along the island, and the launch was capsized. The wife and son miraculously escaped drowning, reaching shore by a narrow margin.

POISON 150 SHEEP.

Enemies of Wool Growers Place Arsenic Where Animals Feed.

Belle Fourche, S. D, July 2.—Unknown enemies of A. Giles, a large sheep owner of Two Top, thirty-five miles north of here, is causing consternation among the ranchers of that section. A few days ago more than 150 head of Giles' best sheep suddenly died, and upon investigation it was found that they had been given doses of arsenic. One or two neighboring ranchers lost a few head from the same cause and all now are guarding their sheep with shotguns. Stockmen are held responsible for the outrage, and Giles vows vengeance.

Winona, Minn., July 1. — The big dry goods store of H. Choate & Co., was burglarized sometime between Saturday night and Monday morning, and goods valued at $2,000 taken. The stolen goods were mostly silks, but there were some plumes and silk hosiery and silk gloves taken. There is no clue to the burglar. Mr. Choate offers $500 reward.

A team and vehicle also were stolen, but as yet no clue has been found of the robbers.

JACOBSON NAMED FOR GOVERNOR

YOUNG AND SNIDER WITHDRAW

Platform Pledges Party in Minnesota to Continue Work of Railway Legislation.

St. Paul, July 2. — The Republican state convention yesterday nominated Jacob F. Jacobson of Madison for governor and adopted a platform endorsing the work of the Chicago convention and pledging the party in Minnesota to continue the work of railway legislation. The work of the convention was transacted in a continuous session lasting only three hours.

Mr. Jacobson was nominated by acclamation after Attorney General E. T. Young and Samuel P. Snider of Minneapolis, opposing candidates, had withdrawn from the race and seconded the man from Lac qui Parle. Joel P. Heatwole, who also was a candidate for governor, did not withdraw from the race, but his name was not presented to the convention.

Other Nominees.

Lieutenant Governor—A. O. Eberhart, Mankato.

Secretary of State—Julius Schmahl, Redwood Falls.

State Treasurer — C. C. Dinehart, Slayton.

Attorney General—George T. Simpson, Winona.

Railway and Warehouse Commissioners—Ira B. Mills, Moorhead, and Charles E. Elmquist, Rush City.

All these, with the exception of Mr. Simpson and Mr. Elmquist, now hold the offices for which they were nominated yesterday. All nominations except those for railway commissioners were made by acclamation.

Eddy Nominates Jacobson.

Mr. Jacobson's name was presented to the convention by Former Congressman Frank M. Eddy, who aroused laughter when he said: "The only reflection any one has been able to cast on our candidate is that he eats pie with a knife. He is a rough, rugged, natural man. We could not have him different if we would, and we would not if we could."

The demonstration that succeeded the nomination speech of Mr. Eddy had not subsided when Attorney General Young arose to second the nomination, thereby throwing the convention into a fever of enthusiasm. He was followed by Mr. Snider, who also seconded the nomination of Jacobson. The nomination was made by acclamation.

Jacobson Greeted With Cheers.

Loud cheers greeted Mr. Jacobson when he was escorted to the platform by Mr. Young and Mr. Snider.

"I want to tender to you my sincere thanks for this honor," said Mr. Jacobson, "My only regret in this fight is that we have had to oppose some of our best friends. I have tried to conduct such a campaign that if I received the nomination I would receive it from a united party. I have made no pledges; I am absolutely free and untrammeled and I expect to remain so to the end of the campaign."

John H. Steele of Minneapolis was unanimously chosen temporary chairman and he served also as permanent chairman.

After the nomination of the candidates the platform was adopted and the convention adjourned.

The Platform.

The platform, in brief, was as follows:

The record of President Roosevelt was praised, and the nomination of Taft and Sherman was indorsed.

The entire national platform was indorsed.

Republican state officials commended for their efforts to preserve the rights of the state in the regulation of intrastate commerce.

Demand for additional railroad regulation.

Approval of the tax amendment to the constitution proposed by the legislature.

Equal rights plank, with a resolution presented by the American Federation of Labor favoring the enactment of the employers' liability act.

A temperance plank, favoring the enactment of such legislation as would insure the strict enforcement of the local option and high license laws of the statute books.

Commendation of the state immigration bureau.

Favoring good roads.

MORE BLOODSHED IS EXPECTED

Situation at Tabriz, Persia, Is Growing More Serious—Streets Barricaded.

London, July 2. — The situation at Tabriz, Persia, continues to be very serious.

Private dispatches received here say that the people have erected barricades in the streets and the fighting is going on night and day.

Tabriz and the entire province of Azerbaijan are strongholds of the revolutionists, and the arrival there yesterday of troops to strengthen the forces of the shah has increased the danger of the situation.

Increasing cause for alarm is found in the fact that Tabriz is surrounded by Rachin Khan and his horsemen. They are supporters of the shah and utterly without discipline. Should these riders be turned loose on the city the lives of even the foreigners there would be in danger.

No details are given of the recent street fighting, but one of the dispatches concluded with these words: "A good deal more bloodshed is expected before the trouble is settled."

MAE WOOD INDICTED.

Grand Jury Issues Indictment Charging Her With Perjury.

New York, July 2.—Mae C. Wood, the Omaha woman who sued United States Senator Thomas C. Platt for divorce, was indicted by a grand jury yesterday on charges of perjury and forgery.

JOHNSON MEN ARE SURE OF SUCCESS

Minnesota Leaders Arrive in Denver and Are Enthusiastic Over Prospect.

WILL NOT TAKE SECOND PLACE

Mayor Lawler Emphatic in Statement That Johnson Will Be Chosen for President.

Denver, July 2. — (By Associated Press.)—Claiming a victory on the first ballot, but overlooking no possi the chance to make their triumph secure, the followers of Mr. Bryan have been watching for any move on the part of his rivals that would compel him to go single-handed against the field, as Taft was obliged to show his strength in the early stages of the Chicago convention against the combined forces of the "allies." The arrival yesterday, however, of the personal representatives of Judge Gray and Gov. Johnson, the only candidates who are now expected to enter the race against Mr. Bryan, has failed to disclose any common ground of agreement between them.

Will Enter No Coalition.

The Gray managers asserted that they had no intention of entering into a coalition with the followers of Gov. Johnson, and had not received from them, or made to them, any overtures for a combination. The same disclaimer of a desire to pool issues was made by the Johnson people after their arrival last night. They said that they had no other object in view but the nomination of Gov. Johnson, and intended to make their fight for that purpose only.

Both Mr. Lynch for Gov. Johnson and Mr. Marvel for Judge Gray insist that their men are out for the first place and are giving no consideration to the vice presidency.

Johnson Manager Positive.

Mr. Lynch made nothing but positive statements in summing up the situation for Gov. Johnson.

"Gov. Johnson's name will be presented to the convention by Representative Hammond of Minnesota," he began, "and the governor will be nominated for the presidency on the second or third ballot.

"Mr. Bryan has not two-thirds of the delegates. We do not say that Gov. Johnson has all of the four hundred delegates which Bryan has not secured, but he will have at least three hundred of them on the first ballot. Then will come into operation the law of 'instruction.' Bryan's delegates will have fulfilled their instructions as to voting for him on the first ballot. A large percentage of these Bryan-instructed delegates are really for Johnson and they will be at liberty to vote as they desire after fulfilling their instructions to Bryan on the first ballot."

Mr. Lynch said the Johnson strength was mostly from the East and South, with his own state behind him.

Johnson Men on Hand.

The chief arrivals yesterday, in point of political importance, were those of Frederick B. Lynch, Frank A. Day, D. W. Lawler, mayor of St. Paul, and Richard T. O'Connor of the same city, all of them enthusiastic supporters of the Minnesota governor.

Mayor Lawler, who acted as spokesman, said that all talk of Gov. Johnson taking second place on the ticket is utter nonsense. "He will not take it," said Mayor Lawler. "It is out of the question to talk of such a thing. Even if the governor were himself disposed to accept the vice presidential nomination, and I assure you he is not, the people of Minnesota would not permit him to do so. The Democrats of Minnesota and his real friends throughout the country are not willing that Gov. Johnson shall be sidetracked into the vice presidency. He is too big a man for that place and he belongs in the presidential chair if he goes to Washington at all."

Mayor Lawler Emphatic.

The mayor was not prepared to discuss the platform or the vice presidential situation. He was, however, emphatic in his statement that he expects Gov. Johnson to be nominated.

The Johnson headquarters will be formally opened to-day at the Albany hotel, and the campaign managers for the Minnesota governor promise an energetic fight from that time on until a nomination has been made by the convention.

Discussion of the platform continues to be largely confined to the anti-injunction plank.

Gotch Holds Title.

Seattle, Wash., July 2. — Frank Gotch of Humboldt, Iowa, maintained his right to the world's championship last night when he outclassed Dr. B. T. Roller of Seattle, winning two consecutive falls.

How They Found Out.

When the Lawtons had lived in Willow Park about a month they were invited to a succession of little dinners at the houses of their new neighbors. Mr. Lawton was on a dyspeptic's diet, and Mrs. Lawton was endeavoring to reduce her weight. "I suppose we shall have to eat all sorts of things we don't wish or else seem rude," said Mrs. Lawton mournfully as they set out for the first dinner.

To their growing surprise, the bills of fare placed before them at each dinner, although not remarkably varied, were all composed of such dishes as they could both enjoy.

"I don't see how you all hit on just the right things when Mr. Lawton and I really are such difficult guests," said Mrs. Lawton in a burst of confidence one afternoon when the neighbors were taking tea with her.

The ladies looked at each other, and then one of them spoke.

"You know Mary Sloan, who comes to wash for you Tuesday mornings?" she said. "Well, I have her Mondays, and Mrs. Green has her Wednesdays, and she irons for Mrs. Porter Thursdays and scrubs for Miss Homer Fridays, so you see"—

Saturday July 4, 1908

Next Tuesday at Denver Bryan will get his nomination and the campaign will be on.

Since July 1st it has been plain William Howard Taft, who will be "Mr. President" after March 4th.

Hicks, who predicted that May and June would be wet, says that in July there will be a lack of moisture.

There will be a special meeting of the Commercial Club next Wednesday evening at which every member should attend.

Bryan does not like the Republican platform. He will not be particularly pleased with result in November either.

The wet and cold weather has not damaged the crops to any extent except that the tame hay will not be a heavy crop this year.

Congressman Steenerson has filed for re-nomination at the republican primaries. His political troubles will be few this year at least

The Spectator made a poor prediction last week in predicting that Jacobson would be nominated on the first or second ballot. It was by acclamation.

The Republican state ticket nominated last Wednesday is a good one and a sure winner, although a a great many would have preferred to see some other man in the place of Mills.

MY KINGDOM.

DOWN by a shining water well
I found a very little dell,
No higher than my head.
The heather and the gorse about
In summer bloom were coming out,
Some yellow and some red.

I CALLED the little pool a sea;
The little hills were big to me,
For I am very small.
I made a boat, I made a town,
I searched the caverns up and down
And named them one and all.

AND all about was mine, I said,
The little sparrows overhead,
The little minnows too.
This was the world, and I was king.
For me the bees came by to sing;
For me the swallows flew.

I played there were no deeper seas
Nor any wider plains than these,
Nor other kings than me.
At last I heard my mother call
Out from the house at evenfall,
To call me home to tea.

AND I must rise and leave my dell,
And leave my dimpled water well,
And leave my heather blooms.
Alas, and as my home I neared,
How very big my nurse appeared,
How great and cool the rooms.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

WHICH WAS THE WISER?

TWO men toiled side by side from sun to sun,
And both were poor;
Both sat with children, when the day was done,
About their door.

One saw the beautiful in crimson cloud
And shining moon;
The other, with his head in sadness bowed,
Made night of noon.

One loved each tree and flower and singing bird
On mount or plain;
No music in the soul of one was stirred
By leaf or rain.

One saw the good in every fellow man
And hoped the best;
The other marveled at his master's plan
And doubt confessed.

One, having heaven above and heaven below,
Was satisfied;
The other, discontent, lived on in woe
And hopeless died.

—Sarah K. Bolton.

UNEXPRESSED.

HE had words or smiles for them all,
His friends, his foes and—the rest;
But for one that he loved, no word,
No smile, not a cool hand pressed,
Nor a sigh, but an empty jest.

YET there at the hearth of his heart
The fire burned, warm and wide,
While the welcome upon his lips,
For the guest who did not abide,
Stammered and sobbed and died.

THE REGIMENT OF GOD.

EVERY mason in the quarry, every builder on the shore,
Every woodman in the forest, every boatman at the oar,
Hewing wood and drawing water, splitting stones and clearing sod,
All the dusty ranks of labor in the regiment of God,
Honest toil is holy service, faithful work is praise and prayer.

—Unknown.

Assisting the Miracle.

By JOHN HARTY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by P. C. Eastment.

Jessie thrilled at the sight of the tall, grave man slowly descending the steps to the boat landing. He was a governor, the governor of her own state, and in his hands he held the power of life and death—the life or death of the man she had promised to marry and who now lay in prison awaiting execution for the murder of a friend.

He smiled brightly upon her as he came upon the float. "I see that it is not worms alone the early bird acquires," he said as he raised his hat. "Apparently boats as well come under that classification."

"Won't you come with me?" she invited. "I am going out alone and shall be only too glad to have you come along."

The governor's face beamed with delight.

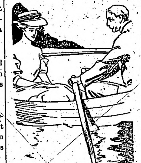
"I was afraid that I was to lose my sport," he said as he stepped into the skiff. "I have only a week, and—well, you are a fisherman yourself, it seems."

His eyes fell upon the tackle neatly arranged in the stern, and Jessie nodded her verification. Fishing had done much to help her over the days that had gone by since sentence was passed on Tim Darlington. She swept her tackle to one side, and the governor took his seat after she had declined to let him row.

"It seems that I ought to know you," he said uncertainly as her strong, even strokes carried them rapidly through the water. "Have I not seen you somewhere?"

"At the executive mansion," she answered, coloring. "I came to plead for Tim Darlington."

"Ah, yes," he answered; "I knew that I had seen you before. I seldom forget a face, though sometimes I cannot exactly place it. It was a very unfortunate case. I truly regretted that I could not bring back the roses to your face by freeing your fiance; the evidence was so strongly against him."



"I SHALL SIGN YOUR FIANCE'S RELEASE AS SOON AS I RETURN."

"Purely circumstantial," contended Jessie bravely. "Tim and Jack Sutton were out in a boat, and Jack went overboard. Tim could not save him because he could not swim. The Suttons declared that it was murder and pressed the case."

"But they proved motive," reminded the governor. "It seems that young Sutton had been the dishonest means of losing some of Darlington's savings in a deal."

"But that was all patched up," cried Jessie. "Jack was to have paid back the money in installments. He confessed to Tim that he had spent it instead of investing it, but they had made friends again."

The governor shook his head. He had stern ideas on the abuse of the pardoning power. To him the case seemed clear.

"I am sorry," he said gently, "but let us not discuss the matter. I am firmly convinced that with a flat bottomed boat the man could not have fallen overboard. That is the weak point in the defense—the statement that the man fell out of the boat while changing places. Why, I have changed places in a boat hundreds of times and never lost my balance!"

"I didn't mean to annoy you," cried Jessie penitently. "You are down here for a rest, not to be bothered with affairs of state."

"You do not annoy me," he assured. "I only wish I could be convinced that the defense was accurate. If you could argue a new point I would gladly listen."

"I can only tell you how it happened," said Jessie dolefully. "There is no new point. But here is the best place to fish," she added as she moved lightly to the bow and threw over the anchor. "I found this place last week. It's the best on the lake."

The governor hurriedly threw out his hook, and presently the two were busily engaged in hauling in fish. The sport was excellent, and the tired lines about the governor's mouth relaxed as he pulled in the finny beauties.

Jessie was having even better luck, and at last the governor straightened up, with a sigh of regret. "I am afraid we shall have to stop," he said, with a kindly smile, "unless we wish to depopulate the lake at one session. I am under deep obligation to you, Miss Grandin. It is the best morning's sport I have had since I came."

"I'm glad there were no more boats," said Jessie simply. "No one else appears to have found this hole."

The governor looked with admiration at the catch and then half rose to his feet.

"You must let me row back," he insisted. "You are tired with your fishing. Sit here in the stern."

Cautiously they exchanged places, and the governor went into the bow to raise the anchor. He had brought the hook inboard and rose to a crouching position to regain the rowing seat when his knees bent under him, and the next moment he was floundering in the water. Like a flash Jessie had caught [illegible] toward him. It was the work of a moment for him to climb aboard over the bow again.

The governor took the oars, and the light boat shot over the water. For a time neither spoke; then the man looked up.

"Do you know," he said, with an odd expression on his face, "I feel as though this is a message. I have always believed it to be impossible for a man to fall overboard if he took care. I shall sign your fiance's release as soon as I return."

In the stern Jessie was sobbing out her thanks, and it was not until they came in sight of the landing that she recovered her self possession. None of the other parties had seen the accident, and the governor, much to his relief, was able to slip into the hotel without attracting attention.

Nothing more was said regarding the matter, but Jessie's heart sang as she saw the governor take his departure and realized that one of his first official acts would be the signing of the pardon for Tim.

But it was two weeks before the machinery of the law at last released its grip on the person of Tim Darlington and he walked out of the death house to freedom. He had arranged to come straight to Jessie, and they were floating over the same fishing pool where the governor had taken his plunge.

"It seems like a miracle that the governor should have gone overboard just after you had brought my case freshly to his mind," said Tim as he drew in a fish.

"It wasn't exactly a miracle," confessed Jessie. "I remembered what he said about that being the only point. When I saw him standing there in the bow I rocked the boat just a tiny bit. It wasn't really wrong, was it?"

"Do you expect me to say 'Yes' to that?" demanded Tim, with a laugh as he bent to kiss the happy face. "I should call it assisting the miracle."

Too Observant.

Much is said in these days about the importance of training the young to habits of observation. It is well to keep one's eyes open, but as there are two sides to every shield, so there are times when it is not a man's first duty to see everything that is going on.

A farmer hired a man, the story goes, and put him into his field to work. After awhile the farmer came along and accosted the new hand:

"Did you see a carriage go down the road awhile ago?"

"Yes, I did. One of the hosses was a gray hoss, and the other was a roan and lame in his hof leg."

"I though I heard some men shooting over there on the edge of the woods."

"Yes; one of them was Colonel Cotton; he was the tall one. The second one was Major Peters, and the third one was Tom McSniffer. Colonel Cotton had one of them newfangled breechloadin' guns what breaks in two."

"Did you see those wild pigeons fly over just now?"

"See 'em! Rather. There was nineteen of them. They lit in that old cornfield down yonder."

"Well, you see too much for a man that is hired by the day. Here's your wages. When I want a man to keep watch of what is going on I'll send for you."—Pearson's Weekly.

HIT HIM IN TWO PLACES.

The Way Cicero Treated His Devoted Admirer Petrarch.

In the early autumn of 1358 Petrarch suffered an accident which may be narrated in his own words. "You shall hear," he writes to a friend, "what a trick Cicero, the man whom I have loved and worshiped from my boyhood, has just played me. I possess a huge volume of his letters, which I wrote out some time ago with my own hand because there was no original manuscript accessible to the copyists. Ill health hindered me, but my great love of Cicero and delight in the letters and eagerness to possess them prevailed against my bodily weakness and the laboriousness of the work. This is the book which you have seen leaning against the doorpost at the entry to my library. One day while going into the room thinking about something else, as I often do, I happened inadvertently to catch the book in the fringe of my gown. In its fall it struck me lightly on the left leg a little above the heel. 'What! My Cicero,' quoth I, bantering him, 'pray what are you hitting me for?' He said nothing, but next day as I came again the same way he hit me again, and again I laughed at him and set him up in his place. Why make a long story? Over and over again I went on suffering the same hurt, and, thinking he might be cross at having to stand on the ground, I put him up a shelf higher, but not till after the repeated blows on the same spot had broken the skin and a far from despicable sore had resulted. I despised it, though, reckoning the cause of my accident of much more weight than the accident itself. At last, when the pain was too much not only for my wit, but for sleep and rest, so that to neglect the thing any longer seemed not courage, but madness, I was forced to call in the doctors, who have now for some days been fussing over this really ridiculous wound, not without great pain and some danger to the wounded limb, as they insist, though I think you know just what credence I place on their prognostications either of good or evil. So this is how my beloved Cicero has treated me. He long ago struck my heart, and now he has struck my leg."—From H. C. Hollway-Calthorp's "Petrarch."

"You bet he is," replied the self acknowledged brains of the firm. "Why, he never makes a move without asking my advice!"—Chicago News.

A [illegible] Question.

Charles—I heard the other day that Gerald is going to get married.

Edward—Well, why shouldn't he? He's comfortably well off.

"That's just the whole point. Why doesn't he remain so?"

EXAMPLE.

WE scatter seeds with careless hand
And dream we ne'er shall see them more.
But for a thousand years
Their fruit appears
In weeds that mar the land
Or healthful store.

THE deeds we do, the words we say,
Into still air they seem to fleet.
We count them ever past,
But they shall last—
In the dread judgment they
And we shall meet.

I CHARGE thee by the years gone by,
For the love's sake of brethren dear,
Keep thou the one true way,
In work and play,
Lest in that world their cry
Of woe thou hear.

—John Keble.

THE STAR IN THE WEST.

I SAW a bright star shining out in the west—
A diadem bound on the brow of the sky—
A beacon it seemed, in the home of the blest
To guide the poor toilers of earth to a rest
In a land where no sorrow can burden the breast
And all that is true cannot die.

And it seemed that the angels were guarding its fires,
Directing its beams to the mortals below,
Whose hope for a haven of refuge inspires
With courage to carry each cross, though it tires
And burdensome grows ere the moment expires
For release from all bondage and woe.

Beholding with rapture that glorious star,
It seemed that I heard the faint rush of a wing
As it passed by my soul and upward afar
It swept to the portals of heaven, ajar,
Swept on to that land where the glorified are Triumphant o'er death and its sting.

And then I remembered that tear bedimmed eyes
Of millions had gazed on those radiant beams
In ages now dead since humanity's ties
Were sundered by man, all regardless of sighs
Of brothers oppressed, and who blindly denies
The love of the one who redeems.

Then sinking adown the far fields of the west
The star that entranced me grew faint to my sight,
Till 'neath the horizon it went to its rest—
But not the sad heart that sank low in my breast—
And left me alone, all unhappy, unblest,
Unshrived in the darkness of night.

—S. S. Lewis.

An Easy Way Out of Trouble.

"We simply can't go on as we have been going," he declared. "We are spending more than I'm making. You surely must be able to understand that such a state of affairs can't last long."

"Then, dear," she soothingly replied, "why don't you make more?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Manager Nelson received a letter from them instead stating that as the circus at Crookston drew so many people to that place, they thought that it would be a losing proposition to play here that evening and consequently failed to appear.

The United Lutheran church of St Hilaire will have a picnic in Swen Benson's grove about one-half mile east from St. Hilaire on Sunday, July 12th. There will be services on the picnic ground in the forenoon by Rev. Wangensteen and in the afternoon there will be songs by the choir and recitations. Everybody invited.

An exchange says that a Kansas editor who paid little attention to punctuation is now defendant in a libel suit because he published an item as follows: "Two young men went with their girls to attend teachers' meeting and after they left, the girls got drunk." The comma should have gone after "the girls," but as it is the girls have gone after the editor.

Steve Withey's special was doing an unusual stroke of business this week on account of the tournament at Thief River Falls. Every train pulling thru here northbound being packed to the platforms in spite of the three extra coaches hooked on for this special occasion. Needless to say the train was comparatively empty on the return trip every day until the close of the tournament when the large crowds boarded it homeward bound.

Manure Spreader Contest

A representative of the Great Western manure spreader was here on Wednesday setting up one of their machines and a test was made with other machines the same afternoon. Upon concluding the test the machine was purchased by Ed. Enright of Black River. Joseph Helm, of Red Lake Falls, has concluded a contract with the Great Western Company to handle their machines in Red Lake county and the machines will be exhibited and for sale at St. Hilaire in a short time.

WYLIE NEWS

Everybody from here goes to St. Hilaire to spend the Fourth—except a few of us old codgers.

P. E. Smidesang & Sons are having a sheet iron roof put on their store building and also on the house.

A. R. Jones was over from St. Hilaire Monday looking after his political fences. He says they are all up and in good shape.

Quite a number of the young folks from this vicinity took in the circus at Crookston Monday, being compelled to drive overland.

Nick Eckstein arrived home Friday after a three months absence in Pembina county, N. D., where he has been distributing Dr. Ward's remedies for man and beast.

Did you ever buy a pair of shoes and both in the same box happened to be lefts. We know of a case and only a half size difference. Who wears the other misfits? They were bought not over ten miles from here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnson, and daughters Edith, Eva, Ethel and Hazel, were over from St. Hilaire Sunday visiting friends. Mr. Johnson is a pioneer in this section of the country and he said he never saw the small grain looking better than it does now for this time of the season.

Jim Hill is again at work looking over the branch lines in order to find a station where he could cut down expenses. He has finally found Wylie on the map where he had a man drawing the large (?) salary of fifteen dollars a month for looking after the freight and sealing up cars. This man received notice last week to remove the lock and send same in to the company and the door of the depot(?) should be left open and everybody look after their own freight. This last move is an injustice to the people of Wylie and the farmers who ship cream etc. Wylie ships out more carloads of grain and than any station north of Crookston and Jim Hill has it arranged so that St. Hilaire gets all the credit for business done at Wylie. This being the presidential year, perhaps Jim was called upon to make a political contribution, and needed a few fifteens.

Winkjer Here

Joel G. Winkjer who is now in the government employ and stationed at Topeka, Kansas, is visiting in this section and favored his St. Hilaire friends with a short visit on Thursday. Mr. Winkjer informs The Spectator that Kansas farmers were at least ten years behind the Minnesota farmers in all dairy matters. Co-operative creameries are unknown there and the big central plants pay from five to eight cents less for cream than is paid by creameries in this section.

It is kept as a regular supply in thousands of American homes. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

Big Manure Spreader Contest

Won by the Litchfield

On the farm of N. E. Beebe one mile from your town the following well known manure spreaders gave a very interesting contest on June 15th. The Litchfield with 100 bushel capacity, the Success with 70 bushel capacity and the Kemp with 70 bushel capacity. There was a good sized crowd present and the majority of them were interested in seeing for themselves which was the best machine in all respects.

The Kemp unfortunately broke down at the start of the contest. The Litchfield came to the rescue, receiving the Kemp's load and distributing it to the entire satisfaction of of all the interested parties. In fact, the Litchfield easily proved its superiority over all contestants as it was easy to operate and handled the manure to perfection, distributing the load perfectly even from start to finish.

Notwithstanding the extra capacity of the Litchfield over the other two there was no kick on draft and being the strongest built spreader on the market and combining the ease of operation, durability, perfection of draft and perfect work.

Just Found a Soul.

"Talking of Jekyll and Hyde effects," said a chronic bachelor at the club, "I got the surprise of my life the other night. Met a woman, the wife of a friend who married her a year or so ago. Knew her before marriage and always thought she was too homely ever to find a husband—one of the sort that polite writers call 'uncompromisingly plain.'

"Well, sir, when I entered her home last night she had the same old face—made me feel sorry for her husband, really. Then she got to talking about some charitable work she is engaged in for crippled children—and, presto, she suddenly became beautiful! Never saw such a transformation in all my life, really—not the same woman somehow.

"The deuce of it is I couldn't dissect the change, but I guess the eyes had more to do with it than any other feature. I had an idea of advising her husband to confine her conversation to that particular charity, but I'm afraid he'd regard it as a bit personal."—New York Globe.

What Happened to Fred on the Glorious Fourth

AN AMUSING STORY OF THE FOURTH OF JULY

BY WILLIAM WALLACE, JR.

There was to be a great celebration on the glorious Fourth in the beautiful grove of elms and oaks that grew in a most propitious spot near a cool, sparkling stream one mile from Beeville.

And all Beeville was up and doing at the first peep o' day; even the very young and small Beevillers found themselves wide awake at the first sound of the roaring anvil which was fired at the town smithy as early as 5 o'c'ock.

One of the happiest little Beevillers, who had lived a week prior to the Fourth on happy anticipation, was Fred Harper, aged ten. On the morning in question Fred's mother came into his room and said: "To-day is the glorious Fourth, Freddie."

On other mornings Fred's mother had to call him many times before she could prevail upon him to open his eyes, but on this morning the few words she spoke worked like magic in waking him instantly. With eyes wide open and a heart full of eagerness Fred leaped from bed and bathed and combed and dressed himself in his Sunday best in much less time than it usually took him to get his eyes really open.

You see, Fred was a true patriot, to whom the occasion meant a great deal.

After breakfast Fred was restless to start for the celebration grounds, and could hardly wait till his mother had their luncheon baskets packed and his father was at the gate with a two-seated spring wagon to carry them to the grove.

But after arriving at the picnic grounds the time passed very rapidly indeed, for there was music by the band and singing by the town's best vocal talent. And, besides these features of entertainment, there was a drum corps parade, in which Fred proudly marched at the head carrying the flag.

Then came the reading of the Declaration of Independence by a deep-voiced young lawyer who was duly impressed by the honor conferred upon him by the celebration committee. Although the great words and sentences that fell from the young reader's tongue found place in the ears and minds of the Beeville fathers and mothers, the young listeners grew a bit restless and found it hard to keep their seats beside the enthused parents.

More than once Fred's mother was obliged to shake him to keep him awake, and once, losing all patience with him, she whispered in his ear: "Now, son, you sit up and keep your eyes on the young man who is reading, and listen to everything he says and mind, if you don't keep awake I'll not let you have the skyrockets I have in mind to buy for you this evening."

Fred at once sat up, batted his blue eyes and pinched his legs to keep himself awake. Then he riveted his eyes on the reader of the Declaration of Independence, his poor ears catching an occasional and, to him, meaningless word.

But as he sat there the young lawyer's face began to change and his voice to sound dim and far away. Then sound ceased altogether, and the reader gradually took on the form of a huge skyrocket, his florid face looking for all the world like the gayly red-painted "business end" of the rocket.

This amused Fred so much that he snickered, whereupon his mother took hold of him and pushed him away from the bench where he had been sitting beside her, whispering crossly to him to run on away into the woods and amuse himself, since he was too stupid and too sleepy-headed to listen to the reading of that "grandest thing ever written—the Declaration of Independence."

So Fred, shaking out his sleepy feet and stretching his arms that ached to be doing something, walked willingly away toward the dense timber that bordered the brook. He had not gone far when he heard a rustling noise in the grass behind him, and, turning round, he saw the young lawyer, who was still in the form of a giant skyrocket, coming at full tilt after him.

Fred stopped and waited till the strange being came up, also kept silent, giving his new companion opportunity to speak first.

"Well, Freddie," said the human skyrocket, in a strange metallic voice, "I don't blame you for getting tired of all that lingo I was reading, for it made me tired, too. So I thought I'd just change shape and have a little real Fourth of July fun. Truth is, people—nor kids neither—don't know what real sport is on the Fourth. If a fellow'd have a good time he's got to turn himself into a skyrocket or giant firecracker and shoot himself into the clouds. Then he can see everything and make all the noise he wants to."

"That's great!" exclaimed Fred, admiring greatly the young lawyer who possessed the magic charm that could turn himself into the form of a skyrocket the size of a telegraph pole. "Wish I could be even a firecracker."

"Enough said," remarked the lawyer. "You shall go with me in the shape of a giant firecracker. Come, what say you to that?"

But before Fred could reply he felt his two legs turn into one; his hands slipped into his pockets and became attached to his sides, and lo! he looked at his own reflection in the grass—a most peculiar phenomenon—and saw that he was the thing he had wished to become—a giant firecracker!

"Ho, ho!" he cried, merrily. "I'm almost as big as you. But I can outshoot you!"

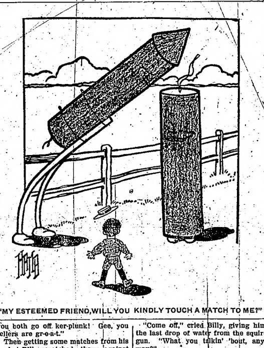
"I take the wager," responded the skyrocket. "Do you happen to have a match about you?"

"I've matches, but no hands to get to them with," replied Fred. "That is, I left home with lots of matches in my pockets and I guess they're still there."

"Oh, I see," said the skyrocket. "Well, I find myself in the same handless predicament. But there comes Billy Grimes, your school chum. I'll ask him to give us a light."

At that instant Billy Grimes did appear, and the skyrocket—otherwise the lawyer—bent over toward him and said: "My esteemed friend, will you kindly touch a lighted match to me, and also one to my smaller companion here, and see us go toward the clouds?"

"Well, my goodness gracious! Who ever saw such a huge skyrocket and giant firecracker before?" cried Billy, looking up at the two queer things that looked down upon him. "Indeed, I shall touch matches to you and see you both go off ker-plunk! Gee, you fellers are gr-e-a-t."



"MY ESTEEMED FRIEND, WILL YOU KINDLY TOUCH A MATCH TO ME?"

Then getting some matches from his pocket Billy scratched them against the sole of his shoe and protected them in the hollow of his left hand until they flamed good and strong; then he applied the blazes to the skyrocket and giant firecracker, running off a safe distance immediately upon seeing the fuses ignite.

A strange feeling took possession of Fred as the fuse burned within him. Then, just as he was on the point of shooting into the air, a terrible noise sounded near him and he saw the skyrocket dash through the air like a cannonball. But he had not an instant to spend enjoying his friend's sudden exit from earth for immediately his own body shot upward with a terrific explosive sound and he followed in the wake of the rocket that was carrying a tail of fire into the clouds.

Then he burst!—went into a hundred pieces—when about 100 feet above the ground. And how the sparks of fire burnt him and tingled through his body—the part of it that was left to tingle, which, indeed, was but a charred piece of wood. And how he fell with a dull thud to earth, still burning like a blister.

Then something strange happened. All of a sudden he felt a dash of something cold on his—face!—yes, face, for his cheeks and nose and chin felt it as plainly as could be. Another dash! Then Fred opened his eyes—yes, eyes!—for he still had those precious orbs. And in another instant he realized just where he was, and what he was. He was plain Fred Harper, aged ten, and was lying on the ground under a tree, but not in the shade, for the sun had crept round toward the west and was shining full in his face. Over him stood Billy Grimes with a home-made squirt gun from which the mischievous rascal sent a spray of cold water over Fred's face which was almost burned to a blister by the hot sun.

"Hi, what you sleepin' fer on th' Glorious Fourth?" asked Billy, giving Fred some more water from the apparently inexhaustible squirt-gun. "Don't you know they're spreadin' th' dinner? An' they've got dead loads of goodies."

"How did I come here?" Fred asked, rising slowly and making a wry face, for his arms and legs were asleep and tingled like a hurt crazybone when he tried to get up.

"W'y, you went to sleep while that lawyer man was a-readin' the Declaration of Independence, an' yer ma she tooked you up an' carried you out here an' laid you in the shade. But fer quite awhile the sun's bin cookin' your phiz. It's bin lots of fun to see you wriggle an' make crooked faces. Then yer ma she called to me an' told me to wake you up, as dinner's 'bout ready to eat. I'm invited by yer ma to eat with you, an' she says I'm to go home with you an' help to shoot off the fireworks 'at she's got laid up in the closet to s'prise you with."

Fred at last got up, shook himself fully awake, and then, taking Billy to one side, asked in a low, confidential whisper: "Say, Bill, have you seen the lawyer man what was reading the Declaration of 'Dependence?"

"Sure; yonder he is, buyin' lemonade for his best girl," answered Billy, pointing with an unwashed finger toward the honored man of the day, who in very truth was standing close beside a pretty young lady in pink, both drinking with apparent relish some picnic lemonade.

"Gee whiz!" exclaimed Fred, "it hasn't been half an hour since I saw him shoot into the clouds, explodin' as he went as loud as a cannon. W'y, he was the biggest skyrocket I ever saw in all my life. He was——"

"Come off," cried Billy, giving him the last drop of water from the squirt gun. "What you talkin' 'bout, anyway?"

"Guess I was dreamin'," answered Fred. "But it was the most amusin' dream I ever had. Wish you could have seen the lawyer man shoot into the sky about a second after you touched a match to him."

"After I touched a match to him?" cried Billy. Then, taking Fred by the arm, he continued: "Guess you're either sunstruck or the glorious Fourth has gone to yer head. Come—after you've et some of that fried chicken I seen yer ma takin' out of a basket you'll come to."

"Hope so," grinned Fred. "But, honest, it was funny to see that lawyer man go into the air, though. And when I busted——"

But Billy, dragging him toward the picnic spread, broke in with: "Now, that's 'nough fer this time. Save the rest fer next Fourth o' Julie."

An Eye to Business.

An expert golfer had the misfortune to play a particularly vigorous stroke at the moment that a seedy wayfarer skulled across the edge of the course. The ball struck the trespasser and rendered him briefly insensible. When he recovered, a five-dollar bill was pressed into his hand by the regretful golfer.

"Thanky, sir" said the injured man after a kindling glance at the money. "An' when will you be playin' again, sir?"

GREATEST OF HOTEL TOWNS.

Tens of Thousands of New Yorkers Have Given Up Home Life.

The latest edition of the Social Register contains a list of 9,000 families living in hotels in New York city. This, of course, does not include all the citizens of this great old town who have given up home life of the kind their parents knew.

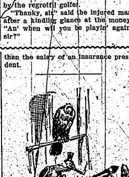
An expert who has studied the hotel business of two hemispheres says that New York cares for three times as many persons in hotels as does London, six times as many as does Paris, and ten times as many as does any other city that can be named.

There are 136 large first-class hotels in Manhattan alone, more than 300, including the smaller ones, and, at the rate of construction at present, the calculation has been made that within twenty years there will be on Manhattan island alone 386 hotels of 400 rooms each or of greater size.

With a floating population each day ranging from 75,000 to 185,000 for the various seasons of the year, there is little wonder, says Success, that New York has become the city of the earth most conspicuous for its hotels.

It is said that at one of the well known Fifth avenue hostelries at least $10,000 daily must be received before there is a cent of profit. At least four of the fashionable hotels are said to have wines in their cellars to the value of $1,500,000. The annual bill for cut flowers used by these places runs from $30,000 to $60,000.

One house says that its yearly butter bill is $57,000, more than the salary of the president of the United States. As this is not one of the largest hotels there may be butter bills in town that are bigger even than the salary of an insurance president.



Ambitious.

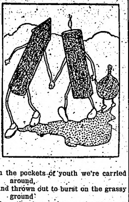
"Set the match to it, Bill, and I'll show these other birds that I can fly as high as any of them!"—Life.

Don't waste time worrying because other people are not doing their duty.

SONG OF THE FIREWORKS.

On the Glorious Fourth we're welcomed by all,
The young and the old, the short and the tall,
The lean and the fat, the sour and the gay,
Come forth to greet us on that festive day.

And gayly we sally out hand in hand,
Loving to follow the loud-playing band;
And filling the streets with our own lusty noise
That drowns the sound of band and of boys!



In the pockets of youth we're carried around,
And thrown out to burst on the grassy ground
Near the feet of some picnicker, all unaware
That a boy with a cracker is near anywhere.

Or mayhap we're shot like a ball toward the sky,
And we carry a flame and a roar on high;
Or in form of balloons we are sent up so gay
To soar through the clouds, far, far away.

Or on a wood bar we are put with a pin
And touched with a match to make us spin, spin;
Then we splutter and whirl and burst with our glee,
As the crowds clap and yell, "Hurray-ah! hur—ree!"

Oh, the Fourth is the day for chaps of our kind,
And more popular folks than us you'll not find!
But when the Fourth's over we shed a sad tear,
For we're laid on the shelf for another whole year.

With Eczema—Her Limb Peeled and Foot Was Raw—Thought Amputation Was Necessary—Believes Life Saved by Cuticura.

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off. At this time my leg was peeled from the knee, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh, and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a set of Cuticura Remedies. After the first two treatments the swelling went down, and in two months my leg was cured and the new skin came on. The doctor was surprised and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. I have now been cured over seven years, and but for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. Mrs. J. B. Renaud, 277 Mentana St., Montreal, Que., Feb. 20, 1907."

BRYAN AND KERN IS THE TICKET

INDIANA GETS SECOND PLACE

Bryan's Nomination Comes After Strenuous All-Night Session—Cheers for Johnson.

For President,
WILLIAM J. BRYAN OF NEBRASKA.
For Vice President,
JOHN WORTH KERN OF INDIANA.

This is the ticket which the Democratic party in national convention has selected for the presidential campaign of 1908. William Jennings Bryan was chosen for the third time as the Democratic candidate for president after an all-night session Thursday night, marked by the most remarkable demonstrations ever seen in a convention. John Worth Kern was nominated by acclamation Friday afternoon as the running mate for Mr. Bryan.

The convention was called to order Tuesday at noon by Thomas Taggart, chairman of the national committee. Theodore A. Bell of California was introduced as temporary chairman, and immediately began his "keynote" speech. His declarations as to the intentions of the Democratic party were received with loud applause, and the mention of Bryan's name caused a wild demonstration. At the conclusion of Mr. Bell's speech resolutions regarding the death of Cleveland were unanimously adopted. The various committees were then named and the convention adjourned until noon Wednesday.

When the convention assembled at noon Wednesday it was announced that the committee on credentials was not ready to report. Speeches were called for to fill in the time. Mr. Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma, took the stand in response to a popular demand. The senator took early occasion to refer in glowing terms to Bryan. At the mention of the name of the "commoner" the delegates went wild and there ensued a demonstration the like of which has never been seen in any convention. The uproar continued for an hour and twenty-seven minutes, and only was broken by the physical inability of tthose participating to continue any longer. When order was restored the convention adjourned until 8 o'clock in the evening. At the night session, after an hour of speechmaking, the committee on credentials reported on thee Pennsylvania and other contested cases. The report, which was against the Guffey faction in Pennsylvania, was adopted, and the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock Thursday.

The opening session Thursday lasted three hours and brought about the completion of the permanent organization of the convention, with the resounding address of Congressman Clayton of Alabama, permanent chairman. The platform committee not being ready to report, the convention took a recess until evening.

BRYAN FOR PRESIDENT.

William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska was nominated for the third time for the office of the president of the United States by the Democratic national convention at 3:40 Friday morning amid scenes of frenzied enthusiasm. The result came after an all-night session, which was kept in a constant state of turmoil up to the culminating moment when the Nebraska leader was proclaimed the choice of the convention as the Democratic standard bearer.

The nomination was made on the first and only ballot, the vote standing:

William J. Bryan, 892½.
Gov. John A. Johnson, 43.
Judge George Gray, 59½.

Wild Demonstration.

The announcement of the vote was the signal for a wild demonstration, equaling in turbulence, if not in duration, the record-breaking display which on Wednesday afternoon greeted the first mention of Mr. Bryan's name in the convention.

Twice before the throng had been moved into a mad ecstacy, first by the speech placing the name of Bryan in nomination, and again when that of Gov. Johnson of Minnesota was proposed; but these manifestations paled before the culminating outburst of emotion.

Make It Unanimous.

When for a moment order could be secured out of this tempestuous chaos of demonstration, state after state which had at first recorded its vote for Johnson or Gray, fell into line with the overmastering column, and the nomination was made unanimous by acclamation.

The convention adjourned at 3:50 o'clock Friday morning until 1 p. m., after having been in session continuously for more than eight hours. As the delegates and spectators left the hall, the echoes of enthusiasm continued to reverberate throughout the building, while crowds outside took up the shout and bore it along the dark and silent streets, awakening the city just as the first pale rays of dawn were breaking in the East, with the resounding chorus of "Bryan, Bryan, Bryan."

Hours of Oratory.

Prior to the culmination scene in the convention hall when the nomination of Bryan was made, the assemblage had listened for hours to the oratory of nominating speakers, who moved them frequently to outbursts of feverish excitement. It had been expected that the platform would be ready for adoption at 7 o'clock in the evening, when the night session began. But at that hour the committee on resolutions was still struggling with the planks relating to the currency, the tariff, the Mormon question and other important subjects. A committee appointed by the convention to learn how soon the platform would be ready reported that it would be midnight before the document was ready for the consideration of the convention. Thereupon a motion of Congressman Ollie James of Kentucky the regular order of procedure was suspended, and the convention proceeded to call the roll of states for nominations for the presidency, with the understanding that the nominating and seconding speeches would be made without a final vote until the platform had been adopted.

Bryan Is Named.

At 9 o'clock the nominating speeches began, and delegates and spectators were stirred with eager expectancy as the supreme and long deferred work of nominating the presidential candidate was begun.

Alabama, the first state on the roll call, yielded to Nebraska, the home state of Bryan, whose spokesman, the youthful orator, Ignatius J. Dunn, of Omaha, advanced to the platform. He spoke in good voice, with great earnestness, and to a sympathetic audience which greeted each utterance of tribute to the Nebraska leader with demonstrative evidence of approval. His concluding passage was a fervid tribute to the commoner as the intrepid leader who had borne aloft the battle-scared flag of Democracy through the campaigns of 1896 and 1900, with the devotion and faith of the crusaders of old—"America's great commoner, Nebraska's gifted son, William J. Bryan."

Cheering Lasted 45 Minutes.

This was the signal for a long continued uproar, rivalling in intensity and duration the demonstration of Wednesday, which lasted one hour and twenty-six minutes. Again, the whole assemblage was lashed into a fury of excitement. The demonstration lasted upward of forty-five minutes.

Johnson Is Wildly Cheered.

The nomination of Gov. Johnson of Minnesota precipitated another whirlwind of excitement, if not so long sustained, hardly less enthusiastic than for Bryan. The delegation from Minnesota, standing on their chairs and waving flags, handkerchiefs, hats, and anything that could be waved, were the storm center of the demonstration, while groups of scattered delegates here and there lent their energies to those of Minnesota. The galleries, too, seemed to contain an ample supply of Johnson enthusiasm and on every hand the waves of Johnson demonstration swept back and forth from end to end through the great building.

When it had lasted a considerable time, the convention officers sought to restore order. The sergeant-at-arms was ordered to seat the yelling delegates and every effort was made to bring the convention back to a state of subjection, but in vain. The demonstration went on with unabated fury until it had spent itself after more than a quarter of an hour of vociferous tumult.

Speeches Are Suspended.

The Gray nomination also received its full share of enthusiastic approval.

It was after midnight when the nominating speeches were temporarily suspended to receive the report of the committee on credentials. Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee, made the report, announcing at the outset that it was presented as the unanimous view of the committee.

Bryan's Seconds.

The speeches seconding the nomination of candidates were then resumed with a limit of five minutes for each speech. The seconding speeches for Bryan included those of Gov. Glenn of North Carolina, Gov. Swanson of Virginia, Representative Heflin of Alabama, Augustus Thomas the playwright of "Missouri," Jerry E. Surrivan of Iowa, O. W. Powers and ex-Senator Gearin of Oregon, and John J. Lynch of Ohio.

The seconding speech for Gov. Johnson was made by Former Attorney General Straus of Maryland, that for Judge Gray by P. J. O'Boyle of Pennsylvania.

KERN FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Denver, Colo., July 11.—The Democratic national convention concluded its labor late yesterday afternoon by the nomination of John Worth Kern of Indiana for vice president, completing the ticket on which William Jennings Bryan was made the nominee for president during the early hours of the morning.

The nomination of Kern was made by acclamation, amid the resounding cheers of delegates and spectators. No ballot was necessary, as the tide of sentiment had set irresistibly toward the Indiana candidate, state after state registering their delegations in his favar, and all other candidates withdrawing before the universal demand for his nomination.

Kern Is the Favorite.

The convention, after adjourning at daylight with the nomination of Mr. Bryan, resumed its session at 1 p. m. with a powerful undercurrent already in motion toward the nomination of Kern for second place. On the call of states Indiana presented the name of Kern; Colorado, through ex-Gov. Thomas, placed in nomination Charles A. Towne of New York; Connecticut presented Archibald McNeill and Georgia Clark Howell. The names of Judge George Gray of Delaware and of John Mitchell of Illinois were not presented, owing to the positive requests of these gentlemen not to have their names go before the convention.

Flock to Kern.

For a time it looked as though a ballot would be required. But the steady line of states which joined in seconding Kern's nomination soon made it apparent that the chances of all other candidates had been extinguished. Mr. Towne in person was the first candidate to recognize the decisive nature of the Kern movement and in a ringing speech he withdrew his name from consideration and pledged his support to the ticket of Bryan and Kern. Withdrawals quickly followed from the supporters of Howell of Georgia and McNeill of Connecticut, leaving the Indiana candidate alone in the field.

Made by Acclamation.

The withdrawal of the Connecticut candidate was accompanied by a motion that the nomination of Kern be made by acclamation. The motion was carried with a deafening shout, and the assemblage broke into clamorous demonstration on the accomplishment of its work and the completion of the Democratic national ticket.

The nomination was made at 4:23 o'clock and the convention thereupon adjourned without date.

The Platform.

Modification of law relating to injunctions. Injunctions should not be issued in any cases in which injunctions would not issue if no industrial suit were involved.

Employers' liability act.

Immediate revision of tariff by reduction of import duties and the placing on the free list of articles entering into competition with trust controlled products. Graduated reduction to restore tariff to revenue basis. Pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs to be placed on the free list at once.

Prohibiting private monopoly and licensing corporations.

Publicity of campaign contributions.

Federal remedies for regulation of interstate commerce and prevention of monopolies should be added to and not substituted for state remedies.

Requiring national banks to establish guarantee fund for prompt payment of depositors of any insolvent national bank. Emergency currency controlled by federal government and loaned to national and state banks.

Postal savings banks.

Admission of Asiatic immigrants is opposed.

Income tax.

Preservation of natural resources.

Enlarge powers of interstate commerce commission. Physical valuation of railroads. Further legislation to prevent pass and rebate abuse.

Independence of Philippines.

Improvement of waterways.

Immediate admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate states.

Full territorial rights for Alaska and Porto Rico.

Control of house of representatives by majority of people's representatives and not by speaker.

SAYS HER SON IS MESSIAH.

Woman Brands Boy of Six With Red hot Iron.

New York, July 12.—Asserting that her six-year-old son, Charles Goodsall, was the Messiah, his mother, Mrs. Grace Goodsall, branded his forehead and throat with a red-hot iron. The child was rescued early yesterday from the religion-crazed woman and both were taken to the Bellevue hospital. The little boy, though terribly burned, will recover.

TO CHOOSE CAMPAIGN MANAGER.

National Committee Will Consult With Bryan Tuesday.

Denver, Colo., July 12.—The Democratic national committee will confer with William Jennings Bryan at Lincoln on Tuesday next. The committee met yesterday for the purpose of organizing, but in view of a telegraphed invitation from Mr. Bryan it was decided to defer action until the wishes of the Democratic leader could be ascertained.

Depot Robbed.

Bottineau, N. D., July 12. — The Great Northern depot at Landa, twenty miles west of here, was broken into by yeggmen last night and the money drawer broken open and robbed, $33 being secured. No clue to the perpetrators.

Osceola, Wis., July 12.—Paul Ghering, wanted at Phillips, Wis., on a charge of burglary in that city on May 10, was captured at St. Croix Falls by Constable Sam Love.

PAPER DEALERS PLEAD GUILTY.

And Pay a Fine for Violating the Anti-trust Law.

New York, July 13.—The Petoskey Fiber and Paper company of Petoskey, Mich., indicted with twenty-three other wrapping paper companies by the federal grand jury for violating the anti-pooling provision of the Sherman anti-trust act, pleaded guilty yesterday in the United States circuit court. As in the case of the other companies, Judge Hough imposed a fine of $2,000

PROHIBITIONISTS IN CONVENTION

Little Is Accomplished Beyond Affecting Temporary Organization.

PRESIDENCY IS STILL OPEN

No Marked Concentration in Favor of Any One Candidate—Wright Can Have It.

Columbus, July 16.—The Prohibition national convention which met here yesterday worked under a temporary organization throughout its two sessions and adjourned until morning without hearing a report from the committee appointed to select its permanent officers. In fact little was accomplished yesterday beyond naming the members of the various committees and receiving reports of the committees on rules and on credentials. The presidential nomination is still open and there has been no marked concentration in favor of any candidate.

Presidency in Air.

It was practically agreed early yesterday that the nominee could be Judge Seaborn Wright of Georgia if he would express a willingness to accept it. Judge Wright would not announce himself as a candidate. The name of Joshua Lovering of Maryland, who was the nominee in 1896, was strongly favored by many, but the friends of Mr. Lovering were not disposed to push his candidacy unless he was assured in advance of the nomination.

James P. Tracy of Detroit, Mich., is making an energetic canvass and sentiment is steadily growing in favor of his nomination. The Illinois delegates are pushing Daniel R. Sheen of Peoria. The friends of Robert H. Patton of Springfield, Ill., the temporary chairman of the convention, are rapidly increasing.

Favor Woman Suffrage.

The committee on resolutions met immediately after adjournment of the morning session of the convention and delegated the task of writing the platform to a subcommittee of five.

The document itself has not yet been prepared, but the principal planks to be incorporated will be about as follows:

There will be a declaration in favor of extending suffrage to women; the election of senators by direct vote of the people will be favored, and a ringing declaration will be made against the existing revenue laws which permit the issuance of licenses to saloons.

The Liquor Traffic.

The platform will also declare in favor of the enactment of a graduated income and inheritance tax. A demand will be made that proposed amendments to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting the liquor traffic be submitted to the people.

This is intended to meet the question raised in congress at the last session that federal regulation of the liquor traffic is unconstitutional when it extends beyond interstate traffic. This plank, together with that denouncing the revenue laws which permit the issuance of licenses is expected to cover the attitude of the party on the question of license and direct prohibition.

INSIST ON PRESTON.

Socialist Labor Party Will Not Allow Convict to Decline Candidacy.

New York, July 16.—The national committee of the Socialist Labor party, which has been turned down by Martin Preston, the convict, who in a private telegram to Daniel De Leon, leader of his party, declined its nomination for president of the United States, decided yesterday not to take no for an answer and to run Preston for president anyway.

DRINK OF WATER FATAL.

Iced Beverage Affects Woman's Heart and She Falls Dead.

La Crosse, Wis., July 16.—Mrs. Emma Klix arose from bed to get a drink of ice water, and after swallowing the contents of a tumbler fell to the floor a corpse. She was a large woman and suffered from heart trouble, and it is thought the ice cold water caused a fatal shock.

Business Houses Burn.

Herrick, S. D., July 16.—Fire destroyed the entire row of business structures in a whole block of the business part of this city yesterday, entailing a loss of $25,000. The principal losers were the Sinkular millinery, Frank Nunemaker, Buck saloon, Smith & Reichel, Kane saloon, J. G. Dunbar, H. Buehler and the Haight livery.

Hurled to His Death.

St. Paul, July 16.—Charles Ricketts was struck by a Burlington train at Highwood about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. He was hurled nearly a hundred feet and fell against a barbed wire fence and killed. Nearly every bone in his body was broken.

Crooks Rob Boarders.

Fargo, N. D., July 16.—A number of crooks are working the boarding and rooming houses of the city. Small sums of money and jewelry have been stolen in most instances.

SHOOTS HUSBAND'S SLAYER

Mrs. Bartley T. Horner Fatally Wounds Son-in-law at Northport, N. Y.

Northport, N. Y., July 15.—Standing within a few feet of the spot where, a little more than two years ago, he shot and killed his father-in-law, Dr. James Weddell Simpson, a dentist of New York, was shot and perhaps mortally wounded yesterday by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bartley T. Horner, the woman he made a widow. Dr. Simpson's wife, from whom he has been estranged for many months, was near when the shot was fired, but she did not witness the shooting. Upon learning that it was her husband who had been wounded she refused to go near him, and Dr. Simpson had to crawl to a house 200 feet away to have his wound attended to. Mrs. Horner was later arrested and held in $5,000 bail, while Dr. Simpson, with the assistance of two friends, made his way to Roosevelt hospital in New York. The bullet lodged in his liver and an immediate operation was performed to extract the bullet. The doctors said last night that Dr. Simpson has only a small chance of recovery.

Stories Disagree.

Statements from Dr. Simpson and from Mrs. Horner as to the circumstances attending the shooting disagree. The dentist says that he had received word that his wife intended to sue him for a divorce and that he went to the Horner home to talk with her about it. He says he rang the doorbell and upon receiving no response peered through the doorpane. He say Mrs. Horner, he says, and called to her to open the door. Then, Dr. Simpson says, Mrs. Horner grabbed up a revolver and shot him. The bullet entered his body above the abdomen and he fell back against the door sill. A second shot was fired at him, he claims, but the bullet went wild.

Mrs. Horner does not deny that she did the shooting, but she claims justification.

Second Tragedy in Family.

The second tragedy at the Horner homestead is only another chapter in a series of unhappy domestic events of the last few years. The shooting of Bartley T. Horner by Dr. Simpson aroused the countryside in December, 1905, and when the dentist was put on trial his wife took the witness stand against him. Mrs. Horner also gave damaging testimony against her son-in-law. Dr. Simpson was going through the manual of arms with a shotgun, when he accidentally shot his father-in-law.

After the verdict of acquittal Dr. Simpson returned to the practice of dentistry. He opened a suite of offices on Fifth avenue, New York, but he had lost many clients and of late he had sought financial aid.

HEAR OF "WOMAN IN BLACK."

Philadelphia Police Still Foiled by Wilson Case.

Philadelphia, July 15. — Detectives working on the case of William H. Wilson, who died more than two weeks ago after drinking poisoned ale sent him by express, are grasping at every plausible clue that is presented in an endeavor to solve the mystery and find the murderer.

The inevitable "woman in black" also has appeared in the case. Neighbors of the Wilsons have informed the police that two days after the poisoned ale was delivered at the Wilson house and the day before the doctor drank it, a woman dressed in black appeared at the house and rang the bell furiously. There was no response as the family was not at home, and the woman disappeared. What connection this woman may have had with the case, if any, is not disclosed, but the police are looking for her.

2,053 WANT SALOONS OPEN.

Petition of Consent Is Filed at Muscatine, Iowa.

Muscatine, Iowa, July 15.—On Jan. 1, 1908, the Law Enforcement league closed saloons all over Muscatine, and they have been closed ever since. Yesterday afternoon a petition of consent was filed with the county auditor bearing 2,053 signatures, or 250 over the required per cent of registered voters. The enforcement league is preparing for a lengthy battle and will carry the case to the supreme court on technicalities, it is claimed.

New York, July 15. — A cablegram from Schoenau, Germany, charges August Rucke, who arrived here yesterday on La Bretagne, with forgery of his employer's name, by which he obtained $17,500. The board of special inquiry at Ellis Island ordered his deportation. Rucke will be taken to Havre on Saturday on the same steamer that brought him here.

SEVEN KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Disaster at Pittsville, Pa., Wrecks Mine and Sets It on Fire—Ten Injured.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION OF GAS

All of Dead Men Were Battered and Bruised Into an Almost Unrecognizable Mass.

Pittsville, Pa., July 16.—Seven mine workers were killed and ten others injured yesterday by a terrific explosion of gas in the Williamstown colliery of the Summit French Mining company, in the lower part of the anthracite coal fields. The mine was wrecked and set on fire.

The explosion occurred in No. 1 shaft of the colliery and is believed to have been caused by one of the men lifting the gauze of his safety lamp just after the explosion of a shot which brought down a large body of coal.

The explosion shook the entire colliery. The work of rescue was immediately begun and when volunteers were called for almost every man at the workings offered his services, which meant a hazardous trip into the burning mine.

Near the foot of the shaft the injured were found, they having rushed toward the entrance only to fall over unconscious. All of the dead were found a short distance from the shaft, battered and bruised into an almost unrecognizable mass.

ARREST CASHIER AGAIN.

Fraudulent Banking Charged Against Aldrich and New Bond Is Asked.

Marshalltown, Iowa, July 16.—Ralph Aldrich, the alleged defaulting cashier of the Farmers' Savings bank of Huxley, who was released on bond ten days ago, was rearrested yesterday at Madrid, just before leaving for California. It developed that the surety company which went Aldrich's bond was liable only on one charge of embezzlement, and when this was learned a second charge of fraudulent banking was filed against Aldrich. His second bond has been fixed at $8,000.

KILLED HIS FRIEND.

Montana Man Gets in Line When Companion Shoots at Squirrel.

Helena, Mont., July 16.—S. T. Crum, a Seattle business man accidentally shot and instantly killed Albert Moody, a close personal friend, residing at Virginia City, with whom he was hunting ground squirrels near that place. Crum had leveled his gun at the animal when Moody stepped in line and received the full charge, dying before medical assistance could arrive. Crum has been exonerated, but is heartbroken over the affair.

SILVER MEDAL FOR YANKEES.

Great Britain, France and Sweden Get Gold Medals in Olympian Games.

London, July 16.—The gold medals went to Great Britain, France and Sweden as the winners of yesterday's final events at the Olympic games. Great Britain was a double winner and France and Sweden each secured one first. The United States had to be satisfied with one silver medal, symbolic of second place in the three-mile team race, but the American representatives in the various events were small.

TWO DIE FROM GAS.

Two Men Perish While They Are Trying to Rescue a Boy.

Winnipeg, Man., July 16. — While rescuing a boy who had fallen into an abandoned hole left by the builders for the foundation of a big steel railway bridge at Lethridge, Alberta, G. H. Thompson of North Dakota and Fred Robb, an Englishman, met death, being suffocated by a flow of gas. Other rescuers are in a serious condition.

Murderer of Priest Hanged.

Canyon City, Colo., July 16.—Calling down maledictions upon the Roman priesthood and shouting in Italian, "Long live Italy! Long live the Protestant!" Giuseppe Alia, the murderer of Father Leo Heinrichs was carried to the death trap and exactly at 8:30 o'clock last night paid the extreme penalty of his crime.

Killed in Wreck.

Johnstown, Pa., July 16.—One man was killed and twenty-five or thirty others were injured, some perhaps fatally, last night when a trolley car on the Johnstown passenger railway, after striking a traction engine at a crossing a mile from here, started backwards and went over a steep embankment.

RICH ARE TARGETS FOR BOMB

New York, July 16. — A dynamite bomb exploding with terrific force early yesterday in the areaway of a fashionable apartment house in West One Hundred and Fortieth street hurled scores of the occupants from their beds, shattered many windows and threw the tenants into a panic. A huge hole was torn in the cement flooring of the court where the bomb went off and considerable other damage was done to the buildings.

There were forty-two families living in the apartment house, but as far as the police could learn none of them had received threatening letters, and the reason for the bomb throwing is much of a mystery.

The only clue that the police have is one furnished by a bellboy of a nearby apartment house. He said that a moment after he heard the crash of the explosion the force of which threw him from his chair, three men ran swiftly down the street and disappeared.

Detectives say they have no clue to the perpetrators and that if it proves to be an attack by members of the Black Hand it will be the first of the kind in New York directed toward the wealthier class of residents.

LIGHT ON MURDER MYSTERY.

Police Are Nearing Solution of Murder of Hazel Drew.

Troy, N. Y., July 16.—What is considered the most important point yet developed in the Teal pond murder mystery came into possession of the police late yesterday when a detective found the suitcase which Hazel Drew carried the day before she was murdered and for which the police have been conducting an exhaustive search. From articles found in the suitcase the startling theory is advanced that she was murdered in Troy and taken either by carriage or automobile to the Teal pond, where her body was cast into the stagnant waters.

There is much to bear out this theory, and it appears that the authorities are nearing a solution of the mystery.

ADS NOT GOOD FOR MILEAGE.

Hepburn Act Is Declared to Apply to Exchange of Transportation.

Chicago, July 16.—"If it be lawful to make the exchange of railroad transportation for advertising, then it would be lawful to do the same in every transaction, and the railroad business might lawfully become one of barter and sale, limited only by the demand."

In a decision handed down yesterday by Judge C. C. Kohlsaat in the United States circuit court, from which the above is quoted, the just enjoined the issuance of transportation by the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railway company to the publishers of Munsey's Magazine in exchange for advertising.

Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire Police Seek Thieves in Vain.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., July 16. — Railroad detectives as well as local officers are busy trying to bring about the arrest of freight car robbers in this city and Eau Claire. How They Found Out.

When the Lawtons had lived in Willow Park about a month they were invited to a succession of little dinners at the houses of their new neighbors. Mr. Lawton was on a dyspeptic's diet, and Mrs. Lawton was endeavoring to reduce her weight. "I suppose we shall have to eat all sorts of things we don't wish or else seem rude," said Mrs. Lawton mournfully as they set out for the first dinner.

To their growing surprise, the bills of fare placed before them at each dinner, although not remarkably varied, were all composed of such dishes as they could both enjoy.

"I don't see how you all hit on just the right things when Mr. Lawton and I really are such difficult guests," said Mrs. Lawton in a burst of confidence one afternoon when the neighbors were taking tea with her.

The ladies looked at each other, and then one of them spoke.

"You know Mary Sloan, who comes to wash for you Tuesday mornings?" she said. "Well, I have her Mondays, and Mrs. Green has her Wednesdays, and she irons for Mrs. Porter Thursdays and scrubs for Miss Homer Fridays, so you see"—

BOOST RED LAKE COUNTY

Some of our enterprising and public spirited citizens have started a movement which promises to develop into a material benefit for Red Lake County.

It is the establishment of a county school of agriculture and domestic economy within the borders of our own county. Our late legislature provided for such a school, and it is up to us to hustle and take advantage of their act, and have the assistance of the state and make use of the legislature's appropriation.

All of us can see and appreciate what a benefit this institution would be to this county, giving a course of instruction similar to that given by our State University Farm School at Minneapolis. Here we can have an institution of learning at our very doors, where our children could receive instruction from able professors in the elements of agriculture, including instruction concerning the soil, plant life, animal life of the farm, butter making and dairying, a system of farm accounts and the common branches; and instruction shall also be given in manual training and domestic economy, in fact, most of those branches for which many of our children travel to Minneapolis to attain at a heavy expense, will be taught. The course of instruction will be prescribed by the dean of the college college of agriculture of the state university.

This school will be open to all of our young people who desire to attend free of cost.

Our county commissioners appear to be heartily in favor of establishing this school; and with the support of our people we can have it. The school should be located near the center of the county, the logical place being near St. Hilaire where it could be easily reached by all from any part of the county.

A school of this kind will mean a wonderful addition as an educational institution and will surely prove a powerful factor in the development and up-building of the resources of our county. This project is a worthy one and should receive the hearty co-operation and support of every farmer and citizen of Red Lake County.

Gems In Verse

THIS IS TO LOVE.

At last I've found a kindred one
Who understands my every mood.
My soul, my open heart are his;
My every prayer to him I give.
He loves me for my deeds undone,
My inner self, my hidden good.
This is to love—to live!

My better nature swiftly ran
To lift my soul up high to him.
An angel I became—O God!
He is not true! I wildly grieve—
"I will, I will unlove this man!"
"Too late," cries quick conviction grim.
"This is to love—to live!"
—Jeannette Robinson Murphy.

REINCARNATION.

In lonely ways of dim forgotten lands.
Ah, do you not recall how once we went?
Did we not gaze and hold each other's hands
In utter ecstasy of sheer content?
As for what we said—we said but nothing;
The naked truth was ours, that needs no clothing.

Strange flowers were near us—nameless to me now—
And strange old cities—were they quick or dead?
We met—we two—the when or why or how,
Matters no more. That golden hour is fled,
But ineffaceable its glory lingers
As melodies survive their primal singers.

And you? The moment eyes encountered eyes
Yours were alight with memories and with dreams.
You are mine, all mine; you know it. Oh, be wise
Ere over all our past and present streams
And snaps our secret chains of joy and wonder
And whelms and whirls us, impotent, asunder.

Listen. In visions I will come tonight
And seek with you those old mysterious lands,
And we shall see in the gray, uncertain light—
Do you remember?—where the temple stands,
The desolate temple of some faith unknown,
The sunset fading on its solemn stone.

And we shall never leave those lands again,
But all that should have been for us shall be;
Reality forgone, dreams shall remain,
And sweet oblivion cover you and me.
Dare all, renounce all—come! * * * I do not doubt you—
I who have waited centuries without you.
—Pall Mall Gazette.

LOVE BEYOND THE STARS.

When that I loved a maiden
My heaven was in her eyes,
And when they bent above me
I knew no deeper skies;
But when her heart forsook me
My spirit broke its bars,
For grief beyond the sunset
And love beyond the stars.

When that I loved a maiden
She seemed the world to me;
Now is my soul the universe,
My dream—the sky and sea!
There bends no heaven above me,
No glory binds or bars
My grief beyond the sunset,
My love beyond the stars.

When that I loved a maiden
I worshiped where she trod;
But when she clove my heart the cleft
Set free the imprisoned god.
Then was I king of the world;
My soul had burst its bars,
For grief beyond the sunset
And love beyond the stars.
—London Nation.

SONG OF THE PLAINS.

No harp have I for the singing, nor fingers fashioned for skill,
Nor ever shall words express it, the song that is in my heart.
A saga, swept from the distance, horizons beyond the hill.
Singing of life and endurance and bidding me bear my part.

For this is song, as I sing it, the song that I love the best.
The steady tramp in the furrow, the grind of the gleaming steel,
An anthem sung to the noonday, a chant of the open west,
Echoing deep, in my spirit, to gladden and help and heal.

And this is life, as I read it, and life in its fairest form,
To breathe the wind on the ranges, the scent of the upturned sod,
To strive and strive and be thankful, to weather the shine and storm,
Penciling over the prairies the destiny planned by God.

And no reward do I ask for, save only to work and wait,
To praise the God of my fathers, to labor beneath his sky,
To dwell alone in his greatness, to strike and to follow, straight,
Silent and strong and contented—the limitless plains and I.
—London Spectator.

FINIS.

We watch the gathering tears o'erflow the eye
Of those we love and hear each sobbing cry
And moan.
We see the slowly waning ray of light,
And then we journey forth into the night—
Alone.
—Irene E. Benson.

THE SPENDTHRIFT.

He left so little, did you say?
He had so brief a time to stay
'Twas hardly worth his while to gather
Dross of our little earthly day.

The things that other people prize
He gave to others, being wise;
Being so heavenly foolish, rather,
That kept his gains for paradise.

Hardly a keepsake did he leave,
And all his gold was fugitive.
He kept those things that will not perish.
For him the widow and orphan grieve.

He gave with a light laugh, indeed,
As he and gold were ill agreed.
Held it the poorest thing to cherish,
Save that it filled another's need.

He had his pilgrim's scrip of hope
And living waters in his cup.
The staff of faith that still suffices
The stumbling soul to lift it up.

Being so soon a traveler,
Of earthly things he had no care,
But on the road that's paradise's
He went the lighter, being bare.
—Katharine Tynan.

DIGNITY.

The visible poise of self dominion.
Calm heroism of character facing the inevitable.
Serenity, strength and simplicity in a crisis.
Pride in the hour of abasement and humility in time of exaltation.
The soul's consciousness of rectitude radiated in noble bearing.
The armor of self respect.
Walking calm and courageous through the valley of humiliation.
Character rising superior to conditions or circumstances.
—William George Jordan.

[illegible] Just Found a Soul.

"Talking of Jekyll and Hyde effects," said a chronic bachelor at the club, "I got the surprise of my life the other night. Met a woman, the wife of a friend who married her a year or so ago. Knew her before marriage and always thought she was too homely ever to find a husband—one of the sort that polite writers call 'uncompromisingly plain.'

"Well, sir, when I entered her home last night she had the same old face—made me feel sorry for her husband, really. Then she got to talking about some charitable work she is engaged in for crippled children—and, presto, she suddenly became beautiful. Never saw such a transformation in all my life, really—not the same woman somehow.

"The deuce of it is I couldn't dissect the change, but I guess the eyes had more to do with it than any other feature. I had an idea of advising her husband to confine her conversation to that particular charity, but I'm afraid he'd regard it as a bit personal."—New York Globe.

Her Little Pleasures.

Shakespeare's Last Illness.

According to a tradition handed down by Ward, the vicar of Stratford, Shakespeare's last illness was a fever brought on by a "merry meeting" with Drayton and Ben Jonson. Another authority, Halliwell-Phillips, says that the great poet died of typhoid, caused by the filth and bad drainage about New Place. Like nearly everything else about Shakespeare, the question of the character of his last illness can be answered only conjecturally.

Worry Worse Than Fatigue

Here people worry themselves out than wear out by work and then when they begin to grow thin from worrying over other things, they worry because they are growing thin. The best thing for nervousness is the regular use of good malt tonic at mealtime. Take a glass of golden grain belt beer with your meals and at bedtime. It builds up overworked nerve tissues and insurrenewed health to body and brain. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

This movement effects every product of the farm. Come and bring your wife and young folks.

Cliffguard is Jailed

Crookston Journal for Friday, July 10:—Sivert Cliffgard was arrested yesterday evening by Captain Vonderbeck of the city police. He was standing on the depot platform, interfering with the work of the railway employes and jarring against passersby. He was ordered from the depot platform and made his way down second street and made an attempt to enter Byer's restaurant where his presence was, of course, not desired.

Captain Vonderbeck was sent for and he told Cliffgard to leave and took him by the arm. Cliffgard seemed suddenly to fall into an insane fit of frenzy and it was with difficulty that the police captain got him into the carriage. In the scuffle the Captain was kicked in the jaw. Cliffgard was lodged in the city jail.

Cliffgard has been a public charge for some time in Crookston. The city authorities have provided quarters for him and a local hotel is now paid for his keeping. Notwithstanding he is a beggar on the streets, a stubborn and contrary pervert the nauseating publicity of whom is a profound discredit to the city.

The city authorities have done a great deal of corresponding with Minnesota philanthropic institutions but nothing has as yet been accomplished.

Wangensteen—Avelsgaard

A very quiet, but pretty, home wedding was solemnized at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, July 7, 1908, at the home of Mrs. Ragnild Avelsgaard when her daughter, Miss Eleanor, became the bride of Rev. O. M. Wangensteen. The bride, beautiful in white Persian lawn, was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha, while M. M. Wangensteen, of Minneapolis, brother of the groom, was groomsman. Only relatives of the contracting parties were present. Rev. O. A. Bu pronounced the words that made them man and wife. The home was decorated in green and white. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. The young couple left on the noon train for the twin cities for a short visit before going to their home at St. Hilaire.

The bride is a most estimable and highly accomplished young lady, and has for a number of years taught the seventh grade in the Spring Valley public schools, a position which she filled with credit to herself and the schools. She was an ideal teacher and her place will be hard to fill. She is a charming young lady, possessing a winning personality which has endeared her to young and old. The groom, who is well known here, is a fine young man, and is pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church at St. Hilaire, where the young couple will make their home, and where genuine good wishes for prosperity and happiness follow them from their many Spring Valley freinds.—Spring Valley Sun.

WYLIE NEWS

Mr. T. P. Smidesang made a business trip to Grand Forks Tuesday.

The directors of the Farmers Elevator Co. held a meeting yesterday.

Most all of the farmers in this vicinity have started haying. In most places the grass is short and thin.

Hans Wilson and family are expected back from St. Hilaire this week to again become residents of Wylie

Ed. Garceau lost one of his oldest horses Monday morning, and Tuesday, Ferdinand Gother had a spring colt badly cut by a mower and was compellee to kill it.

Dave Winton and Emil Zeh accompanied by their ladies were down from Thief River Falls Monday testing the formers new automobile, which is the finest rig we have seen in these parts.

Charlie Zutz, the road boss for this district, is having his men doing excellent work—no spoiling the roads here and there. A sample of his work may be seen on the range line south of Wylie.

Charlie Hull was over from St. Hilaire Wednesday and reports that inside of two weeks he will be in the farm machinery business at Albee, S. D. Everybody wishes him good luck in his new venture.

A little underhanded work by some machine dealer not over a dozen miles from here is appearing on the surface. Evidently he has a drop of Jim Hill blood in him and wants to hog everything. Later on more may be said to the farmers' interest.

Theodore Fournier, the Wylie cheese maker received another card this week from State Commissioner E. K. Slater stating that the sample of cheese sent in was awarded ninety-six and one half per cent. Mr. Fournier expects to ship a car load out to Montana next week to a large wholesale firm.

Jim Hill has a couple of notices stuck up on his depot(?) here to the effect that he has no agent here and that everybody expecting freight etc, had better be on hand when the freight pulls in as he will not be responsible for anything after it is unloaded. Jim rules with a high hand and guess we will have to stand for it. But will we?

Owing to a slight mistake of the conductor Tuesday in overlooking two full cans of cream and an empty gasolene barrel, Jim Hill ran an extra engine and tender down the following day to get the same. Its a measly shame to run an extra for so small a thing as this, and if we were aware of the fact on that day we would have hitched up a team and hauled the two cans to St. Hilaire, thus saving Jim a lot of coal, etc.

A Time-Saving Device.

Every employe of the Bank of England is required to sign his name in a book on his arrival in the morning, and, if late, must give the reason therefor. The chief cause of tardiness is usually fog, and the first man to arrive writes "fog" opposite his name, and those who follow write "ditto." The other day, however, the first late man gave as the reason, "wife had twins," and twenty other late men mechanically signed "ditto" underneath.

TWO CURES OF ECZEMA

Baby Had Severe Attack—Grandfather Suffered Torments with It—Owe Recovery to Cuticura.

"In 1884 my grandson, a babe, had an attack of eczema, and after trying the doctors to the extent of heavy bills and an increase of the disease and suffering, I recommended Cuticura and in a few weeks the child was well. He is to-day a strong man and absolutely free from the disease. A few years ago I contracted eczema, and became an intense sufferer. A whole winter passed without once having on shoes, nearly from the knees to the toes being covered with virulent sores. I tried many doctors to no purpose. Then I procured the Cuticura Remedies and found immediate improvement and final cure. M. W. LaRue, 845 Seventh St., Louisville, Ky., Apr. 23 and May 14, '07."

A Metaphor With a History.

To "know a hawk from a hernshaw" is a metaphor with a curious history. It is a comparison drawn from falconry. "Hernshaw" is a corruption of "heronshaw," or young heron, a bird which was a common prey of the falcons. To know a hawk from a hernshaw is therefore to be able to distinguish a falcon from its prey. A further colloquial corruption crept into the phrase—"to know a hawk from a handsaw," a form used by Hamlet in one place. Possibly the distinction between a hawk and a hernshaw was found not to be strong enough for the purposes of the proverb.

Cures by Sea Water.

M. Quinton, a learned French biologist, has effected marvelous cures by sea water. Reduced to its simplest expression, his sea-water cure consists of introducing, by subcutaneous injections into the enfeebled organism a "serum," or "plasma," which is nothing but a perfectuly pure sea water, sterilized and diluted in a fixed proportion. He says every aromal organism, whether worm, dog, horse or man, is composed of sea water to the extent of one-third of its weight. A man weighing 168 pounds contains 56 pounds of sea water. This sea water, M. Quinton declares, is the vital liquid of the organic cells, the liquid without which life would not be possible.

DIFFERENT NOW

Athlete Finds Better Training Food.

It was formerly the belief that to become strong, athletes must eat plenty of meat.

This is all out of date now, and many trainers feed athletes on the well-known food, Grape-Nuts, made of wheat and barley, and cut the meat down to a small portion once a day.

"Three years ago," writes a Mich. man, "having become interested in athletics, I found I would have to stop eating pastry and some other kinds of food.

"I got some Grape-Nuts, and was soon eating the food at every meal, for I found that when I went on the track, I felt more lively and active.

"Later, I began also to drink Postum in place of coffee, and the way I gained muscle and strength on this diet was certainly great. On the day of a field meet in June I weighed 124 lbs. On the opening of the football season in Sept., I weighed 140. I attribute my fine condition and good work to the discontinuation of improper food and coffee, and the using of Grape-Nuts and Postum, my principal diet during training season being Grape-Nuts.

"Before I used Grape-Nuts I never felt right in the morning—always kind of 'out of sorts' with my stomach. But now when I rise I feel good, and after a breakfast largely of Grape-Nuts with cream, and a cup of Postum, I feel like a new man." "There's a Reason."

POUR INTO ST. PAUL BY THE TRAINLOAD

Shriners From the Four Corners of the Country Arrive for the Big Show.

PARADE IS MOST GORGEOUS

Electric Parade Surpasses in Beauty and Splendor Anything Ever Seen in Northwest.

St. Paul, July 15. — From the four corners of the country, including many nooks and byways, caravan after caravan of nobles, costumed patrols and boisterous bands flooded the union depot yesterday, every road entering the city contributing its several special trains and strings of chartered cars. The station was one moving mass of variegated color. A din of noise filled the interior of the big structure. Had it not been for a systematic preparation for handling the immense influx the situation would have been one of hopeless chaos.

Trainload after trainload arrived during the early part of the morning, during the late afternoon and early evening, all gorged to the doors with representatives of the various temples, while the white fez of the women dotted the throng, the fairer visitors numbering well into the hundreds.

Twenty Thousand Shriners on Hand.

When the roar of the first day had quieted early this morning practically all the temples, patrols and accompanying bands had arrived in the city. The total number of temples which had arrived in the city last night amounted to nearly forty, each with delegations numbering from 20 to 500. Including the members of the order who came in on the regular trains, as well as the large number of visitors attracted to the city, a conservative estimate of Shriners is 20,000, and this figure is conservative.

Each of the incoming trains was met by escorts of patrols, nobles from Osman temple, and during the day they performed yeoman service. Assisted by several bands, relays of receivers greeted the incoming nobles as they detrained, escorted them directly to the Masonic temple, and afterwards led the way to the various lodging places. The task was a big as well as an exhausting one, but faithful and loyal sons of Osman temple hesitated not an instant during the entire day. Relay after relay was pressed into service, and during the morning hours, when the largest number arrived, nobles of Osman toiled with tenacity and persevérence.

Hundred Ride the Goat.

The principal event of the day was the grand ceremonial session of Osman temple of St. Paul at the Auditorium last night, when 100 novices were conducted across the burning sands of the desert. The affair is said to have been the most elaborate and spectacular initiation service ever and spectacular intiation service ever conducted in the Northwest.

The climax of Masonic public demonstration, the like of which never has been seen before, either in the Northwest or any place else, will be reached this evening when the gorgeous pageant of 15,000 nobles and Arab patrols move through the principal streets of the city.

Would Put Lid on Shriners.

St. Paul, July 16. — The Shriners were formally welcome to the city of St. Paul and the State of Minnesota yesterday morning. An open session was held at the Auditorium preceding the first executive session of the imperial council. Besides the imperial council a large number of nobles and ladies were present to witness the exercises. Addresses of welcome were delivered by representatives of Osman temple, of the city and the state, and the responses were made by the imperial potentate and other nobles from the ends of the continent.

Would Put Lid On.

A recommendation against the use of liquor at the banquet tables of the Shrine meetings was a feature of the annual address which Imperial Potentate Frank C. Roundy delivered at the first session of the imperial council yesterday noon.

He summed it all up by saying that "there is little doubt that good-fellowship depends more on the things you think than on the things you drink. Where the heart is right all must be well."

The reports of the imperial recorder and the imperial treasurer showed the order to be in a prosperous condition and growing rapidly.

Although no action has been taken, it seemed agreed that Louisville, Ky., will be the seat of the next conclave. Denver will have her turn in 1910, Rochester, N. Y., in 1911, and St. Joseph, Mo., in 1912.

Electric Parade.

The electric parade of the Shriners last night surpassed in beauty and splendor anything ever seen in the Northwest. Over 5,000 men were in line, representing almost every large city in the country. Twenty-seven Arab patrols, gorgeously uniformed in costumes typical of the Orient, were the feature of the parade. Their clever execution of intricate evolutions called forth great bursts of applause all along the line of march. The parade passed through streets brilliantly illuminated with colored lights, forming a fairy-like picture that baffles description. The line of march was thronged with the greatest crowd of people that ever gathered in the streets of St. Paul. It is not extravagant to say that fully 250,000 people saw the parade.

In the morning the Shriners participated in exercises of breaking ground for the new Masonic temple.

AMERICANS WIN TWO MEDALS.

Opening Victory at Olympic Games Goes to Yankees.

London, July 16. — America and Great Britain captured most of the laurels yesterday in the first real business day of the Olympic sports. Twice the Stars and Stripes fluttered to the top of the staff in the center of the arena and the American enthusiasts, who monopolized a section of the stadium, waved their flags and broke out in cheers which, in a smaller field, would have been deafening. The honors were nearly even, for of the four events finished, the United States and the United Kingdom each won two gold medals.

To add to the satisfaction of the Americans the judge decided that George W. Gadsick of the Chicago Athletic association had done the best work in the fancy diving.

There was the greatest enthusiasm among the American spectators and competitors over the fact that their team captured the first two medals of the Olympiad. The results of the day were highly satisfactory to the American spectators and contestants. John J. Flanagan, Irish-American Athletic club, broke the Olympian record in the hammer throw and won the first gold medal for any event.

But it was in the 1,500 meter run that the Americans won their spectacular victory and dashed the hopes of the home athletes completely. Englishmen had counted on this race as a sure victory, expecting Wilson and Hallows to divide the first two places between them, with the Americans a possible third. Sheppard, the American, crossed the tape one yard and a half ahead of Wilson. Hallows was five yards back of Wilson. Tait of Canada finished fourth.

Mr. Ovenshire of Minneapolis won out on the second ballot.

Before a capacity grand stand at Lexington Park, which intermittently broke forth into resounding cheers as some particularly difficult figure was executed with machinelike precision, twenty-four Shriner patrols presented exhibition drills yesterday. It is doubtful if any organization in the country includes as many smaller bodies so thoroughly versed in the art of fancy figure drilling as does the Shriners. The drill was not competitive, but at the conclusion of the exhibition each patrol was presented with a handsome silk flag by Osman temple, St. Paul.

Last night the Shriners were entertained in Minneapolis.

MANGLED BY CULTIVATOR.

Farmer Is Dragged Under Implement and Is Probably Fatally Hurt.

Marshalltown, Iowa, July 16.—While cultivating corn, Harvey Lounsberry, a young farmer of near Nevada, Story county, was thrown from his cultivator, the reins became entangled about his body and while the frightened horses ran he was dragged under the knives of the machine, which gashed and cut his body. The reins all but choked him to death, and when the team stopped and he was released he was so battered and cut up that he could not rise. He was found a half hour later, but so much foreign substance has entered the wounds that it is feared that blood poisoning will develop.

DOFFS DUDS; ROAMS WOODS.

Man in Adam's Garb Is Still Wandering and Posse Is After Him.

La Crosse, Wis., July 16.—Authorities and farmers in the vicinity of Viroqua, thirty miles southeast of here, are searching for a stranger in the vicinity, who rivals the original Adam in garb. Farmers reported the appearance of a man, evidently insane, who fled from all who approached, and Sheriff Silsbaugh was called. Meanwhile the stranger disappeared. Later he was seen, stripped of all clothing, in the woods near the roads. Several searching parties are now out looking for the queer visitor, but he had not been found this morning. The authorities have inquired of all insane asylums in this part of the country, but have received no reports of inmates missing.

FAILURES AT "U" ON INCREASE

Registrar Sends "Blue Slips" to 583 Students.

Minneapolis, July 16. — Forty-one per cent more students failed during the last semester of the university year than during the first semester last fall, according to the records just completed by Registrar E. B. Pierce of the University of Minnesota.

According to the figures "blue slips," indicating failures or conditions, were sent out on 775 studies. About 582 students received all the slips, some receiving two, three and four each. The number given out is 225 more than were issued at the close of the fall semester.

The registrar is at a loss to account for the greater number of failures, and "football" is evidently not to blame.

In the work of rescuing the elder Mr. Turner both Samuel Turner and his son, John S. Turner, were burned. The injuries of the son, though very painful, will not prove dangerous. Those of the father are only slight.

STANDARD OIL WINS ON APPEAL

Case in Which Octopus Was Fined $29,240,000 Is Remanded and Reversed.

LEGAL BATTLE WILL GO ON

Government Forces Will Continue the Fight—Trial Court Erred in Several Features.

Chicago, July 23. — The United States circuit court of appeals yesterday reversed and remanded the case of the government against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, in which Judge Landis, in the district court, had imposed a fine of $29,240,000. The government forces will continue the legal battle.

The government has thirty days within which to file a petition for a rehearing, and it will be filed within the allotted period. Judge Grosscup, whose opinion was concurred in by his colleagues, Judges Seaman and Baker, in dealing with the "intent" feature of the case, a vital point, says:

The Intent Feature.

"We should take up these subjects in the order stated, the first being whether a shipper can without error be convicted of accepting a concession from the lawful published rate, even thought it is not shown, as bearing on the matter of intent, that the shipper at the time of accepting such concession knew what the lawful published rate was, a view of the law that is embodied in the charge and carried out in the ruling excluding certain proffered testimony, including that of one Edward Bogardus, who being in absolute charge of traffic affairs of the plaintiff in error, offered to testify that during that period he about an 18-cent rate over the Alton railroad; that his attention had never been called to any such rate, by any person or by the examination of any document, and that it was his understanding and belief, based on what he was told by one Holland, tariff clerk for the Alton railroad, that the rate over the Alton was 6 cents, and that such rate had been filed with the interstate commerce commission."

As a matter of fact, it is stated that the record of the case shows that Bogardus was permitted to testify on the very points enumerated in the decision of the court of appeals. When this passage in the record was shown to District Attorney Edwin W. Sims and his assistant, James H. Wilkerson, they would make no comment. However, other members of the legal profession interviewed regarded the point of great value.

Big Fine Won't Stand.

It is pointed out, however, that even though the court were convinced of an error in this matter, there is little prospect of securing the infliction of any such colossal fine as Judge Landis believed fitted the offense.

Judge Grosscup's opinion leaves little of the contention that each carload at the 6-cent rate constituted a separate offense. Even the shipments, of which there were about 500, could not be so considered under the ruling of the court. The fine should have been based on settlements between the railroad and the oil company. Of these there were just thirty-six.

Court Erred.

The maximum fine on this basis would amount to but $720,000 and the minimum $36,000, the latter figures being considerably less than the $223,000 which the Standard is alleged to have received as rebates on the shipments in question.

In brief, the court decided the lower court generally erred as to the number of offenses; erred in assessing an excessive fine — one which reached persons not defendants of record in the case.

CARS IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Forty Persons Are Injured in a Collision On Aurora-Chicago Trolley Line.

Chicago, July 23.—Nearly forty persons were injured, some of them probably fatally, and eleven so severely that they had to be taken to hospitals, in a head-on collision yesterday between two Aurora, Elgin & Chicago cars at Lovedale station, four miles north of Aurora. The disaster occurred when the coaches were each running at speed estimated at forty miles an hour, and the crash when they came together was terrific.

The two cars were telescoped more than half their length. Passengers, among whom were nearly fifty women, were thrown through windows and tossed to the side of the tracks, several feet away.

Just after the wreck occurred the cars caught fire from the trolley wire and began to smolder, but the uninjured passengers soon put out the blaze with water from a nearby rivulet and dragged the wounded to places of safety.

Lay Blame on Motorman.

The line at the scene of the wreck is a single track one. At Lovedale station is a switch. Here, according to officials of the road, a south-bound car from Elgin, in charge of Motorman S. Bell, was supposed to stop shortly before 8 a. m. and wait until a north-bound car from Aurora passed it. Instead of stopping his car, which carried from eighty to a hundred passengers, Motorman Bell went ahead. He started down a 10 per cent grade around a curve at the regulation speed of forty miles an hour, thinking, he said, that he had a clear track.

Just as he neared the bottom of the grade and swung around the curve the north-bound coach on the right of way from Aurora to Elgin came in sight. It also carried from eighty to a hundred passengers and was running at nearly the same speed as the car approaching it.

Brakes Did Not Work.

The motormen of the two cars both turned on the airbrakes, but they did not appear to have worked immediately, and at the last minute, seeing that the collision could not be averted, both of them jumped, rolling down the bank, but escaping with slight injuries. Many passengers who also saw the danger leaped from the cars and escaped with only a few bruises.

OUT-OF-WORKS IN SUICIDE PACT

Throw Themselves Under Trains Near Outskirts of Buffalo, N. Y.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 23.—Within the last twenty-four hours six men, apparently Hungarian or Austrian laborers, formerly employed at the Lackawanna Steel company's plant at West Seneca, were killed on the outskirts of Buffalo under the same circumstances and at almost the same place. All of the men were run down by engines on the Lake Shore railroad. Railroad men say there was a death pact between the victims, all of whom have been out of work for many months because of the shutting down of the steel plant.

Early in the morning the body of the first of the victims was found a short distance from the village of Wanakah. The body was terribly mutilated.

Two Together When Struck.

Shortly after midnight Dr. John D. Howland, deputy medical examiner, was notified that the bodies of two men had been found beside the tracks of the Lake Shore railroad near the Buffalo Creek railroad crossing. The men were evidently together when they were struck.

The blood of these two victims was still on the railroad tracks when the crew of a train saw the body of a man lying close to the Buffalo creek bridge.

Just as the members of the crew were about to signal to the engineer to stop the engine they passed by a second body, lying close to the railroad tracks, and while the engine was slowing down in response to the brakemen's signals a third body was passed.

Six Bodies in 200 Feet.

The members of the train crew found the bodies of three men, all of then terribly mangled, lying a distance of fifty feet apart, and all of them were apparently those of Hungarian or Austrian laborers from the steel plant.

The place where the last three men were killed is not more than 200 feet away from the place where the first two men met their end.

Railroad men do not think that the deaths were accidental. Some brakemen stated that they had heard many Hungarian and Austrian laborers who were starving and out of work at West Seneca threaten within the last few weeks to throw themselves under the wheels of railroad engines.

PRESIDENT URGES FIGHTING NAVY

MAYFLOWER SINKS SCHOONER

President's Yacht Collides With Vessel in Dense Fog at Night and Cuts It in Two.

Newport, R. I., July 23.—Pleading for popular support for a "first-class fighting navy, a navy capable of seeking out the enemy and hammering him into the quits," President Roosevelt was the central figure here yesterday in the most notable conference of American naval officers ever called together to consult and discuss in a broad, general way the future United States battleships. The president spoke publicly for more than half an hour, and then the conference went into executive session for one hour. During this session the president took a leading part in the discussion.

Keep Navy Abreast of Times.

He argued as a layman, he explained, and did not attempt to give advice to professional men. He impressed upon the officers, however, that it was given to them to keep the American navy abreast of the times and to make it the hard-hitting, efficient fighting force which he believes to be a guarantee against the possibilities of war. Mr. Roosevelt characterized the navy as the cheapest form of safety insurance policy the nation can obtain. The president sailed for Oyster Bay yesterday afternoon, but the battleship conference will continue here and in Washington until definite plans for the ships to be laid down in the near future are decided upon.

Mayflower Sinks Schooner.

When the trim little cruiser yacht Mayflower, flying the president's white-crested flag of blue at the main truck, steamed into the harbor yesterday morning, nearly two hours behind schedule time, with her bowsprit missing, one anchor gone, bow plates dented and six strange figures in black oilskins and sou'westers gathered in the bow, she brought the story of an adventurous night's run in the blackest fog of the summer and of a collision in which the lumber-laden schooner Menawa was cut practically in two by the president's yacht. A lifeboat lowered from the Mayflower picked up the crew of six men on the sinking boat.

Sends Sailors Home.

They were taken on board and yesterday when the Mayflower arrived here the president, who knew nothing of the accident and the danger of the collision until he arose yesterday morning, directed that they be given sufficient money to take them to their homes in Maine and that the master of the schooner, Skipper Hutchinson, be provided with transportation to the office of the agents in New York.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Newberry attended the naval conference, as did Gen. Horace Porter of the Navy league and chairman of visitors to the naval academy. The conference included no fewer than ten rear admirals of the navy and a host of officers from the grade of captain and below. Army officers from Fort Adams and Fort Greble also were invited to the conference. The officers applauded the president's aggressive naval address almost continuously.

UNPROFITABLE DANCE.

Host Badly Pummeled by Guests and Then Fined for Selling Liquor.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., July 23. — Hans Hanson of the town of Edson was found guilty of selling liquor to minors and fined $25 and $38 costs. Hanson had given a dance at his saloon and a number of young people had attended. In the course of the night some became drunk and a fight ensued. Hanson was badly pummeled.

Killed by Heat.

Marshalltown, Iowa, July 24.—Heat exhaustion killed Sandy Esque, a well known colored member of the soldiers' home, who has been employed for years as janitor at headquarters. Esque was stricken a few hours before his death.

"Bootlegging" Is Charged.

Marshalltown, Iowa, July 23.—David H. Friend was arrested last night on a charge of "bootlegging." He was caught, it is alleged, while selling whisky to Iowa Central employes.

Farmer's Stock Killed.

De Smet, S. D., July 23.—John Callahan, a farmer living six miles southeast of here, lost five cows and three horses by lightning in yesterday's storm.

Killed by a Train.

Mitchell, S. D., July 23.—John Tille, a farmer residing near Parkston, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by falling beneath a passenger train as it was pulling out of the station.

Joy for Deer Hunters.

Bruno, Minn., July 23.—The woods are full of deer in the vicinity of Bruno this year. Many have been killed out of season, but the recent activity of the game wardens has stopped the slaughter to a great extent.

ALL READY FOR BIG DOINGS

Battleship With Prince of Wales Aboard Is Nearing Historic City.

Quebec, July 22. — The British battleship Indomitable, having the prince of Wales aboard, came in wireless touch yesterday with the British authorities here. She entered the Gulf of St. Lawrence early yesterday morning and is estimated to be some 600 miles from Quebec. She sailed last Tuesday and has evidently made a fast trip over, equaling and perhaps exceeding the record time for a battleship passage. The landing of the prince of Wales is scheduled for Wednesday and the Indomitable will probably slow down now so as not to be ahead of the arranged plan of ceremonies.

Welcome for Fairbanks.

Earl Grey has received word that Vice President Fairbanks will arrive by train at Levis, opposite Quebec, at 7:35 Wednesday morning. A military guard of honor and officials of the governor general's staff will meet the vice president and escort him to Spencerwood, which is to be his official residence while here.

The arrival of the United States battleship New Hampshire at 1 o'clock to-day increased the international fleet in the harbor to ten battleships. They are anchored in columns of twos and present an imposing appearance. The New Hampshire is a center of attraction, her white hull and light yellow superstructure being in marked contrast with the dull gray British and blue-gray French battleships.

Exchange Ceremony Calls.

During the call of Admiral Cowles and Capt. Winslow yesterday afternoon the governor general and Countess Grey escorted the American officers to the Italian gardens and promenade prepared for the prince of Wales, commanding a view of the assembled warships. The American and French officers exchanged calls of ceremony last evening, the New Hampshire and the French warship joining in salute.

Many American bluejackets were ashore last night, joining with the French and British tars in the festivities. The city was brilliantly illuminated and vast crowds thronged Dufferin Terrace and the main thoroughfares, viewing the carnival scenes preliminary to the coming historical pageants.

FIVE MEN HURT ON BATTLESHIP

Steam Pipe Bursts on the Kearsarge While Anchored at Honolulu.

Honolulu, July 22. — By the bursting of a steam pipe of the forward starboard boiler of the battleship Kearsarge of the Atlantic fleet five of the fireroom crew were injured seriously. Fires were drawn after the accident and the steam plant was disabled for nine hours.

The names of the worst injured are: Wilson, a water tender; Watson, second class fireman, and Pomplum, a coal passer. These men are in Sick bay, off the ship, but their injuries are now declared to be superficial, and with the exception of Wilson none of them will bear scars of their burns.

Can Sail With Fleet.

The accident to the Kearsarge will not interfere with her sailing with the fleet on Wednesday. Repairs are now being made and will be completed in time to allow her to go with the others.

The pipe which burst was seven inches in dameter. It burst directly under the ventilating shaft and rent the upper side, thus permitting the steam to escape through the ventilators.

All the ships of the third division have arrived from Lahaina. With the Missouri coming in yesterday, the fleet is once more intact.

Boat races and other sports yesterday and last night a gala performance of the old comic opera, "The Mascott," arranged by society ladies of Honolulu, were the chief features in the day's entertainments of the officers and men of the Atlantic fleet. There was also an excursion to Pearl Harbor, where only Rear Admiral Sperry and staff went for the purpose of inspecting the location of the new naval station for the islands.

Admiral Sperry "At Home."

From 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 6 o'clock last evening Rear Admiral Sperry and the officers of the Connecticut were at home to their friends. The vessel was gayly decorated with flags for the reception and the decks were crowded.

Cracksmen Overlook $1,000.

Osceola, Wis., July 22. — Louis Sund's store at Clam Falls was entered by burglars last night. The safe was blown, the contents ransacked and the robbers secured about $200. They left $1,000 in a drawer that undoubtedly was overlooked.

Was Short $18,653.

Fredericton, N. B., July 22.—An investigation into the accounts of the late Deputy Surveyor General W. P. Flewelling, who died about three months ago, disclosed the fact that he was in arrears to the amount of $18,653.

Cuts Self in Sleep.

St. Louis, Mo., July 22. — William Pohlman, a somnambulist, cut his throat in his sleep early yesterday, and only prompt work by physicians saved his life.

PRINCE OF WALES LANDS IN CANADA

Heir to British Throne Is Given Warm Welcome at Historic Old Quebec.

SCENE OF ROYAL SPLENDOR

Salutes of Warships Mingle With Tumultuous Demonstration of 50,000 Spectators.

Quebec, July 23. — The prince of Wales landed from the British battleship yesterday amid the deafening roar of guns from the international fleet of British, French and American warships and the tumultuous demonstrations of 50,000 persons massed upon the wharves and the terraced heights of the city. It was a spectacle of truly royal splendor when the latest type of British Dreadnaught, with the royal standard flying, came to anchor among the double column of foreign warships, and the prince was welcomed ashore by Earl Grey, governor general of Canada; Premier Laurier and the assembled dignitaries, flanked by thousands of soldiers and a multitude of people.

Fire Royal Salute.

It was 2:45 yesterday afternoon when the crowds assembled on the cliffs saw the prince of Wales' fleet emerge from the mist far down the river. Immediately the guns of the warships began to thunder, the British, French and American ships firing their royal salutes together, while every ship hoisted the royal standard and broke out a mass of color from stem to stern. The Indomitable advanced majestically, with sailors and marines ranged along the gun deck. As she swung alongside the New Hampshire the colossal magnitude and power of the British ship stood out in bold relief against the American battleship, which looked like a delicate white yacht beside the truly monstrous engine of destruction. Back of her came the Minotaur, another naval colossus.

Prince Is Pleased.

At 4 o'clock the battleships again roared a salute as the prince disembarked from his ship and came ashore. He wore the uniform of an admiral. His face wore a pleased smile at the echoing shouts of the people, the rattling of the saluting arms and the strains of the British national anthem. One of the first glimpses the prince got as he stepped ashore was a bevy of English, French and American women in beautiful toilets, ranged in terraced seats before the landing stage, including Mrs. Fairbanks, wife of the vice president, and Mrs. Cowles, wife of the admiral and sister of President Roosevelt.

Laurier Voices Welcome.

Premier Laurier delivered to the prince an address of welcome, in which he assured him of the unswerving loyalty and devotion of Canada to the king and its united resolution to promote the interests of the empire. The prince responded in a happy vein, speaking both English and French, extending the good wishes of his royal father to Canada and making pleasant allusion to the loyalty of English and French Canadians alike. The ceremonies concluded, the prince was driven in an open carriage through the streets, lined with soldiers and packed with people, to the citadel, where the royal quarters are established during his week's stay.

AYLWARD HAS AN OPPONENT

A. J. Schmitz of Milwaukee Wants to Be Democratic Nominee for Governor of Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, July 23.—What at the outset promised to be a harmonious gathering of democrats in state convention was changed in sentiment, at least among a number of delegates, by the announcement of A. J. Schmitz of Milwaukee of his candidacy for governor in opposition to John A. Aylward of Madison. The opposition to Mr. Aylward finally united on the Milwaukee man yesterday and after a careful review of the situation Mr. Schmitz consented to make the race.

The contest for first place on the ticket seems to be the only spirited one at the present time.

The opening session of the convention was purely routine in character and, aside from the adoption of resolutions of sympathy for Col. William F. Vilas of Madison in his illness, was devoted to the delivery of the keynote speech of Temporary Chairman Melvin A. Hoyt of Milwaukee. Mr. Hoyt, in his speech, flayed all opposing parties without mincing words. Among other things, he referred to the Prohibition party as the one-idea party and said that were it not for the moral urgency its adherents feel the drink question imposes on them to organize a party, there would be no Prohibition party. All other questions would be met for them in alliance with other parties.

After the announcement of the several committees a recess was taken until 9 o'clock this morning.

St. Paul, July 23.—"There will be more grain of all kinds grown throughout the Northwest as conditions stand to-day than there was last year," said James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern, yesterday. "If some unfortunate condition does not arrive the increase will be from 5 to 10 per cent over the last year's crop.

"The Red river valley, which during the past few years has not made a very good showing, will do much better this year. West of the mountains the crop will be light."

When asked what the Canadians will have to offer for the market, Mr. Hill said their crop will undoubtedly be larger than ever.

PROHIBITIONISTS NOMINATE A TICKET

E. W. Chafin, Chicago, Named for President and A. S. Watkins for Vice President.

CONVENTION GETS INTO SNARL

Columbus, Ohio, July 18. — For president, Eugene W. Chafin, Chicago; for vice president, Aaron S. Watkins, Ada, Ohio.

The above ticket was nominated yesterday by the Prohibitionist national convention, both men being chosen unanimously. The full indorsement of the convention was not, however, given to Mr. Chafin until after three ballots had been taken. On the first two ballots Mr. Chafin did not show a great amount of strength, receiving but 195 out of 1,083 votes on the first, and 376 out of 1,087 on the second ballot. On the third ballot he received a total of 636 votes. The strongest competitor of Mr. Chafin was Rev. William B. Palmore of St. Louis, who received 274 votes on the first ballot and 418 on the second ballot.

Gets Into a Snarl.

The convention up to this time had run smoothly and without the slightest friction. It was decided to make Mr. Palmore the vice presidential nominee and he was named by acclamation. He declined to accept the office, however, and persisted in his attitude despite the strong urgings of his friends. The convention, finding itself confronted with the necessity of naming another vice presidential candidate and many of the delegates being anxious to catch the early night trains for their homes, became involved in a deep parliamentary tangle. The rules were several times suspended and the suspensions immediately revoked. Finally it was decided that Prof. Aaron S. Watkins of Ada, Ohio, should be named by acclamation. There was no opposition to him at the moment, and Chairman Charles Scanlon was on the verge of declaring Prof. Watkins the nominee when delegates in various parts of the hall broke in with a flood of motions, counter-motions, amendments and suspensions of the rules.

Watkins Nominated.

An extended debate followed, which finally resulted in the restoration of the rules and a ballot for the vice presidency. Three men were named, Prof. Watkins, T. B. Demaree of Kentucky and Charles S. Roller of Indiana. The ballot resulted in the natio nof Prof. Watkins by an overwhelming majority, and he was immediately thereafter, upon motion of the Kentucky delegates, made the unanimous choice of the convention.

Both the presidential and vice presidential nominees are candidates for governor in their respective states on the Prohibition tickets.

The forenoon session of the convention was devoted to the discussion and adoption of a brief platform, which is probably the shortest on record, containing not more than 350 words.

Would Recover Shells.

Chicago, Ill., July 19.—The government of the Philippine Islands has begun suit in the superior court here to attach a collection of 20,000 shells which is now in the Academy of Science in Lincoln Park. The proceeding seeks satisfaction for a claim of $2,500 against Joseph F. Quardas, owner of the collection, formerly a resident of Manila, but now living at La Junillas, Cuba.

New President Popular.

Panama, July 19—If any doubt existed regarding the popularity and prestige of Domingo de Obaldia, the newly elected president of the Panama republic it was dispelled last night when a group of native women, garbed in the quaint "pollera, '55," the national dress of Panama, marched to the residence of Senor Obaldia to present him a "presidential sash."

How They Found Out.

When the Lawtons had lived in Willow Park about a month they were invited to a succession of little dinners at the houses of their new neighbors Mr. Lawton was on a dyspeptic's diet and Mrs. Lawton was endeavoring to reduce her weight. "I suppose we shall have to eat all sorts of things we don't wish or else seem rude," said Mrs. Lawton mournfully as they set out for the first dinner.

To their growing surprise, the bills of fare placed before them at each dinner, although not remarkably varied, were all composed of such dishes as they could both enjoy.

"I don't see how you all hit on just the right things when Mr. Lawton and I really are such difficult guests," said Mrs. Lawton in a burst of confidence one afternoon when the neighbors were taking tea with her.

The ladies looked at each other, and then one of them spoke.

"You know Mary Sloan, who comes to wash for you Tuesday mornings?" she said. "Well, I have her Mondays, and Mrs. Green has her Wednesdays, and she irons for Mrs. Porter Thursdays and scrubs for Miss Homer Fridays, so you see"—

The County Agricultural School

The St. Hilaire Commercial Club held a special meeting last Wednesday evening which was one of the largest and most enthusiastic in its history; the meeting being called for the purpose of seeing what could be done to secure a county agricultural school located at St. Hilaire. The site for such a school to be donated by the village.

This question was originally agitated by local business men here and they are responsible for the movement, already on foot, to establish such a school in this county.

The meeting was called to order by Pres. Cummings and after the usual business routine, the subject of the county agricultural school was taken up.

Jens Nelson, who is the real originator of this movement, clearly outlined how the building of such a school was made possible by an act of the recent legislature, and its purpose, and closed by reading a letter from the speaker of the house of the Minnesota State legislature, which read as follows:

Minneapolis, Minn., July 17. 1908
Hon. City Mayor,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

My Dear Sir:

A few days ago I noticed by an article in the Minneapolis Journal, that the people of your city have presented, or will present, a petition to the County Board for the purpose of having the people of your county vote on the question of establishing a county agricultural school at St. Hilaire.

In this connection will say that you may be aware that I claim title as being the originator of this grade of school in the state of Minnesota, having advocated it for some eight or ten years, and I am inclined to think that the law under which you propose to act is the one introduced by myself which I succeeded in having passed, and which is now the law of the State, namely, that the proposition of establishing a school of this kind must be voted on by the people before the County Commissioners are allowed to inaugurate a school of this kind.

Will state further in this connection, that I am more than ever interested in aiding in establishing this grade of agricultural schools in the state of Minnesota, as I firmly believe that within ten years, after, say a dozen schools were established in different counties in this state, it would be such a beneficent aid to the farming communities as this state has never heretofore experienced.

Thus believing, I would be very glad to aid you in any way possible and I hereby gladly offer my services to make one or two addresses in your county in the near future should you desire to have me come.

Before closing please permit me to state that the first county agricultural school coming to my notice was established in the state of Wisconsin under the advise of Prof. L. D. Harvey. former Superintendent of Public instruction of that state, who is now Supt. of the Stout Training School at Menominee, and should you feel disposed to address Mr. Harvey on this subject I assure you that he will give you a world of information which will aid you o carry your vote in the County.

Very respectfully yours,
L. H. Johnson,
Speaker House of Rep.

According to the act of the legislature, referred to above, a petition, bearing the names of at least fifteen per cent of the voters of the county, must be presented to the county commissioners petitioning them to call a special election, and the following committees were appointed to circulate the petition to secure the required number of signatures which in this case will be about six hundred.

Jens Nelson, Herman Adams; Wylie and west.

J. C. Cummings, K. O. Gigstad; Thief River Falls and north.

R. V. Lewis, O. F. Post; St. Hilaire and vicinity.

C. L. Hanson, Nap Miller; Terrebone and vicinity.

Chas. J. Fellman, T. J. Sumpter; Plummer and east.

C. H. Martz, O. H. Olson; Red Lake Falls and south.

The petition when presented will petition for the special election to be held on the same day as the general election this fall.

The Thief River Falls Press in commenting on the proposed county agricultural school says:

"A Thief River Falls correspondent of the city papers writing under date of July 15th, states that the people of St. Hilaire will, it is announced. circulate a petition to the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, asking that the question of bonding the county for the establishment and maintenance of a county agricultural school be submitted to the voters, at the regular election this fall. The petition will require the signature of 15 per cent of the total vote cast at the last election. This number can be obtained without difficulty, as the farmers of the county are very much in favor of the move.

WYLIE NEWS

Two car loads of oats were shipped out of here this week.

Wylie drew another special train Wednesday—the second time so far this month.

At the school meeting last Saturday all the old officers of District No. 1 were re-elected.

A few nice showers of rain fell Sunday, which was badly needed after the drouth of four weeks.

C. B. Cruzon was elected manager of the Farmers Elevator for another year at the directors meeting last Friday.

Mrs. Sam Leppert and children, of Sarles, N. D., arrived Tuesday and will make an extended visit with the Eckstein family.

County Commissioner Lindquist passed through here Monday enroute the county seat to attend to some business matters of importance.

It looks now as though Wylie and the farmers will have telephone connections with St. Hilaire on or before Oct. 1st. Its a good thing, push it along.

The Sandberg boys of Crookston had hard luck Monday with their automobile, as it broke down a couple of miles west of here and they were compelled to drive to Crookston after some repairs before they could make it move. They all run up against it some time or another and have to rely upon "Old Dobin" to haul them home.

Slug 30.

The Loquacious Swain.

Mr. Backwoods had called for the first time to escort Miss Bumpkin to the weekly prayer meeting. An excess of timidity and self-consciousness reduced both to a point of absolute silence until at last and with visible effort, as the "meeting house" is neared, the gallant summons all his courage.

"Do you like stewed rabbits?" he hazards.

"Yes," returns the maiden, coyly.

Again silence, until on the return journey the home lights are sighted, when, with another mighty effort, the resourceful swain asks, feelingly:

"Ain't the gravy nice?"

And, yet there are those that maintain that country folk sometimes seem at a loss for conversational topics.—Bohemian Magazine.

The Key to Domestic Peace.

"Tell me, do you love me?"

A tense silence followed the passionate words. The woman bent toward him with hand pressed to her bosom. Her very life seemed to hang upon the answer.

At last he spoke:

"Yes, I love you!"

And earnestness calculated to dispel all haunting doubts was in his answer, the same he had given her every day of their 40 years of married life. For it is the nature of woman to keep on asking.

His Great Fault.

"Yes," said the would-be-author. "I've taken a house in the country, but it will be necessary for me to engage a gardener. There's quite a plot of ground around the house; too much for me to handle."

"Yes," replied Crittick, "you never could handle a plot, could you?"

Campaign Candor.

"You don't get angry when people refuse to indorse your opinions?"

"Certainly not," answered the orator. "Every four years or so I am liable to have to decline to indorse some of my own opinions."

PACKAGE WAS OF SOME VALUE

Gave Mrs. Potter an Opportunity She Had Long Desired.

"You know you've often told me that I'm one of those who are always letting good chances slip by me," Mr. Potter remarked complacently to his wife, on his return from a week's visit to the city. "Don't you recall it, Mandy?"

"I may have been driven to it once or twice," admitted Mrs. Potter. "What's that you've got in your hands, William?"

"This little package," said Mr. Potter, solemnly, "cost me $1.40, and I don't know what's in it. Wait!" He held up his hand as Mrs. Potter opened her mouth with evident intent to reproach him.

"Fred took me to one of the sales of unclaimed packages at the big railway office one day. Folks have to bid just what they think best; nobody knows what's in anything. But Fred and I could both tell about this. Sealed up on both ends as 'tis, we knew 'twas something valuable, and being so light, we concluded 'twas probably some piece o' women's jewelry. Fred said that if it hadn't been a pouring rain, so that few were there, I wouldn't have had any part of a chance; 'twould have run away up in dollars. Here, you open it.

"I told Fred I'd give him the credit," Mr. Potter went on, as his wife pried off the seals with a pair of scissors. "He's used to such things, and knows when to take and when to let go. So you see—"

Mr. Potter's voice trailed off into silence as his wife removed the wrapping paper from a small pasteboard box and opened it, held out to him a little yellow bottle, tightly packed with pale yellow tablets.

"Two every hour till the pain is relieved," read Mr. Potter with a faltering tongue, from the label on the bottle held toward him by his wife. "My land, and you wouldn't durst to take one of 'em, not knowing what they're for!"

"Here, you put all this truck in the fire!" commanded Mrs. Potter. "And you needn't trouble to notify your nephew Fred. I'll write him this afternoon. There are a number of things I've been wanting to say to him for some time."—Youth's Companion.

A fire alarm was turned in Monday evening at about 7:30 in response to a call from Mrs. Atwood's restaurant where a gasoline stove had gotten the better of an argument. In trying to shut off the flow of gasoline it was turned on and a flame shot up which threatened to play havoc with the building and its contents. About a minute's work with the chemical engine, however, set matters to rights and the building was none the worse for its experience.

T. J. Sumpter, R. V. Lewis, Dave Collins and Dr. Swanson went to Thief River Falls to appear as witnesses in the court of Municipal Judge Bishop where the two former were suing G. H. Sandum for certain commission money that he was alleged to have agreed to pay the plaintiffs on a certain land deal which they secured for him. After the deal had been consummated Mr. Sandum denied ever having agreed to pay any commission, hence, the litigation. Messrs. Collins and Swanson were also witnesses to the agreement and Judge Bishop returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. Mr. Sandum was ordered to pay the commission, amounting to $110, and also the costs.

Society of Equity Started Here

C. O. Drayton, of Greenville, Ill., and State President of the Illinois branch of the American Society of Equity, addressed the farmers and business men of St. Hilaire in the village hall last Wednesday afternoon.

The speaker showed clearly the difficulties with which farmers contend and a practical remedy for overcoming them.

He is working for a business organization of farmer which educates them to follow business methods in marketin their great crops, an organization that gives every farmer the power to ask and get a profitable price for every crop. He is a clear, forcible speaker and every farmer ought to come in and hear him at the next meeting Friday afternoon, July 31st, at 1 o'clock in the village hall in St. Hilaire.

A "Scrap" at a Funeral

A heated discussion at a funeral is indeed a very unusual as well as amusing occurence at the present age. But such was the case at a funeral held in the town of ——— but a short while ago.

Mourners were notified, after the people had already gathered, that the sermon would not be held in the church because of the absence of their own minister. After a great deal of arguing the minister called for the occasion, was permitted to enter the church to preach the sermon, but he was not allowed to give a last prayer or word of thanks as the body of the deceased was lowered to its final resting place.

What think you was the cause of disturbance, the ignorance of the trustees or the laws governing their religion? The former we should say.

In the days of our forefathers religious riots were common but at this day it appeals to us as ignorance on the part of true and professed christians.

Special From Thief River

Crookston Journal, Monday, July 26:—Plans are being made for a special train to be run to Crookston from Thief River Falls Sunday next, bringing the ball team from that place and a large number of rooters.

There is also talk of having the Red Lake Falls ball team come down and play a double header, the first game between the Crookston and Red Lake Falls and the second between the Crookston and Thief River Falls teams. If this is done the fans will witness a regular baseball festival for one admission.

Later

Since setting up the above we have been informed by Agent Borneman that the special will be run leaving Thief River Falls at 9:30 tomorrow morning. This means that it will arrive in St. Hilaire at 10 o'clock or thereabouts. It will leave Crookston on the return trip at 8:30 p. m.

A large delegation from this village have signified their intention of making this trip as it will afford them an opporto spend the day elsewhere without too long a stay. This will be one of those rare occasions when we can travel to Crookston and back again on the same day.

Some Warm Weather Salads

"One of the prettiest of the luncheon or supper salads is made by cutting the top from a green pepper, removing the seeds with a knife or stick—they burn the skin if touched with the fingers—and filling the basket thus made with chicken or lobster salad," says Christine Terhune Herrick in the August Woman's home Companion. "Each pepper may be placed on a lettuce leaf and crowned with a spoonful of mayonnaise. Another salad is prepared by hollowing a tomato and filling it with dice of cucumber, or peeling a cucumber, cutting it in half lengthwise, scooping out the inside, and replacing this with dice of tomatoes. Serve either tomato or cucumber on a lettuce leaf, and garnish with cucumber ribbons, These are made by shaving the peel from the outside of a cucumber and then slicing this. Take a slice—it should be rather thick—and with a sharp knife cut this in a spiral,—as you would pare an apple. The shaving must be very thin, as it is not long before the seedy center is reached, and only the flesh of the cucumber will serve for the ribbons. Cucumber boats filled with shrimps are a satisfactory dish for a cold supper. Mayonnaise is served with this, or a good boiled dressing. The cucumbers halved and filled with other sliced sliced or diced cucumber, served on lettuce, garnished with cucumber ribbons and with strips of the scarlet sweet pepper cut very thin, make a good dish."

Big Trio of Speakers

Two presidential nominees, former Secretary of War Taft, and William Jennings Bryan, are to be among the speakers of the Minnesota State Fair Aug. 31 to Sept. 5, if the plans of the board of managers made during their regular meeting of July 2 are carried out successfully. At that meeting, President B. F. Nelson, Vice President C. Milton Griggs, and Secretary C. N. Cosgrove were made a committee to extend formally, and through personal friends, an invitation to both of these political luminaries to address the people of the Minnesota State Fair this year. There seems to be little doubt but that the invitations will be accepted in each case, as Mr. Taft speaks at Omaha Aug. 31, and would doubtless be glad to come to the Minnesota State Fair during that week, and it is presumed that William Jennings Bryan will be glad of the opportunity to speak in Gov. Johnson's own balliwick.

The official telegraphic correspondence between President B. F. Nelson of the Minnesota State Fair and Mr. Bryan is interesting reading.

Mr. Nelson telegraphed July 10 as follows:

"William Jennings Bryan, Lincoln, Neb.

"The State of Minnesota, whose favorite son, John A. Johnson, aspired to the honor which is now yours, invites you, through the board of managers, Minnesota State Fair, to address the people on the State Fair grounds Monday, Aug. 31.

"Gov. Johnson joins us in assuring you that your welcome will be none the less cordial because the Democratic national convention, 1908, preferred you to our governor as the presidential nominee of the Democratic party for the campaign of 1908.

"We are awaiting to announce your coming to our people.

—"B. F. Nelson, President.
—"C. N. Cosgrove, Secretary."

To which Mr. Bryan replied with the following telegram:

"B. F. Nelson, State Fair Association.

"I very much appreciate your invitation, but cannot make any promises to dates during the fall campaign without consulting the national committee. Will consider the matter later. See letter. My compliments to Gov. Johnson.

—"W. J. Bryan."

Gov. Johnson has already signified his willingness to speak at the State Fair, and it is probable that he will be the first speaker of the week.

The coming of this famous trio of statesmen will add significance to the State Fair of 1908, and will doubtless do a great deal to increase the attendance.

HIRED HEADGEAR FOR WEDDING.

In a little shop near Clement's Inn there lives a veteran hatmaker of 82 summers who hopes that the day of the top hat will come again this year.

Piled against the panes of the window fronting Hougton street are rows of silk hats of varying shapes and degrees of glossiness. In front two handbills, bearing the imprint of an old-time printer of Bouverie street, announce that Christopher Clarke has for sale a variety of silk hats, ranging in price from 4s. 6d. to 10s. 6d. each. On a circular board hung over the door, it is stated, that silk hats may be "hired for weddings and funerals."

"Trade is nothing like what it was," he confided yesterday to a member of our staff, "and orders for silk hats are not nearly so plentiful as they were when I started in the business in 1834. A good hat doesn't wear out every day, and it can be remade quite equal to new."

The lending of hats, he added, is not a very important or lucrative branch of the business, and it was only adopted three or four years ago to assist in retaining some of the trade that was slipping away. One shilling per day is charged for the lian of a smart up-to-date hat for use at a wedding or other social function.

Bishop's Story of Tact.

The late Bishop James Newburn Fitzgerald, in an address in St. Louis, once declared that sympathy, far more than eloquence or learing, made for success in the ministry.

"To many of us, through lack of sympathy," he said, "say the worst, the most inappropriate things. Thus a young Baptist friend of mine, condoling with a housebreaker in jail, droned: 'Ah; my friend, let us remember that we are here to-day and gone to-morrow.'

"'You may be; I won't,' the housebreaker answered shortly."

DROPPED COFFEE

Doctor Gains 20 Pounds on Postum.

A physician of Wash., D. C., says of his coffee experience:

"For years I suffered with periodical headaches which grew more frequent until they became almost constant. So severe were they that sometimes I was almost frantic. I was sallow, constipated, irritable, sleepless; my memory was poor, I trembled and my thoughts were often confused.

"My wife, in her wisdom, believed coffee was responsible for these ills and urged me to drop it. I tried many times to do so, but was its slave.

"Finally Wife bought a package of Postum, and persuaded me to try it, but she made it same as ordinary coffee and I was disgusted with the taste. (I make this emphatic because I fear many others have had the same experience.) She was distressed at her failure and we carefully read the directions, made it right, boiled it full 15 minutes after boiling commenced, and with good cream and sugar, I liked it—it invigorated and seemed to nourish me.

"This was about a year ago. Now I have no headaches, am not sallow, sleeplessness and irritability are gone, my brain clear and my head steady. I have gained 20 lbs. and feel I am a new man.

"I do not hesitate to give Postum due credit. Of course dropping coffee was the main thing, but I had dropped it before, using chocolate, cocoa and other things to no purpose.

"Postum not only seemed to act as an invigorant, but as an article of nourishment, giving me the needed phosphates and albumens. This is no imaginary tale. It can be substantiated by my wife and her sister, who both changed to Postum and are hearty women of about 70.

"I write this for the information and encouragement of others, and with a feeling of gratitude to the inventor of Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

CHICAGO WINS BALLOON RACE

Long Distance and Endurance Medals Are Captured by Col. Coey of Chicago.

ALL BAGS LAND IN SAFETY

St. Palu, July 21.—The great international balloon race, the third ever held in the United States, is over, with the mammoth Chicago, piloted by its owner, Charles A. Coey of Chicago, the winner, and the American, the St. Paul balloon, piloted by Capt. Percy S. Hudson and N. P. Will, second. The United States of Minneapolis finished third, the champion Pommern fourth and the baby King Edward fifth.

The Chicago won both the long-distance and endurance medals.

Although fourth in the long-distance race, the Pommern was second in the endurance tests, remaining in the air sixteen hours and fifteen minutes.

Chicago Stays Up Longest.

The Chicago stayed in the air seventeen hours and twenty minutes, covering a distance of eighty-five miles and landing in a field three miles east of Blooming Prairie, Minn., at 12 o'clock yesterday noon.

The American, which finished second, sailed seventy miles, to Owatonna, Minn., remaining in the air four hours and forty-two minutes and landing in a field two miles east of the village at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

The United States, sailing for four hours and fifteen minutes, covered a distance of sixty-two miles, coming down at 10 o'clock of the same evening at West Concord, Minn.

The Pommern, remaining in the air sixteen hours and fifteen minutes, traversed a distance of only sixty-one miles, owing to shifting air currents, and landed at 10:30 yesterday morning, eight miles east of Warsaw, Minn.

The King Edward, which finished last, remained in the air only one hour and ten minutes, landing three miles south of Hampton, Minn., a distance of twenty-nine miles, at 6 o'clock Saturday night.

All the trips were attended by the best fortune and the landings made without serious accident.

Constant Fight to Keep Up.

From the time the balloons cast off it was a constant fight on the parts of the aeronauts to keep them in the air when night set in and the damp contracted the gas. Further flight was impossible in the case of the first three bags to take flight. The Pommern and Chicago succeeded in remaining in the air over night, but flew so low that their guide ropes dragged along the ground, catching in fences and trees.

Some idea of the difference in the flights of this race and those of the two previous races may be gained from the fact that the Pommern at the St. Louis race sailed 870 miles, remaining in the air forty hours, while in the last race it covered but sixty-one miles and remained in the air a little over sixteen hours.

The American stayed in the air twenty-three hours in the Chicago race, covering over 400 miles, while in the last race it remained afloat not quite five hours and sailed seventy miles.

Put Blame of Gas.

The aeronauts and A. Leo Stevens, balloon manufacturer and one of the expert air sailors of the world, attributes the poor flights to the gas, which they claim had a lifting capacity of only about fifteen pounds to 1,000 cubic feet, while the gas required by the balloons should have a lifting power of forty-five to fifty pounds for a thousand feet.

The start of the balloon race, which came as the final event of a week that has been devoted to festivities and pageantry incident to the conclave of Shriners in St. Paul, was witnessed Saturday afternoon by thousands of people.

CAPTURE NAKED MANIAC.

Man Does Not Know His Name, but Says He Is an Asylum Fugitive.

La Crosse, Wis., July 21. — The crazy man who has been scaring residents of the vicinity of Viroqua has been captured near the home of Joseph de Vorde, near Genoa. He went naked for several days and says he escaped from some asylum late in May. He does not know his name or where he came from.

Home Is Burned.

East Grand Forks, Minn., July 21.—The residence of George Coulter, five miles east of here, was destroyed by fire. The blaze started from the stove. The loss on the house and furniture is $3,000.

Aged Bather Drowned.

Crookston, Minn., July 21. — Swen Larson, seventy years old, was drowned in the Lost river near his home a few miles south of Plummer. The man was in bathing when the accident occurred.

Miner Killed.

Calumet, Mich., July 19.—While riding on a loaded skip, contrary to rules, Antti Wanhatela, aged thirty-one, was killed in No. 7 shaft of the Quincy mine. He was a Finn and single. He fell 150 feet.

Body Is Found Hanging in Shed.

St. Paul, July 19.—The body of a man thought to be James Lindsay of Deer River, Minn., was found hanging in a stonecutter's shed at the foot of Chestnut street early yesterday morning.

ROBBERS ARE NEARLY LYNCHED

Aberdeen, S. D., July 22.—As a result of the blowing of the safe in James Wrigley's lumber yard at Mobridge last night four men who were seized by citizens who were attracted to the scene of the robbery narrowly escaped lynching.

Following the methods recently employed by cracksmen in the Northwest, the robbers relied in a degree on their ability to fight their way clear of pursuers. But when the alarm was given and a large number of men hurried to the lumber yard they found the four alleged cracksmen.

Mobridge prides itself on its freedom from crime. The younger element in the party that captured the prisoners urged that an example be made of the alleged robbers in order that there might be no reign of crime such as has struck some towns of Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Had a rope been immediately at hand it is doubtful if the cooler headed ones could have prevented a lynching. Only assurance that prosecution would not be delayed stayed the hands that would have taken the suspected men's lives.

As a result the four prisoners were arraigned in a few hours after their capture and bound over to the next term of court.

W. F. VILAS SERIOUSLY ILL.

Former Senator and Member of Cleveland's Cabinet Not Expected to Live.

Madison, Wis., July 22. — Former United States senator and member of President Cleveland's cabinet, William F. Vilas, yesterday suffered a hemorrhage of the brain and his condition is said to be serious.

Mr. Vilas' condition was considered so serious that relatives in Milwaukee were telephoned to come at once. Mr. Vilas was stricken about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, some time before his usual time for arising. Physicians were summoned at once, and after a thorough examination of his condition suggested that the members of his family and close relatives be summoned to his side.

Mr. Vilas is in the neighborhood of seventy years old and has lived a retired life for several years past.

CROPS WILL BE BUMPER.

Railroad Officials Are Optimistic Over Conditions.

St. Paul, July 22. — The Northwest is to have a bumper crop, say railroad officials. In some sections, especially Ward, Williams and McHenry counties in North Dakota, the crop will be the largest in years. It was in this section that the crop was reported to have been burnt during the last hot spell, but the rain came just in time to save it. The grain is headed and never looked better, says one man who has just completed a trip through that section.

In the Red river valley, between Grand Forks and Fargo, the wheat and oats are short, but the yield will be good, nevertheless.

$1,000 PACKAGE IS LOST.

One of Three Disappears From Des Moines Express Office.

Des Moines, July 22. — A package containing $1,000 has disappeared from the Des Moines office of the Adams Express company. It was one of three similar packages, understood to have been consigned by a local bank to an outside address. The other two reached their destination without mishap, but this one has completely vanished.

After a search of three days, Supt. Swift of the Adams company returned to Chicago with the mystery of the disappearance still unsolved.

Arrest Alleged Burglar.

Central City, S. D., July 22. — Another of the long series of robberies that have occurred through this section recently resulted in the arrest of John Burns. Burns is charged with breaking into the store of J. W. McDonald of this place and stealing all of the stock he could carry off.

Drowned in Pearl Lake.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 22.—Mrs. Mary J. Moore, who resided in Lake Tunice township, on the northern border of this county, was drowned in Pearl lake. She had started for the home of a neighbor and is supposed to have stopped to examine home grape vine on the shore of the lake and to have fallen in.

Justice Is Swift.

Yankton, S. D., July 22. — Within four days after his arrest here Dudley E. Chapman, the cracksman and jailbreaker from Le Mars, Iowa, was on his way to Sioux Falls to begin serving a two-year term in state's prison. He pleaded guilty to burglary.

Explosion Fatal to Two.

Joplin, Mo., July 22. — Two men were killed and a third seriously hurt yesterday by a premature explosion in the Red Dog mine at Webb City.

CRUSHER BREAKS ALL RIBS.

Master Mechanic Who Falls Into Machine Nearly Meets Death.

Deadwood, S. D., July 18. — When Knute Howland, master mechanic at the Golden Reward mill, lost his balance while feeding the crusher, he plunged headlong into the big machine and was picked out with every rib broken. The crusher is used to reduce the size of the ore and Howland had a narrow escape from being pulverized. He is not believed to be internally injured.

AN HONEST DOCTOR ADVISED PE-RU-NA.

Mr. Sylvester E. Smith, Room 218, Granite Block, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "Peruna is the best friend a sick man can have.

"A few months ago I came here in a wretched condition. Exposure and dampness had ruined my once robust health. I had catarrhal affections of the bronchial tubes, and for a time there was a doubt as to my recovery.

"My good honest old doctor advised me to take Peruna, which I did and in a short time my health began to improve very rapidly, the bronchial trouble gradually disappeared, and in three months my health was fully restored.

"Accept a grateful man's thanks for his restoration to perfect health."

Pe-ru-na for His Patients.

A. W. Perrin, M. D. S., 980 Halsey St., Brooklyn, N. Y., says:

"I am using your Peruna myself, and am recommending it to my patients in all cases of catarrh, and find it to be more than you represent. Peruna can be had now of all druggists in this section. At the time I began using it, it was unknown."

Adopted Humor.

Miss Gusch—He's so awfully witty; he makes so many original remarks. Don't you think so?

Mr. Knox—No.

Miss Gusch—You don't? Why?

Mr. Knox—Probably it's because I subscribe to the same comic paper that he reads.—Philadelphia Press.

The Roll Call.

"Well?" said the teacher, encouragingly.

"Father cat, mother cat, and three little kittens?"—Hebrew Standard.

ITCHING HUMOR ON BOY

His Hands Were a Solid Mass, and Disease Spread All Over Body —Cured in 4 Days By Cuticura.

"One day we noticed that our little boy was all broken out with itching sores. We first noticed it on his little hands. His hands were not as bad then, and we didn't think anything serious would result. But the next day we heard of the Cuticura Remedies being so good for itching sores. By this time the disease had spread all over his body, and his hands were nothing but a solid mass of this itching disease. I purchased a box of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, and that night I took the Cuticura Soap and lukewarm water and washed him well. Then I dried him and took the Cuticura Ointment and anointed him with it. I did this every evening and in four nights he was entirely cured. Mrs. Frank Donahue, 208 Fremont St., Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 16, 1907."

Competition.

"Mrs. Jones had a most delicious bit of scandal to tell Mrs. Brown, and the latter wouldn't give her a chance to let go of it."

"I thought she reveled in such things."

"She does."

"Why wouldn't she hear it?"

"The time was short, and she had some scandal that she wanted to tell herself."

Sure Proofs.

"I should think a clockmaker's business was a very uncertain one."

"Why so?"

"Because it is a business that runs on tick, and one engaged in it is always sure of a strike coming, with the daily prospect of a wind-up."—Baltimore American.

We Bet She Got Both.

"John, I want a new spring hat."

"But, my dear, you haven't any new gown to go with it."

"Then I want a new gown."

"How absurd you are! What's the use of a new gown when you haven't a new hat to wear with it?"

Caught Him.

Mrs. Dearborn—Did you ever catch your husband flirting?

Mrs. Wabash—Once.

"What did you do to him?"

"Married him."

PARASOLS FOR MEN.

New Fashions Observed at Recent Race Meeting in England.

Rumor has it that mere man is about to take a leaf out of woman's book, and at the risk of ridicule protect his head from the rays of the summer sun with the parasol.

The rumor is confirmed by some West end shopkeepers, who profess to have done a good business in the last few days in sunshades specially designed for man's use. The shades are, of course, not the elaborate article used by the lady of fashion, but the plain, unadorned specimen often used by man in tropical countries.

At some of the recent race meetings a few well dressed men have been bold enough to start the fashion, and at Ascot a gentleman having borrowed a pretty shade from a fair companion was not ashamed to take advantage of it.

On Ralph Stuart's recent visit to Portland he told this story of his boys: Upon the birth of the youngest boy the proud father escorted the eldest lad (aged five years) to the crib where the sleeping infant lay.

"Yes," he replied, hesitatingly; "but gee! ain't he sunburnt!"

INDEPENDENTS NAME A TICKET

Hisgen of Massachusetts and Graves of Georgia Are First Candidates.

BRYAN'S NAME STARTS ROW

President — Thomas L. Hisgen of Massachusetts.

Vice President — John Temple Graves of Georgia.

The friends of Mr. Bryan made an effort during the night session to bring the name before the convention and the man who attempted it nearly produced a riot and narrowly escaped physical violence at the hands of the indignant delegates. The man who sought to place Mr. Bryan in nomination was J. I. Shepard of Fort Scott, Kan. He did not succeed in his mission, for, being called to order by the convention and questioned by Chairman Charles A. Walsh, he admitted that it was his intention to name Mr. Bryan. That was the first and last time he mentioned the name of the Democratic leader.

Hustled Out of Hall.

He was promptly ruled out of order by the chairman, and under the guard of several seargeants-at-arms he was hustled out of the hall, while some of the incensed delegates vainly attempted to strike him with their fists and one of them swung at him savagely with a cane.

The nomination of Mr. Hisgen was made on the third ballot, his chief competitors being Milford W. Howard of Alabama and John Temple Graves of Georgia. Reuben R. Lyon of New York received a complimentary vote on the first ballot, and William Randolph Hearst had forty-nine friends who voted for him on the first two ballots.

The nomination of Mr. Graves was made unanimously, all the other candidates having been withdrawn.

Permanent organization was perfected at the afternoon session, with Charles A. Walsh as permanent chairman.

Platform Is Adopted.

But little work was accomplished at the first session because of a protracted debate among the members of the resolutions committee on the question of how the currency plank should be expressed. The tentative draft of this plank provided for the issuance of all moneys by the government. The platform as presented to the convention demanded the creation of a central governmental bank, through which the currency should pass to the people. The feature of a central bank was strongly distasteful to several members of the committee, some of whom declared they had left the Republican party because of its adherence to this principle, and if the Independence party was going to advocate the same doctrine they might as well return to their original faith.

The platform was, however, accepted by the convention with every demonstration of enthusiasm and the utterances of the party as expressed therein were unanimously indorsed.

TAFT ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION

Cincinnati, July 30.—Officially notified yesterday of his nomination for the presidency by the Republican party, William H. Taft, standing on the portico of his brother's home in this, the city of his nativity, formally accepted the honor, pledged anew his allegiance to the policies of President Roosevelt and declared that the chief function of the next Republican administration will be to clinch what has been already accomplished by the present occupant of the White House. In doing this, however, Mr. Taft pointed out in what is regarded as in his address that there will be serious and difficult work to do principally "to devise ways and means by which the high level of business integrity and obedience to law which he (President Roosevelt) has established may be maintained, and departures from it restrained without undue interference with legitimate business."

A Conservative Note

Mr. Taft attacked the Democratic platform, asserting that most of its declarations either are inconsistent or disingenious. Mr. Bryan's policies were held up as destructive.

Heard by Vast Audience.

The vast audience that heard the candidate, filling porches, lawns and streets surrounding the Taft residence, and seeming not to mind the intense heat, was responsive to Mr. Taft's every mood, and there were loud cries of "No! No!" when he said: "I submit to those most interested, to wage earners, to farmers and to business men, whether the introduction into power of the Democratic party, with Mr. Bryan at its head and with the business destruction that it openly advocates as a remedy for present evils, will bring about the needed confidence for the restoration of prosperity."

Compares Platforms.

Mr. Taft denounced the Democratic anti-injunction plank as "vague and ambiguous," in contrast to the Republican declaration, which he said was "clear and unequivocal." Labor and the rights of labor came in for extensive consideration by Mr. Taft. As to the publicity of contributions for the purpose of carrying on the campaigns, the candidate declared that the selection of a treasurer from the State of New York, bound by the laws of that state as to the publication of such expenditures, assured the position of the Republicans as against the mere declarations of their opponents.

Physical Valuation.

Mr. Taft said he believed in the physical valuation of railroads, as from time to time might be necessary, and that he personally favored the direct election by the people of the United States senators. The latter question, Mr. Taft asserted, could hardly be catalogued as a party issue. Dealing with national expenditures and the charges of a deficit, Mr. Taft declared that the deficit of one year often is more than offset by the surplus of another, and said that under the present administration there has been no deficit, but a surplus, which actually is in the treasury.

The speech of Senator Warner, chairman of the notification committee, was brief and was received with great applause.

Public Holiday.

The occasion of the notification and the acceptance was made a holiday by the residents of Cincinnati, all of whom, without regard to party affiliation, seemed to take some part in the varying demonstrations. There were concerts in the down-town parks, parades, a flag-raising at the Taft household, daylight fireworks, balloon ascensions, automobile rides and receptions for the visiting members of the notification committee, while last night the heavens were ablaze for hours with the varicolored lights of exploding rockets, soaring bombs and surprising effects of the modern fireworker's art.

From the greeting of the morning sun with a series of salutes from the seven hills to the last dying flare in the midnight sky, the day has locally been written down as one of the most notable in the history of the city.

Following the delivery of his speech of acceptance, Mr. Taft was called upon to review a parade of local and visiting militia and political marching clubs, which occupied fifty minutes in passing a given point.

WILL KEEP AFTER STANDARD OIL

To Make Application for Reargument and Modification of Recent Decision.

F. B. KELLOGG IN CONFERENCE

Government's Prosecuting Officers Will Push All Cases in Which Rebating Is Charged.

Lenox, Mass., July 30.—After an all-day conference of the leading government prosecuting officers and Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, one of the special counsel for the government in certain civil suits, it was announced by Attorney General Bonaparte that every effort would be made to secure a revision of the recent decision and opinion of the United States circuit court of appeals in the case of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and that an application for a reargument of the case and a motion for a modification of the opinion would be submitted to that court.

Will Push All Cases.

Although no time is fixed, this action by the government will be taken at the earliest possible moment, while the pending prosecution against the Standard Oil company and all other prosecutions in which the giving or receiving of rebates is charged, will be pressed to trial. The decision to take this action was unanimous on the part of the five men who participated in the conference.

Mr. Kellogg participated in the two conferences which were held yesterday and which ended with the giving out of the following statement by the attorney general:

Bonaparte's Statement.

"The government will make every effort in its power to secure a revision of the recent decision and opinion of the circuit court of appeals in the case of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, either by the court of appeals itself or, if neccessary, by the supreme court of the United States. The gentlemen who have been in consultation with me all unite in my opinion that in the interest of impartial and effective administration of our laws such action on the part of the government is imperatively demanded by the circumstances of the case and the possible consequences if this opinion should stand as authority without question by the government.

Ask for Reargument.

"To this end an application for a reargument of the case and a motion for a modification of the opinion will be submitted to the circuit court of appeals of the United States at the earliest possible moment. Other appropriate steps will be taken afterward, their character to be determined by the court's action upon this application. The pending prosecutions in which the giving or receiving of rebates or offenses of like character are charged will be pressed to trial and judgment by the government with all possible energy, and as promptly as may be practicable. In the view of the government's legal advisers, the reversal of the judgment in the case recently decided in no way affects the merits of that controversy or the necessity and duty of bringing to punishment if possible in this and any other cases any individual or corporation shown to have evaded or defied the law."

BLOW DEPOT SAFE AT KOSS.

Burglars Get $50 in Money and $150 in Stamps.

Menominee, Mich., July 30.—Shortly after midnight unknown men entered the Wisconsin & Michigan railroad depot at Koss, forced their way into the ticket office, covered the safe with a damp cloth and then blew it open with dynamite. Fifty dollars in money belonging to the government, railroad and express companies and $150 worth of stamps were taken. Absolutely no clue to the whereabouts or identification of the robbers has been obtained.

Negro Riddled With Bullets.

Pensacola, Fla., July 30.—Three men are dead and a score are wounded, some probably fatally, when a mob stormed the jail and took out Leander A. Shaw, the negro who yesterday assaulted Mrs. Lillian Davis. The negro was carried to a public square, his body stripped of clothing, hanged and then riddled by a thousand shots.

Robbers Make Big Haul.

New York, July 30. — By robbing mail boxes, raising checks found in letters and cashing them by means of forged indorsements, two young men arrested last night have obtained between $7,000 and $10,000 from more than a score of banks in and near New York within the last six months, the police say.

BANK TELLER SHORT $15,000

Disappears When Inspector Discovers Shortage—Big Sensation at Racine.

Racine, Wis., July 30.—There was a sensation in financial circles here yesterday when it became known that John Schulte, paying teller of the First National bank, was short $15,000 in his accounts and had disappeared. The discovery of the defalcation was made when Bank Inspector Charles Mertens came here on his semi-annual inspection. He had entered a cage with Schulte and found the cash there all right. Suddenly Schulte left the bank and said he would return in a moment. He failed to return and the money in the vault was counted and found to be short $15,000.

Schulte had been with the bank for twenty years, the last year and a half as paying teller. He is from one of the best families in the city and was supposed to be an exemplary young man. His young wife says she knows nothing about the affair nor of his whereabouts.

REAPERS ARE HUMMING.

Spring Wheat Goes Into Shock—Rye and Barley Harvest On.

St. Paul, July 30.—The spring wheat cutting began yesterday in South Dakota. Barley is two-thirds harvested in that state and in Southern Minnesota. Rye cutting has been under way for a week. Farmers have threshed some barley and it is found to be of satisfactory yield and good quality.

Barley is promising well, the hot weather having brought it along to a condition much better than was thought possible of attainment earlier in the season. The oat crop is maintaining its stand and promises well. Contrary to general expectation, there will not be the overwhelming production of hay that was at first indicated. The hay crop will be a good one in some localities, unusually heavy in others, but poor in enough places to bring down the average to a little better than normal.

HEAT CAUSES FOUR DEATHS.

Second Hottest Day of Year Causes Much Suffering in Twin Cities.

St. Paul, July 30.—Four deaths and several prostrations were the net results in this city yesterday of another day of excessive heat. It was the second hottest day of the year. Minneapolis reports several prostrations, but no deaths.

Chicago suffered another humid day yesterday. Two died, one was driven insane and eight were prostrated. The suffering was general throughout the city.

His estimate on the corn yield in North Dakota is 66,000,000 bushels and South Dakota 34,000,000 bushels. He says the corn crop in the seven corn states is 14,000,000 bushels short of last year's yield.

MEETS AWFUL FATE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

G. Winthrop Sands, Stepson of W. K. Vanderbilt, Is Killed in France.

IS A PITIFUL HUMAN WRECK

Sands and Chauffeur Pinned Under Wrecked Car Which Catches Fire From Explosion.

Paris, July 30.—In one of the most terrible automobile accidents in many years in France, G. Winthrop Sands, a stepson of W. K. Vanderbilt, was killed yesterday morning just outside the grounds of Mr. Vanderbilt's beautiful country seat, the Chateau St. Louis de Poissy, twenty miles from Paris.

Mr. Sands was driving his fifty horse-power car along at a terrific clip, in a desire to reach the chateau, where Mrs. Sands and her infant daughter were staying. He had always been known as a reckless driver, and as he had been delayed at railroad crossings, he opened the throttle wide as he approached the chateau grounds.

Wrecked Car Takes Fire.

Almost immediately a tire burst and the machine crashed into a tree, turning turtle and burying Mr. Sands under the forward part and pinning the chauffeur, Pickins, to the ground. An explosion followed and in a moment the car was in flames.

Peasants working in the adjoining fields were the only witnesses to the accident. They rushed to the rescue, but fearing a further explosion of the gasoline tank and deterred by the sweep of the flames they stood idly by, not knowing how to give assistance to the injured men.

Torn, Bleeding and Burned.

Finally they managed to raise the rear of the car and release the chauffeur, both of whose feet had been held tight, and a little later after beating down the fire, they dragged out the torn, bleeding and burned body of Sands.

Help soon arrived from the chateau, which is in the center of Mr. Vanderbilt's great breeding farm. The injured men were carried to the house, where it was found that Sands was beyond hope of recovery but that the chauffeur was not seriously injured.

Pitiful Human Wreck.

A doctor summoned from Poissy arrived soon afterward, but Mr. Sands was beyond mortal aid. Never had he seen, the doctor said, such a pitiful human wreck. The stump of a leg had been burned to a crisp, the face and body were black and seared with flames. In addition to terrible internal injuries, Mr. Sands' right arm and shoulder were broken. The physician could only try to alleviate his sufferings with opiates. Several times the man regained consciousness and cried out in agony, his last words being a cry for water.

The chauffeur says that the car was traveling at the rate of about seventy-five miles an hour when the accident happened.

GRAND LARCENY CHARGED.

Brooklyn Men Used Bank's Money to Bolster South Dakota Concern.

Schroeder, second vice president until Tuesday of the same institution, were arrested yesterday after being indicted on a charge of grand larceny. There are four indictments against each man. Both admit that they took approximately $44,000 of the cash of the company and used the money to keep the Homestake South Extension Mining company, a South Dakota concern, upon its feet.

JUDGE TAFT IS FIRED UPON

Unknown Man Fires at Steamer Carrying Taft and Distinguished Party —Woman Hurt.

Cincinnati, July 30. — It became known publicly yesterday that the steamer Island Queen, which Thursday night conveyed Judge Taft and a distinguished party, including the notification committee, up the Ohio river, was fired upon by an unknown man upon a shanty boat moored on the Ohio side of the river, opposite Dayton, Ky. Several shot from the spent charge hit, but did not seriously injure Mrs. Charles B. Russell of this city, who was standing with her husband near the rail on the deck, directly below where Mr. Taft was at the time standing. An investigation of the affair is being made by the steamboat company. C. B. Russell said:

"I was standing at my wife's side, but none of the shot struck me. It was lucky we were not close to the Ohio shore. I saw the man plainly, and at first thought him merely an enthusiastic celebrator. I do not like to believe that the shot was fired with malicious intent, and it may have been only chance that the spent charge struck just below where Judge Taft was sitting."

WOMAN MURDERED AND BODY BURNED

Finding of Charred Body Reveals Atrocious and [illegible]ly [illegible]

FEATURES DEFACED BY ACID

Woman's Throat Was Cut and Body Wrapped in Oil Soaked Mattress and Fired.

New York, July 30.—In the finding of the half charred body of a young woman early yesterday morning in an isolated section of Williamsburg, Brooklyn, one of the most atrocious and cunningly planned murders that has been given to the police to solve in many years was revealed. Death was caused by a cut across the throat, and then in an endeavor to utterly destroy all evidence of the crime the murderer or murderers wrapped the body in an oil-soaked mattress, poured oil over the victim's clothing and set fire to the bundle. A powerful acid had previously been poured over the face to obliterate the woman's features and make identification impossible.

Two Arrests Made.

Although two arrests have been made, the police do not believe they have in custody any one who can shed any light on the mystery. The prisoners are James Ruddick, an old man who lived in a stable not far away from where the body was found and his son Joseph, a peddler, who discovered the body.

It was James Ruddick who notified the police of the finding of the body. He told three different stories, thus exciting suspicion, and his arrest followed. First, he said that he discovered the body; next he said that an unknown man discovered it, and later he said that the "unknown man" was in reality his son Joseph. This last statement led to the arrest of Joseph.

Old Man Was Rattled.

But the police do not attach much importance to Ruddick's conflicting stories. He is very old and was laboring under great excitement. He will be put through the third degree to-day, however.

Ruddick, who was sleeping with his father in a stable, saw the flames about 4 o'clock yesterday morning and ran out to extinguish the blaze, fearing it might spread to the stable. He was horrified at finding the half-burned corpse tied in the oil-soaked mattress.

Scapular Is Only Clue.

It was impossible at first to tell whether the charred body was that of a woman or man. The sex was disclosed at the coroner's autopsy.

A scapular was found on the murdered woman's breast, and this is about the only clue the police have. It was home-made and larger than is ordinarily worn. With this slight clue the police hope to discover the identity of the victim. She was about thirty years old and had been a mother.

AUTO TOOTS COST HIM $127.

Damages for the "Honk" That Scared Other Men's Horses.

Norristown, Pa.—Damages are recoverable when horses take fright and run away at the sound of an automobile horn, as was decided by a jury in common pleas court in awarding Henry Hoff $127 damages.

On April 28 of last year Mr. Hoff was driving his family to church at Limerick square, when on the Ridge turnpike they met Edmund S. Souder in his automobile. Hoff claims that Souder blew his horn opposite his team, frightening the horses, which upset the carriage and threw out the occupants.

His daughter had an arm injured, one horse had a leg lacerated and the carriage was badly broken. Hoff figured his damages at $245.

Reval an Ancient City.

Reval, where Russian czar and British king met not long ago, is described as a curious outpost of the Russian empire. It is the capital of Esthonia and stands at the entrance of the Gulf of Finland, about 230 miles from St. Petersburg. The town is mainly German, like all other towns in Russia's Baltic provinces, and is of great antiquity. In 1284 it acquired all the privileges of a Hanseatic city. According to an old saying, "Esthonia was an elysium for the nobility, a heaven for the clergy, a mine of gold for the stranger, but a hell for the peasant." Among the strangers who settled there and got themselves included in the Esthonian nobility were military adventurers whose descendants still exist under the name of Douglas, O'Rourke and Lewis. In 1710 Reval surrendered to Peter the Great, who provided it with a military harbor, and it is now one of the chief stations of the Russian navy.

Taxicab a Chinese Invention.

Few persons imagine that the taxicab is an ancient Chinese invention. A far eastern journal, l'Ostasiatische Lloyd, proves by drawings taken from a famous collection, the "Tsanthu-hae," that vehicles kindred to the taxicab existed in China 800 years ago. The "giliguiicha" was fitted with an instrument which sounded on a drum every mile passed. Moreover, the Chinese taximeter was provided with a compass, a desirable adjunct when traveling in a country where routes are not indicated.

SHE GOT THE FURS

SHOWING THE WORKING OF FEMININE DIPLOMACY.

Praise of Grace's Husband Merely Led Up to the Attainment of the Real Desire of Her Heart.

One of the many little humors of married life is thus described. A man's wife had been to call on a friend, and from her had received the most glowing description of the husband of another friend. She came home full of the subject, and proceeded to enlarge upon the virtues of the matrimonial marvel.

"Ellen says he's just a model," she began.

"Marvelous!" said the man.

"Well, it really is, because I know how exasperating Grace can be at times. Whatever Grace does he thinks is exactly right. He never finds fault with her. If she wants him to do anything for her he does it without a murmur, and he's awfully handy. When they were without help he scrubbed all the floors and did the sweeping all the time. He would have cooked, too, if Grace had let him; but he did all the rough, hard work. And he'll sew a button on his clothes any time."

"Does he take care of the baby?"

"There is no baby, but if there was he would. Why shouldn't he?"

"That's the question. Why not?"

"And no matter what she wants, he'll always let her have it. Ellen says she has the loveliest fur set that he gave her. She didn't even ask for it. Just hinted that she would like to have it; and the next thing she knew, it was delivered at the house."

"Am I to understand by this that you want a fur set?"

"You know perfectly well that I don't. If I did it wouldn't be much use hinting for it. If I got it when I asked for it I should be lucky."

"You certainly would," admitted the man.

"Well, I've got one, anyway, and I suppose I'll have to make it do. But don't you think Grace is a lucky girl?"

"I'm sure I don't know," said the man. "Don't they ever quarrel?"

"Quarrel!" exclaimed his wife. "Didn't I tell you just now that he never utters a cross or impatient word?"

"You didn't say a word about Grace."

"It takes two to make a quarrel, doesn't it?"

"Not when you're married. I don't suppose it is quite as satisfactory to a woman if she can't get her husband to lose his temper. You say he doesn't. Then I should say Grace was unfortunate in her choice. You wouldn't like it if you couldn't ever make me mad. You'd miss half the fun, and you know it. Own up, now! Would you want me round the house all the time and doing the family ironing? Wouldn't you want to get rid of me one or two evenings in the week? And how would you know whether the meal was good if I didn't growl when it was bad?"

"Well," said the man's wife, "I don't know that I should want to have you too good, because you might die young, and I don't want you to die. But—"

"What is it?" asked the man.

"Of course, darling, if you did want to get me that set of furs it would be just as cheap in the end, because I'll have to have them next winter, anyway."

WON GREAT ENDURANCE RACE.

Record-Breaking Ride Sixty Years Ago Along Old Santa Fe Trail.

When we come to talking about modern endurance races for sport or for pelf, the present riders can scarcely hold a candle to F. X. Aubrey, who used to do some great stunts on the roof of a bronco. In 1850 he made a bet that he could cover the distance from Santa Fe, N. M., to Independence, Mo., over the old trail in eight days. It is 765 miles between the two points as the freight caravans traveled it, and by that route on a wager of $1,000 Aubrey was to ride.

He succeded in winning, making his destination, the Jones House in Independence, three hours before the expiration of that time. During this his first ride he killed a number of horses, the death of one when within 25 miles of Council Grove compelling him to walk to that place, carrying his saddle on his back, where he obtained another animal.

This feat of Aubrey was regarded as the greatest ride ever made by anyone in ancient or modern times and he became the hero of the incipient border town, Independence, where he was feted and made the lion of the day. His fame spread throughout the entire west, including California, where he was well-known.

Although people marveled much at the wonderful endurance of the man and the remarkable time in which he had made the trip, still Audrey himself was not at all satisfied with it. He determined to break that record, and the following season made another wager of $5,000 in gold that he would do it. He accomplished his record-breaking dash across the great plains in the marvelous time of only five days and thirteen hours.

His objective point was the same hotel to which he had ridden on his former trip. On this ride, when he reached that hostelry, he was perfectly exhausted and in fainting condition, his horse quivering from head to foot and white with foam. Aubrey was lifted from the back of the animal by his friends and carried into his room in the house where he lay in a complete stupor for two days. Six horses, which previous to starting from Santa Fe had been stationed at distances varying from 25 to 50 miles along the route, fell dead under him, so terribly fast had he forced them on.

He possessed a beautiful mare, Nelly, a favorite animal, noted for speed and endurance, but she expired at the end of the first 150 miles. On his last great trip he rode day and night, stopping only long enough to leap from his tired animal and spring on to a fresh one. He made more than 200 miles every 24 hours, and all the sleep he took aggregated but three hours during the entire five days.—Denver Field and Farm.

Alcohol in Potatoes.

An Irishman from Ireland—think of that—told me the other day that in Donegal, in a community of 10,000 people, 700 were insane from eating Irish potatoes; "Wherefore?" said I, ever inquisitive. Replied he: "On account of the alcohol in the potatoes." At which I could not help laughing, as we in America eat only one or two potatoes a day, and two big ones would not produce a grain of alcohol.

"Why, mon," said my friend, "you people in America know absolutely nothing about potatoes. I know an oldish fellow in Donegal whose dinner 365 days in the year consists of 14 pounds of boiled potatoes and a small bit of fish. When he goes to work in the morning he places a large potful on to boil, or rather simmer, and when he comes home in the evening the 'murphies' are done to a turn. Their insides fall out like flour, or meal. He is the healthiest specimen of a mon I ever saw. Why, he can carry an ox on either shoulder. 'Does he drink?' No; he is satisfied with the liquor in the potato."—New York Press.

Queer Freak of Bullets.

A real curiosity, in the shape of one bullet imbedded in another one, is owned by a Mount Washington (Pa.) man, a veteran of the Spanish war and the Boxer rebellion.

The curiosity is an old Springfield lead bullet in which is imbedded one of the new bullets used by the United States army, Krag-Jorgensen. This was picked up at Chickamauga by the man while his regiment was encamped there, waiting for orders to leave for Cuba.

The ground there is full of the old bullets used in target practice, and, as the new Krag bullet is steel-pointed, it is thought the Krag shot fired at target practice, struck and pierced its weaker rival.

This man also served on the United States steamship Wisconsin for several years as gun pointer. Among other things he has gathered a large collection of Chinese coins, a number of which are quite valuable at the present time.

Philadelphia.—A dark gray cloud in the southwestern sky at twilight the other evening was viewed by hundreds of persons along Lehigh avenue. Eight Weasels Attack a Cow.

Hanover, Pa.—Haymakers on the farm of H. A. Sell, near Hanover, noticed a cow in a near-by meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. Upon investigation they were astonished to find that eight weasels had attacked her. After a hard fight the farmers succeeded in killing several of the blood suckers and scattering the remainder.

Theo. Fournier, the Wylie cheese maker, has orders to ship out another carload of cheese. Mr. Fournier has entered both contests held by the state and is a prize winner in both—hence, the heavy demand for Wylie cheese.

Mr. G. W. Hooper, the St. Hilaire telephone man, was here again Tuesday looking over the proposed line. He meets with encouragement all over and is now of the opinion he will have the line completed to Wylie before the 1st of October. Its a good thing—get on the line.

Daily Freight Service

St. Hilaire has at last secured her just dues and hereafter freight in lesser quantities than carload lots will be delivered here daily.

The early part of this month the village council lodged a formal complaint with the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission concerning the railroad discrimination against St. Hilaire in regards to the freight service.

Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls, both competitive points of the G. N., were receiving a daily freight service, while St. Hilaire, lying in between the two towns and a non-competitive point, received a tri-weekly service.

The Commission investigated the matter with the result that St. Hilaire will be placed on the same basis as Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls in the G. N. freight service.

The following is the letter received from the commission in regard to the matter:

Saint Paul, Minn.,
July 28, 1908

Mr. A. S. Wilson,
Pres. Village Council,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Dear Sir:—

Referring to your favor of the 13th inst. relative to freight train service at St. Hilaire.

The Commission has had this matter up with the G. N. Ry. Co. and find that the service which has been given to Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls has been a tri-weekly freight train service, and the other days of the week they have allowed less than carload freight to be carried in baggage cars.

With the exception of the latter named service, St. Hilaire has been on the same basis as the other two towns.

Judge Mills took the matter up personally with the General Superintendent of the G. N. Ry. Co. and insisted that your town should have the same accomodations that the other two towns had, with the result that it has been conceded, so that hereafter there ought to be no further difficulty on this score.

The Commission trusts this will furnish the relief desired.

Kindly advise us promptly if this change does not occur within three or four days at the outside, and oblige,

Yours truly,
A. C. Clausen,
Secretary.

CROPS GROW WITHOUT RAIN.

How the Syrian Peasant Makes Use of the Moist Subsoil.

In Syria and Palestine from the beginning of April until October there is practically no rain, yet in July the fields teem with a vigorous growth of watermelons, tomatoes, cucumbers, etc., all flourishing without artificial watering, although at that time no rain has fallen for many weeks.

In fact the Syrian peasant, from the moment his seed has been sown, prays that no rain may fall. During the period of growth of a crop the surface of the soil to a depth of six or eight inches is perfectly dry and loose. Below this surface layer will be found moist soil, in which the roots extend and grow vigorously. In this moist subsoil plants continue to grow until the late autumn. When the crop is removed in the autumn the rains commence and the land is ploughed after each heavy rain as soon as the soil begins to dry.

Two primary objects are kept in view in ploughing—to furnish a favorable surface for taking up all the water and to prevent its upward evaporation from the subsoil. The great point is to keep the upper six inches of soil perfectly loose and friable, so that the moisture from below is not drawn upward and lost in evaporation, but does not ascend higher than the compact subsoil that is not broken up by the plow. For this reason the ploughing is shallow, averaging from four to six inches in depth.

When the time for sowing the seed arrives the land is ploughed to a depth of about six inches, and the seed is sown from an arrangement attached to the plow, falls on the damp subsoil and is covered by the soil closing over behind the ploughshare. From this time the upper stratum of loose soil prevents the escape of moisture upward beyond the wet subsoil on which the seeds rest and into which their roots after the process of germination spread.

Explains His Success.

"To what," inquired the interviewer, "do you attribute your success in acquiring money?"

"Partly, indeed; principally," replied the great financier, smoothing down the lapel of his coat and giving away another town hall, "to the success of other men in letting go of it."

Why?

"Dad," began Tommy, "haven't I been real good since I've been going to Sunday school?"

"Yes," answered dad.

"And you trust me now, don't you?"

"Yes," said dad.

"Then," demanded Tommy, "what makes you keep your box of cigars hid the same as ever?"

INDIANS IN WAR PAINT.

Sisseton Braves Are Making Elaborate Preparations for State Fair.

While the average Indian is not at all talkative and generally confines his oratorical efforts to a few grunts and gesticulations, the Indians as a rule have a soft spot in their hearts for the spectacular, and are never slow to take advantage of an opportunity to leap into the limelight. This trait was shown by the avidity with which the Indians on the Sisseton reservation in South Dakota accepted the chance to come to St. Paul to take part in the reproduction of "Fort Ridgeley in '62," which will be one of the daily features of the state fair this year.

In the early days, when the extent of their rovings were limited only by their own desires or the strength of unfriendly Indians upon whose camping grounds they had encroached, this peculiarity was given vent through sudden scalping raids, in which the Indians were togged out in all the brilliancy of their war paint and feathers. Reports from the reservations are to the effect that since the Indians were informed of the state fair plan they had been busy investing whatever funds they have in the costumes in which they expect to dazzle the eyes of the commercially inclined white man who will come to look upon their exhibitions every evening during the state fair week.

The same characteristic was shown when the 300 braves, papooses and squaws, who will make up the "cast" for the state fair entertainment, were asked to sit for a photograph. There was an immediate scramble for the wardrobes; and when the crowd was assembled before the camera there was a variety of sartorial effects such as has seldom been seen.

3-CENT RATE ON THIS ROAD.

Minneapolis, Red Lake & Manitoba Takes Decided Stand.

The Minneapolis, Red Lake & Manitoba railway has declared war on the state, so far as limiting passenger fares to 2 cents a mile is concerned. The road has decided that it will be more profitable for it to charge 3 cents a mile after Aug. 1, and an order to that effect has been issued. But not only has the road decided to raise the price of travel by its line, but it has notified the state railroad and warehouse commission of its intention.

The law says that passengers shall be charged only 2 cents a mile for traveling, and now this road comes forward and calmly says it is going to charge 3 cents. The law says that it must notify the commission of any change of tariff.

The laconic announcement from the general manager of the road took away the collective breath of the commission and they will hold an executive meeting to plan just what to do. No such condition has ever arisen. Other roads have calmly done what the legislature and commission told them to do, or taken the matter to the courts, where lawyers might fight it out to see which side is right. The letter read:

"Effective Aug. 1, we will charge 3 cents a mile for carrying passengers.

"General Manager."

HERE TO STUDY FARMING.

Norwegian Expert Comes to Post Up on Machinery and Crop Rotation.

John Sunby, agriculturist of the Sem Agricultural college, Christiania, Norway, is now at the Minnesota agricultural college, to which he has been sent by the Norwegian government to study American methods of agriculture. He is particularly interested in modern labor-saving machinery and crop rotation.

"I hope to be able to visit the states of the Northern Mississippi valley, where the climate and agricultural conditions are much the same as they are in Norway," said Mr. Sunby. "We are just awakening to better agricultural methods in Norway, and are coming to realize that if we are to compete with other countries we must adopt modern methods of cultivation and modern machinery.

"At the present time farms are small and most of the work of feeding, harvesting and threshing is still done by the slow, laborious processes of ancient times. We desire to become acquainted with the latest patterns of farm machinery and to adopt a system of crop rotation suited to our soil and crop conditions."

Mr. Sunby will make investigations in regard to the more hardy grains and fruits of the United States for the purpose of improving these crops in his own country.

Fred M. Schutte of St. Paul, who has been chief accountant of the grain inspection and weighing department of the railroad and warehouse commission, has been appointed weighmaster at Duluth. This position was made vacant a week ago by the death of John B. Sutphin, who had been weighmaster for eight years.

Mr. Schutte's phomotion comes as a result of faithful work in the department. His connection with the commission has made him thoroughly familiar with the duties he will have at Duluth.

A St. Paul engineer has been awarded the contract for the new electric light and water plant of Alexandria. The contract price was $22,590 for the building and the apparatus. The foundation is seperate and will make the cost of the plant about $27,000.

Lightning struck the girls' cottage at the Minnesota state training school at Red Wing and ran along a wire, finally striking a small leak in a gas pipe. A small fire resulted, but was extinguished by the school department.

One Reason.

"Why don't actors play ball, instead of loafing all summer?"

"There's various reasons."

"Name 'em."

"Well, for one, nobody has ever gotten up a contrivance to manipulate the sun as a spotlight."

A SURGICAL OPERATION

If there is any one thing that a woman dreads more than another it is a surgical operation.

We can state without fear of a contradiction that there are hundreds, yes, thousands, of operations performed upon women in our hospitals which are entirely unnecessary and many have been avoided by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

For proof of this statement read the following letters.

Mrs. Barbara Base, of Kingman, Kansas, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For eight years I suffered from the most severe form of female troubles and was told that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has saved my life and made me a well woman."

Mrs. Arthur R. House, of Church Road, Moorestown, N. J., writes:

"I feel it is my duty to let people know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female troubles, and last March my physician decided that an operation was necessary. My husband objected, and urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to-day I am well and strong."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, and backache.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

That's all.

A doctor's wife once attempted to move her husband by tears.

"Ann," said he, "tears are useless. I have analyzed them. They contain a little phosphate of lime, some chlorate of sodium and that's all."

Still in the Majority.

"The Hand of Blood," No. 2 company, touring the small towns, had arrived at Frostby-on-Splosh. A few moments before the curtain was to rise the heavy father peeped through and inspected the audience.

"What sort of a house is it? Many people?" inquired the hero.

"Better than last night, dear boy. But we're still in the majority."

ORIGIN OF LOWESTOFT CHINA.

At the end of the North Parade, Lowestoft, is the Warren house—a place of great interest to connoisseurs of china. It was here in the eighteenth century that a discovery of fine clay was made which eventually led to Lowestoft manufacturing the china which is now so rare that it is almost priceless.

Initial experiments, made by Hewlin Luson, Esq., of Gunton park, near Lowestoft, with some fine clay discovered accidentally on his estate, resulted in complete success, and ultimately led to the opening of a factory at Lowestoft in 1756 for the manufacture of fine earthenware and porcelain "soft paste."

In 1775 a finely glazed and decorated "hard paste" was introduced, the efficiency and beauty of which betokened a brilliant success for the proprietors. Contemporary evidence indisputably shows that from 1770 to 1800 the Lowestoft works were at the zenith of their fame. Owing, however, to the enormous expenses and difficulty incurred in procuring china clay from Cornwall and elsewhere (after the original clay was exhausted), and the rapidly increasing competition of other makers, its prosperity waned, the collapse came and the works were closed in 1803.

HEALTH AND INCOME

Both Kept Up on Scientific Food.

Good sturdy health helps one a lot to make money.

With the loss of health one's income is liable to shrink, if not entirely dwindle away.

When a young lady has to make her own living, good health is her best asset.

"I am alone in the world," writes a Chicago girl, "dependent on my own efforts for my living. I am a clerk, and about two years ago through close application to work and a boarding house diet, I became a nervous invalid, and got so bad off it was almost impossible for me to stay in the office a half day at a time.

"A friend suggested to me the idea of trying Grape-Nuts, which I did, making this food a large part of at least two meals a day.

"Today I am free from brain-tire, dyspepsia, and all the ills of an overworked and improperly nourished brain and body. To Grape-Nuts I owe the recovery of my health, and the ability to retain my position and income." "There's a Reason."

JAG FARM LAW IS HELD VALID.

Supreme Court Gives Decision in Test Case.

The state board of control, by a decision of the supreme court, will now be able to proceed with the location and erection of the state hospital and farm for inebriates. The court affirmed the decision of the lower court in a test case brought by the board of control against the city of Morris and held the law constitutional which sought to establish the farm.

The law was passed by the last legislature and provided that 2 per cent of the income from liquor licenses in all the municipalities of the state was to be sent to the state treasurer for a separate fund for the maintenance of a farm and hospital for habitual drunkards. Morris refused to pay the 2 per cent, alleging that it was taking property which was not subject to a tax, and that the state didn't have the right, anyway, to put a man in a hospital because he drank too much, and the law must be wrong. But the supreme court, in a decision written by Chief Justice Start, says that the law is all right and that nothing was enacted which cannot be carried out in a legal manner.

The state now has on hand only about $30,000, and the board of control will permit it to accumulate until there is enough to begin construction.

In regard to the contention of the city of Morris that the state could not tax the license fees because they are public property, the decision says that the legislature alone gave the cities the right to license liquor selling, and the same power can take it away. The court is also of the opinion that the method of commitment to the institution carefully protects the constitutional rights of the individual and says that the state has a right to take this paternal oversight.

LAND BRINGS GOOD PRICES.

As a result of the sale of state lands which ended Friday at Fergus Falls, about $300,000 has been added to the school funds of the state. A little of the land was university or swamp land, but most of the proceeds will be turned into the school fund.

Not so much land was sold as during the sales of last year, but the average price has been better. About 35,000 acres are sold at an average price of $7.50 an acre. The average price last year was $6.50 an acre. The buyers included a large number of men from Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska. Much of the land is excellent grass land and proved rather attractive to the men from other states.

The state auditor conducted the sale and disposed of 340 acres on small offerings. The total amount sold the past week was about 8,000 acres and the average price was $10 an acre. The highest price last week was $16.25 for a quarter section in Mille Lacs county.

Despite the fact that more than 35,000 acres was disposed of during the last series of sales, the state still has more land than it can easily count, the remaining state land being estimated at 2,500,000 acres. Most of this is not tillable at present, however.

The average amount taken by each purchaser has been about eighty acres. The law prohibits the sale of more than 320 acres to one buyer. It is required that the buyer pay 15 per cent on the day of the sale and interest on the balance to June 1. He can then take forty years to pay the rest, with interest at 4 per cent.

ASSISTANT POSTMASTERS MEET.

At the gathering of the assistant postmasters of the State of Minnesota, held in Minneapolis, a permanent organization was effected and officers as follows elected for the ensuing year:

President—F. J. Bach, St. Cloud.

Vice Presidents — E. R. Hopperstad, Albert Lea; Otto T. Miller, St. Peter; F. R. Ellsworth, Eveleth.

Secretary-treasurer — D. E. Wood, Pipestone.

The members spent some time in discussing matters connected with the postoffice department. Among the questions were resolutions favoring the inclusion of assistant postmasters in the civil service; a consolidation of third and fourth-class mail into one class; the adoption of a rule requiring all first-class mail which is minus the requisite postage to be forwarded to its destination and the postage collected there; the adoption of a rule requiring persons who want free delivery to provide mail boxes and to have their places correctly numbered; a revision of the postage rates to the end that all classes of mail shall pay the cost of handling it.

MONEY FOR FIREMEN.

Relief Associations of State Will Receive $115,578 From State.

State Treasurer Dinehart is preparing to disburse $115,578.15 among the fire relief associations of the state. The amount comes from the 2-cent tax imposed on all fire insurance written in the state. The business written amounted to $5,790,169.80.

St. Paul will receive $19,281.48; Duluth, $13,481.71, and Minneapolis, $34,757.49.

AT HIGH WATER MARK.

State finances reached the high-water mark when the bank balance showed $3,101,235.60 to the credit of Minnesota. This is the largest amount of money to the credit of the state in the banks at any time in the history of the state.

It is expected that the amount will soon be swelled another $500,000.

Sometimes I would go nearly crazy for it itched so badly. I went back to my old stand-by, that had never failed me—one set of Cuticura Remedies did the work. ENLARGE ROYAL BURIAL PLACE.

Room for No More of the Hapsburg Dead in Capuchin Vaults.

The dead Hapsburgs have outgrown the limits of their final resting place in the vaults of the Capuchin church, and a court commission has been appointed to consider plans for enlarging the imperial burying place.

Since the death of the Emperor Matthias, in 1619, 132 members of the Hapsburg family have been laid to rest here. The array of massive metal coffins, some of which are of immense proportions, have so crowded the vaults that it has been impossible to find proper room for the coffin of the Grand Duke Ferdinand of Tuscany, who was the last archduke to be brought there.

Two projects are under consideration—one to extend the vaults under the garden of the monastery, the other to take in a part of the monastery collars. The first would deprive the monks of the solace of their small but cool and shady garden, while the second would only rob them of some superfluous lumber room.

OVER HUNDRED LIVES ARE LOST IN FOREST FIRE

Territory of 100 Square Miles in Crow's Nest Country Seething Mass of Flames.

FERNIE IS WIPED OFF MAP

Inhabitants of Doomed Towns Flee in Panic—Loss to Property Will Be Enormous.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 4.—The town of Fernie, B. C., is wiped off the map as a child cleans a slate.

Over a hundred lives are known to have been lost, seventy-four of them in Fernie alone.

A territory of one hundred square miles in extent is a seething mass of flames. Through it are scattered hundreds of lumbermen and prospectors, so that the actual loss of life will not be known for days.

The properties of the Canadian Pacific and the Great Northern railways are destroyed, their bridges and rolling stock burned, so that it is impossible either to enter or leave the burning area.

People Fleeing in a Panic.

The inhabitants of the towns have fled to open districts in the vicinity in the hope of safety. From towns to the east and west the inhabitants are escaping as rapidly as possible. The railway companies have placed all available trains at their disposal.

Unless there is change of wind within the next twenty-four hours the whole of the Crow's Nest pass country will be left to the flames.

There is no possibility of estimating the loss of life and property which will result, for the flames are driven by a half gale, making it impossible to put up a fight against their advance.

The conflagration is the greatest which has ever visited Canada, and ranks only with the San Francisco disaster.

Flames Sweep Over Fernie.

For the last month forest fires have been raging in the mountains of the Elk river valley country, but they have not been considered seriously. Saturday morning a heavy wind sprang up from the west, and early in the afternoon the flames appeared over the crest of the mountains to the west of Fernie. They ran down the mountain side, and before a fire guard could be organized had entered the town.

Within an hour the town was doomed and the inhabitants sought safety in flight, leaving their all behind them. All night and yesterday morning the exodus continued, the destination being a small prairie in the valley, three miles south of the town.

Three Thousand Refugees.

At present 3,000 people are camped there in the open, their only protection being shelters built of brush or blankets, while a constant shower of sparks from the burning area keeps falling through the pall of smoke by which they are surrounded.

For a time communication with towns to the east was kept open, but with the burning of the bridge across the Elk river this was closed. Scattered through the valley are many small prairies, and all of these have their groups of refugees. The hills in all directions are a seething mass of flames, cutting off every avenue of escape.

The fire spread with unprecedented rapidity, and it feared that several parties who tried to get through the pass have been cut off. Families have been separated, and there is at present no means of checking up the fatalities.

Death List Will Not Exceed 100.

Fernie, B. C., Aug. 5.—The wind has abated and gradually the fire is being got under control. It is not thought that the death list will exceed a hundred. It will be some days before all the returns are in, as the fire has burned over an area of several hundred square miles, and through this territory are scattered many lumbering camps and shanties. This estimate is a conservative one, based on the supposition that many lumbermen and squatters have had providential escapes. However, the injured will number many hundreds, as hardly a man in the afflicted towns escaped without burns or other injuries.

Loss Reaches Millions.

The loss to buildings is variously estimated at from $7,000,000 to $8,000,000, to which must be added the loss in standing and cut timber. Many of the refugees are in a pitiable condition, having escaped in scanty clothing, and many of them in their night apparel.

DROWNS IN A CHURN.

Two-year-old Boy Meets Death in a Most Pecular Manner.

Webster City, Iowa, Aug. 4. — The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Barr, who reside on a farm south of this city, was drowned in a churn. While playing about the yard the little fellow found the churn with several inches of water in it. He was peering into it and fell in head foremost, where his parents found him dead some time later.

The Canadian Pacific railway is doing all possible to relieve the situation, pressing every available engine and car into service for relief of refugees—and doing it gratis. Relief work here has been unique in the annals of stricken cities.

Relief for Sufferers.

Trains bringing in supplies have dumped their goods on the ground and they have been apportioned without confusion, the weak and helpless receiving their share as well as the strong.

Reports sent out from Calgary and widely circulated, to the effect that the death list will reach between 800 and 900 and the injured to some thousands, is most emphatically denied from all points in the stricken territory. The consensus of opinion is that the dead will not number more than a hundred when full details are known.

Michel in Danger.

The situation at Michel is critical. Numerous fires that started in the town yesterday afternoon were put out by heroic exertions. Fires are raging on all sides, and it only remains for high winds to arise to continue the destruction.

Hopes are very faint for the safety of the place, for should the fire jump across the river it will be impossible to save the town. Not alone the town but the coal company's buildings and the entire old town will be doomed.

From 5,000 to 7,000 men, women and children, in full flight from the flame-swept Crow's Nest territory, are camped in Cranbrook and the surrounding hills. The property loss is now placed at $8,000,000.

Caring for Refugees.

Rossland is taking 500 of the over plus off the hands of Cranbrook and Nelson. And from Vancouver yesterday afternoon a carload of clothing and provisions started for the upper country. The relief fund is climbing well into the thousands.

Of Hosmer it is known that most of the residences of the new town were swept away yesterday afternoon. The many buildings and the machine shops erected by the Canadian Pacific railroad for the great colliery are still intact.

Late last night the fire was within a few miles of Frank, Alberta, and the inhabitants of that town were ready for flight. The only favorable sign was a drop in the velocity of the wind, which was blowing about five miles an hour.

Cause of the Fire.

The cause of the fire has been traced to the burning of "slashings" in the camp of the Cedar Valley Lumber company, near Cranbrook. A great pile of light branches had been set on fire and the wind, suddenly rising, carried the flames into the forest.

The lumbermen saw the danger and made efforts to beat out the fire. Two of the men fell, overcome from smoke, and were lost, and all the rest were beaten back, while the fire began its march on Fernie and in the direction of Frank.

Wave of Fire Rolls On.

Amid the smoking embers of their homes and offices, with the great fire still roaring in the distance, the men of Fernie are cleaning away the ruins; pitching tents, checking up the missing and have commenced to build a new and better town. In the meantime the great wave of fire is still rolling eastward through the forest, following the line of the Canadian Pacific railroad. In some places its path is but a mile wide; in others it is three miles. Nothing can stop it, apparently, till rain falls, and that may be days or weeks.

Spokane Sends Relief.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 5. — Relief from Spokane was the first to reach the fire region of Fernie. BIG RAIL STRIKE IS ON IN CANADA

Eight Thousand Mechanics Employed by the Canadian Pacific Railroad Quit.

IDLE FROM COAST TO COAST

The Unions Demand Change in Wage Schedule Making Rate Equal on All Divisions.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6. — One of the biggest strikes in the history of Canadian railroads will be inaugurated today when the mechanical employes of the Canadian Pacific road will quit work. Two thousand men in the Winnipeg shops, will lay down their tools at 10 o'clock and, according to the leaders here, the strike will be general from coast to coast. Eight thousand men are effected. Conductors, brakemen and other employes of the great railroad system may also go out through sympathy.

The unions already involved are the blacksmiths, boilermakers, carmen, electricians, machinsts, molders, pipefitters, shop specialists and helpers.

Demand Change in Wages.

The conciliation meeting held in Winnipeg recently between representatives of the unions and the company resulted in a majority report unsatisfactory to the men. The unions demand a change in the wage schedules, making the rate of pay on all divisions of the system equal and fixing it at the highest rate now paid.

The entire system from St. John, N. B., to Vancouver, B. C., is involved, and as the trouble has been expected for some weeks wholesalers and commission houses have been routing their goods over the United States lines to prevent delays in transmission.

All the labor organizations involved are affiliated with the international trades unions and will be backed by the international organizations in the fight.

Traders See Disaster.

The company declares it will live up to the findings of the board of conciliation and that "all trains will run." Some engineers and conductors, however, have announced their sympathy with the men.

There was considerable discussion of the strike on the grain exchange yesterday. It was the general opinion that a protracted strike would be disastrous at this season of the year.

Montreal, Aug. 6. — The Canadian Pacific railway has on its hands the biggest strike in the history of Canada. A general strike order was issued yesterday by Bell Hardy, president of the associated mechanics of the Canadian road, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific some 8,000 men laid down their tools. The strike has been brought on because the decision of the conciliation board which was appointed under the Lemieux act of the Canadian parliament was not what the men wanted.

Points in Dispute.

Among the chief points in dispute was that of overlapping of hours. The men wanted to work in three eight-hour shifts; the company wished to overlap an hour at each end in order to avoid paying overtime.

As to the ratio of apprentices, the company hard a ratio of 1 to 3, the conciliation put it 1 to 4, and the men wanted it 1 to 4.

To operate a drill press the company wished to employ either machinists or machinsts' helpers.

In classification of boilermakers as to ability the Canadian Pacific railroad said the change reduced the wages of only 5 per cent of the boilermakers and the men said 7 per cent.

The men objected to the practice that rulings made in Winnipeg without evidence from the employes in Montreal are held to be binding in the East.

Endanger Crop Movement.

How far-reaching the strike will be it is impossible to say. If the strike is prolonged the movement of the crops will be affected.

While not saying this in so many words, an attitude of fighting the question out to a finish was apparent with every head of a department in the general offices of the company.

Out of a total of 11,250 mechanics employed, a total of 8,000 were reported on strike.

The business that brought Mr. Nelson to Fairview was to invite Mr. Bryan to attend the state fair in St. Paul and deliver an address. The invitation was accepted, the date being fixed at Aug. 31, but with the understanding that there should be no charge of admission to the grounds on that day.

It was announced that the St. Paul speech would be the only one that Mr. Bryan will make in Minnesota during the campaign. The subject to be discussed will probably be the tariff.

GREAT AIRSHIP IS COMPLETE WRECK

COUNT BREAKS INTO TEARS

Motor Explodes and Balloon Breaks Into Flames—Great Machine a Hopeless Wreck.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Aug. 6.—Count Zeppelin's wonderful airship was totally destroyed during a storm at Echterdingen yesterday afternoon. The count, who left the eballoon shed at Lake Constance, Friedrichshafen, at an early hour Tuesday morning for his long-proposed twenty-four-hour flight, was forced to come to earth five miles from the starting place in order to repair a piston box. Soon after he had landed, and while he was waiting for the necessary material to be sent from the sheds at Friedrichshafen, a terrible thunder and lightning storm broke.

Motor Explodes.

The balloon swayed to and fro, sometimes rising a few feet from the ground. At 2:53 o'clock a formidable gust of wind struck the airship broadside. At first the craft reeled over and then her bows rose in the air, carrying with them a number of soldiers holding the ropes. After poising for a moment at a height of fifty feet it dashed forward against a cluster of fruit trees. The impact uprooted them. The airship returned to the earth and the forward motor exploded.

Mass of Tangled Junk.

From the bows of the balloon shot forth a livid flame, while from the rear escaped thick clouds of black smoke, which caused the entire structure to disappear from view. When the air cleared the balloon was seen lying in an open field on a high plateau, with only the ragged, tangled strips of the aluminum envelope still remaining. The metal stays and bands and portions of the motors were strewn about like old iron and were blackened with smoke and scorched.

Officers rushed forward and found that several soldiers had been hurt. The four engineers who were on the forward platform of the airship had escaped death but were suffering from injuries.

Zeppelin Weeps.

Count Zeppelin was immediately sent for. When he arrived and saw the hopeless wreck he broke down. His head was bowed on his chest and tears were streaming from his eyes as he stood in an attitude of despair in front of the shattered mammoth aeroplane. Then friends induced him to enter a motor car and return to Stuttgart, whence he left by train for Friedrichshafen.

An explanation of the accident by experts is that probably one of the balloonets, of which the immense envelope was constructed, burst and a spark from the motor ignited the gas when the balloon was carried into the air.

Baldwin Tries Again.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Capt. Baldwin made another successful flight last evening at Fort Meyer in his new dirigible balloon. The balloonet, a balloon within the balloon, was tried for the first time.

At 6:20, after the balloon had been rebalanced in accordance with the conditions encountered Tuesday, the start was made. As Mr. Curtiss increased the speed of the propeller the airship, in the face of a seven-mile breeze, pitched forward like an ocean liner.

Making various evolutions with and against the wind, the airship was brought down within a hundred feet of the tent in which it is housed. Mr. Curtiss estimated that the speed was fifteen miles an hour, twenty miles going with the wind and ten miles going against it.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Harry K. Thaw had an outing yesterday consisting of a trip to Fishkill Landing, sixteen miles away, a trolley ride of five miles and a return trip by river steamer to this city.

Two adjournments were taken during the day and to while away the time, Thaw, accompanied by the officers, took a ride by trolley to Fishkill village.

The women and children who were taken from Fernie and placed among the adjacent towns of Frank, Blairmore and Nelson are still in these places of refuge, but the men are back at Fernie and have begun the work of rebuilding the town.

Tents and supplies of food and clothing have been received at Fernie from many places, and the people are working strenuously. Nurses and physicians are having a busy time looking after the injured and taking precautions to prevent pestilence.

MUST RAISE RATES SAYS HARRIMAN

OPTIMISTIC AS TO FUTURE

Worst Is Past and Better Times Are Visible on the Horizon—Money Is Plentiful.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Edward H. Harriman, just before his departure from Chicago for the West last night, discussed the possibility of a general increase of freight rates in the United States.

"The American people ought to be willing to pay the railroads a proper compensation for a proper transportation service," he said. "Such service we are now performing, but for it we are not receiving an adequate return.

"If the railroads are to go on extending their lines, improving those which are now operated and providing new equipment to take care of the country's business, they must have more revenue.

Rates Should Be Raised.

"I am not in favor of a cold, calculating, cruel and horizontal increase in the rates. I am not a traffic man and I do not know much about such things, but I know that there is a proper way to go about a thing and that there is a bungling way to do the same thing"

Mr. Harriman seemed to favor a general readjustment of freight tariffs rather than a general increase. He believed that many rates are too low and should be raised, but he was opposed to a straight 10 per cent increase in the carrying charges for all commodities.

Money More Plentiful.

In speaking of the recent financial distress Harriman declared that the worst has been passed and money is becoming more plentiful. He said, however, that the people must cease viewing the railroads with the constant eye of suspicion.

He declared that he entered into the recent deal affecting the Gould roads to save the situation, but he declined to disclose any details of the settlement between Mr. Gould and himself.

The money scarcity, he said, was due to "an abnormal condition of the public mind," and he plainly hinted at the federal anti-trust war as the immediate cause.

Better Times Coming.

"The worst is past," he continued. "Better times are visible on the horizon. Conditions are improving. The crop outlook is excellent. The business aspect is encouraging. The open and receptive mind with which the people now view the situation gives grounds for optimism."

TWO CHICAGO ELEVATORS BURN.

Chicago, Aug. 5. — Fire, which was so hot that the firemen could not get nearer than a block of it and which made it necessary to play streams on buildings three and four squares away, yesterday afternoon destroyed the Burlington elevators E and F, the dock transfer warehouse of that road and either burned or rendered useless 100 box cars. The loss on the grain in the two elevators is placed by Armour & Co., who owned it, at $700,000. The total loss is placed at $1,000,000.

The fire started at 1 p. m. in the Burlington warehouse, supposedly from a cigarette dropped near several barrels containing chemicals. At the first explosion, which shook every building in the vicinity, the 250 men employed in the warehouse and elevators fled, and it is believed all escaped, although there were unconfirmed rumors that three men hemmed in by the flames had been unable to get away.

Eighty fire engine companies and three fire tugs had all they could do to confine the conflagration to its original limits. The intense heat rendered any effort to save the elevators hopeless. The streams of water by the time they had traversed the block from the nozzles were mere showers of spray, which quickly formed into clouds of steam. The firemen worked continuously in a shower of sparks and flaming embers which traveled for blocks.

Value of School to Community

The following article, clipped from the columns of a Cokato. (Minn.) paper, was handed in with the request that we publish it. It reads as follows:

The Cokato High school is of immense financial value to the community in and around Cokato. The average student at the college preparatory and normal schools has expenses amounting to over $300 a year. This money is usually furnished them by their own parents from their home towns. If the 42 pupils who have enrolled in the Cokato High school the past year were all getting their education at normal and college preparatory schools, it would take out of this community 42 times $300 or $12,600, each year. This is about two times as much as the whole school costs per year. It would also deprive the home merchants of the trade of these young people and leave the parents with less spending money to be used here in the home markets. Send the young people to school in other towns and you deprive the parents of all comfort and help from their sons and daughters during nine to ten months in the year Many of the young people give their parents real efficient help outside of the school hours, mornings, evenings and Saturdays. Besides it is a great source of joy to the parents to know what associates and what habits the children have.

The total cost of running the high school proper per year does not exceed $1500 or $1600. This the state pays back in full besides paying the usual apportionment per pupil. So that the Cokato High school alone receives from the state $1668 per year to be used in this community. The entire expense of the whole school system, grades and all in this village amounts to about $5500 each year. Set this over against the $12,600 saved to this community and you cannot help but realize that our schools are of no small commercial advantage to the people in and about Cokato.

But this is nothing alongside of the great blessing the school is to those who have not great riches but who nevertheless hunger and thirst for knowledge. This is nothing when we think of the vast importance to the state, nation and home of having educated, enlightened young men and women of high christian ideals growing up in every community where there is a high school.

Education does not make criminals. The lack of education, the absence of proper preparations for life often drives the ignorant man or woman to say: "The world owes me a living and I will have it. I have a right to just as much of this world's goods as my neighbor possesses." This argument urges them on to take what they want and to indulge in crime and violence where that is the quickest way to secure what they desire.

The man who argues against schools and says that education makes criminals either is ignorant himself or shows that he doesn't believe what he says by educating his own sons and daughters, thus trying to fit them for something better than their neighbors are fitted for.

Error and Delay in Transmission of Warning Telegram Responsible for Disaster—Shipping Swept Before Irresistible Flood.

How a telegraphic error was responsible for the loss of thousands of lives is told by a Shanghai correspondent. The disaster occurred during a freshet on the Han river in the beginning of April, says a London dispatch to the New York Sun.

Owing to heavy rainfalls in the mountains in northwest Hupeh it frequently happens that a torrent of water rushes down the mountain sides into the Han, a tributary of the great Yang-tse. Hitherto warning of the freshets has been telegraphed from Siang-yang, 400 miles away from the mouth of the Han, and on receipt of the news men have been hurriedly sent out, equipped with gongs, to warn the boats at the mouth of the river to find a safe anchorage.

On the evening of April 6 messengers were sent around with the news that a freshet six feet high was on its way down. The inhabitants and the boating population considered a six foot freshet to be of little consequence, and took no precautions whatever, believing that, as in former years, its arrival need not be expected for another 24 hours.

Unfortunately the telegram announcing the oncoming torrent was delayed for 24 hours and by an error in the wording the height was reduced from 26 feet to six feet. The freshet arrived at lightning speed at midnight on April 6. The night was pitch dark, the inhabitants were asleep.

Suddenly thousands of boats in the Han river were torn from their moorings and hurled together in a confused mass on the breast of a raging torrent. Deep-laden boats were sunk immediately, others were pounded to pieces and some, catching fire, lit up a scene of appalling destruction.

The people on shore were powerless to assist and the cries of the perishing "rent the heavens and were painful to hear," as a native newspaper described it. Those boats that escaped the initial onset of the torrent were swept out into the Yang-tse, where a strong northeast gale completed the work of destruction.

Lifeboats were sent out to the rescue, but could render little service. The terror of the night was increased by three huge junks which took fire and, drifting toward the foreshore of the British settlement, endangered the hulks mored along its front.

The native papers state that a small steamer, 700 large junks and innumerable small craft were destroyed. The loss of life, at first estimated at 2,000, probably exceeded double that number. Eighteen hundred bodies were picked up at one bend of the Yang-tse alone. A number of women and children were among the dead. Thirteen hundred masts were recovered at the same spot.

No Way of Finding Out.

One does not usually make a virtue of fault-finding, but it seems, by Richard Grant White's experience, that it has its valuable part in social economy. Grumbling has always been considered a prerogative of John Bull, and not an agreeable one; but the incident taken from "England Without and Within" goes to prove that it has its uses.

I had been a little over a week in London lodgings, and had my breakfasts served by the housekeeper. One morning the maid said, as she took my tray:

"I'm afraid we shan't satisfy you, sir, with your breakfasts."

I told her my breakfasts were very good, that the tea, eggs, bacon, fish, muffins and marmalade were good enough for any man, and all I wished.

"Yes, sir, but you never grumble about anything you have, and so we don't know how to please you."—Youth's Companion.

The Mouse Trap.

The sunlight turned the sea to yellow flame, and the inventor pulled his cap down over his eyes. "The child is father to the man," he resumed. "For instance: There was a miller's son who invented, at the age of 17, an automatic mouse trap, a trap that used the recoil from one mouse's capture to set itself for another mouse. This trap worked well, caught 11 mice at the first go off, and soon rid the miller's mill of its mice myriads. Well, sir, the boy inventor of that mouse trap used the trap's recoil principle for his greatest invention, the Maxim gun, for it is Sir Hiram Maxim I'm talking about, and if you go to the Maine village of Sangerville they'll show you there one of the automatic rapid-firing mouse traps that presages the famous Maxim gun."

Emulation.

"Why do you think college boys are so fond of athletics?"

"I suppose," answered Mr. Si Levelhead, "that the youngsters overhear us old chaps braggin' 'bout what we did when we were boys, an' sort o' feel it their duty to try to keep up."

The Principal Hurt.

"Can't you get over talking about the way you got cheated in that horse trade?"

"No," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "I don't mind a man getting my money, but I hate to feel that I have lost his respect."

PERSONAL VANITY GREAT BOON.

A Blessing Vouchsafed to Man, Thinks Mr. MacBlink.

"The longer I live," said Mr. MacBlink, "the more I think that the greatest personal blessing vouchsafed to man is personal vanity.

"Do the mighty snub us? We smile and think that we are better than they. Are some men richer than we? Why, we know for some we could have made twice their money with half their chance.

"Are we homely? We think we are handsome. Why, the men we see, old and young, looking in the mirrors in the sides of the elevated cars are proud of their clothes, proud of themselves from their heads to their toes.

"They may live narrow lives, and if they only knew it, with no hope of ever getting out on the broad road; but they are satisfied with, more than that, they are vain of themselves. And what a blessing!

"Are we not content to wear cheap clothes because in our fond vanity we think that we ourselves give them an air of distinction? So in many instances.

"And does not the same hold true as well to our views of all our belongings? Do we not think that our broken down, rattletrap, dingy old automobile is really the fastest machine on the road if we would only once unshackle her? Don't we think that our lumbering old clumsy gaited six-minute horse could go in 2:22½ if we dared to give him his head? Don't we think that our yacht or our power boat could make anything else in the water look like 30, yes, like 20 or even 15 cents if we were once disposed to show what it could really do?

"Do we not think that our chickens are really the very best specimens of their breed, and do we not think that ours is the finest lawn? And our children, whatever they may be, are the finest children that ever were born?

"Is is so of many things, and all these are cheerful, happy, helpful notions that even the most timid and shrinking of men may cherish. Our vanity is not only a protector and a shield, it is for us a castle within whose walls we can dwell in serenity and security, in sweet satisfaction with ourselves; and in a world so full of things that otherwise would jar us, is not this a great blessing? Many a man's lot in life has been softened, has been made happy, by his harmless personal vanity."

"That young man who comes to see you, Maud, has such an explosive manner."

"You must remember, mother, that his father was in the fireworks business."

The Knowing Child.

"Pa, when are you going to take me to the park?"

"Wait until the cool of the evening, my son."

"But, pa, 'spose there ain't any?"

Street Scene—Minnesota State Fair Grounds

Cannon's Face in Clouds.

Philadelphia.—A dark gray cloud in the southwestern sky at twilight the other evening was viewed by hundreds of persons along Lehigh avenue. It resembled in outline a colossal profile of a man, and was a striking likeness of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, even to his perpetual smile. It stood out boldly in the pink sky, but gradually faded.

Eight Weasels Attack a Cow.

Hanover, Pa.—Haymakers on the farm of H. A. Sell, near Hanover, noticed a cow in a near-by meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. Upon investigation they were astonished to find that eight weasels had attacked her. After a hard fight the farmers succeeded in killing several of the blood suckers and scattering the remainder.

The groom, Mr. Brown, is an estimable young man and a trusted employe of the Great Northern Ry. Co.

Self-Explanatory

Postmaster Post received the following letter a few days ago and handed it to us for publication.

Roosevelt, Minn., July 30.

Postmaster,
St. Hilaire, Minn,
Dear Sir:—

Kindly send me the address by return mail of some enthusiastic railroad man, also hand this note to some reliable business man or citizen in your village, and ask them if they would be prepared to hold a railroad meeting in your town in the near future in regard to your town becoming a terminal for the "Minnesota Airline Railway Co? An early reply will be thankfully received.

Please pardon me but will you not take some personal action in this matter yourself—as such an action would greatly stimulate the business in your town.

Hoping this will meet with your hearty approbation, I await an early reply.

Yours respectfully,
W. F. Hunt.

Mrs. D. Collins Dead

This community was shocked Wednesday upon learning of the death of Mrs. D. Collins which occured at 6 o'clock that morning from child birth. She was, apparently, enjoying her usual health the previous evening and the report of her death early the following morning dealt a staggering blow to her many close friends and relatives which, for the moment seemed to deprive them of their full power of reasoning.

Nothing too praiseworthy can be said of the life and character of Mrs. Collins and a simple outline will suffice in the absence of a more extensive vocabulary with which to express it.

Katherine Powers was born in Tenwick, Quebec, Canada, on the 14th day of May 1875, and came to the United States with her parents, Edward and Mary Powers, to reside at Beaver Falls, Minn., in 1882. When but 17 years of age she was left an orphan through the death of her parents in 1892 and in 1893 she came to Thief River Falls where she taught school. On July 26, 1899 she was united in marriage with David Collins in Crookston, taking up their residence here immediately after their marriage and residing here at the time of her death.

Hers was a most beautiful christian life and few women enjoyed a larger circle of friends than she. A model wife and mother, her loss to her faithful husband and children is, as yet, not fully realized.

She leaves a husband and two children, Marie and Edward aged 9 and 7 respectively to mourn her loss; the new-born baby survived its mother about twenty-four hours.

The funeral was held from St. Mary's church at Thief River Falls yesterday and her remains were laid at rest in the church cemetery there.

With a great many farmers harvest will commence before having is finished.

The American Society of Equity is bound to be a winner, farmers everywhere stick to it for the simple reason that its started from the bottom round of the ladder. Beware of any organization that's started from the top round. Nuff said.

The village council of St. Hilaire lodged a complaint with the railroad and warehouse commission in regard to their tri-weekly freight and in consequence they will now receive daily freight service. Wonder if Wylie will receive the same service, or will we have to make our wants known?

The Wilsons drove up to the Miller home in Black River Sunday and on arriving there met the Peter Johnson family who reside east of St. Hilaire. All ages were represented at this gathering and singing, playing of all kinds of games were indulged in while the older ones talked over their childhood days in Denmark and up to the present time. They all had such a good time that they propose to meet more frequently.

Regardless of the busy season, a large turnout of the farmers showed up at Eckstein's hall last Friday evening to listen to C. O. Drayton, a representative of the American Society of Equity, who made a two hours speech on the subject: "How to secure profitable prices on all farm products." The audience was all attention and not a word escaped their ears from start to finish and all were unanimous in saying it was the best speech they had ever heard, and every word uttered was just plain common sense. At the close of his speech twenty members joined the local union with following officers: Chas. Johnson, president; Ferdinand Gother, vice president; O. A. Naplin, secretary. The new organization will hold their first meeting the last Saturday in August.

Fierce Hailstorms in England.

Large stories are told of the damage done by hailstones in Minnesota recently. However, Old England itself has some statistics to show. On May 30, 1897, a terrific hailstorm visited Seaford, Sussex. Some of the "bolts" measure 4½ inches in circumference, after lying on the ground for fully seven minutes. On June 24, in the same year, the most disastrous visitation of the kind in modern times ravaged parts of Essex and the adjacent counties.

Animals and poultry were killed and crops ruined. At Ingatestone the hail broke through a slated roof, and at Baddow it went through windows and cut the blinds to pieces. The damage in Essex alone was at least $500,000.

The latest storm of exceptional violence occurred in Huntingdonshire on August 2, 1906. The "hail" consisted of hard pieces of ice, from three to four inches in length, and killed rabbits and other small animals wholesale.

Hairs in the Watch.

"Well, sir, I had to send my watch down town to have it cleaned out again," said an East side barber the other day. "I have to send my watch to the repair shop about once a month, and there is absolutely nothing the matter with it, except that it is full of hairs. I do not understand how the hairs can get into the works and behind the hands and mix up in the mainspring and every place as they do in my timepiece. I watched myself one month as closely as I could, and I swear I never opened the back of it. Yet, at the end of the month, I unscrewed the back lid and it was full of little fine hairs. I always keep it in my pocket when I am cutting hair, but I don't see how any hairs get into the watch. Yet they must, because they are always there."—Columbus Dispatch.

ALL RUN DOWN.

Miss Della Stroebe, who had Completely Lost Her Health, Found Relief from Pe-ru-na at Once.

Read What She Says:

MISS DELLA STROEBE, 710 Richmond St., Appleton, Wis., writes: "For several years I was in a run-down condition, and I could find no relief from doctors and medicines. I could not enjoy my meals, and could not sleep at night. I had heavy, dark circles about the eyes.

"My friends were much alarmed. I was advised to give Peruna a trial, and to my joy I began to improve with the first bottle. After taking six bottles I felt completely cured. I cannot say too much for Peruna as a medicine for women in a run-down condition."

Pe-ru-na Did Wonders.

Mrs. Judge J. F. Boyer, 1421 Sherman Ave., Evanston, Ill., says that she became run down, could neither eat nor sleep well, and lost flesh and spirit. Peruna did wonders for her, and she thanks Peruna for new life and strength.

He Has Noticed.

"There is one notable thing I have observed," said the foreign lecturer. "Your American women have the most luxuriant hair of any women on the globe."

SENATOR ALLISON CALLED BY DEATH

Aged Iowa Statesman Passes Away at His Home in Dubuque After Long Illness.

HEART FAILURE WAS THE CAUSE

Dubuque, Iowa, Aug. 6. — United States Senator Allison died at his home in this city yesterday afternoon. The immediate cause of his death was heart failure. The end came as a result of a serious sinking spell due to a prostatic enlargement, complicated with kidney troubles, and during a period of unconsciousness which had lasted since Saturday afternoon.

Two weeks ago the senator left his home in the city to escape the heat. He went to the home of Mrs. Fannie Stout, a friend of the family, living on the Asbury road, a few miles from this city. For a few days his condition seemed to improve, but later he began to grow worse.

Death Causes Surprise.

Saturday morning the senator was brought to his home in this city. Soon afterwards he relapsed into a condition of semi-consciousness. Except for brief periods of semi-recovery he remained in this condition until death came.

News of the serious illness of the aged senator was kept from the public as much as possible and his death came as a surprise to his thousands of friends residing in this city. Only the more intimate friends of the family were aware of his critical condition.

Was Born in Ohio.

Senator Allison was born at Perry, Ohio, March 2, 1829. He secured his education in Allegheny college, in Pennsylvania, and the Western Reserve college of Ohio.

Senator Allison was admitted to the bar in 1850. He was married to Miss Anna Carter of Wooster, Ohio, at Ashland, Ohio, in February, 1854. From 1850 until 1857 he practiced law in Ohio. In 1857 he removed to Dubuque, where he took up the practice of law.

Senator Allison was a delegate to the Republican state convention in 1859 and to the national Republican convention in Chicago in 1860. He was a member of the governor's staff during the Civil war and raised troops to fight for the integrity of the nation in 1861. In 1863 he was elected to congress and served continuously until 1871.

Elected Senator.

In 1873 he was elected United States senator from Iowa and represented his state in this capacity until the time of his death. In 1881 he was offered the position of secretary of the treasury by President Garfield, but declined to accept the office. In 1889 he again refused this office, when offered him by President Harrison. For the third time he refused the office when it was offered him by President McKinley in 1897.

In 1892 he was chairman of the international monetary conference at Brussels. He was candidate for the Republican presidential nomination before the national Republican convention in 1888 and again in 1896.

Careless Traveler Starts Washington Forest Blazing.

Aberdeen, Wash., Aug. 6.—A careless traveler who threw a lighted match into the underbrush started a forest fire twelve miles from Hoquaim, on the Hump Tullips-Hoquaim road yesterday that, quickly getting beyond control, already has swept over 10,000 acres of slashing, on which were piled 15,000,000 feet of cut timbers. The property loss will exceed $250,000.

MULHALL'S SON PROMISES HELP

"King of Produce Swindlers" Gains Useful Ally in His Fight to Keep Out of Prison.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—After placing his father behind the bars, Joseph Mulhall, son of James T. Mulhall, "king of produce swindlers," who is now in the Hennepin county jail, has allowed his affection for his aged parent to overcome his desire to earn $15 a week working for a Chicago journal, which made the boy, according to his father, say many things which were not true, and come to his father's aid. The boy claims that he did not know what he was saying and that he never thought that his words would land his father in jail. Mulhall received letters yesterday from the son explaining everything and saying that he would come to his parent's aid at once.

Mulhall is one of the best known men in produce circles. He is alleged to have made thousands of dollars by ordering consignments of poultry, eggs and cheese, for which he offered a slightly higher price than the market quoted. After receiving large consignments he is said to have vanished. This, the authorities say, he did in practically every state in the Union, but always escaping serious punishment. He worked in Minneapolis in the fall of 1879 and is said to have left with about $17,000 worth of accounts in arrears. Two men, who were said to have been associated with him, were caught and held to the grand jury, but he could not be found.

CROP IS PROMISING.

Will Average 10 Per Cent Better Than Last Year.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 6.—Threshers will be well along in their work by Aug. 15 next on a crop about 10 per cent better (by estimate) than last year. The farmers that planted their wheat, and other small grains early, enabling those products to reach maturity at or near the time of beginning of the prevailing weather, will harvest a 20 to 25 per cent better crop than last year. The condition of the grain at this time is a good reliable index of what its condition will be when the harvester goes over within the next two weeks.

NEW DISEASE IS EPIDEMIC.

Health Officers Decide to Quarantine Afflicted Children at Eau Claire.

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 6. — At a meeting of the physicians of the city, including Dr. Hayes of the state board of health and Dr. Fred Farr of the local board, it was decided to quarantine all cases of the mysterious disease which is so prevalent among the children in the city and which has puzzled the doctors. While the mode of infection is unknown, it is very evident that the disease is epidemic, as new cases are being reported in various sections of the city. Fifteen new cases have been reported within the past three days.

CALM ON CHANGE.

Excitement Over, but Prices Are Not Weakened.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6. — The excitement on the Minneapolis change has subsided. The conservative element of the traders were so strong yesterday that the radicals heeded their warning, with the effect that the fluctuations in the market were few. The prices, however, remained strong.

Reports from the grain area indicated that the black rust scare was somewhat exaggerated, though enough damage has been done to make the crop a spotted one at the worst.

MAY LYNCH NEGRO IN IOWA.

Muscatine Girl Is Stolen, but Is Rescued at Once by Posse.

Muscatine, Iowa, Aug. 6.—A gigantic negro kidnapped little eight-year-old Vera Ditto yesterday afternoon from her front yard and escaped with the child to Mad creek bottoms, near town. A posse of 150 men, with the police, ran him down and captured the child. The negro later was captured after a running fight through the bottoms. He has been removed to jail and heavy guard placed over him to prevent possible lynching.

DROWNS AT OPEN BRIDGE.

Assistant Engineer Walks Into River at Keokuk.

Keokuk, Iowa, Aug. 6. — William O'Blenness, assistant engineer on the Keokuk & Hamilton bridge, walked through the door of the engine room into the river early yesterday morning and drowned. Employes had left the bridge open after a boat had passed through for the purpose of cleaning the engines after the work was done.

COST COMPANIES $400,000.

Fernie District Insurance Placed at One-fifth of Value.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6.—Insurance men total up the insurance on Fernie and list fires at $400,000 on damage roughly estimated at $5,000,000. Non-tariff companies on the Pacific coast may carry another additional $100,000, and it is not much out of the way to suppose that the property in Fernie and other towns was insured only up to one-fifth of its value. The rate is as high as 8 per cent.

Auto Upsets on Mountain.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 6.—As the result of an automobile overturning near Wicks, due to the failure of the brakes to work while descending a mountain, five persons were seriously injured.

Last Great Canadna Raft.

News comes from Ottawa to the effect that a large timber raft is now on its way down to Quebec, having arrived at the capital from Deschenes on Saturday afternoon. The raft was built on the Coulogne river. The raft method of transportation is fast becoming obsolete, and it is thought that this may be the last raft that will be seen.

The raft is manned by eighty men, with Noe Valiquette as head pilot. To get through any rapids it has been divided into separate cribs, the cribs going down individually. The value of the raft, which comprises about 150,000 feet, is estimated at from $80,000 to $100,000.

Railway Problems.

At present the railway companies are always considering how they can make something more for themselves at the expense of the public, and the public, represented by parliament, is ever on the alert to counteract schemes which might prove beneficial to the railways but not to the community. It does not seem to enter into the heads of either party that it might be possible for both parties to adopt more profitable or more economical methods of working and share the resulting gains.

ANTS AS WEATHER PROPHETS

Their Method of Giving Warning of an Approaching Storm.

Ants as weather prophets afford new testimony to the cleverness of these small animals. When you go out on a spring morning and find the ants busily engaged in clearing out their nests and dragging the sand and bits of earth to the surface you may be sure that no matter how cloudy it is there will be no rain that day, and the probabilities are for several days of good weather.

If, however, you see the ants about the middle of a spring or summer afternoon hurrying back to the nest and a sentinel trotting out in every direction looking up stragglers and urging them to go home as soon as they can get there, you may figure on a rain that afternoon or night.

When the last of the wanderers is found one picket hurries in and the nest is securely sealed from the inside to keep out the water. It is seldom that ants are taken by surprise by the approach of a shower.

WONDERED WHY

Found the Answer Was "Coffee."

Many pale, sickly persons wonder for years why they have to suffer so, and eventually discover that the drug—caffeine—in coffee is the main cause of the trouble.

"I was always very fond of coffee and drank it every day. I never had much flesh and often wondered why I was always so pale, thin and weak.

"About five years ago my health completely broke down and I was confined to my bed. My stomach was in such condition that I could hardly take sufficient nourishment to sustain life.

"During this time I was drinking coffee, didn't think I could do without it.

"After awhile I came to the conclusion that coffee was hurting me and decided to give it up and try Postum. I didn't like the taste of it at first, but when it was made right—boiled until dark and rich—I soon became very fond of it.

"In one week I began to feel better. I could eat more and sleep better. My sick headaches were less frequent, and within five months I looked and felt like a new being, headache spells entirely gone.

"My health continued to improve and today I am well and strong, weigh 148 lbs. I attribute my present health to the life-giving qualities of Postum."

JOHN G. LUND PUTS BULLET IN BRAIN

Prominent Minneapolis Real Estate Man Commits Suicide in His Office.

LAID TO WORRY AND ILLNESS

Stenographer Stumbles Over Dead Body—Once Mentioned as Candidate for Governor.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—John G. Lund, widely known throughout the Northwest as an extensive dealer in farm lands, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. The tragedy occurred in his office about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Friends and employes of Mr. Lund say he had many worries in the last year. Mrs. Lund, to whom he was devotedly attached, died in June, 1907, and he has never ceased to mourn her death. Complications following an operation for appendicitis about eight months ago troubled him considerably. He worried a great deal over his brother's financial affairs.

No Intimation of Suicide.

All these matters, together with business cares, are believed to have induced a distraught condition which impelled suicide. There was no intimation to the people in the office that he contemplated such an act. He had spoken of the troubles in which his brother was involved, and he had complained of soreness in the wound from his surgical operation, but none of his associates dreamed that he ever thought of self-destruction.

Shortly before 1 o'clock Mr. Lund was talking with two of his assistants regarding business matters. He left them and entered his private office in the rear. About five minutes later a shot was heard from the rear office and the men rushed back.

Stumbles Over Body.

Before they reached the room Miss Cloyes, who was in an inner room, had rushed out. She all but stumbled over the body of her employer as she entered the room. He was lying on his back, dead. Near his right hand lay a smoking revolver, and there was a wound in his head. No note or other intimation of a plan to commit suicide was found.

Mr. Lund was about forty years old. He was born at Rushford, Minn. He came to Minneapolis in 1901 and opened a big land business. He was elected to the legislature in 1904, and after completing his term was mentioned as a candidate for governor. He had serious thoughts of running for a time, but withdrew before the convention. Mr. Lund was reputed to be very wealthy.

FLOOD WRECKS BUILDINGS.

Girls Have Narrow Escape From Death in Cloudburst.

Bisbee, Ariz., Aug. 6.—The postoffice and all the business houses and offices on one side of Main street for a distance of 200 yards were wrecked late yesterday by a cloudburst which swept a mass of mud and rocks down from the mountainside. The damage is estimated at $100,000.

Postmaster M. E. Cassiday, Sheriff Jack White and eighteen girl clerks in the postoffice narrowly escaped when the flood, almost without warning, struck the building and filled it with water six feet deep.

DECREE KNOCKS OFF "LID."

Saloonkeepers Take Advantage of Mulct Law Ruling.

Burlington, Iowa, Aug. 6.—The state supreme court, having declared the partial decree of the district court respecting the mulct law illegal and void, Burlington saloonkeepers and liquor dealers in other towns are reported to have done a good business last Sunday. Some of them probably will quit business this fall with fat wads as the results of this opportunity that has been afforded them.

Former Outlaw Is Killed.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 6.—William F. Downing, a member of the old Stiles-Alvord band of outlaws, who, ten years ago, operated in Southern Arizona, was killed yesterday in his saloon at Wilcox by an Arizona ranger, William Speed. Speed sought to serve Downing with a warrant, when the latter, it is said, displayed a gun, whereupon Speed fired.

Tom Shevlin Arrested.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6. — Accused of violating the speed law at Minnetonka Beach, Thomas Shevlin, ex-Yale football captain, a prominent Minneapolis lumberman and automobile enthusiast, was arrested on a warrant charging him with having violated the laws on two different occasions. He will be tried to-morrow.

Stepped on Broken Bottle.

Clear Lake, Iowa, Aug. 6. — While bathing, Mrs. Anthony Dujat stepped upon a broken bottle, lacerating her foot to the bone. Blood poison has set in and a most serious condition has resulted.

Wise Ma.

"Ma, why don't you keep out of the parlor? Things are running smoothly now."

"You ain't engaged yet, daughter, and your ma knows from experience that a young man who finds things running too smoothly is apt to get bored and quit."

Mrs. Powers—Yes; but I know what everybody else got.

SPORTING LIFE IN BURMA.

Popularity of Bull Racing—Pugilists Strike With Their Eyes Shut.

A form of speculation not generally known in England but very popular in Burmah is bull racing. A certain native sportsman is the owner of one of these bulls, for which he has refused an offer of 10,000 rupees. It has won several races and is looked after and as carefully tended as a Derby favorite. The owner values it at 25,000 rupees, and it is said it brings him in an annual income of from 12,000 rupees to 15,000. It is carefully guarded by four men lest it may be got at and "doctored."

Burmans also patronize boxing eagerly, but the art can scarcely be practiced according to Queensbury rules, for we are told by a provincial reporter that he has observed that "even the best boxers strike out with their eyes tightly shut, and if they do hit each other it is more by chance than anything else."

IT SEEMED INCURABLE

Body Raw with Eczema—Discharged from Hospitals as Hopeless—Cuticura Remedies Cured Him.

"From the age of three months until fifteen years old, my son Owen's life was made intolerable by eczema in its worst form. In spite of treatments the disease gradually spread until nearly every part of his body was quite raw. He used to tear himself dreadfully in his sleep and the agony he went through is quite beyond words. The regimental doctor pronounced the case hopeless. We had him in hospitals four times and he was pronounced one of the worst cases ever admitted. From each he was discharged as incurable. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but had gotten almost past hoping for a cure. Six months ago we purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies. The result was truly marvelous and to-day he is perfectly cured. Mrs. Lily Hedge, Camblewell Green, England, Jan. 12, 1907."

BRYAN TAKES UP PARTY STANDARD

GIVEN NON-PARTISAN OVATION

Says Third Nomination Shows Growth in Popularity of Policies He Has Advocated.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 13.—Under the burning rays of an almost tropical sun and in the presence of a vast assemblage which cheered him to the echo, William Jennings Bryan yesterday received from Henry D. Clayton of Alabama formal notification of his nomination for the presidency of the United States.

Thrice honored by the Democratic party as its standard bearer, Mr. Bryan plainly exhibited the pleasure it gave him once gain to proclaim the principles for which he stood.

Policies Grow in Popularity.

His nomination for a third time, he declared in his speech of acceptance, could only be explained by a substantial and undisputed growth in the popularity of the principles and policies for which he, with a multitude of others, had contended.

"As these principles and policies," he said, "have given me whatever political strength I possess, the action of the convention not only renews my faith in them, but strengthens my attachment to them."

Non-partisan Ovation.

The ovation accorded to Bryan as he rode through the streets of Lincoln on his way to the state house, where the exercises were held, was non-partisan. It was the homage of the citizens of a western city of the plains toward a distinguished neighbor. Almost the entire Republican administration was represented, Gov. George L. Sheldon and many state officers lending their presence, both in the parade and on the platform. Before coming to Lincoln from Fairview, over four miles distant, Mr. Bryan received over fifteen hundred visitors. To one and all he extended a cordial greeting.

Lincoln in Gala Attire.

His arrival shortly after 12 o'clock at the Hotel Lincoln, where he and John W. Kern, the vice presidential candidate were the guests of honor at a luncheon to the committee on notification, was the signal for an outburst of cheers and applause. He immediately was surrounded by a great crowd and was kept busy for some time shaking hands. Never before had Lincoln streets and buildings presented such a gala appearance; never had such a profusion of banners, streamers, bunting and photographs flashed forth to dazzle the eyes of the myriad visitors.

Mass of Humanity.

The state house grounds were a mass of humanity and Mr. Bryan's appearance on the platform was greeted with vociferous cheers and handclapping. The ceremony of notification was conducted on the north front of the capitol building. The balconies and every window were jammed to overflowing. Not a single incident occurred to mar the proceedings. The police arrangments were excellent. Realizing that the force was not sufficient to cope with the great crowd, the adjutant general of the state, at the request of Mayor Frank Brown, ordered out Capt. Lum's company of the Second Nebraska regiment, and with their assistance perfect order, not only along the line of march but within the capitol grounds, was maintained.

Kern Makes Short Speech.

Before the notification and acceptance speeches were delivered, Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who acted as presiding officer, called upon John W. Kern, the vice presidential nominee, to make a speech. Mr. Kern responded in a few felicitous remarks, in which he praised unstintedly the nonpartisan character of the exercises.

The speech of Mr. Bryan concluded the ceremonies, and he and Mr. Kern retired to the capitol building, where they held a public reception.

Mr. Bryan's Speech.

Our platform declares that the overshadowing issue which manifests itself in all questions now under discussion is, "Shall the people rule?"

No matter which way we turn; no matter to what subject we address ourselves, the same question confronts us: Shall the people control their own government and use that government for the protection of their welfare, or shall the representatives of predatory wealth prey upon a defenseless public, while the offenders secure immunity from subservient officials whom they raise to power by unscrupulous methods?

President's Indictment of Party.

In a message sent to congress last January, President Roosevelt said: "The attacks by these great corporations on the administration's actions have been given a wide circulation throughout the country, in the newspapers and otherwise, by those writers and speakers who, consciously or unconsciously, act as the representatives of predatory wealth — of the wealth accumulated on a giant scale by all forms of iniquity, ranging from the oppression of wage earners to unfair and unwholesome methods of crushing out competition, and to defrauding the public by stock jobbing and the manipulation of securities."

Is the president's indictment true? And, if true, against whom was the indictment directed? Not against the Democratic party.

Mr. Taft Indorses the Indictment.

Mr. Taft says that these evils have crept in during the last ten years. He declares that during this time some "prominent and influential members of the community, spurred by financial success and in their hurry for greater wealth, became unmindful of the common rules of business honesty and fidelity and of the limitations imposed by law upon their actions;" and that "the revelations of the breaches of trusts, the disclosures as to rebates and discriminations by railroads, the accumulating evidence of the violations of the anti-trust laws by a number of corporations, and the overissue of stocks and bonds of interstate railroads for unlawful enrichment of directors and for the purpose of concentrating the control of the railroads under one management"—all these, he charges, "quickened the conscience of the people and brought on a moral awakening."

During all this time, I beg to remind you, Republican officials presided in the executive department, filled the cabinet, dominated the senate, controlled the house of representatives and occupied most of the federal judgeships.

Why No Tariff Reform?

The president's close friends have been promising for several years that he would attack the iniquities of the tariff. We have had intimation that Mr. Taft was restive under the demands of the highly protected industries. And yet the influence of the manufacturers, who have for twenty-five years contributed to the Republican campaign fund and who in return have framed the tariff schedules, has been sufficient to prevent tariff reform.

A few years ago the Republican leaders in the house of representatives were coerced by public opinion into the support of an anti-trust law which had the indorsement of the president, but the senate refused even to consider the measure, and since that time no effort has been made by the dominant party to secure remedial legislation upon the subject.

Why No Railroad Legislation?

For ten years the interstate commerce commission has been asking for an enlargement of its powers that it might prevent rebates and discriminations, but a Republican senate and a Republican house of representatives were unmoved by its entreaties.

Mr. Taft complains of the overissue of stocks and bonds of railroads, "for the unlawful enriching of directors and for the purpose of concentrating the control of the railroads under one management," and the complaint is well founded. But, with a president to point out the evil and a Republican congress to correct it, we find nothing done for the protection of the public. Why?

The Publicity Issue.

An effort has been made to secure legislation requiring publicity as to campaign contributions and expenditures; but the Republican leaders, even in the face of an indignant public, refused to consent to a law which would compel honesty in elections. When the matter was brought up in the recent Republican national convention, the plank was repudiated by a vote of 880 to 94. Here, too, Mr. Taft has been driven to apologize for his convention and to declare himself in favor of a publicity law.

How can the people hope to rule if they are not able to learn until after the election what the predatory interests are doing? The Democratic party meets the issue honestly and courageously. It says:

"We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law prohibiting any corporation from contributing to a campaign fund, and any individual from contributing an amount above a reasonable maximum, and providing for the publication, before election, of all such contributions above a reasonable minimum."

Next to the corrupt use of money, the present method of electing United States senators is most responsible for the obstruction of reforms.

Through a Democratic victory, and through a Democratic victory only, can the people secure the popular election of senators.

House Rules Despotic.

The third instrumentality employed to defeat the will of the people is found in the rules of the house of representatives. Our platform points out that "the house of representatives was designed by the fathers of the Constitution to be the popular branch of our government, responsive to the public will."

Our party demands that the "house of representatives shall again become a deliberative body, controlled by a majority of the people's representatives and not by the speaker," and is pledged to adopt "such rules and regulations to govern the house of representatives as will enable a majority of its members to direct its deliberations and control legislation."

THAW A BANKRUPT, SAYS THE REFEREE

Eastern Creditors Will Have No Choice in the Selection of a Trustee.

WILL BE TAKEN TO PITTSBURG

If Thaw Is Declared Sane There New York Will Be Unable to Get Him Back to That State.

Pittsburg, Aug. 13.—By his decision yesterday in a case in no way connected with the Thaw case, Referee in Bankruptcy William H. Blair, before whom, in the absence of a United States district judge, all issues in the Thaw case must be decided, made it clear that the Eastern lawyers and doctors who have filed large claims against Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, have no voice in the selection of a trustee to take charge of the young man's estate so long as it is in the bankruptcy court.

Under this decision only Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, Harry's mother, and Detective Roger O'Mara will have a voice in selecting the trustee, as they hold the only unsecured and uncontested claims against the estate.

Bring Thaw to Pittsburg.

The decision of the referee is that neither holders of contested or secured claims shall have a voice in the selection of a trustee. The decision was rendered in the case of the West End Tube works.

The date for the first meeting of creditors will probably be announced to-day. It had not been decided definitely as yet whether Thaw will be brought from Poughkeepsie to attend the first meeting of creditors, or will be here at some subsequent meeting. It can be declared, however, on the highest authority, that he will be brought to his native city during the proceedings.

Referee Blair yesterday signed the papers adjudicating Thaw a bankrupt, thereby forestalling efforts of Eastern creditors to have bankruptcy proceedings transferred to New York.

Test Sanity in Pittsburg.

Every move in the Thaw proceedings has shown the determination of Thaw and his counsel to take his case out of the New York courts and force a hearing on the question of his mental condition in the courts at Pittsburg.

It is believed that soon after Thaw is brought here to face his creditors an inquest in lunacy will be instituted in local county courts. If the verdict in such inquest should be that Thaw is sane, New York authorities probably would be unable to get him back to that state, where the only ground for holding him a prisoner at present is that he is insane.

SEE WONDERFUL SIGHTS.

American Officers Are Entertained by Prime Minister.

Auckland, New Zealand, Aug. 13.—Wonderful sights were seen by Rear Admiral Sperry and the contingent of officers of the American fleet, which spent yesterday at Rotorus and adjacent places in the Thermal district —New Zealand's wonderland, it has been aptly named—as the guests of Prime Minister Ward and a delegation of members of parliament.

Besides attending the ceremonies of the opening of the new government bath and receiving a hearty though unique welcome by a great assemblage of Maori tribesmen, an opportunity was afforded the Americans of visiting many of the strange freaks of nature in the neighborhood.

FRENCH APPLAUD WRIGHT

American Aeronaut Makes Most Sucessful Flight of Aeroplane Tests.

Lemans, France, Aug. 13. — Last evening Wilbur Wright of Dayton, Ohio, made the longest and most successful flight of the series of aeroplane trials which he is conducting here, remaining in the air three minutes and forty seconds.

The machine circled the field three times at the rate of thirty-six miles an hour.

On passing the grand stand Mr. Wright gracefully descended until within speaking distance of the spectators, who wildly applauded his exhibition of mastery over the aeroplane, after which he soared like a bird to new heights and continued his flight until reaching the starting point, where he finally gently landed.

Orville Wright Is Next.

Washington, Aug. 13. — The official speed trial of Capt. Baldwin's dirigible balloon was again postponed yesterday, but a preliminary speed trial was made with Mr. Curtis and Capt. Baldwin aboard. It is estimated an average speed of 18.7 miles was maintained.

There were a large number of spectators, including Secretary of War Luke E. Wright and James Allen, chief signal officer, present.

Great interest seems to center in the aeroplanes to be tried at Fort Meyer by the Wright brothers and A. M. Herring. The latter has requested an extension of thirty days in the time in which he is to deliver his machine, which will be granted. The Wright aeroplane is expected any day. Orville Wright is coming from Dayton, Ohio, and it is thought that he will assemble his machine and make preliminary flights somewhere near Washington before notifying the signal corps of his readiness for the official trials.

Baldwin Makes Flights.

The Baldwin airship remained aloft twenty-two minutes yesterday, and a distance of nearly five miles was covered. A side wind was encountered, and several times Capt. Baldwin had to tack much the same as the master of a ship. An altitude of nearly 1,000 feet was attained.

Secretary Wright expressed his pleasure at the showing made in yesterday's flight.

GOVERNMENT CHECKS STOLEN.

Mail Pouch With $2,000 in Pay Checks Disappears.

Washington, Aug. 13. — A messenger's pouch containing United States government pay checks for nearly $2,000 was stolen early last week in front of the building occupied by the department of commerce and labor, according to Chief Wilkie of the secret service. The pouch was found with the pay checks gone, while the other mail it contained was intact, between this city and Alexandria, Va. The identity of the robber is not known. The first intimation that Chief Wilkie received of the theft was on last Saturday, when one of the checks for $73.33, payable to R. F. Troxler of the public health and marine hospital service, came through the Riggs National bank of this city to the treasury department, after having been cashed by the Lowry National bank of Atlanta, Ga. Yesterday a check payable to L. W. Kerr, for $265.83, which had been cashed at Montgomery, Ala., was received at the treasury department.

Messenger Is Careless.

The facts in the case are these: On Monday morning, Aug. 3, a negro messenger of the public health and marine hospital service went to the treasury department to get the mail and the pay checks for some of the officials of the public health and marine hospital service. After securing nine pay checks and the usual amount of mail the negro messenger inclosed then in his pouch and departed on his wheel for the marine hospital building. On the way he stopped at the department of commerce and labor, leaving his wheel and the valuable pouch outside. On his return, a few minutes later, he found his wheel and its valuable burden gone. Next day the pouch was found about half way between Washington and Alexandria, Va. The wheel, the pouch and the mail were found, but the pay checks had been abstracted. The checks, payment on which was ordered stopped, were drawn by Disbursing Clerk W. L. Roberts of the treasury department on the United States treasurer.

HILL LENDS HAND TO BREAK STRIKE

Canadian Pacific, It Is Said, Secures Assistance From Great Northern.

WANT DOMINION TO INTERFERE

Citizens Declare Government Should Stop Strike—More Strikebreakers Arrive.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 13.—That J. J. Hill of the Great Northern road is lending a hand in an effort to break the strike of mechanics on the Canadian Pacific is freely stated here. Just what step the Great Northern has taken is not known.

Another large party of mechanics reached here yesterday for work in the Canadian Pacific railway shops, taking the places of strikers.

At North Bay yesterday eleven strikebreakers deserted and joined the union ranks.

Meetings of citizens are being held at several centers and the consensus of opinion is that the government should interfere and end the strike.

Detectives From States.

Japanese are still working in the Medicine Hat shops.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD.

But Milwaukee Man Says He Was Soliciting Subscriptions.

Sparta, Wis., Aug. 13. — William Broker of Milwaukee was arrested on complaint of H. F. Barth of Cashton, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. It is claimed that Mr. Broker was organizing a branch of the Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers' association and collected a fee of $1.50 from each member.

Mr. Broker claims that he was merely obtaining subscriptions for a trade paper at $1.50 a year and was organizing a trade association, for which there was no charge made.

HAS ANOTHER PRAIRIE FIRE.

Flames Again Sweep Section Burned Over.

Miller, S. D., Aug. 13.—A prairie fire between here and Rees Heights, set presumably by sparks from the railway engines, burned fifty acres of good wheat in shock, belonging to Craig & Leyson, 150 tons of hay belonging to Bert Jones and fifteen acres of wheat, the property of W. L. Curtis, besides causing other losses. The particular locality of this fire has cost the railway many thousands of dollars since the road was built. Fires start there with strange regularity after trains go through.

They waived a preliminary hearing before a court commissioner at Rhinelander, and their case will be brought to the attention of the grand jury, which meets in La Crosse next month.

GOOD TIME IN NEW ZEALAND

Men and Officers of Battleship Fleet Are Showered With Hospitality.

Auckland, New Zealand, Aug. 12.—New Zealand to-day again, with a lavish hand, showered its hospitality upon the officers and men of the United States Atlantic battleship fleet. The chief event of the day was the reception of Rear Admiral Sperry and his officers, given this afternoon in Drill hall by the mayor and mayoress of Auckland. To meet the naval officers had gathered all the officials, civil and military, and hundreds of citizens. Numerous women, gowned in the latest winter fashions, also attended the function, which was a brilliant one in every respect.

Admiral Sperry Entertains.

After the reception Admiral Sperry entertained the members of the legislature at luncheon on board the Connecticut. Speeches on both sides were felicitous to a degree and expressive of the warm friendship that exsists between New Zealand and the United States.

Shore leave was granted to 1,000 bluejackets this morning. They were taken in hand by various committees, whose duty and pleasure it was to see that they had a good time. And they had it. Theater parties and other entertainments had been arranged, and decorated electric cars conveyed the men of the fleet to the numerous beauty spots in the suburbs.

Take Part in Rifle Matches.

Shortly after noon the men were taken to various places, where the committee had arranged elaborate luncheons for them.

This evening a briallant state ball will be given in honor of Admiral Sperry and the officers of the fleet by Lord Plunkitt, the governor, at Government house.

Prime Minister Ward has waived the regulations which prevent the landing of an armed force in order that the Americans may compete in the rifle matches here. The principal match in New Zealand will take place to-day and the American marksmen are hopeful of making a good showing.

DISCOVERY OF MURDER.

Body of a Well Dressed Man Found North of Grand Forks, N. D.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 12.—Murder and mystery was discovered yesterday when the skeleton of a man was found near Bolack station, a few miles north of Grand Forks, on the Northern Pacific railway. Two bullet holes in the head, either one of which would have killed, could not have been fired by a suicide. The clothing is that of a man in fair circumstances. He wore a broadcloth overcoat. Near the body was an aligator grip, badly frayed by the weather. Coyotes had dragged the skull some distance from the skeleton. There is absolutely no clue to the identity of the victim or his slayer. The body was found by Frank Wilkins, a haymaker.

DENEEN AND HOPKINS WIN.

Returns on Illinois Primary Are Still Far From Complete.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Official figures on the Illinois primary election are still lacking in a surprisingly large number of counties, but belated returns that have sifted in served mainly to increase the pluralities of Gov. Deneen and Senator Hopkins. It is practically certain that Deneen carried sixty-four counties and Former Governor Yates 38 counties, the Deneen margin on the total vote being about 16,000. In the senatorship race, with twenty-three counties missing, Hopkins had a plurality of 28,831 over his nearest opponent, Representative C. E. Foss.

AMERICAN FLAG SHOT DOWN.

But It Is Supposed to Have Been an Accident During Persian Riots.

Washington, Aug. 12. — The flag of the United States consulate at Tabriz, Persia, has been shot down by loyalists, according to a dispatch received at the state department from American Consul Doty at that place. The consul also reports that a man standing near the door of the consular office was wounded.

The shooting is supposed to have been an incident of the disturbances which have been going on at Tabriz for some time, and in both cases to have been accidental.

DAMP FATAL TO THREE.

Two Dead and One Dying as Result of Efforts to Repair Old Well

Cherokee, Aug. 12. — Two men lie dead and a third is dying as a result of their efforts to repair an old well on a farm three miles from town.

The Swanson brothers went down in the well, one after another, and both perished in a few moments from inhaling the damp.

Albert Hansen followed them down in the well and was nearly dead when some farm hands pulled him out. His condition now is critical.

STEAM AUTO EXPLODES.

Two Women Killed, Driver Fatally Hurt and Daughter Burned.

Painesville, Ohio, Aug. 12. — Mrs. Mary Rowden, sixty-five years of age, and Mrs. Rose Beckwith, forty-three years of age, were instantly killed, and F. Beckwith, forty-five years of age, was perhaps fatally injured, and Bessie Beckwith, sixteen years, his daughter, was badly bruised and burned by the explosion of a steam auto at the foot of Stickey Hill, about eight miles from Painesville.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

SHE COULD NOT WALK

For Months—Burning Humor on Ankles —Opiates Alone Brought Sleep —Eczema Yielded to Cuticura.

"I had eczema for over two years. I had two physicians, but they only gave me relief for a short time and I cannot enumerate the ointments and lotions I used to no purpose. My ankles were one mass of sores. The itching and burning were so intense that I could not sleep. I could not walk for nearly four months. One day my husband said I had better try the Cuticura Remedies. After using them three times I had the best night's rest in months unless I took an opiate. I used one set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, and my ankles healed in a short time. It is now a year since I used Cuticura, and there has been no return of the eczema. Politeness Pays.

Newport has gained financially as well as patriotically through its reformed methods of treating soldiers and sailors in the United States uniform. Because a dance hall in New London largely owned by the mayor of the city, refused to allow sailors on the floor in uniform the midshipmen's training squadron that has been making its headquarters in that city has been ordered to Newport. As there are two thousand men aboard the ships, business in New London will be sacrificed for the benefit of the merchants of the Rhode Island city which has overcome its prejudice against the United States uniform. It is good policy to be loyal to the army and navy.

ALMOST A SHADOW.

Gained 20 lbs. on Grape-Nuts.

There's a wonderful difference between a food which merely tastes good and one which builds up strength and good healthy flesh.

It makes no difference how much we eat unless we can digest it. It is not really food to the system until it is absorbed. A Yorkstate woman says:

"I had been a sufferer for ten years with stomach and liver trouble, and had got so bad that the least bit of food such as I then knew, would give me untold misery for hours after eating.

"I lost flesh until I was almost a shadow of my original self and my friends were quite alarmed about me.

"First I dropped coffee and used Postum, then began to use Grape-Nuts although I had little faith it would do me any good.

"But I continued to use the food and have gained twenty pounds in weight and feel like another person in every way. I feel as if life had truly begun anew for me.

"I can eat anything I like now in moderation, suffer no ill effects, be on my feet from morning until night. Whereas a year ago they had to send me away from home for rest while others cleaned house for me, this spring I have been able to do it myself all alone.

"My breakfast is simply Grape-Nuts with cream and a cup of Postum, with sometimes an egg and a piece of toast, but, generally only Grape-Nuts and Postum. And I can work until noon and not feel as tired as one hour's work would have made me a year ago."

CATTLE HAD THE RABIES.

Farmers Who Removed Hides Are Taking Pasteur Treatment.

Ionia, Mich.—A strange case of the rabies has been brought to light in Berlin township, where two cows on Tracy Lowry's farm died recently. It is supposed the animals were bitten by Tracy Lowry's dog, which disappeared three weeks ago.

The dog was not known to have attacked the cows, and Randy Taylor, veterinarian from Saranac, was called to doctor the cattle. The two cows died. Bruce and Earl Lowry then took the hides off.

Finally they began to fear hydrophobia, and a few days ago left for Ann Arbor, taking the brains of the cattle with them. Next day a bad case of rabies was reported, and Bruce and Earl are both infected, Earl having had a sore hand when handling the carcasses.

Tracy Lowry also went to Ann Arbor to take the Pasteur treatment, and there is much apprehension over the situation.

Saturday, August 15, 1908.

Monday August 24th is the last day for candidates to file for the primary election which takes place on Sept. 15th.

Next week the Minnesota democrats will nominate a candidate for governor. Congressman Hammond will probably be the unfortunate victim.

Townships will now have to go back to the old system of building and caring for roads now that the supreme court has decided the law unconstitutional that created a Supt. of Highways.

There are now seven candidates for president, as follows: W. H. Taft, republican; W. J. Bryan, democrat; E. V. Debs, socialist; M. H. Preston, socialist-labor; Eugene Chafin, prohibitionist; Thos. E. Watson, populist; Thos. Hisgen, independence league.

Preston, the socialist-labor candidate is now in jail for murder.

St. Hilaire has commenced an active campaign for the establishment of a county agricultural school at that place. A school of this kind would be of immense benefit to the boys and girls of Red Lake county, and as St. Hilaire is centrally located there would be no question ot the wisdom of locating it there.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Two years ago our Democratic friends told us that because Jacobson was not nominated it was positive that the Republican state convention was dominated by the corporations This year Jake is nominated and many of these same democrats tell us this year that his nomination this year is proof that the corporations ran the convention. So there you are. According to the Democratic plan of campaign work, you are damned if you do and you are damned if you don't.—Slayton Gazette.

THE POLITICAL POT

The bi-annual pilgrimage of the politician has commenced and we have had several calls this past week.

++o++

On Monday Judge of Probate Tarrant came up from Red Lake Falls on a business mission but found time to tell the boys that he would be in this race again this year.

++o++

It is probable that C. H. Martz will enter the race for county surveyor now that the supreme court has decided that the position of Supt. of Highways is unconstitutional.

++o++

Wilhelm Michelet, the bright young attorney from Thief River Falls, who has filed for the republican nomination for county attorney, was a visitor here on Wednesday. So far no one is out in opposition to Mr. Michelet.

++o++

It was rumored that Ex-Sheriff Dan Linnihan had decided to enter the lists for the democratic nomination for Sheriff. This will make four candidates—Jones and Nelson for the republican nomination and Linnihan and McGinty for the democratic.

++o++

Herman F. Anderson, of Sanders, was a caller on Tuesday. He has filed for the republican nomination for Supt. of Schools. Mr. Anderson is one of the pioneer residents of Sanders. He is a graduate of the classical course of the Moorhead normal and has spent several years teaching in Norman and Todd counties.

"That young man who comes to see you, Maud, has such an explosive manner."

"You must remember, mother, that his father was in the fireworks business."

The Knowing Child.

"Pa, when are you going to take me to the park?"

"Wait until the cool of the evening, my son."

"But, pa, 'spose there ain't any?"

FRUGAL MR. GIGGS

GIVES HIS WIFE A LESSON IN ECONOMY.

But a Ruined Tree and Much Discomfiture Result from His Efforts to Save a Few Dollars.

The rustling of an evening newspaper as it was folded hastily and laid aside came from the head of the table. Mr. Giggs turned hastily in his chair and peered at Mrs. Giggs over his glasses.

"What's that?" he asked sharply.

"I was saying," Mrs. Giggs answered, as she poured the coffee, "I was saying that those trees in the front of the house need pruning. They're just too ragged for anything. Now to-morrow you call—"

"That's it. That's it. Call up a tree trimmer, eh? More expense. I won't do it." Mr. Giggs' tone was spiteful.

"But John—"

"Don't John me, don't do it. Every time you look at me it's more expense. Don't you know anything but the art of spending money?"

Mrs. Giggs' answer was apologetic. "I just thought I'd mention it," she said.

"Yes," Mr. Giggs replied, "that's the way you always do. Now if those trees must be pruned, I guess it'll have to be done. But I'm not going to spend $9.68 for some wild-eyed freak to jab at those trees with a hack saw and then look wise as he takes the money. If any idiot's going to fool with those trees, I'll do it myself. Got a saw?"

"Nothing but that rip saw you got the other night."

"Nothing but a—; say what do you want, a whole carpenter shop? Now, gimme that saw; I'm going to fix those trees."

An admiring group of neighborhood children gathered on the front steps to watch Mr. Giggs as he came from behind the house, saw in hand.

"Now," Mr. Giggs said, "the way to trim a tree is to trim it. Guess I'll climb the tree."

For about ten minutes Giggs was busy with his pocket knife cutting off small twigs and branches. Then he decided that the top of the tree needed attention.

"Takes up too much sky," he yelled to his wife from among the branches. "I'll just climb up and top off that top limb."

"O-o-h-h-h, John, do be careful."

"Huh." And the answer of Mr. Giggs was sarcastic. "Any old time father don't know what he's doing—well, just call the hearse."

From limb to limb he clambered until finally he came within reach of the top branch.

"Hold below where you're sawing," Mrs. Giggs urged from the porch, "if you don't, you'll—"

"Shut up," Giggs answered testily. "Who's doing this, anyway?" Deeper went the saw into the wood. Suddenly, there was a crackling. The limb leaned far to one side and Mr. Giggs, horticulturist, went with it. But he didn't stop. Still clinging to the saw with one hand he went downward, through the branches of the tree, to fall, saw and all, upon the pavement. Slowly he picked himself up and limped to the house.

"Mrs. Giggs," he began painfully, "Mrs. Giggs, I—"

A feminine shriek interrupted him. "John McAnany Giggs, you've gone and killed yourself—all because of that mean, hateful, parsimonious old nature of—and just look at that tree. Ruined. Every limb broken."

"Well, look at me," Giggs said plaintively, as he inspected a bleeding finger.

"Serves you right. That's just what it does. Yes, sir, it serves—well, Mr. Giggs, I'll tend to the spending of the money after this. Do you hear? Answer me—do you hear?"

But Mr. Giggs was silent.

Hairs in the Watch.

"Well, sir, I had to send my watch down town to have it cleaned out again," said an East side barber the other day. "I have to send my watch to the repair shop about once a month, and there is absolutely nothing the matter with it, except that it is full of hairs. I do not understand how the hairs can get into the works and behind the hands and mix up in the mainspring and every place as they do in my timepiece. I watched myself one month as closely as I could, and I swear I never opened the back of it. Yet, at the end of the month, I unscrewed the back lid and it was full of little fine hairs. I always keep it in my pocket when I am cutting hair, but I don't see how any hairs get into the watch. Yet they must, because they are always there."—Columbus Dispatch.

Cannon's Face in Clouds.

Philadelphia.—A dark gray cloud in the southwestern sky at twilight the other evening was viewed by hundreds of persons along Lehigh avenue. It resembled in outline a colossal profile of a man, and was a striking likeness of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, even to his perpetual smile. It stood out boldly in the pink sky, but gradually faded.

Eight Weasels Attack a Cow.

Hanover, Pa.—Haymakers on the farm of H. A. Sell, near Hanover, noticed a cow in a near-by meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. Upon investigation they were astonished to find that eight weasels had attacked her. After a hard fight the farmers succeeded in killing several of the blood suckers and scattering the remainder.

A man in the northern part of the state is raising chickens and obtaining money under false pretenses. He made his hen coop air tight and put curtains at the windows. At noon he draws the curtains, making the hen house perfectly dark, so that the biddies go to roost, and at one o'clock he raises the curtains letting the light in. The hens think another day has dawned and proceed to lay another egg. It is a darn mean trick equal to the man who put green spectacles on his horses and then fattened them on rye straw. The green spectacles made the poor horses think it was hay.—Waukon Republican.

A Unique Leap-Year Dance

An attractive leap-year dance is described in Woman's Home Companion for August. Each girl sends to the gentleman she has chosen to be her escort, an invitation to the dance, stating at what time he should call for her.

The girls agree among themselves to exchange places, and each girl is masked and dressed to represent some distinguished character. When the guests have all arrived at the hall, each man is given a slip of paper and pencil, to guess who each girl is. A prize may be given to the one guessing the most corractly.

Before unmasking, each man has the first dance with the girl with whom he came. Aterward comes the unmasking and the surprise—if the girl has played her part well.

Death of Mrs. And. Bjornquist

The death of Mrs. Andrew Bjornquist occured Tuesday morning at her home in River Falls from a complication of diseases. She had been suffering for some time and death was welcomed welomed as a relief.

Mrs. Bjornquist was born in Vermland, Sweden, in 1869 and came direct Minnesota in 1888, having resided in the vicinity of St. Hilaire ever since coming to this country. She was united in marriage to Andrew Bjornquist in this village in 1889 and they moved to farm which they were occupying at the time of her death.

She leaves a husband and nine children ranging in age from two weeks to 17 years age, to mourn the loss of a kind and devoted wife and mother.

The funeral services were held from the Mission church in this village, Rev. Lundin, of Thief River Falls, and Rev. Nelson, of Chicago, officiating. A larger concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives has sedlom attended a funeral here than that which was present while the last sad rites were performed for Mrs. Bjornquist.

The remains were laid at rest in the Swedish Lutheran church cemetery in River Falls.

Prices Greatly Reduced

We have reduced the prices of lumber a great deal. Our lumber is first class and guaranteed to be thoroughly dry as every stick of our lumber is kept in SHEDS, and our lumber is manufactured by mill where workmanship must be first class.

We also have a lot of second hand plank and timber which is going at a bargain. Also clean, second hand brick, good as new, going at half price.

Queer, isn't it, that every person will recognize his or her own handwriting, no matter how good or bad the writing may be. The remark, "that's my writing," was frequently heard while three fair damsels were overhauling a trunk full of letters.

Peter Lindblom, one of the prosperous farmers in Red Lake county, was here last week after his supply of twine. Pete is authority for saying that a certain kind of green bug is ruining 'the wild oats by cutting the joints before going to seed. Corral the bugs and form a trust.

Did you notice the uncollected personal property tax for the year 1907 in last proceeding of the board of county commissioners? Citation were issued against eighteen—some four having five figure amounts against them; while the board is satisfied that seventy-eight persons owing taxes for 1907 cannot be collected and has ordered them cancelled. Roosevelt would not call this a "square deal."

The farmer boys, both large and small, when they come to town do not neglect to take home a supply of ammunition so as to be ready when the crow season opens, which happens to be next Saturday. We are of the opinion that this is the only solution to the prairie chicken problem and inside of two or three years, with the present present bounty, crows will be as scarce as hens' teeth in this neck of the woods

Andy Drielan, section foreman at Wylie, went down to Crookston Saturday to take the section foreman's examination and have his watch examined by the time inspector. If Andy should be a little "afraid of the cars," Jim Hill's examiner's should overlook this as it is so seldom we see a train down here, and he has a good eye who can locate the number on the engine before its in and out again. Later:—Andy took the examination with honors, and his time piece stood the test.

School Site

The commercial club committee having in full charge the matter of securing a prospective site for the county agricultural school have been receiving all kinds of offers this past week. One party offered to contribute the necessary ten acres for one dollar, and the committee has several fine sites in view. It will not be hard to get a good site and the cost will not be excessive.

A Favorite For The Children

An interesting attraction in the main building at the Minnesota State Fair this season will be the original live Buster Brown and Tige. These famous characters have, since the great World's Fair in St. Louis in 1904, been traveling throughout the United States, entertaining thousands of familiss and children in every town that they visit. Their entertainment is a unique one, and it is expected they will be the center of an admiring crowd while holding forth at the exhibit of the Brown Shoe Co. of St. Louis, Mo., in the main building, just under the dome.

Buster Brown is 42 inches in height, and is a thirty-second degree Mason.

Grit—That's Us

That is why America leads the world in athletic sports. It isn't the much talked-of mixture of races; it isn't the climate, for we have every variety of climate in the United States and our champions come from every part of the country. It is the national spirit that makes America take the lead in everything that requires quickness, determination, dash and grit; and then, too, some people are of the opinion that it is due to the daily use of a good malt tonic such as golden grain belt beer. This delicious table beverage has won a dignified place in the American home by reason of its pure, wholesome qualities. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

GOPHER EDITORS' ANNUAL OUTING

NORTHERN MINNESOTA AND CANADIAN NORTHWEST RAPIDLY DEVELOPING.

The Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—Wonderful Extent of Fertile Territory Awaiting the Farmer.

Ten years ago the editors of Minnesota made an excursion through western Canada from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast. They were surprised at the extent and apparent fertility of the vast region between the Red River of the North and the Rocky mountains. For days the train sped over the undulating or level plains, grass covered and green in their native luxuriance.

Now again, after a lapse of a decade, they have made another trip thru the same region, and they are able to give it a more thorough inspection, because in those ten years thousands of miles of new railroad lines have been built, and the development of the country has made marvelous strides. Millions of acres, then lying in their wild and untouched state, have since been transferred into grain fields. Towns have sprung up as if by the wand of a magician, and their development is now in full progress. It is a revelation, a record of conquest by settlement that is remarkable.

THE EDITORIAL PARTY.

The excursion party, consisting of a hundred and twenty-five editors and members of their families, headed by President W. M. James, of Breckenridge, assembled at St. Paul on Friday, July 17th, with a complete program of the trip arranged by its executive committee, comprising C. C. Whitney, F. J. Meyst and W. E. Easton, veterans in the newspaper business in Minnesota.

The committee in planning the trip was able to arrange the excellent itinerary thru the co-operation of Hon. Frank Olliver, minister of interior of the Dominion government, and his able representative, Mr. Will J. White, and by the presence of the latter during the entire trip, the visiting editors were enabled to enjoy a very interesting and instructive outing, and were shown every courtesy by the residents of all the towns visited.

The route of the trip was from St. Paul to Duluth, thence to Fort Frances and International Falls, on the northern border of Minnesota, then to Winnipeg, the metropolis of the Canadian northwest east of the Rockies. From Winnipeg the course lay northwest to Prince Albert and Edmonton, 600 miles northwest of Winnipeg, thence south 200 miles to Calgary in Alberta, west to the Banff Springs and Laggan in the Rockies, and then back to Winnipeg over different lines of railway, the whole making a trip of nearly 3,500 miles over the wonderful empire to the northwest of Minnesota.

The editors were carried in a special train of five cars, including three standard sleepers, a private observation and buffet car and day coach. It was a fac simile of the Winnipeg Limited, as the sleepers, secured from the Great Northern railway, were identical to those in use in their regular service, and was the best equipment ever used in an editorial special. Nothing was left undone by the Canadian government officials, the association officers and the railroad people to make the trip a pleasant one, which it was in every sense of the term.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA.

The extent and natural resources of northern Minnesota are scarcely realized by people in other sections of the state. Something of an adequate conception of the geographical extent of northern Minnesota may be realized when we say that the city of Brainerd, in Crow Wing county, is pretty near the center of the state. People in southern Minnesota are apt to imagine that Brainerd is near the extreme northern border. The northern half of our state is a vast, undeveloped tract which in time will be settled and improved.

A WORD ABOUT DULUTH.

The editorial party arrived at Duluth Friday evening and the excursionists were at once taken in charge by a committee of the Commercial club, conducted to their rooms, where an hour later an elaborate banquet was served. During the interval many of the excursionists took the opportunity to look over the town. Some visited the aerial bridge over the canal, a steel structure some 200 feet high, the only one of its kind in the world. In order to not hinder the passage of vessels in and out of the harbor, it was conceived to erect a steel framework over the 200 feet wide channel, with an opening high enough to allow vessels to pass through. Traffic across the canal, including the street car lines, is accommodated by a swinging platform, suspended from the top of the steel frame, and rolled back and forth on a wheeled track at the top, like a hayfork in the peak of a barn. Street cars, foot passengers and vehicles are run on this platform, the machinery is set in motion and the platform, with its freight, is swung across to the other side, where they move on to the solid ground again.

After the banquet Mayor Hugo acted as toastmaster, and, incidentally put in a few optimistic words about the present and coming greatness of Duluth, the "Zenith city of the unsalted seas." Shortly before midnight the cars were again boarded and the train pulled out for the north over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern as far as Virginia, and from there to Fort Frances and International Falls over the new Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg line. The greater part of this run was made in the night, but morning came as we were passing along in the northwestern part of St. Louis county, having traveled nearly all night without getting across the border of this very large county. St. Louis county and the whole northeastern part of Minnesota is a region of timber, brush and swamps. Most of the land is sufficiently smooth and free from stones to be farmed, and the soil, while considered light, grows luxuriant crops of tame grass, vegetables and grain. The two problems with this land is clearing it and draining the soil. It is now covered with a heavy growth of pine, spruce, cedar and tamarack. It is argued that this section will make a fine dairy country, and we can easily believe this to be true, but it will take much work to transform it.

FORT FRANCES AND INTERNATIONAL FALLS.

Our special train reached the northern border of Minnesota and crossed the line into Canada about 8 a. m. Saturday. The railroad company has just completed a unique bridge over the Rainy river at this point. In order not to obstruct navigation a drawbridge is required, and in this case, instead of having it swing around in the old style, the bridge is tilted up into the air on one end, which is heavily counterweighted to balance the other end. It is operated by a gasoline engine. At Fort Frances the party took breakfast, and the meal was followed by a steamer trip on Rainy river by courtesy of the Rainy Lake Improvement Co., after which we landed on the American side and enjoyed a bountiful lunch prepared by the people of the Minnesota town, well known as INTERNATIONAL FALLS.

This point on the northern border of Minnesota is destined to become an important manufacturing city, for two reasons. One is that it has a wonderful waterpower of undoubted permanency, which is now in process of development. The Rainy river watershed, and Rainy lake, with its hundreds of square miles of water as a reservoir, furnishes a volume greater than the Mississippi at Minneapolis. This wonderful power is being developed by the Rainy River Improvement Co., a corporation composed largely of Minneapolis men. It is estimated at from 30,000 to 40,000 horsepower. The dam is now about two-thirds completed. The completion of the dam will be followed by the erection of power houses on both sides of the stream, transmitting its energy through electricity to various manufacturing plants to be erected, including large paper and pulp mills, flour and saw mills and other manufacturing plants. The raw materials are at hand, and the power is here. A large industrial center is sure to result from these natural advantages.

Mr. C. B. Kinney, resident agent and superintendent, kindly accorded the visiting editors every courtesy in showing the party about the works and explaining the scope of the improvements. The town itself is a bustling place with a good array of business blocks and public buildings. The editors left on their journey to the westward with best wishes for the future prosperity and growth of International Falls.

The excursionists were transferred to the line of the Canadian Northern railway. Arthur Hawkes, of Toronto, superintendent of publicity of this railroad system, accompanied the party during its travels over his line, attaching a private observation car to the train, and tendering its use to the members of the party, doing everything in his power to make the trip pleasant. The Canadian Northern is comparatively a new railway system, the first mile of track being built about 1892, while at this date the system includes thousands of miles of line covering the Canadian Northwest from Winnipeg to the Rockies, with lines extending eastward into Ontario and Quebec. This line is controlled absolutely by two men, Wm. MacKenzie and D. D. Mann, who have had a meteoric career in railroad circles.

The run from International Falls to Winnipeg takes the party through the northern part of Minnesota for a distance of about fifty miles, where the line passes south of the Lake of the Woods. The remainder of the run is over Canadian territory, the entire distance being some 250 miles. The country traversed on both sides of the line is a rather low and flat region, covered mostly with spruce and tamarack. It is largely taken up by homesteaders, who have taken the land for its timber value. In the vicinity of Warroad, on the Minnesota side, there is considerable actual farming done.

The party arrived at Winnipeg after dark, and dined at the famous Canadian Pacific railway hotel, the Royal Alexandra, after which the cars were again boarded for a run to the northwest, over the Canadian Northern line, as far as Edmonton, 800 miles from Winnipeg, and over 300 miles north of the boundary between the United States and Canada. Our first stop was made in time for breakfast the following morning, the 29th, at DAUPHIN, MANITOBA.

Here we found a nice town in a flourishing agricultural section. The crops were good, the land here being rich and productive. Farms were well improved and the best farms are worth $50 per acre. Members of the party talked to farmers who had made fortunes in a few years in the rise of land values and in the growing of farm crops. This part of Canada is largely what is known as bush lands. There is a scattering growth of poplars, willows and other scrubby growths. This is true of all of Manitoba and considerable parts of eastern Saskatchewan.

Traveling on to the northwest from Dauphin, the railway crosses into the next province after a run of about sixty miles. A dozen miles further and the lively town of is reached. Here a stop was made for dinner. This is a much newer section than that about Dauphin. It is settled quite largely by farmers from the states. The generally expressed opinion in Canada is that those who come from the states make the best farmers. They know their business, are enterprising, and they have the money to start in proper shape to bring their holdings into crop rapidly. At Kamsack a number of farmers were interviewed and all told the same story of their satisfaction with the country, its soil and climate. Only a portion of the land has been opened up here, but the fields of grain were uniformly good. Wheat and oats were just heading out nicely at the time of our visit. Harvest here begins from about August 10th to September 1st. Land is not high in price, being from $8 per acre up to twice that sum. Homesteads can also be had, but only at a considerable distance from the railway lines. There is one feature about the Canadian homestead law that is quite an advantage. A man may take a homestead and prove up on it without living on it. He is allowed to do this provided he buys a piece of land and lives upon it near the homestead claim. He must farm the claim.

The next stop was at Humboldt, a hundred miles further to the northwest. Much the same farming conditions prevail here as at Kamsack. The country as we go northwest gradually becomes more open, and the brush gets scarcer. The stretches of open prairie become larger, but the soil still shows a fine black loam, with good stands of grain where farms have been opened.

A further run of a hundred miles or more and the train pulled into the bustling little city of

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK.

This is a city of 8,000 people, located on the mighty Saskatchewan river, which is navigable for four hundred miles north of the boundary, but instead of finding an arctic region we see vegetables and grains growing luxuriantly. We are yet a long way from the latitude where crop growth is made doubtful by the cold. In this connection we might state a fact not generally known, which illustrates the crop possibilities of the Canadian Northwest. In 1876 at the Philadelphia exposition, wheat from the Peace river region, which is five hundred miles northwest of Prince Albert, took first prize and a gold medal. Even that long time ago wheat was being raised in a small way much farther north than was reached by the editorial party on this trip. One thing was quite noticeable by the editors on arriving at this far northern latitude. The days are much longer here in midsummer than in Minnesota. From 3 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock in the evening it is daylight. This extra amount of sunshine gives a great stimulus to plant life, and growth is very rapid. The seasons are shorter, but this makes up for it.

Through the courtesy of A. L. Mattes, superintendent of the Prince Albert Lumber Co., the party was given a steamer ride up and down the Saskatchewan river, also an opportunity to examine one of the large saw mills of this company. The yearly output of this corporation alone is 50,000,000 feet of lumber, mostly of spruce. Pine does not grow in this region to any extent.

BATTLEFORD, SASK.

After a half day's stop at Prince Albert, we started westward, our objective supper point being Battleford. Here we again strike the Saskatchewan. There are two hustling towns here on opposite sides of the river, Battleford and North Battleford. Battleford, as well as Prince Albert, are historic places in Canadian history. A fine banquet was tendered the editors at this place, and other entertainment in the way of broncho busting and races provided, followed by a dance in honor of the guests.

On the run from Prince Albert to Battleford, we pass through a great wheat growing region. Rosthern, one of the points passed, has eight large grain elevators, and is said to be one of the greatest primary grain markets in the world.

Leaving Battleford Tuesday morning, we made a noon stop at

and enjoyed a fine repast tendered by the people of that city, a hustling new town of a couple of thousand souls. Six or eight years ago land could be bought here for less than 50 cents an acre, and it is just as fine land as lies out of doors anywhere. Prices now are up to their proper level. The fertility of the soil here is great, and the crops fine.

Time flies, we are due at Edmonton for supper, and we were obliged to leave the kind people of Vegreville and board our train for the afternoon run. Wheat fields, uniformly promising good yields, were seen on every side as we sped along. Just before the supper hour, we entered the environments of one of the leading cities of Alberta, the province which lies to the west of Saskatchewan. Two cities, Edmonton and Calgary, in this province, are keen rivals, and each claims to be the best. Edmonton lies on the north bank of the Saskatchewan river, has over 20,000 inhabitants, fine business blocks, brick making plants, coal mines, and what you would scarcely expect to see at this northern point, large pork and beef slaughtering establishments. A new packing plant, now nearing completion, was inspected by the visitors. Supper was followed by automobile and carriage rides about the city, the vehicles being tendered by the public-spirited citizens. Edmonton is surrounded by a fine farming country and is a lively city. Its position insures its permanence as a distributing point for a large territory to the west and north, and is certain to make a steady growth.

Strathcona, just across the river, has some five thousand people, and is really a part of Edmonton, though a separate municipality. Here are located the Alberta university and other institutions of learning. Here the excursionists changed from the Canadian Northern line to the Canadian Pacific. Our course now lay to the south as far as Calgary. Between Edmonton and Calgary we made stops at Wetaskewin, Red Deer and Lacombe. Red Deer is in a good agricultural section and is an enterprising town. The editors were royally received, given a banquet, and sent on their way rejoicing. Fine crops were noticed in this region, and the people seemed enthusiastic and satisfied with their conditions.

At Lacombe, carriages were provided for a drive to the provincial experimental farm, established only a year ago, where some fine samples of growing crops were to be seen.

CITY OF CALGARY.

The metropolis of southern Alberta is Calgary, with about 20,000 population, having over a hundred wholesale establishments, various manufacturing plants and other industrial features, and it is a bustling town. In this region both dry farming and irrigation are in vogue. The Bow river, right from the Rockies 90 miles distant, furnishes a constant supply of water. The Canadian Pacific railway has undertaken a great irrigation project, taking water from the river here at Calgary and conveying it in a large ditch for 250 miles to Medicine Hat, with a capacity of irrigating two and one-half million acres of land. The Calgary citizens tendered the editors a carriage drive around the city, which was greatly enjoyed. The country about Calgary is open prairie, and has long been a cattle ranching district. Now grain raising has been taken up extensively, especially the raising of winter wheat, which seems to do well in southern Alberta.

BANFF AND LAGGAN.

Leaving Calgary Wednesday evening, the train heads west for the run to Laggan, 116 miles west of Calgary, in the heart of the Rockies. Laggan was reached at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, where carriages and saddle horses were in readiness to take the party to the hotel three miles away, built on the shore of Lake Louise, a most charming lake over two miles in diameter, and 5,760 feet above sea level. Still higher up and within a mile or two, are Mirror lake and Lake Agnes, the latter 1,000 feet above the hotel. Towering snow clad mountains surround these lakes, making a picture of sublime grandeur never to be forgotten. Back to the cars again by 11 o'clock, we were off for Banff, 35 miles east, in time for lunch. The Canadian Pacific has a large and fine hotel here. The mountain scenery is beautiful. The Bow river flows through the place, with tumbling rapids just alongside the hotel. Here we took luncheon and dinner, and spent the afternoon in drives and sight-seeing. Banff and Laggan are visited by thousands of tourists every year, as the mountain scenery rivals that of Switzerland in rugged grandeur.

HIGH RIVER, McLEOD, LETHBRIDGE.

Leaving Banff in the evening we returned to Calgary, and from there went south through High River and on to McLeod, thence east to Lethbridge. All these points are in what is known as "Sunny Southern Alberta." Lethbridge is less than fifty miles from the Montana line. All are thriving cities, Lethbridge being the largest of the three, with a population of 5,000. The country through this section is level or slightly rolling, with good soil, though not so reliable for rainfall as points further north and east. Irrigation is practiced to a considerable extent. Winter wheat and alfalfa are the principal crops, while beets are also raised and manufactured into sugar. The winter wheat was just ripening for the harvest when we were there, July 24th. There was a fine stand, part of the crop being on irrigated land and some on land not watered. The section about Lethbridge is level as a floor, and the soil is chocolate colored and fertile. We saw fields of 2,000 acres of fine wheat near Lethbridge.

At this place we were taken out two miles from the city to see the experimental farm, where a fine showing was made of growing crops, small fruits and shrubbery. A fine supper was spread at the farm, the bill of fare including strawberries of home growth. A reception followed at the club rooms in the city in the evening. The writer of this article was taken by auto about ten miles into the country and shown the heavy crops.

At McLeod and High River the excursionists were toasted and feted, shown wonderful crop exhibits, and will long remember the cordiality shown by the people.

From here we started on the back track toward Winnipeg on the main line of the Canadian Pacific railway. All day Saturday, the 25th, we were making the run between Lethbridge and Regina, the capital of the Saskatchewan province. During the day we passed

MEDICINE HAT AND MOOSE JAW.

Medicine Hat is a city of 5,000 people, in a district that should have irrigation to make crops certain. Something has already been done along the line of irrigation projects, and large areas will soon be under flowage from the ditches. Considerable dry farming is being done under the summer fallow system, with excellent results. Medicine Hat has one great advantage over other towns. It has natural gas in exhaustless quantities. The party visited one well owned by the Canadian Pacific railway, where the pressure at the outlet was 427 pounds to the square inch. This gas is used for lighting, heating and power purposes. The street lamps burn all day, because it is cheaper to allow this than to turn off the gas in the morning and relight the jets at night. While ordinarily gas costs the consumer from 90 cents to $1.75 per 1,000 feet, here at Medicine Hat the price is 5 to 13½ cents per 1,000.

At Moose Jaw the editorial party was met at the train with autos and carriages, driven to the boat landing on the river, and from there by canoes and launches to a cool park on the bank of the stream a mile from the city, where refreshments were served. The day had been very hot and this diversion was most welcome to the tired excursionists.

OFF FOR REGINA.

The stop at Moose Jaw had to be curtailed, as we were due at Regina for supper. We arrived there at 7 p.m. and went at once to the fine new King George hotel, and partook of an elegant banquet as the guests of the city. Regina is the capital of Saskatchewan province and the visiting editors were unanimous in declaring it one of the best improved cities they had visited on the trip. Regina has fine paved streets, an excellent class of business blocks, and costly public buildings, including a new $175,000 city hall and a $225,000 postoffice building nearly completed.

SASKATOON.

We leave Regina for the north about midnight for a 250-mile run over a branch of the Canadian Northern railway to Saskatoon, one of the newer towns of that region. It promises to be a big town in the near future. It is very new, with many substantial structures, as well as buildings largely of a temporary and hurried class of construction, with speculation rife and vacant lots making the city appear scattered. It is in a good grain section and already does a large business in all lines, especially farm machinery and supplies. We took dinner here and looked over the town, then turned southward again, stopping for a few minutes at the six-months-old town of Guernsey, with 100 inhabitants, mostly Americans. They haven't even a depot yet, but met us at the track with fruit and hearty greetings, and showed samples of fine crops growing about the town. Supper was taken at Lanigan, another new town further down the line, with 800 people. The town was decorated in honor of the visitors with flags and bunting.

The train left Lanigan about 8 p.m. and next morning we were at Virden, located 180 miles west of Winnipeg. It is a nice little city of 3,000 people surrounded by a rich and old settled agricultural region. We were driven about the town to see the sights. This little city is in the province of Manitoba. Our next stop was at the metropolitan city of a well built town of 12,000 people, surrounded by a fine and thrifty farming country, well settled and displaying fine crops. There is no vacant land around Brandon, but the city seeks manufacturing establishments and wholesale stores, as it is a natural distributing point for a large territory. It has now three railroads and another one coming. It is the largest city in Manitoba, outside of Winnipeg. It is the former home of Will J. White, the popular representative of the Canadian government, who accompanied the party on this trip. A nice luncheon was served to the visiting editors at the fair grounds adjoining the city, which are well improved with large buildings. Very successful fairs are held every year. Just across the Assiniboine river, which winds through a picturesque valley at the foot of the city, is the large experimental farm and Indian industrial school, which was visited through the courtesy of the city in providing carriages. This farm has been in operation some eighteen years and is a spot of beauty, presenting splendid demonstrations of the wonderful agricultural possibilities of this rich section of country.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE.

This is the last town visited by the party before reaching Winnipeg, and has 6,000 population. It has a well settled country around it. Carriage drives to its popular resort, Island Park, also to the fair grounds, were taken, followed by a course dinner at the opera house. Portage is a fine little city, well improved, and one of the agricultural gems of the dominion.

WINNIPEG, THE METROPOLIS.

From Portage to Winnipeg is about 60 miles, where we arrived about midnight, and breakfasted at the Royal Alexandra. The city had arranged for auto and street car tours over the city, and this diversion, varied with shopping at the stores by the ladies, and a banquet at the hotel at noon, served to make the day pass very pleasantly.

Winnipeg is the largest town and the great gateway of the Canadian Northwest, having about 120,000 people. It is a very progressive and thoroughly metropolitan city with fine business blocks, including sky-scrapers of ten or twelve stories. It has nineteen banks, half a dozen railway lines radiating to all points of the compass, and is the great wholesale center for Western Canada, as well as the chief grain market, as all shipments go through here. The city has had a wonderful growth during the past five or six years, with still greater prospects in the immediate future.

IN CONCLUSION.

Everywhere we went in Canada we were given a most cordial reception. At places where banquets were served American and British flags were intertwined, and the kindest expressions were voiced, showing the good feeling toward the Americans as a people.

A word in regard to the extent of this Canadian country would not be out of place. The three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, extending west to the Rocky Mountains, each contain two hundred million acres, or six hundred millions in all. So far as we could see the most of this land is tillable, though but five million acres are at this date actually in crop with grain, and this small area is expected to produce this year a hundred and twenty-five million bushels. Figuring the tillable area in the three provinces at half the total, and we have three hundred million acres of possible wheat fields. The government statistics show that the average wheat crops in the past in Western Canada have yielded 27 bushels per acre. Three hundred million acres and 27 bushels per acre would make a total that is staggering. One year's crop would flood the markets of the world and feed all the people on the earth for several years. Such a stupendous result will never work out in fact, but it shows the possibilities of this vast region for the production of grain.

During the entire trip we saw very little poor grain. No doubt the crops there are shortened by the lack of rain and by frosts at times and in places, but the fact remains that one year with another, there will be a steadily increasing amount of grain raised in Western Canada. This increase in production will be astonishing.

Cattle and hog raising is already an established business in this same territory. Corn is not grown, but hogs are fattened on barley, wheat and other grains. Cattle fatten on the abundant ranges without stall feeding, and dairying can be carried on successfully.

Western Canada has a future before it which may exceed the dreams of the most sanguine enthusiast. It would be difficult to make a prediction of future progress that may not be exceeded many fold in the next ten years.

The editorial party was a congenial one, good feeling and good fellowship prevailing during the entire trip. Not a single member was forced to abandon the trip by sickness or any other reason. There was no accident save that once the tender jumped the track, hurting no one, but delaying the train about three hours. The excursion has passed into history as one of the most pleasant and instructive trips among all that have been taken by the Minnesota editors.

ROULETTE PLAYED WITH SPOOL.

Newsboys' Game Which Has Small Chances for the Plungers.

Perhaps it isn't an entirely new game, but it was the first time that the wayfarer had seen it, says the New York Sun.

A group of newsboys were gathered about another boy who had an improvised top made of a spool pierced by a sharpened skewer. The spool was so cut that it presented four square sides, each marked with a letter. The letters were P. T. N. and A.

The boy with the top spun it, while the others made wagers, mostly in cents. When the top came to rest it naturally fell on one of the square sides.

"What does it mean?" asked the wayfarer.

"Well," said one of the boys, "according to the way the top falls you can make or lose the money you put up. If it drops on P then you put in a sum equal to what you bet for the fellow who runs the wheel. If it falls on T then you can take back the stake you put up.

"If it comes on N that means none. You lose just what you put up. If it comes to A then the banker has to pay all the men who are playing."

The spool roulette wheel did a fine business for the banker while the onlooker was there.

STREAK OF LUCK FOR AUNTIE.

Emolument and Honor in Matrimonial Alliance.

Old Auntie Mandy, who did the washing, was such a happy, brave old soul that although she worked very hard early and late and must often have been weary, nothing could depress her. In everything that occurred she saw only "good luck" for herself. One day she brought home the washing in a high state of glee.

"Jes' think, Mis' Arnold," she said, "I's goin' ter git married! Isn't dat jes' fine luck fo' poor ole black woman like me?"

"I shall be very sorry to lose you, Mandy," said Mrs. Arnold, "but I'm glad if your life will be easier."

"Lose me!" gasped Mandy. "Lor'! Mis' Arnold, I can't afford to let you lose me jes' now. Why, I'se goin' ter marry Br'er Johnson an' his five chillun. I'se got to hustle now, for sartin."

"But I fail to see where your good luck is coming in from such a marriage, Mandy."

"Why, chile, if I marry dat man an' his chillun, he's promised me six mo' big washes his fust wife done had. Dat's clar luck, Mis' Arnold, clar luck, 'sides habin' de honor ob marryin' in Br'er Johnson's fambly!"

Literary Note.

FIVE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL.

Discharged Because Doctors Could Not Cure.

Levi P. Brockway, S. Second Ave., Anoka, Minn., says: "After lying for five months in a hospital I was discharged as incurable, and given only six months to live. My heart was affected, I had smothering spells and sometimes fell unconscious. I got so I couldn't use my arms, my eyesight was impaired and the kidney secretions were badly disordered. I was completely worn out and discouraged when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they went right to the cause of the trouble and did their work well. I have been feeling well ever since."

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.

This sign is permanently attached to the front of the main building of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

What Does This Sign Mean?

It means that public inspection of the Laboratory and methods of doing business is honestly desired. It means that there is nothing about the business which is not "open and above-board."

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify any and all statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Is it a purely vegetable compound made from roots and herbs—without drugs?

Come and See.

Do the women of America continually use as much of it as we are told?

Come and See.

Was there ever such a person as Lydia E. Pinkham, and is there any Mrs. Pinkham now to whom sick woman are asked to write?

Come and See.

Is the vast private correspondence with sick women conducted by women only, and are the letters kept strictly confidential?

Come and See.

Have they really got letters from over one million, one hundred thousand women correspondents?

Come and See.

Have they proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands of these women?

Come and See.

This advertisement is only for doubters. The great army of women who know from their own personal experience that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female ills will still go on using and being benefited by it; but the poor doubting, suffering woman must, for her own sake, be taught confidence, for she also might just as well regain her health.

GOV. JOHNSON IS RENOMINATED

Named for Third Term Amid Wildest Demonstration Ever Seen in State.

TAKES TIME TO CONSIDER IT

Declines to Say What He Will Do in Matter—Committee Picks Balance of Ticket.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor—John A. Johnson of St. Peter.

For Lieutenant Governor—Julius J. Reiter of Rochester.

For State Treasurer—P. H. Nelson of Hibbing.

For Secretary of State—R. T. Lamb of Slayton.

For Attorney General—M. E. Mathews of Marshall.

Minneapolis, Aug. 20.—Gov. John A. Johnson, in one of the wildest political demonstrations ever witnessed in the state, was nominated as a third term candidate for governor of Minnesota at the state Democratic convention held in the Minneapolis Auditorium yesterday. The governor up to a late hour last night would not give out for publication what he would do in the matter, but the fact that he wanted to "think it over," in the face of his previous declarations that he would not accept the nomination, indicate that his attitude has changed somewhat and the general opinion is that he will respond to the call made upon him by the party.

Governor Will Not Talk.

His private secretary, Frank A. Day, came out boldly and says he does not see how Johnson could continue to live in the state if he turned down the nomination.

Gov. Johnson was seen at the capitol in St. Paul last evening, following the reception to the National Editorial association. The question was put to him, but only a non-committal response was received.

"I am completely up in the air," said the governor. "I don't know what to do. One thing is certain. I am not going to give out any statement on the matter to-night."

"Will you to-morrow?"

"Perhaps so. But if not to-morrow, probably not for several days. It has all come up to me so suddenly, I want time to think it over. I have nothing to say for publication; in fact I have not yet received official notification of my nomination."

Mayor Lawler Starts It.

"He would be a hard speaker, indeed, who would waste much time in placing before this convention the name of the next governor of Minnesota, because there is but one name in the minds, in the hearts and in the mouths of the Democracy of the State of Minnesota, and that name is John A. Johnson—"

That was as far as Mayor Lawler got with his nomination speech for more than an hour.

P. McDonnell of Duluth, chairman of the St. Louis county delegation, led at that psychological moment one of the wildest demonstrations ever witnessed in a state convention in the Northwest. Jumping to his feet he grabbed the banner of the St. Louis county and waving it above his head he shouted:

"Hurrah for Johnson! He's a winner!" and started on a run for the stage. He was followed by every delegate in the hall, shouting: "Johnson! Johnson! He's a winner!"

Back to His Speech.

The demonstration began at 2:55 and ended at 4 o'clock. When quiet had been again restored, with practically every delegate to hoarse to talk much, Mayor Lawler resumed his speech in nomination of Gov. Johnson. He made it short. "There is no name worthy to be mentioned alongside that of Bryan," Mr. Lawler continued, "except that of Johnson. We are here today representing the militant Democracy of Minnesota. Let every Democrat in Minnesota nail to the masthead the name of John A. Johnson, demand his acceptance of the nomination and triumphantly elect him this fall along with the entire Democratic ticket."

The nomination was then made by acclamation amid the wildest enthusiasm. The rest of the state ticket was selected by a committee of nineteen, chosen from the judicial districts, and their work was indorsed by the convention.

The Platform.

The platform indorses the national platform adopted at the Denver convention and pledges the hearty support of the Democrats of Minnesota to the ticket there nominated. The administration of Gov. Johnson is indorsed and it is declared that in every emergency he has been equal to the occasion and has brought honor to the administration and to the state. The enactment of a tonnage tax is favored. A non-partisan judiciary is advocated. The party is pledged to the enactment of the initiative and referendum. Popular election of United States senators is demanded. Extension of the direct primary law so as to include all state officers is favored. The administration is commended for its efforts to enforce the railroad rate law. State guarantee for deposits in state banks is favored. An employers' liability law is demanded.

Called to Order by Day.

The convention was called to order by Frank A. Day, chairman of the state central committee.

"I won't say now," said Mr. Day, "that I am about to lay down my badge of office as chairman of the state central committee for all time." He arraigned J. F. Jacobson, the Republican candidate for governor, for his Duluth speech and for his alleged alliance with the "interests." He lauded Bryan and praised the Johnson administration and said:

"Gov. Johnson does not want a nomination at your hands to-day, and I hope you will respect his wishes."

This statement was met with shouts of "No! No! We want Johnson. He's the man!"

On the floor Hennepin and Ramsey counties were on their feet shouting for Johnson, other delegates joined in and the demonstration continued for several minutes.

Farrington for Chairman.

Senator R. G. Farrington of Big Stone was chosen temporary chairman. In his speech on taking the chair Senator Farrington said:

"Never has there been a time when the Democratic party, state or nation, has faced so important a situation. We are on the verge of a great campaign—a campaign to be tried out on the issue of 'equal rights for all, special privileges for none.'"

Chairman Farrington paid a high tribute to Gov. Johnson and followed it with a blow at the Republican party for the nomination of Jacobson, who, he said, could not have got the nomination but for the support of the interests.

To Pick Candidates.

At the suggestion of Frank A. Day a motion was carried for the appointment of a committee to draw up a list of candidates for other places than governor on the state ticket. The committee was composed of a representative from each judicial district.

Committees on resolutions, credentials, permanent organization and credentials were then named and the convention took a recess until 2 o'clock. At the afternoon session the business of the convention was completed as reported above, and the convention adjourned sine die.

MILITARY ON DUTY AT SPRINGFIELD

Entire National Guard of Illinois, Except Two Regiments, at Scene of Riots.

MOB ATTEMPTS TO CUT WIRES

Negroes Flee From Town and Commit Depredations in Country—Five Already Dead.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18. — Two deaths from injuries received in previous mob fights, the attempted cutting of the fire alarm wires, the exoneration of Private J. B. Klein, Company A, First Illinois infantry, by a court of inquiry, for the killing of Earl Nelson at Kankakee Saturday, and the pursuit of a mob by guardsmen, were the chief of yesterday's developments in the race war in Springfield, which started Friday. Three men were killed in the rioting Friday and Saturday.

With the arrival here yesterday of the Second and Seventh infantry regiments and two squadrons of the First cavalry, all from Chicago, the entire national guard of Illinois, with the exception of the Sixth infantry and the Eighth infantry (colored) was on duty in the riot districts last night. In all 4,200 guardsmen are in the city.

Soldiers Rushed to Scene.

The attempt to cut the telephone and fire alarm wires leading into the city hall was not successful. A policeman saw three men on top of an outbuilding, trying to reach the lines overhead. He turned in an alarm to the headquarters of Gen. Wells, commanding a provisional brigade, and the latter dispatched a wagon load of soldiers to the scene. They arrived before the trio had done any damage. The would-be wire-cutters fled, leaving their nippers behind. They escaped.

The court of inquiry which considered Private Klein's case was composed of Maj. James Miles, Capts. J. Judson and S. F. High and Lieut. F. A. Guilford, all of the First Illinois. After sitting all day they reported to Adjt. Gen. Scott that Klein's act was performed in the strict line of duty.

Klein had been placed as one of a guard of the baggage car on the first section of the Illinois Central train, which brought the First infantry to Springfield Saturday. The train was a special one, and the baggage car contained property owned by the state. Klein, guarding the front door, was instructed by Lieut. Guilford to allow no one not officially countenanced to enter the car. At Kankakee, four young men, according to the report, climbed to the front platform and attempted to enter the car. Klein barred the way, using the only weapon available, a bayonet. As the train started the four youths left the platform. Klein was not aware that Nelson nor any one had been injured. State's Attorney Cooper of Kankakee probably will institute action against Klein in the criminal court at Kankakee. The attorney general of the state is compelled by law to defend national guardsmen in such cases.

Causes Genuine Scare.

A genuine scare was caused at the headquarters in the arsenal last night after a squad had been sent to disperse a crowd at Allen and Spring streets. Five minutes later a report reached Lieut. Gen. Eddy that shots had been fired in the threatened district. He immediately sent a full platoon to the place to reinforce the squad. When the additional soldiers appeared the crowd broke and ran. The soldiers pursued them for several blocks, and the district, which is near the zone of Saturday night's lynching, was in an uproar for a few minutes.

The arsenal was crowded last night with negro refugees from Springfield and surrounding towns. About 200 men, women and children sought shelter in the building and slept on the floor or in chairs. Most of these people were old and infirm, but they endured the hardships of their quarters rather than face the prospect of passing the night in their homes, beset with momentary fears of attack.

Scores of negroes have left Springfield either on foot or by trolley cars, the latter class riding as far as their means permitted and then striking across the country. These tramping parties, aimless and penniless, are causing some complaints from the communities through which they pass. The whites assert that the presence of these negroes imposes unnecessary burdens and also argue that only the shiftless and immoral portions of the Springfield negroes are represented. Minor depredations, it is said, have already increased in the farming districts because of this condition. The Springfield authorities are doing all they can to reassure the negroes still here.

Almost a Cloudburst.

Oskaloosa, Iowa, Aug. 18. — A heavy rainfall, amounting almost to a cloudburst, visited this section. More than four inches of rain fell. Rock Island trains are delayed on the main line and branches.

Rope Expert Abductor?

Billings, Mont., Aug. 18.—John S. Howard, known as champion rope thrower of the world, has been arrested, charged with aiding Ernest Huston in the alleged abduction of Miss Bauer.

SEEKING OUT RINGLEADERS

Many Arrests Made and Much Loot Recovered—Citizens Warned Not to Give Evidence.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 19.—Following the addition of two victims to the death list, sporadic outbursts of lawlessness in various parts of the city and increased symptoms generally that the mob spirit rule still rules Springfield, Gov. Deneen last night issued proclamations offering rewards aggregating $1,200 for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of the riot victims. The death list up to the present time numbers seven. Another death is expected momentarily. W. H. Rowe, one of the most popular citizens of Springfield, is slowly sinking from the effects of the bullet wounds and the beating which he received from a crowd of negroes Friday night.

Threaten Vengeance.

Rowe's friends have warned the authorities that "Billy" will be avenged and the event of his death will cause a redoubling of vigilance by the troops' commanders.

"Wait until the troops go," is the word that has been passed around town, and recognizing the strength of the undercurrent, the state, city and county officials are taxing every effort to turn public opinion toward law and order.

Evidence is not lacking that many citizens who were known to have important testimony regarding the mob and its leaders have been deterred from offering this to the state's attorney because of threats of violence made against them anonymously.

Police Gather Evidence.

The gathering of evidence began in earnest yesterday. Policemen in plain clothes were sent to search the houses of prisoners and suspects, and as a result the police station looked like a general store last night. Naturally, many arrests followed.

Five of the arrests made yesterday are considered as important by the police. It was in the homes of these men that most of the loot was found. A sixth person is being sought by the police, who aver that when he is arrested practically all of the ringleaders of the mob will be in custody.

Suspects Are Fleeing.

"We have the thugs on the run," said Evan Jones, chief of detectives here, and he added that many suspects are leaving town to avoid arrest.

What will happen when the national guardsmen leave? This is the question of paramount importance in the minds of local citizens. It is generally agreed that so long as Gov. Deneen wields the mailed fist trouble of a serious nature is not probable. It is practically certain that the military will remain here until the special grand jury summoned yesterday has completed its report.

Town Thoroughly Policed.

The force on hand will not be added to, however, the 4,200 soldiers now encamped in the public squares and streets being sufficient to cover the city so thoroughly that there is slight chance for a mob to storm any point.

The exodus of the negroes from Springfield seems to be permanent. A visit to the former "black town" yesterday brought out the fact that the homes so quickly deserted Saturday are still vacant and promise to remain so.

Fired on From Ambush.

Two privates of Company D, Fifth infantry, of Bloomington, Earl Ashley and Guy Duncan, were fired upon at 11:45 o'clock last night from ambush. They were not hit. Two troops of the First cavalry were ordered to the place to make arrests if possible. Shots were heard from other points in the vicinity. Five men were arrested at Eighth and Ash streets.

MOUNTAIN TOWN WIPED OUT.

Hotel, School and a Few Other Buildings All That Is Left.

Duncans, B. C., Aug. 19. — Mount Sicker townsite, until recently the scene of great mining activity, and which, had certain negotiations been carried to a successful consummation, was destined to become one of the important industrial centers of the province, was swept by fire despite the heroic efforts of a large force of fire fighters to save the town. The men succeeded in saving tthe big hotel, a schoolhouse and several mine buildings, but the residential portion is now in ruins, forty-three houses having been burned.

Fire, which has been raging for over a week and which has covered half the mountainside, is said to have originated through the carelessness of some berry pickers who failed to extinguish a camp blaze.

Starting in the West Holme district, the fire followed the road clear to the mining camp, burning every bridge and culvert on its way. For three nights men on the hill did not go to bed and were in a state of exhaustion from their efforts.

SHERMAN ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION

Republican Vice Presidential Candidate Subscribes to Party Platform.

GIVE LOVING CUP TO SHERMAN

Present From Colleagues in Congress; Secretary of State Root Eulogizes Nominee.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 20. — The last formal ceremony attending the official launching of the Republican national ticket of 1908 was held here yesterday when Representatives James Schoolcraft Sherman was tendered and accepted the nomination of his party for the vice presidency.

In accepting he subscribed heartily, he declared, to the declaration of principles adopted at the Chicago convention in June, to the every utterance of Secretary Taft in his Cincinnati speech and to the policies of President Roosevelt. Mr. Sherman asserted that the approval of the Roosevelt administration was the real issue of the campaign to be undertaken. In answer to Mr. Bryan's question: "Shall the people rule?" Mr. Sherman said: "Surely they have ruled; surely they do rule. Shame on the candidate who insults the American people by suggestion or declaration that a majority of its electorate is venal."

Speech Is Brief.

Mr. Sherman's speech was unusually brief, and he did not attempt to discuss in detail any of the questions touched upon by Secretary Taft, saying he could not hope to persuade any one not convinced by the presidential candidate's presentation of the platform and the issues. He did enter into a brief discussion of the tariff, and his declaration, "I am a protectionist" brought spontaneous response from his hearers. The candidate then went on to explain that he thought the time had arrived for a revision of the tariff from the protectionist point of view. Mr. Sherman praised the record of the Republican party, and in contrasting it with the Democratic organiation referred to the latter as "an aggregation of experimental malcontents and theorists, whose only claim to a history is a party name they pilfered."

Notified by Burrows.

Senator Julius Burrows of Michigan, chairman of the notification committee, whose members gathered here from the various states of the Union, made the tender of the nomination. In his speech he, too, resented what he declared was a thinly veiled accusation by Mr. Bryan that a Republican administration did not represent the rule of the people. Secretary of State Root speaking as a neighbor and life-long friend of the candidate, eulogized Mr. Sherman, politics having no place in his brief but eloquent address. President M. W. Stryker of Hamilton college, from which Mr. Sherman was graduated, also paid a personal tribute to the candidate, and there were addresses of welcome to the visiting committeemen and sightseers from Mayor Thomas Wheeler and Chairman Charles Symonds of the local reception committeee.

Loving Cup for Sherman.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Mr. Sherman was presented with a magnificent gold-lined silver loving cup, a gift from his colleagues in the national house of representatives.

The ceremonies of notification occupied a little less than two hours and were held in the shade of the elm trees which surround the Sherman lawn, on upper Genesee street.

Holiday throngs filled the streets from early morning until late last night, band concerts and an electrical illumination being the last features of the day's celebration.

NAVAL HERO LAYS DOWN ARMS

"Fighting Bob" Evans, Pride of American Navy, Retires From Active Service.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Aug. 20. — Far from grim warships and the sea, where he spent nearly half a century in the service of his country, Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans of the United States navy, who is at this quiet mountain hotel, reached the age limit of sixty-two years yesterday and passed from the ranks of the country's active sea fighters. Here, where fourteen peace conferences have assembled, sending forth to the world appeals that arms be laid down, one of the world's greatest naval commanders laid down his arms, probably never again to take them up in the defense of the country he has served so well. His has been the longest in service, but two years short of half a century, of any man who has reached the office of rear admiral in the United States navy.

Showered With Congratulations.

All through the day the hotel was thronged with admirers of "Fighting Bob," as his hosts of friends delight to call him, eager to congratulate him on his sixty-second birthday and to wish him many more happy and useful years. Telegrams by the score reached him from all parts of the country, all expressing felicitations and affection for the man who has done so much to build up the American navy.

In reply to a friend who asked the admiral how he felt on his sixty-second birthday, he replied characteristically:

Fit as a Fiddle.

"Fit as a fiddle. I am sixty-two years young to-day and I expect to reach a hundred. I am taking on flesh at the rate of half a pound a day, and I haven't got a thing to do but loaf. Who wouldn't get well under such circumstances?"

The admiral said he expected to stay here until October, when he will go to Washington to be associated with the general board in an advisory capacity. The formal celebration in honor of the admiral took place last evening in the large parlor of the mountain hotel. Albert K. Smiley introduced as presiding officer of the ceremonies J. Edward Simmons of New York. When Admiral Evans was brought into the room in a wheel chair the audience applauded him vigorously.

Gets Loving Cup.

Mr. Simmons delivered a eulogy of Rear Admiral Evans and then read a large number of letters from men distinguished in public and private life. Following the reading of the letters impromptu addresses eulogizing the admiral were made by several of the prominent guests.

Dr. Andrew S. Draper made the address of presentation of a loving cup, which was the gift of the guests of the hotel. Admiral Evans made a short speech in accepting the gift, in which he expressed his appreciation of the kind things which had been said about him.

A reception followed the formal ceremonies and men, women and children vied with each other in their efforts to show their admiration of "Fighting Bob."

MUST OCCUPY TERRITORY.

With Single Proviso Americans Give Netherlands Free Hand.

The Hague, Aug. 20.—With the single proviso that no military occupation of territory must occur, the government at Washington is understood to have given the cabinet of the Netherlands a free hand to deal as it sees fit with President Castro of Venezuela.

The recent interview between Arthur M. Beaupre, the American minister, and the Netherlands prime minister was cordial, and Mr. Beaupre was able to assure the Netherlands statesman that his country has the sympathy of the state department and that no objection would be raised to blockade or other maritime measures measures against Venezuela. In short he was given to understand that the United States was ready to allow the Netherlands fleet perfect liberty of action, provided no territory was seized.

The Netherlands cruiser Friesland will not sail for the Caribbean before the end of next month.

Causes a Sensation.

Caracas, Aug. 20.—A sensation has been caused in diplomatic circles by the refusal of President Castro to permit the Brazilian minister to take charge of French interests in Venezuela. The French interests necessarily are being neglected.

QUIET IN TENNESSEE.

Arrest of Leaders Relieves Race War Situation.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 20.—The situation near Jellico, where the uprising of white miners against negroes occurred Monday, appears to be quiet, though it is difficult to obtain direct information, owing to the remoteness of the section. Sheriff Hughes of Claiborne county, Tennessee, yesterday arrested five members of the band, believed to be the leaders, and this has done much to relieve the situation.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; FATAL TO THREE

Minneapolis Brewer and Wife Killed and Another Woman Is Fatally Injured.

WOMAN CREMATED IN WRECK

Wrecked Car Catches Fire and Woman's Body Is Consumed Before Rescuers Can Reach It.

Minneapolis, Aug. 20. — John G. Glueck, secretary and treasurer of the Glueck Brewing company, and his wife were killed; his sister, Mrs. Ed Leblaire, was so seriously injured that she is not expected to recover, and Roy Witt, son of C. F. Witt, and Mrs. Leblaire's daughter Dorothy, aged three, were painfully injured when a Minneapolis & St. Louis train crashed into the Glueck automobile on a crossing near Cottagewood, Lake Minnetonka, yesterday.

Woman Cremated in Wreck.

The heavy touring car was hurled thirty feet against the fragile summer station at Cottagewood with such force as to break the supporting posts and allow the roof to fall in upon the wreck. Fire stated from the automobile and, spreading like a flash over the gasoline-drenched debris, added to the horror of the catastrophe.

Mrs. Glueck's body was enveloped by the flames before the rescuers could reach it and was completely consumed. It is not known whether her death is chargeable to the collision or to the fire which followed it. Mr. Glueck was brained in the crash. His body was dragged out of reach of the flames.

Train Not Seen in Time.

Mrs. Leblaire and her little girl were rescued from their perilous position beneath the fallen roof and demolished automobile before the fire had time to complete the work of the train.

Mr. Glueck and his party were running in from the Glueck summer home at Cottagewood, closely following an automobile driven by his brother, Charles Glueck. Before reaching the crossing, the railroad track passes through a cut. This is supposed to account for the fact that neither Mr. Glueck nor the engineer of the onrushing train became aware of the situation in time to avert the accident.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE AND DOMESTIC ECONOMY OF RED LAKE COUNTY

Read and in Your Own Mind be Convinced of its Benefit. The Greatest Opportunity in the History of Red Lake County is at Your Door.

Parents who are educating their children "away from the farm" should remember this: "Ninety-five per cent of the men following an agricultural career suceed: ninety-five per cent of the men who take up commercialism fail."—Norman County Index.

Citizens of Red Lake County:

You are undoubtedly already acquainted with the fact that a movement has been started in Red Lake county, having for its object the establishment of a County School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy at St. Hilaire. In order that you may more thoroughly understand the workings of an institution of this kind and know the benefits to be derived from a school of this character, allow us to present to you a few facts drawn from similar schools in the state of Wisconsin. We do not wish to solicit your support without giving you an opportunity to know what you are supporting. We therefore ask you to carefully read what we shall have to say, and thus in your own minds to be convinced of the advantages of a school of this character.

In the first place let us see what the young men are expected to learn in schools of this kind. To the young men thorough instruction in the care of milk, cream and utensils is given. They receive full instruction in regard to running a farm separator and the manufacture of butter. Students receive practical training in the ripening of cream, churning, working and packing of butter, testing the value of milk and cream, etc. The purpose is to give to the young men very thorough training in such lines of the business as will serve to make them better creamery patrons, and teach them to furnish the products of the highest quality and conduct the dairy herd with the greatest profit.

A course is given in animal husbandry. In this course the work is very practicable. Trips are made to the best farm barns in the county to study methods of housing, feeding, and handling animals. Considerable stock judging is carried on by classes in connection with this subject. Thorough instruction is given in feeds and feeding.

A very thorough course in the subject of farm accounts is taught. A brief study of commercial law of importance to farmers is taken up. Business forms, contracts, deeds and mortgages are studied. A very practical course in business arithmetic is taken up. The students are taught how to measure wood, walls, land, tanks, etc. Special computations suited to farm practice are taught, such as income from dairy cows, feed rations, cost of feedings, cost of buildings, cost of fencing, cost and contents of silo, etc.

A course is given in farm carpentry. The students are taught how to care for, sharpen and use in a practical way such tools as should be used on a farm. Work on models that will teach how to make the different kinds of joints, splices, etc., necessary in the construction of buildings, machines, cupboards, and a variety of useful and ornamental articles for the home, is also given in this course. After the necessary preliminary work, the students soon learn the construction of buildings, machines, cupboards, paper racks, mail boxes, match holders, milk stools, book cases, and a variety of useful and ornamental articles for the home and farm.

Another very practical course is given in farm blacksmithing. The students are taught how to fashion from stock iron various articles useful on the farm, such as tongs, cold chisels, punces, rings, chain links, clevisis, brackets, harrow teeth, etc. They are shown how to construct a serviceable forge and to otherwise equip a shop for farm blacksmithing. Original exercises are conducted in repairing broken parts of farm machinery. Something of the nature and structure of different kinds of iron and steel, as well as some knowledge of the processes by which each is produced is taught. Especial attention is given to the process of welding iron and steel and of tempering tools of steel.

What we have said so far pertains only to the instruction given to the young men attending institutions of this kind. But it is not the young men alone that are to be benefited by an institution of this kind. The young women of the farming communities as well as of the villages of the county are here offered opportunities of untold benefit. It is a selfevident fact that there can be no home without a woman who understands the art of homemaking. No farmer and no business man can be successful without that valuable adjunct a successful housekeeper. There is perhaps no part of the practical side of life that has been so sadly neglected in the past as the art of homemaking and home management. I do not think that you shall differ with me if I say that over ninety per cent of the young women growing up today know practically nothing about the art of housekeeping. The reason for this is that they have not had the opportunities to learn. What little they do know is simply what they have learned from their parents, for the most part inpracticable and unscientific. Now in an institution of this kind opportunities are offered which will enable every young woman to become an intelligent and practical housekeeper. In order that you may see and judge for yourselves, let me present to you a few of the things that the young women are taught in schools of this kind.

Cooking.

The cooking department is equipped as nearly like a home kitchen as is consistent with the number of students to be accommodated. Wood and gasoline ranges are used instead of individual gas plates. Convenient cupboards and kitchen cabinets such as should be in every well equipped kitchens are used here. Even the work tables used by the pupils are models of convenience in every respect.

The course in cooking includes a study of starchy foods; quick breads and other flour mixtures; a study of the yeast plant and its action; breadmaking; vegetables; cream soups; meats, their food value and methods of cooking; soups; desserts; planning cooking and serving simple meals.

During the second year dietetic values of foods are taken up, and each student plans a meal correctly balanced as to food nutrients and serves it to the class. Numerous special foods are prepared by the class covering subjects of the first year in a more advanced way.

Invalid cooking is taken up as a special branch of the work in cooking. The value of absolute cleanliness and daintiness in serving an invalid's tray with its effect upon the patient is taught; special diet for fevers and other individual cases; the making of gruels, broths and other dainty and nutritious dishes; special diets for convalescents.

Sewing.

The sewing department is equipped with sewing machines, draugthing tables, and everything necessary to teach the girls the best methods of making their own garments. They furnish their own material and use the finished products. The students become skilled both in hand and machine work.

Millinery.

The millinery, like the other practical work of the course, is not intended for professional use. The aim is to cultivate simplicity of taste and teach making the best use of materials and means at hand.

The course includes the making and trimming of hats and bonnets, the study of the harmony of colors, discussion of taste in selection of bonnets, hats, plumes, frames, tips, flowers and trimmings.

Home Economy.

The course in home economy is designed to cover the broad field of the home left untouched by the special branches like cooking, sewing and laundry work. An outline of the work is as follows: The house plan, drainage, sanitation, ventilation, heating and lighting; household furnishings and their care; house cleaning and sanitation; cleaning and preservation of clothing, carpets, rugs and floors; household accounts, etc.

Home Nursing.

The lessons in home nursing are to meet the need in so many homes where the care of a sick one devolves on the family. The course includes care of sick room and bed; duties of nurse; care of patient; precautions in contagious diseases; disinfection of patient and room; special diets for the sick; nursing of special diseases; diet for children.

Emergencies.

The aim of this course is to give students the knowledge that every man and woman ought to have, of what to do in cases of accidents while waiting for a physician. The course includes circulation of the blood; hemorrhages and how to stop them; treatment and dressing of wounds; bandaging; artificial respiration; unconsciousness; poisons and their antidotes; fractures and sprains.

Laundering.

A well equipped modern home laundry is used to teach the principles of laundering. Special attention is given to the removing of fruit and other stains. Other things taught are; special treatment of flannels, silks prints and laces; fixation of colors; composition and action of various soaps, soda, bluing, borax and washing powders; making and using cold and boiled starch; care and use of irons; polishing devices. Each lesson is made practical by laundering material selected for the occasion.

The above outlined things are a few of the many practical things the young women have an opportunity to learn in schools of this kind. A great many other things might be mentioned but time and space does not permit.

There is just one more question that may demand a little attention, and that is the question of the cost of erecting and maintaining a school of this kind. The county is asked to build a school costing $15,000. A suitable location will be donated by the village of St. Hilaire. The assessed value of taxable property in this county is about four million dollars. This would mean that a tax levy of about three and eight-tenths mills would have to be made for building purposes. Assuming now that your property is assessed at $1,000. This would mean that it would cost you about $3.80 to erect this school. This investment is very insignificant when you consider the untold benefits that are to be derived from it by future generations. You have a school centrally located in the county to which you can send your children and to which you can go for adivse. It is not an investment that you have to make every year, but one that once made pays a continuous revenue.

Now let us look into the matter of the cost of maintaining a school of this kind. For a basis we will use the Dunn County School of Agriculture of Wisconsin. This school costs the county about $2,000 a year, about $4,000 being received yearly from other sources. Now assuming again that your property is taxed at $1,000, it would cost you about fifty cents yearly to maintain this school. From the above figures it is evident that the cost of this school is very insignificant and to the thinking man and woman there can be no question as to the benefits to be derived.

Throughout the country agriculture is now experiencing a wonderful intellectual uplift. It is such a forward movement as no other calling ever received, and no other age ever witnessed.

Only the educated farmer will have a chance in the sharp competition of the future. He will live so much better and make so much more than the farmer of today that it will make most farming of the present look primitive.

The farmer should be a specialist. This requires preparation. Education counts for as much as experience in the preparation for profitable farming. Two years of special school work is more valuable than 20 or 25 years of the ordinary farm experience.

The farmer's wife and daughters ought to be something besides mere working machines. Too many of them grind out their daily tasks, calling them drudgery and hating them with all their strength year in and year out. A couple years of practical training at an Agricultural School, where they study many things their brothers study, and other things their brothers do not study, broadens their views and simplifies their methods of housework and farm life. The possibilities of their lives are opened up to them, and the way to a better and happier life is shown them.

Special Election Sept. 29

Gazette:—The county commissioners met in regular session Wednesday morning and had a strenuous day of it. Aside from the usual routine of business this august body of county officials was waited upon by a committee of business men from St. Hilaire who had petitions to present praying for the establishment of an agricultural school and asking that a date be set when a vote could be taken upon the proposition. The wish of the committee was granted and September 29th was designated a day for the holding of such election, the people of St. Hilaire to pay all election expenses.

Surveyor J. K. Wood having removed to Canada, his resignation as a county official was duly accepted, and the commissioners appointed to the vacancy C. H. Martz, a man who has made good as county superintendent of highways and is well qualified to fill the position of trust.

Cannon's Face in Clouds.

Philadelphia.—A dark gray cloud in the southwestern sky at twilight the other evening was viewed by hundreds of persons along Lehigh avenue. It resembled in outline a colossal profile of a man, and was a striking likeness of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, even to his perpetual smile. It stood out boldly in the pink sky, but gradually faded.

Hairs in the Watch.

"Well, sir, I had to send my watch down town to have it cleaned out again," said an East side barber the other day. "I have to send my watch to the repair shop about once a month, and there is absolutely nothing the matter with it, except that it is full of hairs. I do not understand how the hairs can get into the works and behind the hands and mix up in the mainspring and every place as they do in my timepiece. I watched myself one month as closely as I could, and I swear I never opened the back of it. Yet, at the end of the month, I unscrewed the back lid and it was full of little fine hairs. I always keep it in my pocket when I am cutting hair, but I don't see how any hairs get into the watch. Yet, they must, because they are always there."—Columbus Dispatch.

Discontent

When discontent seizes upon the mind it is like the deadly cancer, reaching out with the tentacles for sound flesh to feed upon. The caustic of self arraignment must be unsparingly used, and the salve of common sense liberally applied. As a preventive we suggest the daily use of golden grain belt beer which, if taken regularly at mealtime, will contribute to the health of both body and mind. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

Butter Scores High

The St. Hilaire creamery had two shipments of butter on the Chicago market recently that were scored by the government inspector and awarded a score of 94. There were about 8,000 pounds in each shipment and this cer-speaks well for the quality of the cream delivered at the St. Hilaire creamery and shows that the patrons take great interest in their dairy work and in their creamery. This success is the result of co-operation between the patrons and the buttermaker.

DEATH CLAIMS TWO

Christian Olson, of Rocksbury, and Bertel Anderson, of Black River, both Died at an Early Hour Sunday Morning.

The death of Christian Olson occured his farm in the town of Rocksbury Sunday morning from old age and a complication of diseases.

The funeral was held from his home Tuesday, Rev. Palm officiating, and the remains were laid at rest in the United Lutheran church cemetery.

Christian Olson was born in Ibestad, Morway, on May 16, 1883, where he grew to early manhood and married. His wife, however, died a short time after their marriage and he emigrated to the United States in 1860 and located in Grandsbury, Wis, where he went to farming. There he met and married Miss Ingeborg Paulson in the year 1865. They remained on their farm in Wisconsin until 1882 when they sold out and moved to this village where they kept a boarding house for about 13 years. They then moved onto the farm which the family is now occupying and have lived there up to the time of his death.

Mr. Olson was one of those hardy pioneers who helped to make this section of the state what it is today and the report of his death was heard with the deepest regret. He was a kind and indulgent husband and father and was held in the highest esteem by all those knew him.

He leaves a wife and two sons, Paul aged 27 years, and Martin aged 23 years, to mourn his loss.

BERTEL HENRY ANDERSON

One of the saddest deaths that has ever occured in this vicinity occured at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Anderson in the town of River Falls last Sunday morning. Their son, Bertel Henry Anderson, who has been ill with that dread disease, quick consumption, could no longer withstand its ravages and finally succumbed to its attacks at an early hour that morning.

His funeral was held from the Clara church in River Falls, Rev. Sand officiating, and the remains were laid at rest in the church cemetery there.

Mr. Anderson was a native of this country being born in the town of River Falls on December 18th, 1885. He had finished the district school and was completing his second year at the Moorhead Normal when stricken with the disease in April and was forced to return home. He was an exemplary young man, quiet and inoffensive, yet one who commanded the respect of all who knew him.

Doan's Kidney Pills bring the quickest of relief from backache and kidney troubles. Is that relief lasting? Let Mrs. James M. Long, of 113 N. Augusta St., Staunton, Va., tell you. On January 31st, 1903, Mrs. Long wrote: "Doan's Kidney Pills have cured me" (of pain in the back, urinary troubles, bearing down sensations, etc.). On June 20th, 1907, four and one-half years later, she said: "I haven't had kidney trouble since. I repeat my testimony."

An Overvaunted Virtue.

S. I. Kimball, the general superintendent of the life saving service at Washington, said recently of an applicant for a certain post:

"The man was recommended for his steadiness. Now, steadiness is a virtue, especially in lifesaving; that by itself does not go very far. Whenever I think of it I think of an old lady I used to know.

"Mrs. Madden,' a gentleman once said to this old lady, 'your neighbor, Herbert Bisbing, has applied to me for work. Is he steady?'

"Mrs. Madden threw up her hands. "'Steady is it?' she said. 'Sure, if he was any steadier he'd be dead.'"

Bringing It to a Climax.

"I know what's passing in your mind," suddenly said the maiden as the habitually silent caller stared at her. "I know, too, why you are calling here night after night, appropriating my time to yourself and keeping other nice young men away. You want me to marry you, don't you?"

"I—I do!" gasped the young man.

"I thought so. Very well; I will."

He Could Be Trusted.

A train from the north pulled into the station at Charlottesville, Va. An elderly man thrust his head out of a window of a day coach and summoned a little colored boy. The following colloquy ensued:

"Little boy, have you a mother?"

"Yassuh."

"Are you faithful to your studies?"

"Yassuh."

"Do you go to Sunday school?"

"Yassuh."

"Do you say your prayers every night."

"Yassuh."

"Can I trust you to do an errand for me?"

"Yassuh."

"Well, here's 5 cents to get me a couple of apples."

A Practical Suggestion.

It was his first Sunday school and he sat in the infants' department eagerly watching the superintendent illustrate the lesson on the board. The superintendent drew the path to heaven—one straight line— and started the figure of a man on it. Gradually the man became larger and larger and finally when he arrived at the gate of heaven he could not get in.

The superintendent turned to his small audience and, in a tragical and sorrowful tone, said: "You see he is so puffed up with sin that he cannot enter in."

"Try him sideways, mister, try him sideways," came the small shrill voice from the infants' department.

How He Reached.

Three-year-old May had a penchant for cutting everything in sight when she could get a pair of scissors. One day, being left alone with her curly-headed baby brother, she promptly cut every curl from the back of his head.

When the nurse discovered the damage, she said:

"Oh, May, how dare you cut baby's curls off?"

"He cut them hisself."

"How did he reach the back of his head?"

"He stood on the stool."

TOO MUCH FOR THE MEMORY.

Washington Woman's Complaint About New York Telephone Numbers.

"This is the time of year," said a well-known Washington society woman to some friends after a trip to New York preparatory to going to Bar Harbor for the season, "when you meet your New York friends on the street and they give you their awful telephone numbers on the fly, expecting you to remember them.

"'Everybody has left town,' cries one. 'I shall be here only a few days longer. Come to see me. Do. I am lonely as can be. You won't forget, will you? You remember my telephone number? 1257893 Chelsea? Don't you forget it now, will you? And come to see me! And come to see me!'

"Another stops her automobile at sight of you coming along.

"'So glad to see you,' she exclaims. 'Awfully glad. Haven't seen you in ages. We are going for an auto trip. Going next week. Come to see us before we go, won't you? Please do.'

"Then the auto starts off:

"'Don't forget my telephone number, will you? I told it to you, you remember, 32517892758 Stuyvesant! Don't forget! Now do come!'

"Then as you walk slowly along you hear footsteps behind you and stop and look around. Mrs. Doucet, the pretty woman, running after you. She catches you by the arm:

"'You dear thing!' she cries. 'When have I seen you before? It has been years and years and years. Oh, yes, at the last meeting of the Pleiades club! I had forgotten. But it seemed years. Look here! I am going out of town for the summer. Going in a week or two. Can't tell which, whether one or two; anyway, I am going. Then I won't see you again till fall. Won't you come to see me? You must. Have you my automobile num—I mean my telephone number? Of course you have, 1000897654321321 River. You won't forget it, will you? Please don't now, like a dear, and be sure and come to see me before I go away. Remember, it is for the summer.'"

WHERE HE LOST OUT.

Well-Meaning Act Probably Never Will Be Forgiven.

A young Washington lady was recently put in a very embarrassing position by a well-meaning friend. She was seated in the car when a gentleman entered and occupied a vacant seat beside her. They began a general conversation and soon the young man noticed a two-pound candy box lying on the lady's lap. As his business also included the sale of candies he perhaps paid more attention to the box than would otherwise be the case, and while investigating he discovered a strand of hair sticking out. Believing the box to be filled with candy he called the attention of the young lady to the hair. Apparently she did not hear him. He waited awhile and again made the same remark. And again the lady ignored the matter. Finally it seemed to prey upon his mind so that he blurted out:

"Oh, yes," replied the young lady, without glancing at the box.

She continued talking and the man got the impression that she had misunderstood him. So he determined to settle the matter for himself. Reaching over he grasped the single strand of hair and gave a yank. He was not prepared for what followed. Instead of the strand being pulled out the whole top of the box came off and the contents were revealed. There, instead of two pounds of candy, was a neat roll of hair combings, which the young lady was taking to a place in the city where she could sell them.

Ticker for Members of Congress.

A plan to keep the members of congress informed of what is going on in the house at all times that body is in session, even though these members may be in their offices in the new house office building, will be tried out by Supt. Woods of the capitol. If the plan proves a success the system will also be installed in far committee rooms in the capitol and in the government departments up town, so that the senators and representatives who may be visiting these departments may know what is going on in their absence.

An instrument about the shape and half the size of a typewriter will be placed at a convenient point in the in the new office building. On an endless sheet of paper the machine will print the doings in the house and senate, being operated at the other end of the wire connection by journal clerks of the house and senate. The machine will be operated by electricity from a keyboard in the basement of the capitol. Another machine will be placed in the members' lobby in order to demonstrate its feasibility. It is understood that this is the only one of a number of such devices that Supt. Woods intends to try.

Bishop Potter's Living.

The serious illness of Bishop Potter recalls a little incident told recently by a newspaper woman who had come to New York from the west. One of her first assignments was to interview the bishop. She made an appointment by telephone, but on account of other engagements was unable to be on time. However, when she arrived she found the bishop ready to receive her. He cordially invited her to be seated and inquired as to the exact nature of the desired information.

Then in his characteristic manner he dictated his statement. After the reporter had finished writing she courteously offered to read what she had written. The bishop insisted that he knew that it was correct and allowed it to go without hearing it.

As the reporter arose to take leave she said graciously:

"I thank you, Bishop Potter, and appreciate how much it means for a busy person like yourself to give your time to reporters."

Patting her on the shoulder in a fatherly manner, he replied:

"My dear little woman, we are both earning our living."

And so they were.

BABY CRIED AND SCRATCHED

All the Time—Covered with Torturing Eczema—Doctor Said Sores Would Last for Years—Perfect Cure by Cuticura.

"My baby niece was suffering from that terrible torture, eczema. It was all over her body but the worst was on her face and hands. She cried and scratched all the time and could not sleep night or day from the scratching. I had her under the doctor's care for a year and a half and he seemed to do her no good. I took her to the best doctor in the city and he said that she would have the sores until she was six years old. But if I had depended on the doctor my baby would have lost her mind and died from the want of aid. But I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and she was cured in three months. Alice L. Dowell, 4769 Easton Ave., St. Louis, Mo., May 2 and 20, 1907."

A Testimonial Requested.

Stories at the expense of the woman suffragists are innumerable. One man has noticed that his sister is making inroads upon his haberdashery. He complains that she might at least give him a testimonial.

"What do you mean?" asked the lady.

"Well, you might say something like this: 'Dear Jack—Since using your shirts and collars I am a new woman.'"

The Preacher's Advice.

"My friends," said an itinerant preacher, "the Scriptural rule for giving was one-tenth of what a man possessed. If you feel you can't afford so much, just give a sixth or a fourt, according to your means. We will dispense with the next hymn, and take up the collection."

The Crucial Test.

"Do you consider your nerve is sufficiently steady to fit you for an airship navigator?"

"Well, I've been out in a canoe with a nervous girl."

NEW FOR JAPAN.

Anarchists Treat Tokio to a European Sensation.

The Japanese, who are learning more about the joys of civilization every day, have just acquired something brand new from Europe in the way of Japanned anarchists. The first demonstration of anarchists ever held in the streets of Tokio was promptly made the occasion for a general fight one day last month.

It seems that Yamaguchi Gizo, the original Japanese convert to the creed, had just been released from prison after serving a term for sedition; that being the interpretation given anarchism by Japanese law. Seventy-odd of Mr. Gizo's disciples in Tokio planned to give him a sympathy demonstration.

They hired a hall and planned a parade. The parade started, headed by blood red banners inscribed in Japanese ideographs with "Revolution," "Death to Rulers," and kindred sentiments. A Japanese band, which is in itself an inspiration to anarchy, headed the procession.

Hardly had it proceeded a block when the busy little Japanese policemen swarmed from the police boxes on every hand and started in to break up the parade. A fight ensued. The anarchists, being unprovided with bombs, used the ready Japanese weapon for close quarters, the wooden clog, and the policemen drew their swords. Considerable blood was shed before the policemen succeeded in gathering in fifteen of the anarchists, four of whom were very active young women.

The Japanese who viewed the fight as spectators seemed to sympathize with the anarchists, even though they did not know what anarchy meant. A policeman in Japan is no more popular than in any other land, and the shoshi, or organized roughs of the Tokio slums, are always ready to jump the little defenders of the law, whether under a red flag or the inspiration of too much sake.

How He Advertised.

Wife—Be sure to advertise for Fido in the morning newspapers.

Next day the wife read as follows in the newspapers:

"Lost—A mangy lapdog, with one eye and no tail. Too fat to walk. Answers to the name of Fido. If returned stuffed, large reward."

Useless Knowledge.

Adam and Eve had just tasten of the tree of knowledge.

"It's no fun," they mourned, "we have no parents whose grammar we can correct."

Herein they felt they had missed the chief joy.

A Natural Inference.

He—See that pretty girl over there? She annoys me all the time by writing me letters.

She—Really? How does she get them past the attendants?

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Peruna be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that the medicinal herbs composing Peruna are of two kinds. First, standard and well-tried catarrh remedies. Second, well-known and generally acknowledged tonic remedies. That in one or the other of these uses they have stood the test of many years' experience by physicians of different schools. There can be no dispute about this, whatever. Peruna is composed of some of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrhal diseases, and for such conditions of the human system as require a tonic. Each one of the principal ingredients of Peruna has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh or as a tonic medicine.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Peruna invites the full inspection of the critics.

As on the Stage.

"But," asked the city girl, "where's the other one?"

"W'at other one?"

"Why, there's always a quartet o' them to sing the 'Old Oaken Bucket,' isn't there?"

BIG BROKERAGE FIRM GOES BUMP

A. O. Brown & Co. of New York Fail for Sum Estimated at Running Over $1,000,000.

MARKET HAS NERVOUS THRILL

Comes as Climax to Bewildering Trading in Last Saturday's Market; Lawson Not in It.

New York, Aug. 27.—The failure of the big brokerage firm of A. O. Brown & Co. for a sum popularly estimated as running well above $1,000,000 sent a nervous thrill through the stock market yesterday. Coming as a climax to the bewildering trading in last Saturday's market, the suspension created an extraordinary degree of public interest, but was looked upon by high stock exchange interests as offering an early solution of the tangle growing out of the most remarkable two hours' session the New York stock exchange has known in many years.

Fails to Deliver Stock.

The transactions of A. O. Brown & Co. covered nearly 75 per cent of Saturday's trading of the stock market and it was stated officially by a member of the firm yesterday that delivery had been made on only 277,000 of the more than 700,000 shares handled.

The afternoon was filled with rumors as to various outside sources that may have been responsible for the course of the firm in Saturday's market. Mr. Buchanan himself announced positively that the firm had had no relations whatever with Thomas W. Lawson.

Brokers Are Impatient.

Announcement of the failure was made on the stock exchange at 1:35 p. m., when the market was ranging from one to three points higher than the closing of Monday.

John W. Rhoads, cashier of the firm, was named as assignee, with D. W. Noel as counsel.

It is understood that brokerage firms who were awaiting the delivery of stock from A. O. Brown & Co. became impatient along toward noon yesterday and sent word that they would allow but a few more hours of grace. All attempts to secure further delay were futile, and the suspension followed.

Choked Off by Banks.

It was also said that the banks which carried the accounts of the house declined yesterday to further certify any of the firm's checks.

Friends of the members of the firm declared last night that its collapse was due entirely to the clogging of its regular channels of business by the extraordinary Saturday trading.

HOPE OF PEACE REMOVED.

Note From Venezuelan Foreign Minister Widens Breach With Holland.

The Hague, Aug. 27. — Hope of a peaceful settlement of the dispute between the Netherlands and Venezuela was removed yesterday by the receipt of a second note from Jose de Jesus Paul, the Venezuelan foreign minister. The note declares that the action of Venezuela in dismissing M. de Reus, the Dutch minister, was entirely personal against M. de Reus, as he was considered incompetent to serve as a medium for maintaining existing friendly relations between the two countries. The note also enumerates the alleged grievances against M. de Reus.

ELLIS TO TAKE PURDY'S JOB.

Taft Believes Ohio Man Will Accept Post of Assistant Attorney General.

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 27. — While the announcement cannot be definitely made, Mr. Taft yesterday gave it as his belief that Wade H. Ellis, attorney general of Ohio, will accept the position of assistant to the attorney general, to succeed Milton D. Purdy, who has been promoted to a federal judgeship in Minnesota.

The opinion was expressed after a conference between Mr. Ellis and Mr. Taft here yesterday.

GOV. FOLK HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

So Badly Frightened That He Declines to Make a Speech.

Sullivan, Ind., Aug. 27.—Gov. Folk of Missouri, while traveling from Merom to Sullivan in an automobile, had a narrow escape from injury yesterday, when, in order to escape a crash with a heavy farm wagon, the driver was forced to run his machine down a steep embankment. Luckily the machine did not topple over. Gov. Folk was badly frightened and last night declined to make a speech at the court house.

Middleton, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Ferdinand P. Earle, the artist of affinity fame, was arrested at his home near Monroe yesterday afternoon charged with assault in the second degree, alleged to have been committed on his wife on or about Aug. 16, twelve days after the birth of their child.

WALL COLLAPSES; EIGHT KILLED

Five Minutes Before Wall Fell Building Inspector Had Ordered the Work Stopped.

Chelsea, Mass., Aug. 27.—A forty-five foot high brick wall in Chelsea square collapsed suddenly yesterday, burying beneath it some thirty workmen. Eight were killed outright or died in ambulances on the way to the hospital. About twenty others are injured, eleven of whom were taken to the United States marine and naval hospitals here, some of them in a serious condition. A number of others escaped with but minor injuries.

M. Gordon of the firm of Gordon & Seegal, the contractors who had the work in hand, was arrested late yesterday on a warrant charging manslaughter. Five minutes before the collapse of the wall, it is said, Inspector of Buildings Frank Weymouth had ordered the foreman of the gang to stop work, as he saw the wall was crumbling.

The wall which fell upon the workmen stood against the Park hotel. Beams of wood were being fitted into the old wall in order that it might be utilized for the new structure. It is said that the wall was undermined by the large holes that were dug into it and with no proper support above it gave way.

OPEN UP LANDS FOR SETTLERS.

President Signs Proclamation Opening Tripp County Reservation.

Washington, Aug. 27. — President Roosevelt yesterday signed the proclamation opening the Rosebud Indian lands in South Dakota, known as the Tripp county lands, and designated Judge James W. Witten, chief officer of the general land office, to superintend and conduct the registration and drawing to be held in October.

Persons who desire to be registered for this drawing must go to Chamberlain, Dallas, Gregory or Presho, S. D., or to O'Neill or Valentine, Neb., between Oct. 5 and 17, and sign and swear to an application for registration. All applications for registration must be delivered by the applicants by mail, in person or otherwise, to Judge Witten at either Dallas or Gregory, S. D., not later than 4 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 17.

The drawing will take place on the following Monday, Oct. 19, at Dallas. These lands embrace 838,000 acres, a portion of which have been allotted to Indians, and are located on the south line of the state of South Dakota and adjoin lands in Gregory county which were opened in 1904. They are very desirable for farming and stock raising purposes. From present indications the Tripp county opening will be even larger than the Gregory registration, since a much larger area of lands is to be opened.

PLANT TO BUCK BEEF TRUST.

New Independent Packing Company Is Organized—Prices Will Drop.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Competition—the genuine sort, that is said to mean cuts in prices of meats — is scheduled to appear in the beef trade about Oct. 1.

An independent concern has been incorporated under the name of the Chicago Stock Yards and Transit company as a rival of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company. The independent concern is building great cattle pens and a huge packing house.

According to H. W. Rockwell, one of the incorporators, the benefits of competition will be enjoyed by the cattle raiser, the butcher and the consumer.

This, he said, would result from the fact that the new company intends to cut under the regular schedule of prices maintained by the Union stock yards in every particular.

BIG DAM BREAKS; CITY UNDER WATER

Augusta, Ga., Is Under From Six to Eight Feet of Water, Which Continues to Rise.

IS CAUSED BY HEAVY FLOODS

Communication With City Is Cut Off for a Time—Three Deaths Are Reported.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 27.—The floods in the Carolinas and Georgia culminated yesterday in the breaking of the big dam, six miles from Augusta, which diverts the water from the Savannah river into the canal at that point. The great flood of water let loose soon found its way into the city and last night from Fifteenth street to the eastern boundary Augusta was under from six to twelve feet of water, which is gradually rising.

The big bridge across the Savannah river went down in the rush of waters and the dam at the locks, seven miles above the city, collapsed, adding to the flood.

Three Deaths Reported.

The Associated Press correspondent at Augusta succeeded in getting telephone wires to work in the building next to the Augusta Herald office, and from there the first communication to this city was obtained after the wires went down. He reports three deaths, two white persons and one negro.

At 9 o'clock last night two telegraph operators employed by the Western Union Telegraph company swam to the Chamber of Commerce building and cut in on a wire that had not gone down.

Despite the fact that the city was warned Tuesday night that there was danger of the dams breaking, there will be considerable loss in business houses of all kinds.

Loss About $500,000.

Estimates at midnight place the financial loss close to the half million mark.

There were several fires reported, but as the fires are in outlying districts the extent of the damage cannot be learned.

Despite the fact that the water stands six feet in the residence district of the city and is deeper in other portions, there has been no indication that the people are suffering beyond being marooned in the upper stories of their dwellings.

MINERS KILLED BY BLAST.

Two Men Lose Lives While Attempting to Escape From Explosion.

Deadwood, S. D., Aug. 27. — J. B. Taylor, one of the best known mining men in the Black Hills, and his helper, Chris Miller, were instantly killed yesterday at the Burlington mine, near Redfern, a small mining camp thirty-five miles south of here on the Burlington.

The men had stepped into the cage to be raised out of danger of a blast, but a break caused the cage to stick and the explosion caught them helpless.

Taylor has been in the Hills since 1879, his family living in this city. He was president of the company in whose mine he met his death.

The safe was completely demolished and the interior of the bank building was badly wrecked, but the noise made by the cracksmen was not heard by any one and the crime was not discovered until 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when a watchman entered the bank and found it in ruins.

Officials of the bank have offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest of the robbers, but the authorities have absolutly no clues to work on, and it is feared that the crooks will escape easily.

BRAND STAGE HOLDUP AS "PIPE."

Lurid Tale of Helena Physicians Believed to Be False.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 27.—Never was a more cold-blooded "pipe" perpetrated on an American newspaper than the one regarding a stage coach robbery at Cody, Wyo., news of which was given out by two physicians, both of whom claimed they were passengers on the stage. The two physicians graphically told the story, infusing Western color here and there until the story became well nigh a hair-raiser.

Prominent citizens of Cody branded the story as false, as did Sheriff Felix Eton of Basin county, in which Cody is located. Discrepancies in the stories of the would-be victims were discovered by local newspaper men, and it is generally discredited.

THIRTY MINERS PERISH IN MINE

Caught by Fire Below Surface and Suffocated to Death When Air Is Cut Off.

TWENTY-FIVE BODIES REMOVED

Believed That Six or Eight More Are Still in Mine—Rescuers Are Forced Back.

McAlester, Okla., Aug. 27. — More than thirty miners were suffocated yesterday morning in Halley-Ola coal mine No. 1, at Halleyville, fourteen miles east of McAlester, when fire destroyed the hoisting shaft and air shaft and cut air off from the men below.

Twenty-five dead bodies were removed from the mine last night, following a successful three hours' battle with the flames. It is believed that six or eight more will be brought out. Twenty-five mules were suffocated and some of their bodies were burned.

Explorations in the channels yesterday afternoon revealed that none of the men met death by burning, but that all of them were suffocated.

Escape Was Cut Off.

It is impossible yet for the rescuers to get far from the base of the main shaft, and it will probably be twenty-four hours before a thorough search of the entire mine can be made. Some of the channels are three-quarters of a mile long.

After the entombed miners had gone down in the cage a fire broke out, occasioned by the ignition of a barrel of oil. The flames spread so rapidly that all communication with the top was soon cut off. Hundreds of miners rushed to the scene and tried to get into the air shaft, but this was impossible, the flames and smoke coming up that way with such force as to drive them back. Then an effort was made to operate the cages, running up and down the hoisting shaft, but it was found that the cages, the cables and the guides had been burned. There was absolutely no help for the imprisoned miners.

Desperadoes Cause Reign of Terror in Quincy, Cal.—Further Trouble Expected.

Marysville, Cal., Aug. 2.—A reign of terror exists at Quincy, the county seat of Plumas county, following one of the boldest bandit raids in the history of California. Only desperate work by the citizens of the town saved the place from burning after the outlaws had fired it.

For some time the merchants have received threatening letters from a gang of outlaws that had its rendezvous in the vicinity. Following these threats, the bandits boldly entered the town and fired several business buildings. The fire department was called out, but the outlaws cut the fire hose and terrorized the town.

The threatening letters have continued, warning the merchants that the outlaws will visit them with their vengeance, and the citizens have organized a vigilance committee to resist the brigands.

Feeling runs high and further trouble is expected.

WOMAN RIOTER CHEATS THE LAW

Leader in Springfield Riots Takes Poison While Being Placed Under Arrest.

DIES AS SHE ENTERS JAIL

Led Mob in Work of Destruction; Held in Several Counts; More Indictments Found.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Kate Howard, one of the leaders in the recent riots in this city, committed suicide yesterday by swallowing acid while being placed under arrest. She died as she was being led into the jail.

Before the special grand jury now in session many witnesses testified that Mrs. Howard was one of the ringleaders of the mob which wrecked Loper's restaurant and cafe. She was the first person indicted and was held on several counts in the sum of $10,000, which she furnished. When she was released she said she would never be arrested again.

Dies at Jail Door.

Yesterday, shortly after the special grand jury returned another indictment against her, charging murder in connection with the recent lynchings, Deputy Sheriff Kramer was sent to Mrs. Howard's rooms to arrest her. Mrs. Howard received the officer at the door. She secretly swallowed a large dose of poison and then said: "I'm ready to go now." She accompanied the deputy to the jail, two blocks away, and was just entering the jail door when she fell dead.

Ten more indictments, three charging murder, were returned by the special grand jury late yesterday afternoon.

VICTIM OF BRUTAL HAZING.

Apprentice at Naval Training Station May Lose His Sight.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—The Bulletin prints a story of the hazing at the naval training station at Yerba Buena island, of Earl Irey, a twenty-one-year-old apprentice on the training ship Pensacola, which will probably result in loss of sight by Irey and court-martial of O. F. Guy and J. B. Valerous, two shipmates.

The hazing, it is said, occurred Aug. 10 and every effort has been made to keep the incident from becoming public.

CRACKSMEN RAID TOWN.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 27. — Four robbers made an unsuccessful attempt to loot the Rushville State bank at Rushville, this county. Their explosives sprung the door so it would not open, and the cracksmen tranferred their operatons to the postoffice. One of the safe doors was blown into the street and about $500 in stamps and cash was secured. Officers are in pursuit.

SHOW HOSTILITY TO HUGHES.

Owners of Trotters Refuse to Race While Governor Is on Grounds.

Ballston, N. Y., Aug. 27. — Hostility to Gov. Hughes because of his efforts to suppress gambling at the race tracks was expressed during the visit of the governor to the Saratoga county fair yesterday when owners of trotters refused to start them in the races while the governor was on the fair grounds. Officials of the fair threatened and coaxed the horsemen in vain. Not until the governor had departed did the races proceed.

DAIRYMEN COMING

Their Annual Convention Will Be Held at St. Hilaire on the Eleventh and Twelfth of November.

The eleventh and twelfth days of November will be made the occasion for great festivities at St. Hilaire. The Red River Valley Dairymen's Association has selected this as their meeting place for their annual convention. The citizens of St. Hilaire are very enthusiastic over the courtesy shown them by the association in giving them the convention and are determined to make this event one long to be remembered, not only by the village itself, but by every member of the association.

St. Hilaire has one of the largest and best co operative creameries in the state. It is a place where the convention can reach more creamery patrons than any other city or village in this part of the state.

Ample provisions will be made for accomodation of every visitor. The private homes will be thrown open for rooms and lodging to assist the hotels in taking care of the convention. The village will be appropriately decorated with the colors of the association and will, in every way, be made to assume an aspect worthy of the occasion.

A hall with sufficient seating capacity will be secured and the convention will be advertised broadcast over the county with the object of having the largest gathering of farmers present that the association ever saw in its history.

++o++

The Crookston Daily Journal speaking of the failure of Crookston to secure the convention says:

Many people in this city, and others in this vicinity are chagrined that St. Hilaire secured the next meeting of the Red River Valley Dairymens Assn., which Crookston wanted, and are disposed to grumble and find fault.

This is the wrong spirit entirely. Crookston had the convention last year, and should have had it this year all else being equal, but all things else were not equal, and right here is where the officers of the Dairymens Assn. did perfectly right in giving St. Hilaire the meeting, and had they done otherwise they would have acted unfairly.

Last year the dairymen met here—and they received a measly $25 in cash for their pains from the city, or from the soliciting committee.

This year the Commercial Club Committee offered the executive committee $100 in cash if the meeting was held here. St. Hilaire offered $175. After Crookston became aware of what St. Hilaire had offered, the Crookston bid was raised to $300.

Could the executive committee have given Crookston the meeting and acted honorably? Indeed not.

St. Hilaire has the meeting and the people of this section should do all in their power to make the gathering the biggest success ever. St. Hilaire farmers have set the pace for dairy progress in the Red River Valley and while Crookston would be a much more central place for the gathering, and more convenient for nine tenths of those who attend, still there will be an attendance of at least 200 or 300 dairy farmers from the immediate vicinity at St. Hilaire at the meeting who could not have attended here.

Crookston lost the meeting because they did not bid high enough. It is a meeting of vast importance to the entire valley. Crookston could afford give $500 for such a gathering easily. We didn't do it and as a result have no cause to feel sore because a little village gave twice as much cash as Crookston offered.

Crookston was just a little too cheap to land the prize. It will be a pretty good object-lesson for the future, if Crookston proposes to pose as the convention city of Northern Minnesota.

Profound Sagacity of Rats.

The average rat possesses extraordinary sagacity. On a sailing ship bound to Calcutta from Cape Town some time ago it was decided to try to reduce the number of rats which had boarded the vessel at the latter port. The end of an ordinary cask was planed perfectly smooth, coated with grease, and a meat bait tacked to the center. The end was fixed on with two nails, balanced so that should anything touch it off the center it would go down. The cask was partly filled with water and buried in the ballast to within a few inches of the top. The first night over 200 rats were caught, the second night few, the third none was caught. It was found by the marks of rats' feet in the grease and the missing bait that they had discovered the exact center, and took the bait as they liked. Half an inch on either side of the center meant death.

GIRL RUNS BIG FARM

MANAGES ESTATE WHILE HER FATHER IS IN JAIL.

Daughter of Unfrocked Rector Has Trouble, but Sticks to Hard Task with Success—Incidentally Wears "Merry Widow."

Richmond, Va.—Miss Elizabeth Hargrave, since the incarceration of her father, Rev. James T. Hargrave, the unfrocked Episcopal clergyman, who was recently convicted in the federal courts for using the mails for purposes of fraud, has become sole manager of the estate, Cedarhurst lodge, in Hanover county.

The evidences are that the pretty 19-year-old girl is a genius in the business of operating farms. She appears also to know a thing or two about the law, which information she is studying to advantage in her trials with the county officers.

Miss Hargrave came to the city for the purpose of petitioning for an injunction to prevent the officers from seizing the property of her father while he is a prisoner. The law is to the effect that a prisoner in the penitentiary shall not be liable to civil suits. The question is whether or not the county officers are justified in the seizure, since Hargrave is serving a term in the county jail.

"There's nothing in it. I can't run a farm on air and water," said Miss Hargrave. "When they seize everything that comes to me I can't get on. Why, they even dare to take my own things—my mail, freight and express packages, and everything. They've levied on everything but the place and that is so fixed that they can't get at it. If they keep pushing me I am going to take out the 'homestead exemption.' I don't suppose they can get around that.

"The hardest luck of all," she continued, slightly blushing, "is that I have to rake the hay. Several days ago I had a field all plowed up ready for planting. The seeds were at the station, but when I sent for them the information came back to me that they had all been levied on."

Miss Hargrave was neatly attired in a princess gown of striped gray. She wore a "Merry Widow" hat, trimmed in pink feathers and ribbon, with a big-headed hat-pin stuck through the middle of it. Her long brown gloves swung limply across her right arm. Her appearance was that of a carefree maiden, who had never known the meaning of trouble.

"I'll run that farm or die," she exclaimed, as she left to catch her train, having failed in her mission because of the absence of Judge Edmund Waddill from the city. "I'm the girl they can't fool. I'm going back to Hanover to rake hay. It's the 'Maud Muller' game for me, all right. There are five men on the place at work to-day. I guess if they were girls, the county officers would try to seize them. It's all very awful, but I am not starving."

RIDES IN LOCOMOTIVE TANK.

Machinist Beats Way 260 Miles and Nearly Drowns.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Having ridden from Buffalo to this city, 260 miles, in the tank of a Lehigh Valley railroad passenger locomotive, considered an impossible feat in ride stealing, William Bahmiller of Mauch Chunk, was arrested here when the 2:40 express arrived.

Being a machinist by trade, and having worked on locomotive tanks, he knew enough about their steel bracing to risk hanging on, and crawled in at Buffalo. He was in water up to his neck most of the time, and when the locomotive dashed around curves he had hard work to save himself from drowning as the water dashed all over him.

He was also in danger each time the tank was filled, but escaped until it was being filled here, when the fireman allowed it to run over, and Bahmiller had to pop his head out to get air and was discovered.

After hearing his story, Mayor Kniffen fined him only one dollar.

OFFICE CAT PETRIFIED.

Found Between Walls Thirty Years After Disappearance.

Greensburg, Pa.—The office cat has turned up at last, and a prank of the printer's devil of 30 years ago has come to light. In tearing out a portion of the Mitinger building recently workmen found the petrified body of pussy, encased between floors. Every feature except the whiskers is well preserved and the curio has caused much comment.

Old time printers and veteran newspaper men are racking their memories to recall the disappearance of the cat, but none has been found who remembers the circumstance. Thirty years ago the Greensburg Herald was published in the Mitinger building, and it is presumed the "devil," finding the hand set galleys scarce and little work to do, caught the cat, cunningly concealed her between the floors, and nailed shut the opening.

The piece of petrification is heavier than stone, of a grayish hue, and even the eyes of the feline retain a luster.

Heads for Drink and Food.

Glenolden, Pa.—With two perfectly formed heads and four legs, a freak chicken was hatched by a hen owned by John Piechner of this borough. The freak is perfectly healthy and can eat with one head and drink with the other.

Rather a Difference.

Manager—Did you say that our leading man was overcome by the heat of last night?

Old Man—No, I didn't. I said he collapsed at this morning's roast.

Entirely Simplified.

Abstracted Theorist—What do you think of the race problems?

Disgusted Gothamite—Ain't no problem. What's the use of picking a winner if you can't put a bet up on him?

"When you see pigs wallowing in the mud or birds taking a dust bath, you should marvel," said a nature student, "for these creatures are then doctoring themselves—they are getting rid of parasites.

"When a dog loses his appetite he goes straight off and eats 'dog grass.' This brings him around at once. Cats in like circumstances go to 'eat grass.' Cows and sheep take certain medicinal herbs.

"Monkeys have been known to dress wounds with leaves. Latreilli cut off an ant's antennae, and other ants came and covered the hurt parts with a healing fluid secreted in their mouths. It is even said that birds have been known to set their own broken legs.

"Certainly animals know all about fever. Fever-stricken, they bathe in cold water till the temperature falls again to normal. And an animal with a limb almost severed heroically completes the amputation with its teeth."

Hairs in the Watch.

"Well, sir, I had to send my watch down town to have it cleaned out again," said an East side barber the other day. "I have to send my watch to the repair shop about once a month, and there is absolutely nothing the matter with it, except that it is full of hairs. I do not understand how the hairs can get into the works and behind the hands and mix up in the mainspring and every place as they do in my timepiece. I watched myself one month as closely as I could, and I swear I never opened the back of it. Yet, at the end of the month, I unscrewed the back lid and it was full of little fine hairs. I always keep it in my pocket when I am cutting hair, but I don't see how any hairs get into the watch. Yet they must, because they are always there."—Columbus Dispatch.

Kviness-Hoff Nuptials

A very quiet but pretty wedding scene took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoff in this village, when their daughter, Miss Clara, was united in marriage to Mr. A. C. Kviness at high noon, on Wednesday, Aug. 26th, 1908, Rev. Aastad, of Thief River Falls, officiating. In this union the people of St. Hilaire naturally feel a deep interest, as both the bride and groom are well and favorably known here, the bride having resided here with her parents practically all her life, while the groom was, for a number of years, holding a responsible position in one of the Thief River Falls banks. Mr. Kviness is now established in the banking business in Middle River, and by his honesty and careful judgement has won both friendship and a splendid business in his new home. He is a model young man, having no bad habits, and is worthy of the prize he has won as a life mate. The bride is one of St. Hilaire's most beautiful and talented young ladies, who has a host of friends in this village and neighboring cities who love and respect her. She wore a light tan travelling suit of chiffon broadcloth. The groom wore the conventional black. Miss Emma Hoff acted as bridesmaid with Martin Hoff as best man. After the ceremony a dainty but bountiful wedding breakfast was served prepared by the skillful hand of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Kviness left on the 4:55 train via Crookston for Black River Falls, Wis., where they will visit with the parents of Mr. Kviness before going to their future home at Middle River, Minn. They were escorted to the depot by a host of their friends who showered the rice, interspersed with their congratulations, upon them. The train was placarded from one end to the other and hand bills were scattered among the passengers introducing the young couple. When the train pulled out a chorus of congratulations and goodbyes went with them. Very pretty and costly presents were given them by friends and relatives. May the sunshine of happiness and prosperity and peace be strewn along life's pathway of this worthy young couple is the sincere wish of the Spectator.

NATURE
AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public.

"For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

ONE OF THE FEW

By MINNIE S. BAKER

(Copyright, by Shortstory Pub. Co.)

She represented that product of the south which, God help us, seems on the increase instead of otherwise. A tall, angular, low-browed woman of middle age, with great mournful eyes, out of whose gloomy depths a phantom seemed to be forever asking: "Who am I? What am I?" and to which the stern chin, hollow jaws and defiant lips seemed ever answering: "An alien, a creature without a people, a human without a race."

It was a raw, drizzly day in November when Clarissa came to me for work. Cook had been discharged the day previous, and that very morning nurse had had to be sent home with a well-developed case of measles—and not a child in the house had had it!

"My nurse is ill with measles, which in all probability the children will have, too. I really need her place filled more than I need a cook," I answered, doubtfully.

"I like children and I am used to general housework, 'm," was the quiet response delivered without either servility or officiousness. "And I won't mind the measles; my children have had them."

"Oh, you have a family, then?"

"Two girls, one 14, the other five. I have separated from my husband four years."

A repressed bitterness added a touch of pathos to the simple words.

I asked her several other questions and then, partly from necessity and partly because of the woe in her somber eyes, I engaged her.

As we came to know her better she proved herself more and more of an oddity as compared with the pert, wanton generality of her class. Her words were rare, but when uttered were never idle ones.

She had been with us nearly a year when I was called to the telephone by my husband's sister, with whom our little daughter had been spending a day and night.

"You mustn't get alarmed, Sarah," she said, "but Edith doesn't seem well, and I think, perhaps, you or John ought to see her. No, no," as my excited voice began to interrupt her; "honestly, it does not seem to be anything serious yet, but in case it should be, suppose you let me 'phone for John to bring Dr. Brooks, while you get the boys off to your father's on the first train?"

Then I knew that she feared scarlet fever, for there was more than one yellow flag floating in our little village, but I said nothing either to Clarissa or the boys, as she helped me get them ready for what, apparently, was only one of their frequent visits to their grandfather's.

Then telling her that I was going after Edith and cautioning her to roll the baby out in the shady back yard, I hurried away. This being Clarissa's story instead of mine, I need not dwell upon my own felings, or the grave fears of all of us when the doctor ordered us to take Edith home in a closed carriage, saying it might be scarlet fever and it might not; he could not tell till the following day. He added that it would be just as well to keep the baby away from his sister till it should be settled.

We got the little one upstairs into the nursery and, leaving her with her father, I went to tell Clarissa.

"If it should be scarlet fever I shall want you to take entire charge of Master Bertie in the daytime, while I stay with Miss Edith," I added.

"Mrs. Holby, 'm, I'm one of the few that believes in being square and honest, and I must tell you right now, if Miss Edith has got scarlet fever, I'll have to quit," she replied, scarcely waiting until I had finished.

"Leave me! Right now, in my trouble, too. Why, Clarissa, you cannot mean it?" I cried, in genuine alarm.

"Indeed, ma'am, I must. I've got children of my own to think of."

"But you will not see Miss Edith at all. You shall not even go upstairs. Don't you understand that we will not let you be exposed to it, on account of the baby?"

"I can't take any chances, though I'd do it quicker for you than anybody, ma'am," was the obstinate reply.

"And Master Bertie loves you so, Clarissa. What will become of him in the hands of a stranger when I cannot be with him?"

At that her face softened, but she still shook her head. Then I hinted at double wages and was met by such a look of indignant pride that it almost made me think I ought to beg her pardon.

"I know it looks low-down to leave you like this, Mrs. Holby, 'm, and it nearly kills me to do it, but I must."

Then she gave me a piercing glance, which seemed to convey the deepest workings of her brain to mine, and continued:

"I have always wished that my children had never been born, and I've always wished that they would die before I did. And just for this reason I have to take better care of them! Oh, do try to understand it, ma'am. They'd better be dead a thousand times than to fall into their father's hands, for he would sell them, soul and body, for one drink of liquor."

I said no more after that, and so, though John swore and Bertie wailed, Clarissa left us, "standing not upon the order of her going," for she vanished almost as suddenly as she had first appeared.

But even after Clarissa left, and we were quarantined and a nurse was not to be had for love or money, and our neighbors were afraid to unclose their shutters opening in our direction, still the heavens did not fall and we all managed to come through as sound as ever, and Edith more so.

Time passed, and we only heard of Clarissa occasionally after that. The burden of her apparent ingratitude seemed to weigh upon her, for she never came to the house, though I knew she asked after us whenever there was an opportunity.

It had been three years since she left and once more our household was under a cloud, darker even than the first one, for this was diphtheria, and Bertie, still the baby, was nearer death's door than Edith had been even at her worst.

And once more Clarissa appeared at the back door asking to see me.

"Go and tell her that I cannot possibly see her now," I said to the messenger. "Tell her, too, that there is diphtheria in the house."

Presently the door opened and Clarissa herself stood before me—far more gaunt and somber than of old.

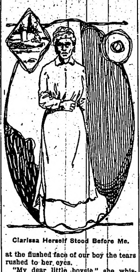
"Mrs. Holby, 'm, I've come to help nurse Master Bertie, if you will let me," she said simply; then went on, "I'm one of the few that pays other debts besides the money kind. I've always expected to do it sometime—for leaving, you know."

"But what of your own children?" I asked, remembering her creed.

"They are both dead; one a month ago, the other last week. It was the fever. They are better off, though I worked day and night to save them. You believe this, don't you, ma'am?" she asked earnestly.

I did believe it and told her so.

She had not cried when speaking of her own children, but when she looked at the flushed face of our boy the tears rushed to her eyes.



Clarissa Herself Stood Before Me.

"My dear little boysie," she whispered softly, "what a man he is growing to be! And his beautiful curls are gone!"

After that we fought for the little life, side by side, and her tact, gentlenessness and powers of endurance I have never seen equaled. No position was too trying, no vigil too long, and when we won, and all the doctors agreed that Bertie would live, Clarissa shared equally with me the praise, gratitude and congratulations. But, alas, three days later she herself was stricken down, and though we did all for her that money and untiring devotion could do, our physician told us from the start it would be useless.

"First of all, she has no constitution," he said, "and besides that, she was utterly used up from nursing her own children. How she stood by Bertie as she did is simply a miracle. Certainly it could not have been power of her own."

"It is all right," she said, when she knew the truth; "I am glad for it to be just this way. And, Mrs. Holby, 'm, you don't lay it up against me for leaving you that time?"

I answered as well as I could for the sobs that choked me.

She did not speak again, and after it was all over we had her laid beside her children. John bought a simple stone to mark the spot and upon it was cut in clear letters: "One of the Few."

The children themselves volunteered to have the graves kept clean; and every now and then a sturdy little fellow with shining, close-cropped hair may be seen entering the colored cemetery with a bunch of flowers in his hands. That is Bertie.

CAT THAT EATS ASPARAGUS.

And Cantaloupe, Too—A Sign of the Increased Cost of Living.

"Now, when I was a boy," began the Brooklyn man in the approved reminiscent manner, "the family cat worked for its living by rustling for mice, or if mice were scarce got a dole of milk and maybe liver occasionally. There was no pampering to fancy tastes.

"It may be but another example of the increased cost of living, but it shocked me the other night to find my wife feeding our cat asparagus. It was a new thing to me to see a cat eat asparagus.

"Asparagus is rather a luxury for humans, and as for cats—well, it must be a foretaste of the cat heaven if there is one.

"Now, Pompey—that's the cat's name—didn't eat asparagus voraciously, as you would expect, but daintily. My wife would hold out a stalk and he would bite off a piece and swallow it, and then another bite and so on until he got to the hard end, when he stopped and looked inquiringly for a fresh stalk to come.

"He got it, too. In fact, I saw him eat five, all that remained of the family dinner. It was lucky for the cook that she doesn't like asparagus.

"My wife thought it was so cute of Pompey. Yes, and she had discovered that he ate cantaloupe, and that was cute of him, too. She gave him a piece as a chaser for the asparagus, and he nibbled out the edible part with a twinkle in his eye that showed he enjoyed it. I am wondering what taste he will develop next."—N. Y. Matrimonial Theory.

While no subject affords greater opportunities for the bestowing of advice, in the matter of the selection of a wife no man will be guided by the wisdom or experience of others. Still less will he allow himself to be led into matrimony by theory—even when it is as excellent as that of Benjamin Franklin, who said that a man should marry a woman of four-and-thirty, "because she will be so grateful."—Woman's Life.

He Wanted Her to Be Happy.

An individual of the Weary Willie type was given 10 cents by a philanthropic lady, who said, as she handed him the money:

ECZEMA FOR 55 YEARS.

Suffered Torments from Birth—In Frightful Condition—Got No Help Until Cuticura Cured Him.

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man 55 years old. I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. Hale Bordwell, Tipton, Ia., Aug. 17, 1907."

"I cheerfully endorse the above testimonial. It is the truth. I know Mr. Bordwell and know the condition he was in. Nelson R. Burnett, Tipton, Ia."

CASTING BRONZE STATUARY.

Few Foundries for the Purpose in This Country—Expensive Process.

"Although in the making of bronze statuary the casting is a very important and vitally necessary operation," said Fred H. Knapp, an artist, "there are only seven foundries in the United States where it is done.

"Perhaps, indeed, it is just because so much depends on the founder, and so great must be his skill and his knowledge of the sculptor's art that the foundrie are so few. A great deal of such work is now turned out in this country, and every now and then a foundry is started, only to make a failure because of lack of the peculiar skill needed. It seems hard to get skilled workmen.

"The making of the marble statute is done entirely by the sculptor or by workmen and students in his studio and under his personal supervision. The bronze statue is not only made in the sculptor's studio, but it is almost invariably an enlargement of the sculptor's model, which enlargement is made by the casters, and through methods of which the sculptor himself may know nothing at all.

"The making of bronze statuary is expensive. Exclusive of the amount paid to the sculptor the founder's charge for a life size statue runs up from $700. The larger and more intricate the design the greater the cost, but a single life size figure in simple dress and pose may cost as much as $1,200."

FRIENDLY TIP

Restored Hope and Confidence.

After several years of indigestion and its attendant evil influence on the mind, it is not very surprising that one finally loses faith in things generally.

A N. Y. woman writes an interesting letter. She says:

"Three years ago I suffered from an attack of peritonitis which left me in a most miserable condition. For over two years I suffered from nervousness, weak heart, shortness of breath, could not sleep, etc.

"My appetite was ravenous, but I felt starved all the time. I had plenty of food but it did not nourish me because of intestinal indigestion. Medical treatment did not seem to help, I got discouraged, stopped medicine and did not care much whether I lived or died.

"One day a friend asked me why I didn't try Grape-Nuts, stop drinking coffee, and use Postum. I had lost faith in everything, but to please my friends I began to use both and soon became very fond of them.

"It wasn't long before I got some strength, felt a decided change in my system, hope sprang up in my heart and slowly but surely I got better. I could sleep very well, the constant craving for food ceased and I have better health now than before the attack of peritonitis.

"My husband and I are still using Grape-Nuts and Postum." "There's a Reason."

OPEN DEALING IN PAINT.

Buying paint used to be like the proverbial buying of a "pig in a poke." Mixtures in which chalk, ground rock, etc., predominated were marked and sold as "Pure White Lead," the deception not being apparent until the paint and the painting were paid for. This deception is still practiced, but we have learned to expose it easily.

National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine Pure White Lead, realizing the injustice that was being done to both property owners and honest paint manufacturers, set about to make paint buying safe. They first adopted a trade mark, the now famous "Dutch-Boy Painter," and put this trademark, as a guaranty of purity, on every package of their White Lead. They then set about familiarizing the public with the blow-pipe test by which the purity and genuineness of White Lead may be determined, and furnished a blow-pipe free to every one who would write them for it. This action was in itself a guaranty of the purity of National Lead Company's White Lead.

As the result of this open dealing the paint buyer to-day has only himself to blame if he is defrauded. For test outfit and valuable booklet on painting, address National Lead Company, Woodbridge Bldg., New York.

The Archbishop and the Bulls.

At the time Archbishop Ryan was selected for the position which he now occupies with so much distinction, there was some difficulty concerning the official announcement of his appointment. Three or four weeks elapsed, and still the papal bull had not reached him. One of his friends, who was deeply concerned in the document, said to him with much solicitude:

"Your grace, what do you suppose has become of your bulls?"

"I don't know," was the smiling rejoinder, "unless they are grazing on the Alps."

"Captain," said the first mate of the good ship Cauliflower, while the storm was at its height, "the ship has sprung a leak; the water-tight compartments are full of water and the vessel is going down. What shall we do?"

"Don't waste a moment," he replied. "Prepare at once an address thanking me for my coolness and heroism in the face of deadly and overwhelming peril. Let not a boat leave the ship's side until every man and woman has signed it."

SLOOP CAPSIZES; SEVEN ARE LOST

Last Outing of Light-hearted Vacation Party Ends in Awful Calamity.

WIND TOO HEAVY FOR BOAT

Women Weighted Down by Clothing Unable to Keep Afloat—Three Saved in Nick of Time.

Deer Isle, Me., Sept. 3.—Seven summer visitors out of a party of ten were drowned by the capsizing of a sloop in Penobscot bay, off this island, yesterday. The survivors are Capt. Haskell, Deer Isle; Prof. Edward Crawley of the University of Pennsylvania and Henry B. Evans, Mount Holyoke.

With Capt. Samuel Haskell the party of light-hearted people started out yesterday afternoon for a sail in Penobscot bay. It was drawing near the close of the vacation season for most of them, and they had planned this as their last outing together. The wind was from the southwest and squally.

Wind Too Heavy for Boat.

The party had scarcely been gone an hour before the wind freshened up, heeling the sloop well over and dashing the spray upon the occupants. There was no thought of danger until the afternoon was drawing to a close, when Capt. Haskell decided that the wind was too heavy for the boat and sea too choppy, so he brought the sloop around and started on a tack homeward.

All the party were perched high up on the weather side as the sloop cut through the waves with the water almost coming over the gunwales on the lee side, when Capt. Haskell gave a shout of warning that he was going to tack and then threw over the tiller.

Thrown Into the Water.

Just at this moment the boat rose high up on a wave, exposing her to the full brunt of the wind. An unusually heavy gust struck her and in a twinkling the sloop went over on her beam ends and the party of ten were thrown into the water.

For one brief moment it was every one for oneself. Capt. Haskell, however, took in the situation in one quick glance. He had been clinging to the sheet and his tenacious hold had not been loosened by the sudden plunge into the ice-cold waters. He saw that the boat's tender was right side up, and shouting to Prof. Crawley and Henry Evans, who were nearest to him, he directed them to make for the tender, doing so at the same time himself.

Captain Picks Up Two.

Prof. Crawley, however, still clung to the overturned sloop, looking for his wife, while Evans was trying vainly to locate his sister.

In the meantime Haskell had gained the tender and had clambered aboard. Cutting it loose from the overturned sloop, he picked up the oars and bringing the boat up near Crawley and Evans, helped them aboard. But the women were beyond help. Weighted down by their water-soaked clothing and chilled through by the cold water, they had been unable to keep themselves afloat. The three men in the tender found that they were almost as incapable of giving assistance in their boat as they had been in the water.

Rescuers Just in Time.

The wind was too high and the seas too rough for them to handle the small boat. They were in grave danger themselves of being thrown once more into the water.

The upset, however, had been seen from Eagle island, not far from the scene of the accident, and as soon as possible a sloop was sent out to pick up the survivors. The rescuing party reached the tender just in time and pulled the three exhausted men aboard.

The calamity cast a profund gloom over this resort. Some of the party had been here for the greater portion of the summer and all had become well known to the majority of the people here.

LAST HEAD OF TRIBE DEAD.

David Krotch Summoned to Happy Hunting Ground.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 3.—David Krotch, the venerable Indian chief and last of the Pottawattamie head men, an Indian whose life was the history of Menominee county and whose death marks the dissolution of a once great nation, has been summoned to his happy hunting ground.

Krotch passed away late last night in his tiny hut on the Hannahville Indian reservation, near Hermansville.

BIG TANNERY PLANT BURNED.

La Crosse Concern Suffers $50,000 Fire Loss.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 3.—Fire in the big tannery of Davis, Medary & Platz, located in the manufacturing district, threatened to destroy the entire property. A half dozen other large factories situated close by were saved by the firemen's desperate efforts. The blaze was brought under control after the plant had been partly destroyed. The loss will be about $50,000.

AERONAUTS NEAR TO DEATH

Try to Escape Storm and Almost Lose Their Lives in Whirlpool Rapids.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 3. — Fearing a storm on Lake Ontario, the crew on board the racing balloon Ville de Dieppe tried to descend at Niagara Falls yesterday. The rip cord failed to work properly, resulting in a poor landing. The three men in the basket got a bad shaking up and narrowly escaped death in the whirlpool rapids. Capt. A. F. Mueller, in charge of the balloon, suffered the most. He was taken to a hospital last night and may be internally injured. With Capt. Mueller were Perry Gregory, sixteen years old, and Gerald Gregory, eighteen years old, sons of C. F. Gregory of Chicago, secretary of the American Federation of Aerial Clubs.

Troublesome Air Currents.

The Ville de Dieppe left Columbus, Ohio, at 8:30 o'clock last night. Their journey through the air was uneventful until 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when they ran into troublesome air currents over Lake Erie and dropped to within 250 feet of the lake's surface. Ballast was thrown out and the big bag shot up to 8,000 feet.

When the balloon was above Niagara Falls it was practically without ballast and was dipping dangerously close to the ground. A storm was blowing up, and Capt. Mueller decided to make a landing.

Lands Near the Gorge.

He tried to release the gas with the rip cord, but it failed to work properly, with the result that the bag dragged along for 1,000 feet. An anchor which was thrown out caught in a clump of trees and snapped from the balloon, which rose and fell alternately, severely jolting the occupants of the car.

The basket dragged over railroad tracks, struck a barn and finally landed at the Devil's Hole, 200 feet from the gorge. Two of Gerald Gregory's teeth were knocked out and his head was cut. Perry Gregory was unconscious when taken from the basket. His left ankle was sprained and his body bruised.

TOSSED AT MERCY OF THE SEA.

Unprecedented Gale Sweeps English Channel, Causing Great Damage.

London, Sept. 3. — Late last night the gale which has prevailed all over the English channel for the past twenty-four hours showed little signs of abating. Reports received here show that much damage was done ashore, as well as on the sea. The wind at times blew at the rate of seventy miles an hour, which is almost unprecedented at this time of the year. Never before has it been necessary in the summer to suspend the boat service between Folkestone and Dover, and the midday service to Calais.

An enormous number of vessels have been driven ashore or obliged to seek shelter.

Twenty-five Lives Lost.

Many exciting rescues are reported, but fortunately there has been no great loss of life except in the case of the British bark Amazon, the crew of which had a terrible experience. The Amazon went aground on Margam Sands and the people on the island could plainly see the men clinging to the rigging or lashed to the bulwarks, but were helpless to save them. One of the masts fell, carrying a number of the men down. Two of the crew, which numbered thirty-three, were rescued by life lines, and six others were washed ashore alive. The captain of the Amazon was killed in his cabin by a falling mast.

ROBERTS MAY RECOVER.

Police Still at Standstill in Atlantic City Mystery.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 3. — There were further indications yesterday of a complete standstill in the police investigation into the shooting of Charles B. Roberts. Chief of Police Woodruff said yesterday that W. S. G. Williams had been eliminated from the case.

Roberts continues to improve, it is said, at the city hospital, and there are strong chances for his recovery. Members of the police force yesterday were willing to discuss the highway robbery theory practically for the first time since the night of the occurrence.

Des Moines, N. M., Sept. 3. — Because she confessed that she had set fire to the Central hotel here, in which thirty guests were sleeping, who barely escaped with their lives, Julia Moon, eighteen years old, was barely saved from lynching yesterday.

To save her life the sheriff spirited her away to Clayton.

CROOKSTON HIT BY CLOUDBURST

Heavy Damage to Business Houses and Residences; Crops Also Suffer.

BAD STORM IN NORTH DAKOTA

Wind, Hail and Lightning Destroy Crops, Buildings and Live Stock—Loss Heavy.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 2. — The most terrific rain storm that ever visited the Red river valley, amounting to a four-hour cloudburst, prevailed Sunday afternoon, the total rainfall amounting to 5 7-100 inches, flooding every basement in the business district and over two hundred residences, and resulting in damage to stock and basements estimated all the way from $20,000 to $50,000, though accurate figures cannot be secured till the dry goods merchants and the clothiers and some of the grocers have checked over their basement stocks.

During Sunday's storm the water ranged from six inches to five feet deep in the basements.

Almost Creates Panic.

It was only the second experience of the kind in the history of the city and created almost a panic. Clerks and every one who could be pressed into service were rushed to the basements, but the flood came so suddenly that the damage was done before the goods could be saved.

But the damage done in the city is but a side issue compared with the damage done to the unthreshed grain. The shocks are soaked to the center and the storm area is very extensive. It started raining at St. Vincent at 4 o'clock Sunday morning and poured all day long, covering Kittson, Marshall, Polk and Norman counties, part of Red Lake, Roseau and Mahnomen, and all threshing is out of the question until next Thursday or Friday in that area.

Big Loss in North Dakota.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 2.—Terrific lightning and hail storms have done immense damage in the northern portion of the county. Several farm buildings have been destroyed. It is not known to what extent the hail damaged the crops, but it is thought the loss will be considerable. Near Edmunds a barn was struck by lightning and thirteen head of stock burned to death. Cattle in an open field near Buchanan were also hit and instantly killed.

The elevator of the Lyon Elevator company at Alfred was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Considerable grain was stored in the elevator and it is believed that the loss will be heavy. The heavy rain will delay threshing operations for several days.

Many Buildings Damaged.

Lakota, N. D., Sept. 2. — The most severe electric storm in over a year visited Lakota and vicinity early Sunday. Rain fell in torrents for several hours, completely saturating the ground. A high wind also prevailed, and several barns and outbuildings were unroofed and overturned, but no report has been received of any person being injured.

Lightning struck in several places. The storm will delay threshing operations for several days.

REVEALS BRUTAL MURDER.

Body of Man Found in River Shows Evidence of Foul Play.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2.—A case of murder was discovered yesterday afternoon when the body of an unknown man was found floating in the Red river by Capt. Hayes of the government boat Ogama.

Indications that the man had been murdered were found in his face, which bore evidences of a severe beating. There was no water in the lungs, as is the case when a person is drowned. That the man was a laborer was evident from his hands. Some of the officials believe that the body had not been in the water more than three days.

DEPOT THEFTS CHARGED.

Youth Is Accused of Disposing of Goods at Cigar Stores.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2. — Wholesale thefts from the Northern Pacific freight depot in East Grand Forks resulted in the arrest yesterday of George Opsahl, aged eighteen years, employed in the depot at night. Opsahl, it is charged, stole great quantities of cigars, tobacco, candy and other goods and disposed of a large share of these to Steve Scherer, who conducts a cigar store in Grand Forks.

Charged With Peonage.

Albany, Ga., Sept. 2. — Minor E. Jackson, a member of one of the most prominent families in this section, was arraigned here yesterday before United States Commissioner D. C. Benjamin, charged with conspiracy and peonage. Sensational developments are expected.

Platform Falls; One Killed.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 2. — One man was killed and three others seriously hurt at the Bellaire plant of the Carnegie Steel company yesterday.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT FAIR

Midweek Record at the Minnesota State Exposition Is Broken.

St. Paul, Sept. 3.—G. A. R. and Fraternal day again broke the midweek record at the Minnesota state fair with a total of attendance of 63,839.

This figure overtops the mark set Tuesday, St. Paul day, by 11,163, which was considered as being a record breaker.

This brings the total attendance for the first three days of this week up to 164,547, which is just 3,636 more than attended the fair on the first three days of 1907.

Owing to the attractions offered later in the week it is now a foregone conclusion that the forty-ninth annual fair will break all records for attendance. In the last half of the week last year Friday and Saturday were both rainy and the attendance figures fell to 26,000 and 32,500, in round numbers.

The 300,000 figure for the week is easily in sight, and a continuation of the perfect weather may bring the total up to 325,000.

The railroads brought more people into the city yesterday than ever before, and they say that reports from their agents in all parts of the state indicate that the country crowds for today will exceed those of yesterday. This will help to swell the attendance on Territorial Pioneers' day and will leave Minneapolis and Automobile days to take care of themselves.

Beginning with the early morning cars yesterday the blue-coated veterans began arriving on the grounds, and there were enough of them to be noticeable in the crowds.

The spectacle of Fort Ridgely in '62 and the live stock and hippodrome show each drew large crowds in the evening.

YEGGMEN AT FERGUS FALLS.

Cracksmen Loot Postoffice Safe of Cash and Stamps.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 3.—It is reported from Clarrison that the postoffice there was entered by burglars and $174 in cash and a large quantity of stamps secured. The building was entered by the use of skeleton keys and the safe was tipped over. Nitroglycerin was poured in and the door blown off. The robbery is evidently the work of professionals.

WOMAN'S SLAYER INDICTED.

Aged Iowan Who Killed Son's Wife Raves in Jail.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, Sept. 3.—J. M. Brown is confined in the county jail at Rockwell City for the murder of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. G. G. Brown, at Manson Saturday. He was indicted for murder in the first degree yesterday by the grand jury. Brown is delirious and in the nervous reaction says the murdered woman visits him in jail.

Asks Received for Brewery.

Milwaukee, Sept. 3.—F. J. R. Ainle, a minority stockholder of the Jung Brewing company, yesterday asked Judge Turner of the circuit court to appoint a receiver for the concern. The court issued a restraining order against President Philip Jung and other directors and officials from disposing of their stock or from appropriating money belonging to the company to their own use.

Workman Is Electrocuted.

St. Paul, Sept. 3.—James F. Murphy was electrocuted in the tunnel of the Northern Heating and Lighting company under the Auditorium yesterday afternoon. His burned body was found by fellow workmen. Coroner Arthur W. Miller will make an investigation to-day with the view of learning if the electric conduits in the tunnel are properly protected.

Fatal Hunting Accident.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 3.—The first fatality of the hunting season was reported from Budd, in the southeastern part of the state. Returning from a field, Harry Hawley, aged nineteen, stood his gun against the buggy seat while unloading the birds. The gun fell, the trigger snapped and the entire charge entered just above the heart, killing him instantly.

Vessel Is Wrecked.

San Francisco, Sept. 3. — A report received in this city last night says that a vessel, as yet unidentified, is wrecked off Point Arena, a hundred miles north of here. The lifesaving crew is reported to have gone to the rescue. The weather is thick and foggy, and it is said to be impossible to learn anything from shore.

Malady Bars Schools.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 3.—On account of public health conditions the Eau Claire board of health yesterday requested the board of education not to open the public schools on Sept. 8, as intended, and no date can be set for the opening. A principal cause is a special disease among children.

Bound Over for Assault.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, Sept. 3. — William Saunders, who slashed Andrew Lundeen with a knife Monday night, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury with a bond of $1,000. Lundeen's condition is still precarious.

Boys Raid Factory.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 3. — With the assistance of a young boy who crept through a 10x12-inch window, a gang of boys raided the Kiels soft drinks factory last night.

CALAVERAS GROVE IN PATH OF FIRE

One of the Natural Wonders of the World in Danger of Destruction by Fire.

FIRE FIGHTERS HARD AT WORK

Forest Rangers and Every Available Man Fight Desperately to Stop the Destruction.

Sonora, Cal., Sept. 3.—The Calaveras group of big trees, one of the natural wonders of the world, is in serious danger of destruction by fire. Starting from sparks thrown off by an engine used to haul logs on Monday last, the fire quickly spread to the heavy timber a mile west of the north grove of big trees. All the forest rangers in the district were quickly gathered and they, together with the settlers, many visitors living in camps around and in the grove and the employes of the Big Tree hotel, have fought the flames ever since.

Spreads in Every Direction.

They have thus far saved the hotel, but have been unable to prevent the fire gaining headway in a direction that menaces the giant sequoia. Conflicting reports, however, are received here as to the extent of the damage done by the fire up to this time. The first point of telephonic communication with the grove is Murphy's, some fifteen miles distant, and from this place late yesterday word was sent that the fire had reached the edges of the grove of mammoth trees and, driven by a strong wind, was threatening to wipe out everything before.

"The Mother" Attacked.

It is hoped and believed that the fire will not readily take hold of the living trees. The dead giants, however, will probably be destroyed. Already "The mother of the forest," a great dead hulk at the edge of the grove, is aflame and, like a great glowing torch, is threatening its living neighbors. "The mother" lies 321 feet long, with a trunk seventy-eight feet in circumference, and it will take days and perhaps weeks for the flames to consume its great body.

Grove May Be Saved.

Stockton, Cal., Sept. 3.—The fire in the Calaveras forests near the big trees has taken a direction northward and away from the grove and is now burning toward the Stanislaus river. The latest report is that the fire fighters will check it before morning. The only big tree attacked by the fire was the "mother of the forest," and that is not damaged. The fire has burned over an area of four or five miles square, and the grove seems to be no longer in danger.

SAILORS IN GRAND PARADE.

Given Enthusiastic Reception at Melbourne.

Melbourne, Sept. 3.—Fifteen thousand Americans and Australians took part in a grand review and parade yesterday at Flemington, one of the western suburbs of the city. The weather was fine and great crowds of spectators were massed on every hand to watch the evolutions. The reception which they gave the American marines and bluejackets as they marched by was even more enthusiastic than that extended to their favorites among the troops.

Fireman Is Crushed to Death.

Iowa City, Iowa, Sept. 3. — John O'Hare, a Rock Island fireman, was crushed under his engine at Oasis, Johnson county, and died a few hours hours later in a hospital at Cedar Rapids. He was twenty-eight years old and single.

WOMEN SHOT IN STRIKE RIOT

Not Certain Whether the Shooting Was Done by State Police or Strikers.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 3.—In a strike riot at Dunmoore last evening Mrs. Adam Karalko and Mrs. Anna Cordlach, wives of miners, were shot while the women were standing on the back porch of the Karalko home.

General Superintendent W. W. Inglish, Superintendent Garwin and the state police were escorting non-unionists home last evening, when they were accosted by a crowd of the strikers in a field near the mine. Stones, it is alleged, were hurled at the non-unionists, whereupon the police charged the crowd. The strikers scattered and many of them ran to the rear of the row of miners' houses where the two women were watching the excitement from a rear porch. Mrs. Karalko held an infant in her arms. Shooting began and Mrs. Karalko was struck in the thigh. Mrs. Cordlach, who stood beside her, was turning to run into the house when a bullet struck her in the back. Her wound is serious.

Troopers Heinz and White, on their return to the barracks in Peckville, declared that they did not know that anybody had been shot, and averred that if they were they were positive they did not do it. They declared further that the strikers were also shooting and that the chances are the women were hit by stray bullets from the guns of untrained shooters.

VETERANS MARCH IN GRAND PARADE

Twelve Thousand of the Boys Who Wore the Blue Reviewed by Vast Throng.

TAFT AND FORAKER CHEERED

Erstwhile Political Rivals Cordially Shake Hands, While Thousands Applaud.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 3.—For an hour or more yesterday the grand parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, with its attendant throngs, served merely as the background—the scenery of as dramatic an incident as has enlivened a political campaign in some years, namely, the public meeting of William H. Taft and his erstwhile rival, Senator Joseph Benson Foraker. The Republican leader and his antagonist politically of the preconvention canvass met in the official reviewing stand, shook hands, smiled and exchanged greetings, while from thousands of throats came cheer after cheer as the significance of the incident dawned upon the beholders.

Meeting Unexpected.

Mr. Taft, bronzed from much golf and some fishing at Middle Bass island, ignorant of the impending meeting, arrived from the island at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. His progress along the streets in an automobile, accompanied by Gen. Corbin, President Lewis of the Middle Bass Fishing club and Mayor Whitlock, was a continued ovation.

It was nearly 3 o'clock when the parade concluded and after a brief visit to his hotel Mr. Taft went to the Lyceum theater to attend the reception given by the Lincoln Republican club. He was joined here by Senator Foraker and Gov. Harris. Here again the evidence of the official sealing of the political breach between the two leaders was vigorously applauded.

Parade Is Remarkable.

The parade was remarkable for the absence of accidents and cases of exhaustion and for the good order which prevailed, not only among the dense crowds along the line of march, but throughout the city. Mayor Whitlock last night stated that despite the crowd of 100,000 visitors there had been fewer accidents, fewer misdemeanors and less work for the police generally than on any average day of the year.

Estimates of the number of veterans in line varied from 8,000 to three times that number, but it is doubtful if there were more than 12,000. Fully half the veterans wore the badges of either Michigan or Ohio.

ROBERTS' ASSAILANT KNOWN.

Man Who Did Shooting Is Identified by Roberts Himself.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 3.—The assailant of Charles B. Roberts is known and has been known since the night that the Baltimore banker and clubman was shot on the board walk while in company with Mrs. W. S. G. Williams of that city. The person who identified his would-be slayer was Roberts himself in an ante-mortem statement. The pistol with which the shooting was done has been located, thus completing the chain of evidence, and the man who shot Roberts is technically under arrest.

These facts were vouched for last night by the manager of a local private detective agency, which was called in to assist the Atlantic City police in clearing up the mystery.

COURT-MARTIAL IS ORDERED.

Gen. Grant Will Head Body—Great Secrecy Maintained.

Washington, Sept. 3.—By direction of the president a general court-martial, embracing in its membership one major general, six brigadiers and six colonels, will meet at Fort Wayne, Mich., on Tuesday, Sept. 29, "for the trial of such persons as may be brought before it." Maj. Gen. Frederick D. Grant will head the court.

Great secrecy is maintained at the war department as to the identity of the officers to be ordered before the court for trial, but in view of the high rank of the officers comprising it, the assumption is that the proposed trial or trials involves an officer or officers of a higher rank than that of captain.

THE DEMAND OF TIMES

The following article taken from the columns of the Thief River Falls News argues well for the proposed county school of Agriculture and Domestic Economy which the commercial club is trying to secure for this village. It reads as follows:

William Allen White, who can crowd as much common sense into a short article as any one says:

"The demand of the time is for men—men who are willing to take off their coats and go to work. The country has plenty of lawyers, musicians, preachers and editors, and others who conspicuously fail to make two bales of hay from where but one grew before. The professions are all over-crowded, the offices are full of men who are growing hungry in their genteel refinement; the street cars are being worn smooth by weary feet of countless thousands of gifted and highly educated individuals who are filled with an inspeakable yearning to accept lucrative positions, but who never think of hunting jobs. Every station that involves an arm chair is besieged by clamoring applicants. When a city business man advertises for a cashier or bookkeeper, he has to hire a platoon of police to protect him from the answering throng. There are too many lilly fingers in the country and not yet enough hands with blisters on them."

MEXICO'S INLAND WATERWAY.

Canal 104 Miles Long Between Tampico and Tuxpam Built by an American.

Tuxpam, Mex.—The Mexican government is building an inland waterway 104 miles long to connect the ports of Tampico and Tuxpam. It is now about one-half finished and will cost about $5,000,000 Mexican money, which is equivalent to $2,500,000 gold.

It is 75 feet wide and has a uniform depth of 10½ feet. The first division of 60 miles is now practically finished and is open for traffic. It is expected that the waterway will be opened all the way through for small boats within two years.

This waterway runs within from two to five miles of the gulf along its whole length. Its construction grew out of the fact that there are frequently days at a time when small boats engaged in coastwise trade are unable to weather the rough water of the gulf and that there is insufficient water over the bar at the mouth of the Tuxpam river at times to enable the boats to reach the harbor at Tuxpam. Another great incentive that led to the building of the canal was that it would be the means of developing a broad agricultural region that has heretofore been badly lacking in transportation facilities for its various products.

The Tampico-Tuxpam canal follows the route of an inland waterway which has been in use for more than three-quarters of a century.

Capt. Charles Shillaber of Chicago is constructing the canal for the Mexican government on a percentage basis.

He had made a comfortable fortune, had just reached his sixtieth year and had planned to spend the remainder of his life in comfort and enjoyment. Chancing to visit Mexico on a pleasure trip he conceived the possibilities of improving the old waterway, brought the matter to the attention of the government and undertook to do the work.

TOO MUCH MUD IN OMAHA.

Citizens Imbibed 11,315 Tons of Sediment in a Year.

Omaha, Neb.—Omaha people have been drinking 31 tons of mud every day, according to the testimony of the city chemist, given in a suit wherein the city is protesting the bills of the Omaha Water company because of the impure water furnished. During the year Omaha people drank 11,315 tons of sediment, the chemist said.

The Omaha water supply is taken from the Missouri river, the muddiest stream in the country. Although alum is used in settling the water, and five different settling basins are contained in the battery of reservoirs, yet the water as it comes from the mains is murky.

The water commissioners are refusing payment of the water bills for the last four years.

TO GATHER PRUNES

CALIFORNIA RANCHER HOPES TO USE MONKEYS.

Orders a Consignment of 500 Chatterers from Panama and Will Train Them to Work in the Orchards.

San Jose, Cal.—Central American monkeys, trained to hop over orchard clods and pick up the succulent prunes that are now ripening in Santa Clara valley, are believed by Martin V. Seely of this city to be the solution of the California labor problem. To this end Mr. Seely has ordered a consignment of 500 simians from Panama and is now training some eight or ten on his ranch in the coast range foothills.

For years California fruit growers yearly have been confronted with the question of harvesting their crops. Santa Clara valley is the heaviest producer of prunes in the United States, if not in the world. The work of gathering the fruit into boxes for shipping after it has ripened and fallen to the ground formerly was done by men sent by labor agencies from San Francisco, augmented by school children from foothill towns.

But with the influx of aggressive Japanese white labor rebelled against working by the side of that from the orient, and as a result the little brown men overwhelmed the fruit ranches. Of late seasons, however, there has been a shortage of prune pickers, both American and Japanese, and in many instances shippings were delayed and several crops lost through the lack of harvest hands.

The usual floating labor population of San Francisco did not respond readily to the calls of the ranchers, and consequently the marketing of the crops was hindered.

But now comes Seely with a panacea for the prune men's harvesting ills. Seely proposes to raise the monkey to the level of the fruit grower, and he is confident of ultimate success.

"It always has been difficult for us to obtain adequate help when most needed," he said. "When hands are available we are imposed upon in wages. Last year I sold the crop of a 20-acre lot of prunes, expecting to have them gathered. But when the time for the first picking arrived not one man or boy appeared. Finally with the help of Japs and Chinese I fulfilled my end of the contract, but at a loss.

"Then an old friend from Iowa visited me. Prunes, orientals and climate were all strange to him. When he first saw the Japs squatting or hopping around beneath the trees he laughed and said:

"'Where did you get all those monkeys?'

"After he had returned east I thought over his remark, and the idea occurred to me, why not get genuine monkeys to pick prunes?

"Before coming to California I worked in Central America, and while there became acquainted with A. B. Janes of Acapulco, Panama. Janes owned a coffee plantation. The forest about his ranch clearings abounded with monkeys. The natives caught many young ones and trained them to pick fruit.

"So I have written to Janes and he is gathering monkeys and will ship them to me at once. Meantime I have obtained a number from San Francisco dealers. They now are in the hands of trainers, but as the animals are still strange I can't say how the venture will result. If I get the right kind of monkeys, I'm sure I will be successful.

"A well-bred, well-behaved monkey ought to be able to do the work of ten Japs. Then there would be no wages and the feed and salary of the trainer would be my only expense. The animals ordered are young and ought to prove satisfactory if properly trained. I will muzzle them to prevent them from eating the fruit, and expect to divide the 500 into 50 bands, ten to a trainer."

ONCE WIVES, NOW CRADLES.

Newspaper Advertising Changes Demands in Wyoming Town.

Grey Bull, Wyo.—This town of 200 inhabitants, which won fame a year ago by advertising through the Grey Bull Commercial club for wives, is now claiming especial commendation from President Roosevelt.

Grey Bull a little over a year ago was an Eveless Eden; and the young men were dissatisfied. They were tired of man-made flapjacks and coffee the year round and of horse blanket beds. They wanted wives. Advertisements in the big eastern newspapers brought something like 10,000 offers to the band of 100 husky young ranchers. Soon there was not a bachelor within 100 miles of Grey Bull.

Now the town of Grey Bull again asks for recognition, for during the last year 60 babies have been born into 60 families.

In 1910 Grey Bull expects to astonish the census takers.

Women Oil the Streets.

Stouchsburg, Pa.—Fully 200 of the 800 people of this town joined the other day in a street sprinkling crusade. Scores of women and children turned out with garden sprinklers, and these were used to sprinkle the streets with oil. By subscription seven barrels of oil were bought, and all of it was sprinkled on the streets to keep down the dust that has become so troublesome since automobiles are constantly passing through the town.

Rather a Difference.

Manager—Did you say that our leading man was overcome by the heat of last night?

Old Man—No, I didn't. I said he collapsed at this morning's roast.

Entirely Simplified.

Abstracted Theorist—What do you think of the race problems?

Disgusted Gothamite—Ain't no problem. What's the use of picking a winner if you can't put a bet up on him?

SECRECY OVER SHIP

BIG SEA FIGHTER TO BE BUILT AT NEW YORK NAVY YARD.

Order Forbids Men Telling Anything About New 20,000-Ton Vessel—Keel to Be Laid Within a Few Weeks.

New York.—In an order which is one of the most sweeping ever issued at the New York navy yard all officers and men employed in the construction of the new 20,000-ton battleship, whose keel will be laid within a few weeks, are forbidden to give out any information whatsoever to the newspapers or the public. So strict is the wording of the order that the officers in charge of the department of construction and repair, to whom it is particularly addressed, will not even give the name of the author.

Rear Admiral Caspar F. Goodrich, commandant of the yard, is in Washington, and it is believed that the order had its origin there. One officer did venture the information that the contents of the document would probably be made public within a few days.

William J. Baxter, naval constructor, who will have charge of the building of the ship, refused to talk about anything connected with his department.

"I am shut up tighter than a clam," he said. "Under this order we cannot give out any information. I cannot tell you when the keel of the new vessel is to be laid. The order won't let me say how many men are to be taken on or laid off."

All other officers connected with the department of construction and repair were as reticent as their chief. At the office of the labor board in the yard it was found that the order had produced an effect similar to that in the department of construction and repair.

While some of the officers and men are of the opinion that the desire of the navy department is to prevent foreign nations from learning of the improvements in the battleship, others see in it the result of the struggle that has been going on between the officers favoring the consolidation of the various departments of the yard and the anti-consolidationists.

The workmen at the yard are opposed to consolidation and many officers are in sympathy with them, for under the new order of things it will be practically impossible for a workman to obtain promotion except by a competitive examination.

Interruptions.

"I s'pose John is still takin' life easy," said the woman in the spring wagon.

"Yes," answered the woman who was carrying an armful of wood. "John has only two regrets in life. One is that he has to wake up to eat, an' the other is that he has to quit eatin' to sleep."

TO SEND COIN BY U. S. MAIL.

Express Companies Rudely Jarred by Discovery of New Clause.

Washington.—The treasury officials have recently discovered a highly interesting fact in regard to the appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the government, which escaped general attention at the time it was enacted.

It pertains to the shipment of fractional silver coin from the several subtreasuries of the United States to banks in various parts of the country.

It now appears that in the rush attending the passage of the sundry civil bill, James Wesley Gaines of Tennessee caused to be inserted in the measure a provision that one-half of the $60,000 appropriation for the transportation of coin shall be expended for registered mail. Heretofore shipments of currency have uniformly been made by express, and the express companies have been obliged to make good any loss by theft or other accident in transportation.

The express companies are greatly concerned over the new order of things, especially as Mr. Daskam, chief of the bureau of public moneys in the treasury department, has ruled that the law means that $30,000 should be expended by registered mail before any part of the appropriation is expended for express charges. It is believed at the treasury department that, as the charges for registering a package is only eight cents, $30,000 will be sufficient to pay the entire apparent cost of transporting coins under this system for a year, and the expresss companies will therefore get none of the business.

ONE STONE FENCES FARM.

Missouri Man Has Land Where No Wheel Ever Rolled.

Jasper, Mo.—Within sight of this town a settler has a farm which probably is unlike any other in the world.

This farm occupies the tableland on the summit of a ridge and is inclosed with a fence which no animal has ever broken through. It does not rise above the surface of the farm, but falls sheer from the edge a distance of many feet. The man who homesteaded the tableland had a hard climb up the face of a perpendicular cliff to reach the comparatively level summit.

At one point a ledge extends out a few inches and along the face of the cliff at an upward grade. By following this ledge and making use of occasional points of rocks and of shrubs growing in the fissures the discoverer pulled himself to the summit and found a surface well covered with a soft and luxuriant vegetation.

Gradually he improved the ledge until he could carry up tools and seed. By blasting and drilling he cleared a narrow trail, up which he was able to take first some pigs and then a cow. Later on he took up a horse.

And that to-day is the condition of this curiously protected farm. No vehicle has turned a wheel within its limits of palisades. The live stock has multiplied and consumes the grain raised. Some stones thrown across the trail completely fence in the hogs and cattle. When the farmer has stock to sell he drives the animals down the private trail and strikes the road to Jasper.

CATERPILLARS HALT TRAIN.

Three Times Within Mile Crew Shovels Them Off the Tracks.

St. John, N. B.—Moths, caterpillars and other like pests have made their appearance in great numbers in many sections of this province, particularly in York county. There they have caused considerable inconvenience, and several amazing stories are told of experiences when they have met in large bodies. Trainmen manning a freight between Fredericton Junction and McAdams are authority for a statement that appears incredulous. They say that the heavy freight train was stopped three times within a mile by caterpillars which swarmed over the tracks in such numbers as to effectually impede the progress of the train. It was necessary to arm the entire train crew with shovels and scoop the thousands of pests off the tracks, and smother those on the roadbed by shoveling gravel over them. They report every tree and bit of foliage along the line as being denuded of green.

Cannon's Face in Clouds.

Philadelphia.—A dark gray cloud in the southwestern sky at twilight the other evening was viewed by hundreds of persons along Lehigh avenue. It resembled in outline a colossal profile of a man, and was a striking likeness of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, even to his perpetual smile. It stood out boldly in the pink sky, but gradually faded.

Johnson, speaker of the House of Representatives, here to tour the county in the interest of the School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy. According to reports, the rain last Sunday evening was the heaviest one experienced in years in some localities. Crookston reported an average fall of over six inches and O. A. Naplin, residing in the vicinity of Wylie, reported the heaviest rainfall in twenty six years. It was somewhat of an electrical storm and the lightnining struck in several places. The house of Wm. Shoemaker in the town of Bray was struck by lightning but no serious damage was done other than the tearing off of a few shingles and drop siding. The house of C. A. Nelson in the same township was also struck and one window and its casing ruined. The barn of John Wesley in the town of Numedal was caught in a little "twister" and moved about four inches off from its foundation and left leaning pretty well on to one side. The door of the barn was torn from its hinges and carried to the road about twenty rods away while wheat stacks standing near the barn were torn up and the bundles scattered over the farm.

To Keep Salt Dry

"To prevent salt in saltcellars from becoming damp and lumpy, when filling them put in ten to twelve pieces of rice," says Woman's Home Companion for September. "This will not come through the holes in the cover of the saltcellars, but will break the lumps of salt and gather the moisture: thus the salt is always dry and fine."

Denies the Rumors

News:—A. R. Jones, candidate for the republican nomination for sheriff of Red Lake county, was in the city Monday from St. Hilaire. A story has been circulated about Thief River Falls to the effect that Mr. Jones had been at work in the past for the Red Lake Falls people securing withdrawals from the county seat removal petition. Mr. Jones denounced this as a vicious lie and defies anyone to prove that he ever tried to influence anyone to remove their name from the petition.

WYLIE NEWS

Its not often threshing begins in August, but such was the case this year.

Jack Soll is at Mud Lake this week trying to slaughter a few ducks or mud hens as they say he don't know one from the other.

We know of a telephone line not over a thousand miles from Wylie, where a man wanting to talk to a party not one hundred and fifty miles of a distance, where the message had to go in relays, so to speak, and then was not certain the message reached the other end—but the charges had to be "dug up". Who could consciencously call this telephone service? A barb wire fence would be just as satisfactory.

Every voter in the vicinity of Wylie has already signified his intention and will vote for H. E. Ives to represent the 61st legislative district. Let the rest of the district do likewise and Mr. Ives will do something for the district as he is capable and well qualified. We heard a good story when we was a boy about an Irishman landing in this country—he travelled west with a companion until he reached the mountains when he stopped and gazed, then made the remark that he had travelled considerably in his day, but this was the first time he had ever seen so much land that they had to "stack it." Now let us try and give H. E. Ives so many votes that he will have to "stack them."

What is Pe-ru-na.

Are we claiming too much for Peruna when we claim it to be an effective remedy for chronic catarrh? Have we abundant proof that Peruna is in reality such a catarrh remedy? Let us see what the United States Dispensatory says of the principal ingredients of Peruna.

Take, for instance, the ingredient hydrastis canadensis, or golden seal. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of depraved mucous membranes lining various organs of the human body.

Another ingredient of Peruna, corydalis formosa, is classed in the United States Dispensatory as a tonic.

Cedron seeds is another ingredient of Peruna. The United States Dispensatory says of the action of cedron that it is used as a bitter tonic and in the treatment of dysentery, and in intermittent diseases as a substitute for quinine.

Send to us for a free book of testimonials of what the people think of Peruna as a catarrh remedy. The best evidence is the testimony of those who have tried it.

Health and Cowardice.

I had a young friend once who won the Victoria Cross. Well, he was the most absolute (apparent) coward as a child and boy that I ever knew, and yet I am sure it was all due to his physical condition.

I had the greatest trouble to convince his honest martinet of a father that it was simply a matter of health. But I had my way at last, and the boy was practically taught as I advised for five years. He came right out of the shadow, chose the army, to the consternation of his father, and eventually won the cross. There are plenty of physically misunderstood cowards in this world who are not cowards at all.

THE DAY OF RECKONING

By AGNES L. PRATT

(Copyright, by Shortstory Pub. Co.)

Clinton Steele had a secret, gnawing with unrelenting persistence at his inner self.

"Murderer!" he would groan guiltily, in the silence of his soul, and then shudder lest the thought make itself audible to his business friends and associates.

It had happened when he was a boy, and so swiftly had a sharp line been drawn between the brightness of childhood and a darkened future that even now, at times, it seemed that what he knew to be a fact must have been but a frightful nightmare. By day the story disturbed the routine of his business life, and at night he re-enacted its scenes in his feverish dreams.

It happened when he was a boy of eight while playing at war that he had shot and killed his playmate.

To his boyish sense of justice his sentence to confinement in a reformatory until he should reach his majority—though at eight that meant endless ages—was less than he merited. Faithfully and uncomplainingly had he served, but from the moment the doors had shut upon him the boy who fired the fatal shot had ceased to live. It was his retribution. Somewhere in his omnivorous reading he had learned that death was the just penalty for willful murder, and when the dead face of his companion accused him in the darkness, he had whispered, though shuddering:

"Yes, I know, Clinton, they ought to hang me, but they wouldn't—said I was too young—that I didn't understand. But I did—I did. And say—" with that impulsive generosity that had always been, so many said, his saving grace—"I'll tell you what I'll do! I'll let you live my life, if you want to. I ought to died, for killing you. An'—an'—" hesitatingly, as the munificence of the gift to his departed friend became more real to him—"if you want to, you can live instead of me. I'll do always just as I think you'd want me to. An' I'll make you a good life, too!" he finished, confidently, as he dedicated himself to the sacrifice.

The bargain made in the darkness of midnight was faithfully kept. His own identity was sunk in that of his friend. The slayer of his comrade from that hour had no existence. To the boyish mind he was annihilated, as he ought to be, for the enormity of his crime. Henceforth, he was Clinton Steele. He began a new life of gentleness and conscientious behavior that surprised the officials of the school where he passed the slow-moving years of his minority.

When he went forth on his twenty-first birthday, it was under the name of the boy he had slain, and only one message went back to the old home where only a brother and sister remained, who could scarcely remember him:

"Forget me. I shall never return. From this day, under a new, and to me a holy name, I am to make a new life—for him whom I robbed of his."

And, hundreds of miles away, with the success that is born of determination, Clinton Steele rapidly rose in the ranks of his chosen occupation. He studied and worked, early and late, and in time became one of the firm by whom he had been employed.

And then a little joy found vent in the words he murmured in the darkness: "See, old fellow, see what I have already done with the life I robbed you of! And I will do more yet! You shall be prosperous and respected—as you deserve to be."

It seemed to him that close to his ear his comrade's voice whispered questioningly: "And happy?"

His heart throbbed painfully—he ceased to exult. "I can't promise that—that's the hardest of all! But"—imploringly—"you will understand?"

After that came the crowning success of his business life. As the trusted representative of vast interests he went abroad, and everywhere his unfailing good nature and resources procured him recognition.

In Italy, on the little holiday he allowed himself, he met HER. She was with relatives, traveling from place to place. He got his first glimpse of her—and an introduction. In Paris, where they met again, quite by accident, Her personality seemed more familiar as he was privileged to stroll by her side for two or three mornings on a shopping tour, and there he learned, word by word, pang for pang, the old, old lesson. It was when he had taken passage on the same ocean liner, plowing its westward way, that the full truth revealed itself.

On moonlight nights they strolled the deck, talking in low tones of the past, present and future. Of Her past, his present, and their future. Of his past they never spoke—because he had none. Sometimes she wondered that this was so, and with her gentlest manner tried to draw from him the story of his boyhood. "There is nothing to tell," he would assure her.

For the overwhelming possibilities of this happiness he had not reckoned upon when he had given up his life. What could a boy of eight know of this? "No—no, I cannot do that!" were the words his moving lips would form. "I have given you all—all my life, its achievements, its successes—but you cannot have that. I want that myself. If I am dead, she is not for me. Don't you understand? I love her—and she is mine!"

Something of the old fire that burned in the eyes of the boy who had expiated his crime with his life glowed in his, and the look of patient gentleness yielded for a moment to one of dauntless daring. But still the voice he had hushed in death commanded: "Tell her all! You have no right to this happiness; your life is no longer your own. Tell her the truth, and let her turn from you!"

The shores of his native land in sight, the hour of inevitable separation had come. He had decided to compromise, but for the moment put caution out of sight.

"I thank you for your permission to call," he said. "I shall surely avail myself of [illegible] when wearisome details of business have been attended to." He dropped her hand suddenly.

"I shall be glad," she murmured, "to see you at any time."

He thanked her gravely, and then, in answer to the look in her beautiful eyes, went on recklessly, daringly, forgetting that the man who spoke was dead: "There is something I want to say to you—later, I will come!"

All that night, in his bachelor apartments, he wrestled and argued with the Shade to whom he had yielded up his right to the life of other men. When the gray dawn of morning came, the terms of his compromise were completed.

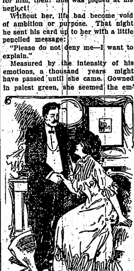
"I will not go to see her—I will give her up. To tell her all the truth would kill her!"

For days and weeks he went about his duties, kindly and calm in his appearance, but the heart covered with the garments of respectability was tortured by the pangs of retribution. Once he caught a glimpse of her face in her carriage, but the studied indifference of her nod of recognition hurt him worse than death. She cared for him, then! She was piqued at his neglect!

Without her, life had become void of ambition or purpose. That night he sent his card up to her with a little pencilled message:

"Please do not deny me—I want to explain."

Measured by the intensity of his emotions, a thousand years might have passed until she came. Gowned in palest green, she seemed the embodiment of all the happiness he had known on that blissful homeward journey. There was no resentment in her manner as she greeted him, and the hopelessness of his doom was all the more apparent as he read the affection in her lovely eyes.



"I Am So Sorry—How You Must Have Suffered!"

His day of reckoning had arrived. The punishment—the real punishment—of his crime—was at hand in the complete renunciation of all earthly happiness he was about to make.

When the soft, white hand he held a moment dropped again upon the filmy gown, he began his recital. There were no extenuating circumstances. He did not try to shield the little criminal whose impetuous act had shut the man from paradise, but fearlessly, unsparingly, he told her all.

Her face grew grave and troubled—tears shrouded the misty eyes she raised to his, as she murmured:

"I am so sorry. How you must have suffered!"

"I did," he said, simply and bravely, for he had conquered himself, "but it was nothing to what I have suffered for this later crime of loving you! I had no right—I should have fled—but I was too cowardly. Therein lay my sin—my crime—and therein I proved that the little lad had not really paid the full penalty, but he shall now, and you will help punish me. You will loathe me as I deserve, now that you know me as I am!"

In silence he waited for his doom—for the words he knew she would say. But when they came, he could hardly believe his ears.

"But," she said, "you have forgotten me! While your stern sense of justice would mete out to the boy who made the man suffer the punishment he deserves, you forget that, at the same time, you are punishing me!"

With a new hope, a new life, lighting up his eyes, he sprang from his seat and faced her, as she continued:

"I do not despise you nor loathe you—your life has been expiation enough for the sin of your ignorant childhood. I cannot despise you for—" her eyelids fell—"I love you! And perhaps even he would want you to be free to love me."

There was a moment's hush, and then he read in the pure gaze that returned to his face the fullness and sufficiency of his atonement and his pardon.

German People Increasing.

There are, of course, many causes for the commercial progress made by Germany of recent years, but surely one of the important and least often mentioned must be the fact that the German population of the world is nearly 100,000,000 strong. The Society for Teutonism in Foreign Countries has established the numbers of those Germans or German-speaking people living outside of Germany, as follows: Austria, 9,200,000; Hungary, 2,100,000; Switzerland, 2,300,000; Russia, 1,171,387; rest of Europe, 9,564,894; Asia, 131,227; Africa, 624,000; Australia, 124,000; America, north and South, 11,063,000.

That's How It Looked.

The door opened and the young man hit the sidewalk.

This, however, was no achievement. The sidewalk presented more than a fair mark.

"What's the matter?" a passing friend said, assisting him to rise.

"I've just asked the girl's father for her hand."

"Brace up," advised his friend. "Go back and try it again."

"Nope," responded the ejected suitor. "I've had my fling."

HER GOOD FORTUNE

After Years Spent in Vain Effort.

Mrs. Mary E. H. Rouse, of Cambridge, N. Y., says: "Five years ago I had a bad fall and it affected my kidneys. Severe pains in my back and hips became constant, and sharp twinges followed any exertion. The kidney secretions were badly disordered. I lost flesh and grew too weak to work. Though constantly using medicine I despaired of being cured until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Then relief came quickly, and in a short time I was completely cured. I am now in excellent health."

Swallows Lack Nesting Places.

The most important factor in the multiplication of bird life is sufficiency of nesting sites, and every year the swallow's range of choice is circumscribed. He used to be the "chimney swallow," and it must have been a severe blow to the prospects of the race when instead of the wide, ledged chimneys, we began to build straight, narrow flues with no lodgings for the birds at any point.

In many other ways houses and even farm buildings are being rendered more and more unsuitable for swallow guests, while the overmultiplying sparrow annexes most of the best sites which remain. The swallow, with his little soft beak and tiny feet is no fighter.

With the Minstrels.

"Mistah Walkah, wot am de diff'unce 'tween a trav'ler starin' to Tangier an' a plate o' veal hash?"

"I give that one up, George. What is the difference between a traveler starting for Tangier and a plate of veal hash?"

"De one am Morocco bound, an' de uddah am half calf."

"Ladies and gentlemen, the celebrated vocalist, Prof. Rox de Bote, will now sing that beautiful and touching sentimental ballad, 'Take Your Face Away, Clarence; You Have Been Using a Safety Razor.'"

CURED HER CHILDREN.

Girls Suffered with Itching Eczema—Baby Had a Tender Skin, Too—Relied on Cuticura Remedies.

"Some years ago my three little girls had a very bad form of eczema. Itching eruptions formed on the backs of their heads which were simply covered. I tried almost everything, but failed. Then my mother recommended the Cuticura Remedies. I washed my children's heads with Cuticura Soap and then applied the wonderful ointment, Cuticura. I did this four or five times and I can say that they have been entirely cured. I have another baby who is so plump that the folds of skin on his neck were broken and even bled. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and the next morning the trouble had disappeared. Mme. Napoleon Duceppe, 41 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., May 21, 1907."

Burdened With Wealth.

"Did you try counting sheep for your insomnia?"

"Yes, doc, but I made a mess of it. I counted 10,000 sheep, put 'em on cars and shipped 'em to market. The wad of money I got for 'em made me afraid to go to sleep."

A SOUTH AMERICAN INVIGORANT.

How Coal Is Cultivated—Used as Preventive of Sleep and Fatigue.

Coca is the South American invigorant. The shrub from which the coca leaves are obtained grows under favorable conditions to a height of about four meters. It is cultivated in Peru and Bolivia.

At the time the crop is gathered the seeds are sown in beds, when they germinate and grow, and in two months the growing plants reach a height of about a foot. The leaves, grown in the proper sunlight and shade, yellowish, small and thick.

This is the kind of leaf that is preferred for chewing by persons using the leaf as a stimulant, fortifier and preventive of sleep and fatigue in the performance of arduous work, inasmuch as they prevent rheumatism, from which miners suffer when working in mines that contain much water. Indians who masticate the leaves of this plant can work twenty-four hours without eating or sleeping.

Coca leaves are used by the natives when engaged in long and fatiguing journeys and by soldiers when subject to hardships and privations. They may be used with all kinds of food, and are said to cure dyspepsia, either taken as an infusion in the shape of tea or by masticating the leaves. The life of the plant when perfect is eighty years.

Well Brewed Postum Always Palatable

The flavour of Postum, when boiled according to directions, is always the same—mild, distinctive, and palatable. It contains no harmful substance like caffeine, the drug in coffee, and hence may be used with benefit at all times.

"Believing that coffee was the cause of my torpid liver, sick headache and misery in many ways," writes an Ind. lady, "I quit and bought a package of Postum about a year ago.

"My husband and I have been so well pleased that we have continued to drink Postum ever since. We like the taste of Postum better than coffee, as it has always the same pleasant flavour, while coffee changes its taste with about every new combination or blend.

"Since using Postum I have had no more attacks of gall colic, the heaviness has left my chest, and the old, common, every-day headache is a thing unknown." "There's a Reason."

C. F. Butterfield, aged eighty years, an old resident of Lake Crystal, is dead.

WHAT THE TRADE MARK MEANS TO THE BUYER

Few people realize the importance of the words "Trade Mark" stamped on the goods they buy. If they did it would save them many a dollar spent for worthless goods and put a lot of unscrupulous manufacturers out of the business.

When a manufacturer adopts a trade mark he assumes the entire responsibility for the merit of his product. He takes his business reputation in his hands—out in the limelight—"on the square" with the buyer of his goods, with the dealer, and with himself.

The other manufacturer—the one who holds out "inducements," offering to brand all goods purchased with each local dealer's brand—sidesteps responsibility, and when these inferior goods "come back" it's the local dealer that must pay the penalty.

A good example of the kind of protection afforded the public by a trade mark is that offered in connection with National Lead Company's advertising of pure White Lead as the best paint material.

That the Dutch Boy Painter trade mark is an absolute guaranty of purity in White Lead is proved to the most skeptical by the offer National Lead Company make to send free to any address a blow-pipe and instructions how to test the white lead for themselves. The testing outfit is being sent out from the New York office of the company, Woodbridge Building.

His Mistake.

Cholly—I overheard your remark, Miss Pepprey, that Gus Sappy and I were gweat chums, but I assuah you you are mistaken—

Miss Pepprey—Oh, no, it was you who was mistaken. I said great "chumps."

His Great Act.

"Now, Johnny," said the Sunday school teacher, "can you tell me one of the most remarkable things Moses did?"

"Yes, ma'am," replied the bright youth. "He broke all the commandments at the same time."

The Envy of London Club Life.

In no city in the world are there so many clubs as in London. They are one of the essential factors in English fashionable, artistic and political life. It is the home of the "gentleman," and we Italians have nothing whatever that can even compare with those useful and refined institutions.

An Outrage.

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles. I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains, and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

More Than Truth.

Louise, after being scolded, could never be reconciled till mother had assured her that she loved her, which resulted on one occasion in the following dialogue:

"You don't love me."

"Yes. I do love you."

"Well, you don't talk like it."

"Well, how do you want me to talk?"

"I want you to talk to me like you do when you have company."

Lost Her Engagement Finger.

Miss Emma Collins, 18 years old, the daughter of B. L. Collins, a Boone county farmer, who lives near here, can never wear a ring on her engagement finger.

Two weeks ago she put on an engagement ring. Yesterday, while ascending the cellar steps she lost her balance and fell. In the fall her ring caught on a nail and her finger was lacerated. The finger was amputated.

Confirmed.

"What made you kick Jimpson?"

"He called me an ass."

"Oh, well, kicking is a characteristic of asses, but I shouldn't think you'd want to confirm Jimpson's statement so quickly."

It's so much easier to pray for forgiveness than to fight against temptation.

RAIN ON MESABA RANGE BRINGS HOPE OF RELIEF

People, Worn With Four Days and Nights of Fighting for Homes, See Ray of Hope.

HIBBING ESCAPES THE FLAMES

Shift of Wind Saves Town and People Embrace Each Other in Fullness of Relief.

FIENDS KINDLE FLAMES ANEW

Montenegrins Caught in Act of Starting Fires—Grand Marais Is Now Out of Danger.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 10. — Beginning at about 8.30 o'clock last night the prayed-for rain fell like a benediction on the fire-stricken Mesaba range, and the people, worn with four days and nights of ceaseless vigil and fighting for their homes against fearful odds, breathed a sigh of relief.

The fall was short, lasting only some twenty minutes, and at no time was it sufficiently heavy to make a serious impression on the fires that still are raging in many parts of the range, but it was welcomed as an earnest of relief to come, and even the news from Duluth that the United States weather bureau could see no signs of a real downpour for at least twenty-four hours failed to shake the faith of he sufferers.

Relief From Smoke.

During the rain the heavy smoke which has stifled every living thing in Hibbing for the last two days disappeared as if brushed aside, and the breath of fresh air did much to revive the spirits of the people. After the shower had ceased the smoke once more formed and settled down with even more blighting thickness than before. But even in this there is a ray of hope, for the stillness of the heavy atmosphere shows that there is little wind, and fear of a gale has been the one thing to strike absolute terror to the hearts of all men within this region for the last few days.

Reports from other points on the range are meager, but as far as they have been received they show that the rainfall was general, and corresponding relief is felt. With a good downpour the danger from the forest fires would be a thing of the past, and even as it is the greater number of the towns seem to be out of immediate peril.

Day of Thanksgiving.

Here in Hibbing it has been a day of thanksgiving. With the shift of the wind at dawn the fire was driven back from the city by the same force that had brought it so perilously near, and men and women shook hands and embraced one another in the fullness of their relief. Some of those who had been most active in the fire fighting went to other places to help those in danger, and still others joined in the posses which are seeking to protect the ruins of Chisholm from depredations of marauding gangs. But the safety of Hibbing is assured, and it is believed that unless the fire breaks out with a fierceness that at present seems unlikely the place will not be imperiled again.

Buhl Out of Danger.

Buhl is now considered out of danger, the fire to the northwest having been conquered after a hard fight.

Last night a severe blaze was raging in the forest, several miles southeast of Buhl. While the wind still is blowing light from the northwest, the citizens of Buhl have guarded against any danger that may come from the southeast by starting back fires which soon will leave a wide burned space between the two menacing walls of flame.

Nashwauk was in as great danger yesterday afternoon as it had been at any time since Saturday. The fire yesterday was within a few hundred feet of the Montenegrins' camp on the outskirts of the town. The wind from the northwest has been driving the fire toward the town and ashes were falling in the streets all afternoon.

All Fight Fire.

Business is at a standstill, many of the stores being closed while the proprietors are out in the threatened part of town pouring water on the endangered buildings.

The woods immediately south of the city were entirely burned out by the fires Monday and Tuesday. There is little left to burn in that section, and no danger is feared should the wind again shift to the south.

Between Hibbing and Nashwauk, along the line of the Great Northern, numerous fires are raging.

The people at Snowball and Calumet also have been waging a strenuous fight. Calumet, eight miles west of Nashwauk, is probably in more danger than Nashwauk, as the forest there extends right up to the settlement.

Fiends Kindle Flames Anew.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 10.—Almost as great a menace as the fires is the band of Montenegrins now roaming through the foresests, bent on revenge and destruction. The gang is possessed of a fiendish desire to aid the fire in its ghastly work, and already has made several attempts to fire the villages.

Following the firing of a tract of forest to the west of Chisholm yesterday morning, a gang of the Montenegrins appeared in Brooklyn, a small hamlet on the outskirts of Hibbing, and attempted to fire several buildings. One of the gang had placed a quantity of shavings against a warehouses and was pouring coal oil on the stuff when discovered by a soldier. He escaped to the woods with companions, and a manhunt is now on.

Authorities at Hibbing fear there will be a public lynching if any of the Montenegrins are captaured, and posses of citizens from Monroe location, Chisholm and Hibbing threaten to shoot the fugitives down on sight.

Chisholm Rising From Ashes.

Chisholm, which was wiped out by fire Saturday, is beginning to rise from the ashes in earnest, and frame buildings are rapidly shooting up. A temporary city hall was built yesterday and an ordinance passed by the city council to the effect that any one taking out a saloon license must agree to build on the old main street. This is to keep the business center where it formerly was.

The work of caring for the refugees is now thoroughly systematized and there are no hitches. Meals are served in the art room of the high school, and substantial spreads, consisting of beans, bread, hardtack and coffee, are furnished to hundreds three times a day. There are no luxuries and every one is put on an allowance. The greatest trouble has been obtaining milk for the babies, but farmers are now coming to the rescue.

Clothing also is badly needed by the refugees, and a request that a portion of the relief fund take this form has been made.

Grand Marais Is Safe.

Duluth, Sept. 10.—After being menaced for days by forest fires that were creeping up in a wide semi-circle upon the helpless village 100 miles from Duluth, Grand Marais is reported to be safe.

The wind which had been driving the huge front of flame for hours toward the threatened village, subsided Tuesday night and in the morning a fresh breeze carried the menace in the opposite direction. The steamer Easton of the Booth line returned yesterday from a trip up the north shore, bringing in the news that, for a time at least, Grand Marais is not in danger of being wiped out by fire. The subsidence of the wind has quieted the circling flames and only in a few places near the town are there serious conflagrations. A strong wind blowing towards the lake would once more imperil the town.

Famous Properties Endangered.

Milwaukee, Sept. 10.—Two of the most famous hunting and fishing resorts in America are threatened by th forest fires which are raging in Northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. One of them is the famous Sylvania lodge, owned by a group of steel trust officials.

The other threatened resort is Maplewood, owned by Marvin Hughitt, Jr., of Chicago, traffic manager of the Chicago & North-Western railroad.

The fire which threatens these preserves swept in before a southwest gale which carried the flames over a tract of ten miles before striking the adjoining properties. The fact that both tracts are green hardwood may serve to check the flames, which are now sweeping through the marshes and swamps which have been dried up during the summer.

Many Towns Threatened.

At many towns in Price and Ashland counties, along the Wisconsin Central, the greatest apprehension exists. Phillips, Park Falls, Magenta, Butternut and other townships all are menaced by slow burning fires close to their limits. In all of the towns endangered the protection is meager.

The entire copper country is threatened by forest fires, and while there have been no new developments, it is not believed the danger is past.

Fires in Marinette County.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 10.—Forest fires are raging all through Marinette county. Two of the largest cranberry marshes in the section were burned over Monday and Tuesday, and all of this year's crop, amounting to thousands of dollars, destroyed.

AMES STATION ROBBED.

Thieves Overlooked $300—Local Talent Suspected.

Ames, Iowa, Sept. 10.—The North-Western road's ticket office was robbed by two masked men, who secured $50 in change, but failed to get $300 in the safe. North-Western detectives are working on the case. Local men are suspected.

Auto Ditched; One Hurt.

Waterloo, Iowa, Sept. 10.—Miss Mabel Anton was quite painfully injured when an automobile in which she was riding was overturned near Washburn. The steering device of the car broke and the car became unmanageable, going into a ditch at the side of the road.

Senator Ankeny Defeated.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 10. — Incomplete returns from the state primary election indicate that Senator Levy Ankeny of Walla Walla has been defeated for renomination by Representative Wesley T. Jones of North Yakima.

Lee Wing Robbed at Faribault.

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 10. — Lee Wing, a laundryman, was robbed of $45 which was taken from his coat while he was absent from his shop a few minutes. The thief made good his escape.

SETS NEW MARK FOR AEROPLANES

Wright Breaks All Distance and Time Records for Heavier-Than-Air Machine.

SAILS AIR FOR OVER AN HOUR

Marks Beginning of New Era in Progress of Civilization—Officers Enthusiastic.

Washington, Sept. 10. — Orville Wright, in three phenomenal flights at Fort Myer yesterday established new aeroplane records that not only assure the success of the official trial before the army board, but indicate that aerial flight is now only a matter of development. War on land and sea will find in the aeroplane, it is now conceded by military men, a valuable means of reconnoissance and possibly carnage.

Two flights of approximately one hour each, another flight in which two men were whirled through the air for upwards of six minutes were the achievements of the Wright brothers' aeroplane yesterday. That these flights, record-breaking as they were, will even be surpassed by Orville Wright during his trials at Fort Myer is confidently predicted.

History Is Made.

The first flight, made yesterday morning, in which the machine circled the drill grounds at the fort fifty-seven times in fifty-seven minutes and thirty-one seconds, was surpassed last evening, when a flight of sixty-two minutes and fifteen seconds was made.

Not satisfied with breaking all distance and time records for a heavier-than-air flying machine, Mr. Wright took Lieut. Frank P. Lahm, the aeronaut of the signal corps, for a spin around the drill grounds and made a new record for a two-man flight. All this happened so quickly and unostentatiously that the spectators, among whom were members of the cabinet and high officers of the army and navy, could hardly realize that history had been made that a new era in the progress of the civilized world was begun.

Makes Thirty-seven Miles an Hour.

In the first flight, last evening the aeroplane circled the field fifty-five times, at an estimated speed of thirty-seven miles an hour. The power was not fully turned on in any of the flights. It is estimated that a distance of 38.55 miles was covered in the longest flight.

"Wonderful!" "Remarkable!" "Extraordinary!" were the words used by the officers present when they were asked what they thought of the flights made yesterday by Mr. Wright.

TWO KILLED BY BULLS.

An Eleven-year-old Daughter Braves Death in Vain Effort to Save.

Jordan, Minn., Sept. 10.—Two men were trampled to death by bulls in this county yesterday. Ignatz Market, a land owner and farmer, and Frank Hieble, a farm hand, only a few years over from Germany, were the victims.

Displaying the most intrepid bravery and rare presence of mind, the eleven-year-old daughter of Market attacked the bull when it was beating the life out of her father with its horns and hoofs. Distracted for a moment from his victim on the ground, the bull charged the girl and, catching her on his horns, threw her a distance of a rod or more. Strange to say, she was not injured.

SCHOONER LOST IN STORM.

Cables Part and Lucile Is Driven to Pieces Off Coast of Alaska.

She parted her mooring in Bristol bay, lost both her anchors with their chains and went ashore on a sand spit at the mouth of the Nashagak river. Within twelve hours her masts went overboard and the ship and cargo became a total loss. She had on board 168 men, all of whom reached the shore in safety.

NELSON DEFEATS JOE GANS

Battle Ends in Twenty-first Round When Colored Man Succumbs to Awful Beating.

San Francisco, Sept. 10.—Battling Nelson clinched his claim to the lightweight pugilistic championship by defeating Joe Gans for the second time at Colma arena yesterday afternoon. The fight ended in the twenty-first round, when Gans, beaten down by a succession of blows from his sturdy conqueror, failed to get upon his feet within the count of ten. The veteran colored fighter was severely punished, but the champion, too, bore the marks of battle. From the first clang of the gong to the last moment Nelson forced the fighting, never giving ground and gradually battered down his older and less vigorous opponent.

Gans succumbed in the twenty-first round, after being unmercifully trounced. Nelson in this round rained right and left blows to jaw and body and Gans sank to the floor. Mechanically the now defeated fighter watched Referee Eddie Smith wave his hands, apparently too far gone to hear him count. Not until the count of ten was finished did Gans, ashen pale, his face terribly cut and his eyes glassy, attempt to rise. He realized, however, that it was too late and feebly declared, "I have positively fought my last battle."

The fight was spectacular, and at no time did it appear that Gans had a chance to win.

New York, Sept. 10. — That Gov. Hughes will be renominated on the first ballot in the Republican convention at Saratoga next Tuesday now seems to be assured.

Inconclusive as were the results of the test vote taken at the primaries in Manhattan and Brooklyn, they proved sufficient to convert the chief opponents of the governor's nomination.

WESTERN FAVOR FOR TAFT

Republican Policy Father of the Arid Region.

Home Owners and a High State of Civilization Go Hand in Hand.

The West has at all times furnished the strongest backing to President Roosevelt and the West turned first to Judge Taft as his logical successor. Taft is the chosen leader of that party of initiative and construction which, by its policies, has populated the country, connected our two coasts with bands of steel and has opened the door of opportunity to every citizen of the republic. The Republican party from its birth has been a party of homesteads for the people. It has enacted and enforced the laws, permitting each adult citizen of the United States to establish his own home and roof tree at a mere nominal cost.

Uncle Sam and Home Owners.

When good homesteads began to grow scarce and corporations, by double dealing, had largely usurped the birthright of the individual, the party of freedom and justice began to look into the question of reclaiming the arid West. It decided to flank the subtle movements of land monopolists and to practically create a "new heaven and a new earth" for the builder of homes, upon which rests the cornerstone of the republic.

Uncle Sam owned the whole arid region—practically fifteen hundred miles square—and he owned the water supply too. Through the Republican party, he decided to bring the water to the land, and by this union to make possible a measureless bounty for the present and future generations. The Republican party passed the National Irrigation Act which became a law in June, 1902, authorizing the government to enter upon this work of reclaiming arid America. The semi-arid region extends over North Dakota, South Dakota, Western Nebraska and Western Kansas in to Oklahoma and the panhandle of Texas.

Taft and the West.

In this area the home-building policy of the Republican party is to perfect one of the greatest experiments of civilization. Mr. Taft is thoroughly familiar with conditions here and loves the West. His prescient vision of the great destiny of the republic is pregnant with Titanic achievement for this future garden spot of the world. He knows the sources of the western water supply. He is the stalwart representative of the party that is busy with the conservation of the natural resources of our country, and what section of our land is to be half so much benefited by this promising movement as the arid region?

Homes and Independence.

On the tillage of the soil rests the prosperity of all other industries. Upon the upbuilding of homes rests the independence of the nation. Irrigation and conservation, encourages small holdings and increases the number of those who call no man master. These two Republican policies have a boundless potency for civilization. On the desert sands of Egypt they were instrumental in rearing the mightiest empire of ancient days. In India they are today revivifying and modernizing a wasted land. In America their mission is but beginning, yet it gives promise of untold blessings to man.

Possibilities of Electric Energy.

One of the most valuable assets that is to come to the arid region through the policy of the Republican party, will be the vast electric energy possible by harnessing the mountain streams. They will thus not only give life to the country, but through power generated, will inject into that life the greatest possible useful activities. In the arid region multiplied millions of horse-power can be created through the natural gravity system of water. There are hundreds of valleys ranging in length from a few miles to nearly one thousand miles where ample water can be had for all power purposes, as well as for heat and light. So when the life-giving fluid is applied to the parched plains and the desert is transformed into the orchard, the water then furnishes the source of energy for mill, factory, electric plants for lighting and heating and all possible mechanical devices.

Perhaps at no other point on the earth's surface are such combinations possible to such a degree of utility. Having the climate, the scenery, the soil, the sunshine, the water, the timber, the minerals of all kinds, the stone, and in fact all of the products of the earth, both from its surface and from its bowels so readily at hand, here in the western portion of America is destined to be wrought not only the highest civilization, but the highest standard of citizenship and patriotism—providing the party of construction and enlightened citizenship remains in power.

Responsibilities of Dominant Party.

When we come to contemplate the vast field of natural western resources, available for food, for industry and for commerce; when we attempt to grasp in one act of thought, the length and breadth and depth of the riches with which Providence has loaded this section; when we try to realize how every possible want, every material aspiration of man can be bountifully provided for; when we consider how measureless are the values which will spring into being under the Republican policy of dealing with the west, and how these values when once created are solid and real, can be incorporated into the enduring structure of human society, we may begin to estimate properly the measure of responsibility which rests upon this nation and its chosen rulers. This is not merely to preserve unharmed the priceless boon of civil liberty which leaves the individual citizen free to do his share in work of development, but to adopt such measures as will prevent the waste of natural resources, clear the way of progress and promote the final triumph of civilization. The record of the Republican party is one of progress.

Alluring Vision of Greatness.

Judge Taft not only knows and loves the west, and favors developing it to the maximum limit, but he also knows Japan, China, the Philippines, the South Sea Islands and all the South American republics whose shores are washed by the expansive Pacific ocean and whose products are destined to augment the commercial supremacy of our Pacific coast cities and the trade centers on all the transcontinental railroads. His well-known policies provide for the west as well as the east, the north and south and far away possessions.

Looking at the great War Secretary from this viewpoint, is there any wonder that the west is for Taft and Sherman?

TAFT GAINING STRENGTH.

Independent Political Writer Finds Republican Candidate Popular.

Walter Wellman, the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, thinks Taft is gaining strength. Writing of his candidacy recently he said:

"It is not denied that for some weeks after the Chicago convention there was in the East, at least, an undertone of prejudice against Judge Taft, springing from the belief that he was a mere echo of Roosevelt; that he was "not his own man," that he could not have been nominated but for the President's aid, and that he is only a stalking horse for the man at Oyster Bay. Curiously enough, many men who like Roosevelt, and would vote for him if he were to run again, felt lukewarm toward Taft because of this belief that he was only the President's shadow. Now this feeling is largely wearing away. It never was entertained by men who knew the facts, who knew Taft himself, who were familiar with the strength of his character, his independence of mind. But the men who did entertain it are beginning to perceive that he is his own man and a strong one at that. The more speeches Taft makes, the more frankly and plainly he talks, the less will there be of this mistaken notion that he is overshadowed by another. Taft's frank talk on the labor and injunction questions and his plain, blunt denial of the foolish story that he once said $1 a day was wages enough for a working man, has done him more good than his more labored and pretentious efforts.

"Judge Taft's friends argue that to some extent he has been a misunderstood man, and they want him to 'take the stump' to show the country what he really is. They would like to have the masses of the people look upon him in the same way as he is looked upon by residents of this city, where he is so well known. Ask any man of the national capital, be he Republican or Democrat, what he thinks of Judge Taft, and he will tell you that Taft is one of the biggest, strongest, finest characters we have ever had in public life. This is my own opinion, and for twenty years I have known and watched most of the important men of Congress and of the government of both parties. I am not a hero worshiper, nor a partisan. But Taft has impressed me, as he impresses every one who really gets to know him, as the finest type of man this country produces, and better fitted by temperament and training and experience for the difficult task of the presidency than any man we have had in that office for many years. The friends and admirers of the Republican candidate believe the country should know the man as he is and as he is known to be; and they think the best way to bring that about is for him to travel and speak from one end of the country to the other."

Political Notes.

Mr. Taft is not trying to reduce his weight because he is afraid of his own shadow.

Missouri has become the first state in lead mining, as well as zinc mining. If ores are to be admitted free, as Mr. Bryan advises, what will happen to the wages of American miners? The wages will go down to the foreign level and in many cases the mines will close.

When Mr. Bryan goes campaigning down South some man may be thoughtless enough to interrupt him in the middle of a speech by asking him how he stands on the Negro question.

"How will Mr. Taft explain to the average man the benefits of protection?" asks Mr. Bryan. Bless your heart, the average man understands it without any explanation.—Omaha Bee.

At First Sight.

"When we were married a year ago," said Mrs. Oldby, "you were constantly telling your friends that our marriage was the result of love at first sight on your part, and now you are always finding fault with me."

"Yes; it is true that it was a case of love at first sight when I met you." replied Oldby, with a sigh, "and I'll never forgive myself for leaving my spectacles at home that morning."

Both Eager.

"At last," he sighed, "we're alone. I've been hoping for this chance."

"So have I," said she, very frankly.

"Ah! you have guessed, then, that I wanted to tell you I love you."

"Yes; and I want to say 'No' and get it over with."

A Nice Hint.

"I know what I'll do," said the girl whose bashful lover would not propose. "I'll go out as a trained nurse."

"But that is a profession. You know nothing about it," he replied.

"Haven't I had six months' experience sitting up nights with you?"

A BIRD LOVING BARON.

Has Provided 3,000 Nesting Boxes on His Estate.

At least one man with a big estate has made use of it to help birds to live there instead of turning it into a sort of open air slaughterhouse.

He is Baron von Berlepsch and his estate in Thuringia is a bird sanctuary. According to a writer in the Pall Mall Magazine, he has planted trees and bushes favorable to the birds he wants to cultivate and has supplied 3,000 nesting boxes in addition.

Of these 3,000 boxes 95 out of every 100 were occupied last spring. In one thicket, a little stretch planted with low bushes, there were a hundred nest built by the birds at the rate of a nest to every foot of space. A close hedge of whitethorn and wild roses protects the grounds on the village side from the children who might want to come a-birdnesting, and ingeniously contrived traps await marauding creatures.

Not at All.

John and Mary had been sharing one chair all the evening. John sat on the chair and Mary sat on John. After about three hours of this Mary suddenly exclaimed:

"Oh, John, aren't you tired?"

John smiled a brave, patient smile. "Not now," he said gently. "No, not now. I was about an hour ago, but now I'm only paralyzed."

MOTHER AND CHILD

Both Fully Nourished on Grape-Nuts.

The value of this famous food is shown in many ways, in addition to what might be expected from its chemical analysis.

Grape-Nuts food is made of whole wheat and barley, is thoroughly baked for many hours and contains all the wholesome ingredients in these cereals.

It contains also the phosphate of potash grown in the grains, which Nature uses to build up brain and nerve cells.

Young children require proportionately more of this element because the brain and nervous system of the child grows so rapidly.

A Va. mother found the value of Grape-Nuts in not only building up her own strength but in nourishing her baby at the same time. She writes: "After my baby came I did not recover health and strength, and the doctor said I could not nurse the baby as I did not have nourishment for her, besides I was too weak.

"He said I might try a change of diet and see what that would do, and recommended Grape-Nuts food. I bought a pkg. and used it regularly. A marked change came over both baby and I.

"My baby is now four months old, is in fine condition, I am nursing her and doing all my work and never felt better in my life." "There's a Reason."

New Variety of Rye

A new variety of winter rye called Minnesota No. 2 has been originated by the Minnesota Experimental Station, and is now ready for distribution. This rye was obtained by selection from the Swedish rye and is an exceptionally high yielder. The average yield upon the station grounds for the past eight years is 40.4 bushels per acre, while the average yield of other varieties for the state in the same time was 19.2 bushels per acre. One field of 1.9 acres yielded 48 bushels per acre this fall.

The grain of this new variety is plump, and much larger than the varieties commonly grown. The straw is stiff, tall, and stands up well.

A few bushels were distributed for trial throughout the state last year in order that yields might be compared under farm conditions with the common varieties. The returns from the entire acreage show that Minnesota No. 2 rye averaged 27.2 bushels per acre while other rye grown under similar conditions averaged 17.7 bushels per acre.

Minnesota No. 2 rye is offered to the farmers of the state in two to five bushel lots at the price $1.25 per bushel, including sacks. Seeds will be supplied either by the station or by farmers who have co operated with the station as seed growers. Communications in regard to the rye should be addressed to Andrew Boss, Agriculturist, Minnesota Experimental Station, St. Paul, Minn.

Medicinal Value of Vegetables

By the simplest preparation of certain vegetables, nerves may be soothed, bilious attacks warded off, the blood purified and colds averted. The general system may also be toned up by the daily use of a good malt tonic such as golden grain belt beer. A glass at mealtime and before retiring induces peaceful and refreshing sleep, strengthens the brain and gives new life to the tired muscles. REVERE BELL IN ITS TOWER.

Since 1810 This Bell Has Pealed Forth Calls for Service.

Boston.—The Unitarian church at Norton has two distinctions. In the first place it was organized 194 years ago, making it one of the oldest religious societies of continuous existence in this state. In the second place there is one of the much-coveted Paul Revere bells in the tower of the edifice.

Since 1810 this bell has pealed forth the calls to services, and to-day its condition is good. In that year a number of men and women who considered the Unitarian church as their home of spiritual endeavor, raised a sufficient sum among themselves to purchase the bell and offer it as a gift to the parish.

On March 26, 1810, the records show that it was "voted to accept the present made to the parish of a bell, give leave that said bell be hung on the meeting house, and that the ringing of the bell on Sunday morning be nine o'clock."

The bell was bought at Boston of Paul Revere & Sons. Its "net weight" was 875 pounds and its cost was $367.50. It was guaranteed for one year.

The church society has had 16 pastors. The first was Rev. Joseph Avery, in 1714, although Rev. Mr. Phillips of Andover, preached quite regularly as early as 1710. He was the father of the founders of Phillips Academy. The site of the first church was located by the general court. It was erected in 1710. The seats were not put in until 1715. That building was replaced by a larger one about 1750. The present structure was built in 1835.

PAIR WEDS AFTER 47 YEARS.

Outbreak of Civil War Cause of Postponing Marriage.

Lewisburg, Tenn.—After a postponement of their wedding for 47 years, O. P. Starnes of Johnson county, Texas, and Mrs. Woolaver of Archer, Tenn., have been married here. They have gone to Oklahoma on their honeymoon.

The bride was formerly Miss Mary Faley and lived in Greene county, which was also the bridegroom's home. They were to have been married in the summer of 1861, but at the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Starnes enlisted in the confederate army and the marriage was postponed. At the battle of Missionary Ridge the prospective bridegroom was critically wounded and left for dead on the field.

Reports that he had been killed reached Miss Faley, and in time she became the bride of Robert Woolaver. Starnes saw Mrs. Woolaver but once after his recovery and left for Georgia, where he was married. He subsequently moved to Texas.

Eighteen months ago Mrs. Starnes died, and the husband recently ascertained that his former sweetheart in Tennessee was a widow. A correspondence was begun which resulted in the consummation of the pledges made many years ago.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE AND DOMESTIC ECONOMY OF RED LAKE COUNTY

Read and in Your Own Mind be Convinced of its Benefit. The Greatest Opportunity in the History of Red Lake County is at Your Door.

Parents who are educating their children "away from the farm" should remember this: "Ninety-five per cent of the men following an agricultural career succeed: ninety-five per cent of the men who take up commercialism fail."—Norman County Index.

Citizens of Red Lake County:

You are undoubtedly already acquainted with the fact that a movement has been started in Red Lake county, having for its object the establishment of a County School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy at St. Hilaire. In order that you may more thoroughly understand the workings of an institution of this kind and know the benefits to be derived from a school of this character, allow us to present to you a few facts drawn from similar schools in the state of Wisconsin. We do not wish to solicit your support without giving you an opportunity to know what you are supporting. We therefore ask you to carefully read what we shall have to say, and thus in your own minds to be convinced of the advantages of a school of this character.

In the first place let us see what the young men are expected to learn in schools of this kind. To the young men thorough instruction in the care of milk, cream and utensils is given. They receive full instruction in regard to running a farm separator and the manufacture of butter. Students receive practical training in the ripening of cream, churning, working and packing of butter, testing the value of milk and cream, etc. The purpose is to give to the young men very thorough training in such lines of the business as will serve to make them better creamery patrons, and teach them to furnish the products of the highest quality and conduct the dairy herd with the greatest profit.

A course is given in animal husbandry. In this course the work is very practicable. Trips are made to the best farm barns in the county to study methods of housing, feeding, and handling animals. Considerable stock judging is carried on by classes in connection with this subject. Thorough instruction is given in feeds and feeding.

A very thorough course in the subject of farm accounts is taught. A brief study of commercial law of importance to farmers is taken up. Business forms, contracts, deeds and mortgages are studied. A very practical course in business arithmetic is taken up. The students are taught how to measure wood, walls, land, tanks, etc. Special computations suited to farm practice are taught, such as income from dairy cows, feed rations, cost of feedings, cost of buildings, cost of fencing, cost and contents of silo, etc.

A course is given in farm carpentry. The students are taught how to care for, sharpen and use in a practical way such tools as should be used on a farm. Work on models that will teach how to make the different kinds of joints, splices, etc., necessary in the construction of buildings, machines, cupboards, and a variety of useful and ornamental articles for the home, is also given in this course. After the necessary preliminary work, the students soon learn the construction of buildings, machines, cupboards, paper racks, mail boxes, match holders, milk stools, book cases, and a variety of useful and ornamental articles for the home and farm.

Another very practical course is given in farm blacksmithing. The students are taught how to fashion from stock iron various articles useful on the farm, such as tongs, cold chisels, punces, rings chain links, clevisis, brackets, harrow teeth, etc. They are shown how to construct a serviceable forge and to otherwise equip a shop for farm blacksmithing. Original exercises are conducted in repairing broken parts of farm machinery. Something of the nature and structure of different kinds of iron and steel, as well as some knowledge of the processes by which each is produced is taught. Especial attention is given to the process of welding iron and steel and of tempering tools of steel.

What we have said so far pertains only to the instruction given to the young men attending institutions of this kind. But it is not the young men alone that are to be benefited by an institution of this kind. The young women of the farming communities as well as of the villages of the county are here offered opportunities of untold benefit. It is a selfevident fact that there can be no home without a woman who understands the art of homemaking. No farmer and no business man can be successful without that valuable adjunct a successful housekeeper. There is perhaps no part of the practical side of life that has been so sadly neglected in the past as the art of homemaking and home management. I do not think that you shall differ with me if I say that over ninety per cent of the young women growing up today know practically nothing about the art of housekeeping. The reason for this is that they have not had the opportunities to learn. What little they do know is simply what they have learned from their parents, for the most part inpracticable and unscientific. Now in an institution of this kind opportunities are offered which will enable every young woman to become an intelligent and practical housekeeper. In order that you may see and judge for yourselves, let me present to you a few of the things that the young women are taught in schools of this kind.

Cooking.

The cooking department is equipped as nearly like a home kitchen as is consistent with the number of students to be accommodated. Wood and gasoline ranges are used instead of individual gas plates. Convenient cupboards and kitchen cabinets such as should be in every well equipped kitchens are used here. Even the work tables used by the pupils are models of convenience in every respect.

The course in cooking includes a study of starchy foods; quick breads and other flour mixtures; a study of the yeast plant and its action; breadmaking; vegetables; cream soups, meats, their food value and methods of cooking; soups; desserts; planning cooking and serving simple meals.

During the second year dietetic values of foods are taken up, and each student plans a meal correctly balanced as to food nutrients and serves it to the class. Numerous special foods are prepared by the class covering subjects of the first year in a more advanced way.

Invalid cooking is taken up as a special branch of the work in cooking. The value of absolute cleanliness and daintiness in serving an invalid's tray with its effect upon the patient is taught; special diet for fevers and other individual cases; the making of gruels, broths and other dainty and nutritious dishes; special diets for convalescents.

Sewing.

The sewing department is equipped with sewing machines, draugthing tables, and everything necessary to teach the girls the best methods of making their own garments. They furnish their own material and use the finished products. The students become skilled both in hand and machine work.

Millinery.

The millinery, like the other practical work of the course, is not intended for professional use. The aim is to cultivate simplicity of taste and teach making the best use of materials and means at hand.

The course includes the making and trimming of hats and bonnets, the study of the harmony of colors, discussion of taste in selection of bonnets, hats, plumes, frames, tips, flowers and trimmings.

Home Economy.

The course in home economy is designed to cover the broad field of the home left untouched by the special branches like cooking, sewing and laundry work. An outline of the work is as follows: The house plan, drainage, sanitation, ventilation, heating and lighting; household furnishings and their care; house cleaning and sanitation; cleaning and preservation of clothing, carpets, rugs and floors; household accounts, etc.

Home Nursing.

The lessons in home nursing are to meet the need in so many homes where the care of a sick one devolves on the family. The course includes care of sick room and bed; duties of nurse; care of patient; precautions in contagious diseases; disinfection of patient and room; special diets for the sick; nursing of special diseases; diet for children.

Emergencies.

The aim of this course is to give students the knowledge that every man and woman ought to have, of what to do in cases of accidents while waiting for a physician. The course includes circulation of the blood; hemorrhages and how to stop them; treatment and dressing of wounds; bandaging; artificial respiration; unconsciousness; poisons and their antidotes; fractures and sprains.

Laundering.

A well equipped modern home laundry is used to teach the principles of laundering. Special attention is given to the removing of fruit and other stains. Other things taught are: special treatment of flannels, silks prints and laces; fixation of colors; composition and action of various soaps, soda, bluing, borax and washing powders; making and using cold and boiled starch; care and use of irons; polishing devices. Each lesson is made practical by laundering material selected for the occasion.

The above outlined things are a few of the many practical things the young women have an opportunity to learn in schools of this kind. A great many other things might be mentioned but time and space does not permit.

There is just one more question that may demand a little attention, and that is the question of the cost of erecting and maintaining a school of this kind. The county is asked to build a school costing $15,000. A suitable location will be donated by the village of St. Hilaire. The assessed value of taxable property in this county is about four million dollars. This would mean that a tax levy of about three and eight-tenths mills would have to be made for building purposes. Assuming now that your property is assessed at $1,000. This would mean that it would cost you about $3.80 to erect this school. This investment is very insignificant when you consider the untold benefits that are to be derived from it by future generations. You have a school centrally located in the county to which you can send your children and to which you can go for adivse. It is not an investment that you have to make every year, but one that once made pays a continuous revenue.

Now let us look into the matter of the cost of maintaining a school of this kind. For a basis we will use the Dunn County School of Agriculture of Wisconsin. This school costs the county about $2,000 a year, about $4,000 being received yearly from other sources. Now assuming again that your property is taxed at $1,000, it would cost you about fifty cents yearly to maintain this school. From the above figures it is evident that the cost of this school is very insignificant and to the thinking man and woman there can be no question as to the benefits to be derived.

Throughout the country agriculture is now experiencing a wonderful intellectual uplift. It is such a forward movement as no other calling ever received, and no other age ever withessed.

Only the educated farmer will have a chance in the sharp competition of the future. He will live so much better and make so much more than the farmer of today, that it will make most farming of the present look primitive.

The farmer should be a specialist. This requires preparation. Education counts for as much as experience in the preparation for profitable farming. Two years of special school work is more valuable than 20 or 25 years of the ordinary farm experience.

The farmer's wife and daughters ought to be something besides mere working machines. Too many of them grind out their daily tasks, calling them drudgery and hating them with all their strength year in and year out. A couple years of practical training at an Agricultural School, where they study many things their brothers study, and other things their brothers do not study, broadens their views and simplifies their methods of housework and farm life. The possibilities of their lives are opened up to them, and the way to a better and happier life is shown them.

Fierce Hailstorms in England.

Large stories are told of the damage done by hailstones in Minnesota recently. However, Old England itself has some statistics to show. On May 30, 1897, a terrific hailstorm visited Seaford, Sussex. Some of the "bolts" measure 4½ inches in circumference, after lying on the ground for fully seven minutes. On June 24, in the same year, the most disastrous visitation of the kind in modern times ravaged parts of Essex and the adjacent counties.

Animals and poultry were killed and crops ruined. At Ingatestone the hail broke through a slated roof, and at Baddow it went through windows and cut the blinds to pieces. The damage in Essex alone was at least $500,000.

The latest storm of exceptional violence occurred in Huntingdonshire on August 2, 1906. The "hail" consisted of hard pieces of ice, from three to four inches in length, and killed rabbits and other small animals wholesale.

Rather a Difference.

Manager—Did you say that our leading man was overcome by the heat of last night?

Old Man—No, I didn't. I said he collapsed at this morning's roast.

Reval an Ancient City.

Reval, where Russian czar and British king met not long ago, is described as a curious outpost of the Russian empire. It is the capital of Esthonia and stands at the entrance of the Gulf of Finland, about 230 miles from St. Petersburg. The town is mainly German, like all other towns in Russia's Baltic provinces, and is of great antiquity. In 1284 it acquired all the privileges of a Hanseatic city. According to an old saying, "Esthonia was an elysium for the nobility, a heaven for the clergy, a mine of gold for the stranger, but a hell for the peasant." Among the strangers who settled there and got themselves included in the Esthonian nobility were military adventurers whose descendants still exist under the name of Douglas, O'Rourke and Lewis. In 1710 Reval surrendered to Peter the Great, who provided it with a military harbor, and it is now one of the chief stations of the Russian navy.

Taxicab a Chinese Invention.

Few persons imagine that the taxicab is an ancient Chinese invention. A far eastern journal, l'Ostasiatische Lloyd, proves by drawings taken from a famous collection, the "Tsan-thu-hae," that vehicles kindred to the taxicab existed in China 800 years ago. The "giliguliche" was fitted with an instrument which sounded on a drum every mile passed. Moreover the Chinese taximeter was provided with a compass, a desirable adjunct when traveling in a country where routes are not indicated.

R. V. Lewis transacted business in Thief River Falls Monday. He is still rather weak from his recent illness and his strength is returning slowly.

There will be a fortune telling social in the ladies aid building on the main street next Friday evening, the 18th, given by the young peoples society of the Methodist church.

M. S. Anderson arrived from Hoquiam, Wash., Monday for an extended visit with friends here. Mr. Anderson was formerly an employee in the saw mill here three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kvennes arrived Monday and at once took up their residence in the cozy cottage Mr. Kvennes had prepared on the north side of the river.—Middle River Pioneer.

Mrs. E. M. Hoff, of St. Hilaire, mother of Mrs. A. C. Kvennes, came up to Middle River Tuesday to assist the young couple in getting settled in their new home.—Middle River Pioneer.

The Misses Olga and Emma Hoff left for Thief River Falls Monday, the former to visit a few days with friends and the latter to begin her duties as a teacher in the public schools there.

Next Tuesday the primary election will be held and every legal voter in the county and district should make it a point to go to the polls and cast his vote. He owes it to the community in which he lives as well as to himself.

The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church entertained for Rev. Wilcox and his mother at their room in the old Hall building Tuesday evening. A sociable evening was enjoyed at the conclusion of which refreshments were served. Rev. Wilcox was presented with a purse by those present as a token of the esteem in which he and his mother are held.

Threshing operations among the farmers are now quite general and, although the yields are not extraordinarily large, the majority of the farmers appear to be well pleased with the result of their summer's work. C. H. Martz threshed a part of his crop this week and wheat averaged 17 bushels per acre and oats averaged 50 bushels per acre. A load of spelts was threshed and it gave indications of yielding 75 bushels per acre.

Martin Hoff met with an unfortunate and rather serious accident Monday which resulted in the breaking of his right arm. He had loaded his wagon with some furniture, boxes and barrels and had taken a seat on a box which lay on top of a barrel. While crossing the lower river bridge one of the front wheels of the wagon broke and Mr. Hoff fell from his seat against the railing on the bridge in such a manner as to break one of the bones in his arm next to the wrist. Dr. Swanson set the bone and is of the opinion that the arm will be a little stiff hereafter. Arthur Hall is substituting for Mr. Hoff on the rural route.

Girl wanted for general housework. Inquire at this office.

Rev. Wilcox and mother left Wednesday for Roosevelt where Mr. Wilcox goes to teach school and prove up on his claim. During their stay here, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox have made a host of friends. Mr. Wilcox has proven himself a most efficient minister and will be sadly missed by his congregation. His mother, although well advanced in years, has aided her son very materially and has herself become a general favorite and the loss of both of them will be seriously felt in the social as well as church circles. Mr. Wilcox intends to again take up his ministerial work just as soon as he has proved up on his claim. The best wishes of this whole community are extended to them in their new locality and enterprise. It might be well to add here that there will be no services in the Methodist church for the next five weeks.

A Mass Meeting

Gazette:—A meeting of the citizens and voters of Red Lake Falls and vicinity was held in the city hall last Friday evening, the purpose being to meet Harry E. Ives, the St. Hilaire candidate for representative from this district, who was last summer endorsed by the republican county convention as the most logical candidate for Red Lake county in general and the district at large.

Mayor J. A. Duffy, in a few brief words that carried praise for the local candidate, introduced Mr. Ives to the large assemblage present, and he in turn spoke briefly upon the wants of the district, and then submitted to being questioned regarding all hedgeaways. It was the voice of those present to give Mr. Ives the undivided support of this section of the county, and with Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire doing the same in their localities, his vote in the county should be a unit.

Horse Thief Caught

Robert Kolseth, a 19 year old boy of the town of Wyandotte, stole a team belonging to his uncle, Hans Kolseth, last week, drove the team to Crookston and sold them for $100. After selling team young Kolseth was traced to Thief River Falls and the local police and trainmen were given a description of the boy. Tuesday he was discovered getting aboard a Soo train at Aneta by Brakesman Cliff McLellan. Mr. McLellan and Conductor G. H. Frissel took him up to Lancaster, where he was turned over to the village marshall for safe keeping until they made the return trip to Thief River Falls that evening. Yesterday before Judge Bishop he entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to the Minnesota State Reformatory at St. Cloud. Messrs. McLellan and Fissell will divide the $200 reward which the state pays for the capture of a horse thief.

This is not the first time young Kolseth has been in trouble. About a year ago he came to a Thief River Falls bank and asked for a loan, giving personal property for security. The local banker did not know Robert but did know of the high standing of the Kolseths of the town of Wyandotte, advanced the money and later it was discovered that the boy did not own the property he had mortgaged. In order to save him from being arrested his uncle advanced the money to pay the loan.—News.

WYLIE NEWS

Bill Zaiser, the medicine man, was here Tuesday.

Five threshing rigs are operating in the vicinity of Wylie.

Before the end of the week all the flax fields will be cut and ready for the plow.

Andrew Letvig, the old and experienced well driller, struck two fine flows last week in the township of Black River.

School in District No. 1 opened Monday and will be a nine months term. Adolph Ecklund, of Thief River Falls, will preside over the young ideas.

Jack Soll returned home Saturday from a week's hunting at Mud Lake with his shell case almost as heavy as when he left and not a feather did we see.

John Drager has accepted a position with the Red Lake Falls Milling company and will buy wheat and handle their products at St. Hilaire for a year at least.

H. A. Johnson, Chas. Fellman and "Royal" Dahleen, of St. Hilaire, were down here the first of the week looking for stray chickens that escaped the local nimrods.

The elevator is busy handling grain since threshing operations commenced. The yield, while not large, runs from fifteen to twenty two bushels per acre of wheat and the quality is good.

If the game wardens—now out of a job—should search the rigs on coming home from a day's hunt instead of taking the hunters' word for it, they would be surprised how few chickens were killed, and many cases would draw a blank.

Mike Drager will ship out two more loads of stock Friday for the St. Paul market. This shipment should have been made last Friday but there was a slight misunderstanding between Mike and Jim Hill as the stock cars did not arrive on that day.

The oldest inhabitants claim they have not seen so many grasshoppers and crickets as they have this year, which may account for the prairie chickens not being found in the wheat fields the same as in former years in mornings and evenings.

Theo. Fournier, the Wylie cheese maker, received second prize at the state fair—the score being 98—lacking just half a point of coming under the wire and taking first prize. Mr. Fournier has entered four contests this summer and is a prize winner in all of them. The supply of cheese for the past two months is not equal to the demand.

The natives along this line were awestruck Tuesday on seeing a passenger coach, but after a few explanations that it was nothing more or less than the assistant superintendent with his special and a negro cook, they were soon brought back to their senses and proceeded on with farming the same as if nothing had occured. In a few weeks from now we will have telephone connections with St. Hilaire and its up to Station Agent Borneman to give us warning should the likes occur again.

A BIRD LOVING BARON.

Has Provided 3,000 Nesting Boxes on His Estate.

At least one man with a big estate has made use of it to help birds to live there instead of turning it into a sort of open air slaughterhouse.

He is Baron von Berlepsch and his estate in Thuringia is a bird sanctuary. According to a writer in the Pall Mall Magazine, he has planted trees and bushes favorable to the birds he wants to cultivate and has supplied 3,000 nesting boxes in addition.

Of these 3,000 boxes 95 out of every 100 were occupied last spring. In one thicket, a little stretch planted with low bushes, there were a hundred nest built by the birds at the rate of a nest to every foot of space. A close hedge of whitethorn and wild roses protects the grounds on the village side from the children who might want to come a-birdnesting, and ingeniously contrived traps await marauding creatures.

Not at All.

John and Mary had been sharing one chair all the evening. John sat on the chair and Mary sat on John. After about three hours of this Mary suddenly exclaimed:

"Oh, John, aren't you tired?"

John smiled a brave, patient smile. "Not now," he said gently. "No, not now. I was about an hour ago, but now I'm only paralyzed."

His Advantage.

"The bachelor is worse off than the married man."

"How do you make that out?"

"The married man is afraid of only one woman, the bachelor is afraid of all of them."

A SIMPLE SAFEGUARD IN BUYING PAINT.

Everybody should know how simple and easy it is to avoid all uncertainty in buying paint materials. There are many so-called white leads on the market, which contain chalk, zinc, barytes, and other cheap adulterants. Unless the property owner takes advantage of the simple means of protection afforded him by reliable white lead manufacturers, he runs great risk of getting an inferior and adulterated white lead.

It is to protect the paint-buyer against fraud and adulteration that National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine Pure White Lead, place their famous "Dutch Boy Painter" trademark on every keg of their product, an absolute guarantee of its purity and quality. Anyone who wants to make a practical test of white lead, and who wants a valuable free book about painting, should address National Lead Company, Woodbridge Bldg., New York, and ask for test equipment.

And every man wants to climb about three times higher than he can ever hope to get.

HOUSE WORK

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

APPEAL TO CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Made by Judge Taft in Behalf of the Filipinos.

"A Great Missionary Work That Is Certain to Promote Christian Civilization."

The extension of a vitalizing Christianity among the Filipinos as advocated by Judge Taft both before his speech of acceptance of the nomination to the presidency and in that document itself has been widely commented upon in the pulpits of the United States. The voice of the clergy has given earnest commendation to the attitude of Judge Taft, who when governor general of the islands exerted the utmost influence for amelioration of the condition of the inhabitants of the archipelago, and that, too, at the cost of great self-sacrifice on his own part in refusing the seat on the supreme bench, to which he was both called and commanded by President Roosevelt.

Never since he first assumed the burden of the governorship of the Philippines has the welfare of the Filipinos ceased to be close to the heart of Judge Taft. In his speech of acceptance again he reminded the Americans that it is the duty of this country as a strong, Christian and enlightened nation to give spiritual as well as material aid to the distant brown brethren.

Taft's Appeal to Church.

Rev. Albert Hurlstone, pastor of Roberts Park church, Indianapolis, Ind., in a recent sermon thus spoke of Judge Taft's appeal to the Christian people of America:

"Mr. Taft used words of wisdom in referring to this question in his notification speech. His appeal is not only to his party, but it is to the Christian church of America. It seems to me that every man whose heart beats loyally to Jesus Christ must rejoice in the statement so truthfully made. Mr. Taft said: 'We have established a government with effective and honest executive departments in the Philippines and a clean and fearless administration of justice; we have created and are maintaining a comprehensive school system which is educating the youth of the islands in English and in industrial branches; we have constructed great government public works, roads and harbors; we have induced the private construction of 800 miles of railroad; we have policed the islands so that their condition as to law and order is better now than it has ever been in their history.'

"Mr. Taft is better fitted to speak on this question than any other man in the government to-day by virtue of his close connection with the problem, his experience and personal observation of the work being done; hence what he says will be heeded by the Christian church with intense interest.

Influence of Christian Civilization.

"More than ten years before Dewey sailed into Manila, Bishop Thoburn, our missionary bishop for fifty years in India, predicted that ere long the missionary would find an open door in the Philippines, but God alone knew how the door was to be opened.

"Now we hear Mr. Taft saying: 'We are engaged in the Philippines in a great missionary work that does our nation honor and is certain to promote in a most effective way the influence of Christian civilization. It is cowardly to lay down the burden until our purpose is achieved.' True, nor do we believe that the American people will allow this to be done. The sacrifice has been made, the song of the redeemed people will ere long fill heaven and earth with gladness. The selfish are ever lonely and joyless, but they who bring the sacrifice to the altar will find the joy of the Lord arise within them."

THE ROOSEVELT POLICIES.

Republican Party Will Continue Roosevelt Work.

(From Sherman's Speech of Acceptance.)

Our platform, as it should do, pledges adherence to the policies of President Roosevelt; promises to continue the work inaugurated during his administration, to insure to persons and property every proper safeguard, and all necessary strengthening of administrative methods will be provided to furnish efficient inspection and supervision, and prompt righting of every injustice, discrimination and wrong.

Not a Wail for Bryan.

"Let us have the worst," says the Brooklyn Eagle. That sounds like, though it isn't a declaration for Bryan.—New York Tribune.

Bull's Eye Shots.

The "new diplomacy" inaugurated in the foreign policy of the United States proclaims truth and frankness as its characteristics. It is the absolute candor of Mr. Taft in consulting openly with his predecessor in the White House upon questions relating to the public good as allied with Republican victory that so confounded his critics. There is nothing so dazzling as the white light of courageous candor.

Both political parties can fly the American flag on land, but it is the Republican party that would keep the American flag flying at sea over the American merchant marine.

When Mr. Taft delivered his speech of acceptance the country understood why he could not make it shorter. Every word counts, and every word tells; not one could be spared.

Taft hits hard. He is in the heavy-weight class and the opposition recognizes that there is nothing soft about his fighting. Every blow he lands is weighted with the force of conviction.

FARMER WRITES TO BRYAN.

In Terse Terms Tells Peerless One Why He Won't Contribute.

Here is a letter sent by an Illinois farmer in response to the Democratic appeal for campaign contributions:

"Hon. W. J. Bryan, Lincoln, Neb.

"My Dear Sir—As a farmer, in my reply to your request that the farmers contribute to your campaign fund, I will say that I cannot give you anything, as your speech accepting your nomination shows that, as President, you could not accomplish anything. You say that, if elected, you will only serve four years, and that promptly after your term begins you will call Congress in extra session, so that you can begin to reform the abuses at once. But if, as you say, nothing can be done while Congress, or even the Senate, is under Republican control, why convene an extra session, as all know the Senate cannot possibly change in less than four years, if then?

"I frankly admit your many good qualities and generous impulses, but it seems to me that a man who would seriously propose your dangerous free silver and government railroad ownership schemes, as you have done, has not that practical business tact required to make a safe President. You did well to drop these lunacies from your platform, but when, to still public alarm lest, if elected, you would call them up, you promised in your speech to only favor as President what was in your platform, you made a most serious mistake, which effectually ties your hands and disqualifies you for the presidency, as scores of issues and subjects outside of your platform, and which are vital to the country's interests, may press themselves upon you for action.

"No presidential candidate ever made such a promise as that before. The fear of these two mistaken hobbies marred your whole speech. It was another fatal mistake when, to draw attention away from these two hobbies, you declared there had been great popular growth in your views and policies, when, in fact, these two, which were your only prominent ones, had been left out of your platform. We have never had a presidential candidate before who proposed to bring in such a millennium of reforms, who had to make so many quirks in his speech of acceptance to conceal and cover up his most important views rather than to justify and explain them.

"The abuses of which you speak are the fruits of the evil inherent in human nature, which are present in one form or another under the rule of all parties, and republican rule no more created them, as you charge, than it created your abuse of your party's confidence, or the crimes of your party in robbing a large element of our voters of their ballots in several states, and which, though claiming that the people's rule or rights was the issue, you were afraid to even mention in your speech, much less condemn.

"It was a great abuse of your party's confidence when, with your speech for free silver before a former convention, you deceived it into nominating you for president with your false claim that the country would be ruined with the gold policy of the republican party unless you were chosen to destroy it with your free silver plan. But you now see it would have wrecked the country's interests, and you have even kicked that lunacy out of your present platform and, inferentially, made a solemn promise in your speech to never call it up again. That abuse was more dangerous than all the other present abuses combined; but you will agree with me that republican rule did not create it. That was a bad business, but you are just as confident now that the nostrums in your present platform, with you as president to apply them, will bring in the political millennium as you were when running before, when your success would have ruined the country.

"If you are afraid that Mr. Taft will be too tardy in publishing his campaign subscriptions, or that if the rich people give his campaign fund anything it will prevent him, if elected as president, from reforming the abuses, why don't you publish the vast gifts of the barons and silver kings to your campaign fund, when a former candidate; or why did you take them? Or perhaps you would have been too good for such gifts to have corrupted you had you been elected president.

"It is a pity that every other candidate is a rascal but you. If you are to be elected the outlook is not auspicious. With a man for president who is afraid to put his chief views or policies in his platform, and then to draw attention from the fact by claiming a great growth for them, and running on the assumption that he is the only honest candidate, and for a party which the people have only intrusted with the power for a short interval in fifty years, and which wrecked all interests with its blunders, what grounds have we to hope that the country can prosper?

"No, I can't give you anything on this outlook, and I don't think any other farmer ought to help your fund.

"AN ILLINOIS FARMER."

The Soft Pedal.

Readers of the New York World are wondering what has become of its Bryan map.

Mr. Taft doesn't seem quite so anxious for a big, strong horse since his admirers have been assuring him that he can win in a walk.

Twelve years of talking on the part of Mr. Bryan having failed to cure the public of its lack of confidence in his statesmanship, he will do some more talking.

Kansas is worried about its bank deposits. When Bryan ran the first time it was worried for lack of bank deposits.

"An aggregation of experimental malcontents and theorists," Mr. Sherman's description of the Democratic party, is a phrase that hits the target right in the center.

As to the Hon. Tom Watson, he will remind the country from time to time, as the campaign progresses, that he is just as much a candidate for President as any of the other fellers.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

Where The Octopus Abounds.

"The rocky coast of Britany," said a lifeguard, "abounds in octopus—the pleuvre, as they say down there. Walk at Breton beach at low tide—the beach of St. Lunaire, for instance—and you will easily find in a half mile a score or more of perfect cuttlefish of those friable white bones that birds love. They are from six inches to a foot or more in length, snowy and very prettily shaped; they make nice ash trays. The peasants gather them for bird food, for ash trays and also, I believe, for cigarette cases. They are bones of the octopus, and their abundance is a convincing proof of the octopus in those rock-strewn waters of France.

THREE CURES OF ECZEMA.

Woman Tells of Her Brother's Terrible Suffering—Two Babies Also Cured—Cuticura Invaluable.

"My brother had eczema three different summers. Each summer it came out between his shoulders and down his back, and he said his suffering was terrible. When it came on the third summer, he bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and gave it a faithful trial. Soon he began to feel better and he cured himself entirely of eczema with Cuticura. A lady in Indiana heard of how my daughter, Mrs. Miller, had cured her little son of terrible eczema by the Cuticura Remedies. This lady's little one had the eczema so badly that they thought they would lose it. She used Cuticura Remedies and they cured her child entirely, and the disease never came back. Mrs. Sarah E. HARASSED TOWNS OUT OF DANGER

Forest Fires Still Raging, but Towns on North Shore Are Thought to Be Safe.

REFUGEES TAKEN BACK HOME

Flames on Mesaba Range Also Reach Stage Where Danger Appears to Be Past.

Duluth, Sept. 16.—While forest fires are still raging along the north shore, it is believed they have passed the danger point, so far as the threatened destruction of villages is concerned. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of good timber is being destroyed, however.

Grand Marais, Chicago Bay, Hoveland, Big Bay, Pigeon River and other smaller settlements immediately along the shore are thought to be safe. The situation on the Mesaba range is also greatly improved, and the flames in that territory have not reached a stage where they are longer considered dangerous to the different towns.

Firemen Sent to Scene.

Under orders from Gen. C. C. Andrews, state fire warden, Chief John T. Black of the local fire department sent forty men to the scene of the worst forest fires above Grand Marais Sunday morning on board the Booth line steamer America. They were hired through the state free employment bureau. The men were placed under the direction of Secretary Wilson of the local fire department. Although the settlements are no longer in immediate danger there will be plenty of work for these men, for it will be their purpose to save as much timber from destruction as possible.

Hard Downpour Needed.

According to the United States weather bureau reports, rain for the northern and central portions of the United States may be expected before the end of the present week. A hard downpour would put an end to the flames.

The refugees picked up at different points along the shore and taken to Grand Marais have been returned to their homes by the Gopher, an indication that all is considered safe in that district. The homes and possessions of the settlers back of Grand Marais were destroyed by forest fires last Friday, according to advices received from the steamer America. The fire one Isle Royale has subsided and the damage there is said to be less than at first reported.

Grand Marais Is Safe.

Joseph Nevins, a timber cruiser employed by R. H. Eagan, said the fires were confined almost entirely to the shore districts and that farther back in the forests damages were not very extensive. The main fire is now directly back of Grand Marais, driven before a strong northeast breeze. If the wind holds in this direction for another twelve hours the town will be safe. If it swings to the northwest nothing can save the town. The members of the Gopher's crew are working like demons. Flesh and blood cannot stand the strain much longer. Many are badly burned. The men have been working six hours on and six off. They often come back so exhausted they have to be helped on board the ship.

Heroic Work of Sailors.

Mr. Monker, whose property was saved by thirty men from the Gopher, said with tears in his eyes:: "My all was there in the path of the fire. By the bravery of the sailors I saved everything but a few outbuildings. It takes bravery to fight men, but the pluck and endurance shown as they fought the elements back inch by inch deserves a stronger name. I don't prya often, but I'll pray God to bless the Gopher's crew."

The rough frontiersman broke down and wept as he shook the hands of the officers and men and thanked them.

The Gopher returned the refugees to Chicago Bay Sunday. The danger is over. The vessel will probably leave for Duluth to-day if the winds hold to the northeast.

GRAND MARAIS IS GIRDLED BY FIRE

Two North Shore Towns Are in Imminent Danger of Destruction by Flames.

SEVEN LIVES LOST IN FIRE

Men Went Out to Try to Save a Homestead, and Flames Cut Them Off From Escape.

Duluth, Sept. 17.—Grand Marais is girdled by roaring mountains of fire and smoke, and it is believed that a man named Monker and six Indians, cut off by fire in their efforts to save some homesteaders at Nestor, have perished in the flames. This is the news brought in yesterday by Adjt. Gen. Wood and officers of the Minnesota naval militia, who arrived on the Gopher from the north shore. The Gopher is in for coal and provisions and returned to Grand Marais last night. They say the danger is not yet over by any means.

Lutsen in Great Danger.

Lutsen, a small settlement near Grand Marais, is in the greatest danger, say the naval militiamen. It is surrounded by fire, and everything there seems doomed to destruction, although it is not thought that any loss of life will occur. For the fate of Monker and the six Indians who went Monday night to Nestor, a homesteaders' settlement not far from Grand Marais, there are very grave fears, indeed.

Were Cut Off by Fire.

"The men started out from the town in an attempt to save some of the party located on the Nestor road, and the fire swept in between them and the village and it is thought that they have perished," said Gen. Wood. "Unless they were able to escape in the other direction they are lost. Their chances of escaping the other way are thought very slim, because a big fire was coming toward them from farther inland."

Commander Guy A. Eaton and Lieutenant Commander Benjamin F. Howard, navigating officer of the Gopher, are familiar with the lay of the land in the north shore country, and they shook their heads gravely when questioned as to possible chance of escape.

Many Burned Out.

At Colville, six miles from Grand Marais, everything went, says Gen. Wood. Among those burned out there were Mrs. H. Shepard, Ever Johnson and Eli Mizenia.

"The situation looked very bad at Chicago Bay," said Commander Eaton, "and some people wanted us to declare martial law there, but we did not deem it necessary. However, we left ten men from the ship there. Forty men from the boat were left to fight the fire at Lutsen, and twenty yere left at Grand Marais."

The officers of the Gopher declare the gravity of the situation on the north shore has not been exaggerated in the least and that the Gopher was of great service to the people of the north shore.

Fires Near Rainy River.

Winnipeg, Sept. 17.—A Fort Frances dispatch said that forest fires are raging south of Rainy river, in Northern Minnesota, the smoke being so intense it hides the sun. A strong south wind is blowing and fear is expressed that International Falls will be reached by the flames. A large force of men is out fighting the fire, but their efforts are not of much avail. Nothing later has been heard from that vicinity.

LACEY TO BUCK CUMMINS.

Iowa Standpatters Pick Senatorial Candidate.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 17.—Wilfred Gronso, a farmer living in the northwestern part of Brown county, has been arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in an attempt to destroy a threshing rig which was operating on a farm in this vicinity. Some imaginary grievance against the owner of the outfit is supposed to have been the motive.

Workmen Caught in Cave-In.

Brainedr, Minn., Sept. 17. — Lawrence Barrett, a laborer, had a narrow escape from death yesterday morning when a hole which he was digging for sewer pipe caved in. He was soon uncovered and as the rock and dirt left a hole through which air reached him he was not seriously injured.

GOV. HUGHES IS RENOMINATED

Sraatoga, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Charles Evans Hughes of New York was nominated yesterday by the Republican state convention by an overwhelming majority, and on the first ballot, to succeed himself as governor of the State of New York. He received 827 out of a possible 1,009, as against 151 for James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of Livingston county, speaker of the state assembly, and 31 for Former Congressman John K. Stewart of Montgomery.

The nomination was made unanimous upon motion of State Committeeman William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, who has been perhaps the bitterest and most outspoken opponent of the governor's renomination.

Opposition Falls Through.

The governor's renomination followed the utter failure of a desperate struggle on the part of a number of the county leaders to discover a candidate upon whom they could unite to defeat him. The balance of the ticket was made up in the "good old-fashioned way," as an organization "slate."

Mr. Barnes' motion to make the nomination unanimous was carried with a deafening shout, and Chairman Root, himself not entirely unmoved—for his voice quavered a bit as he spoke—announced:

Made Unanimous Choice.

"The unanimous choice of this convention as its nominee for governor is Charles E. Hughes of New York."

It was again some moments before the chairman could compel quiet sufficient to permit the further business of the convention.

So far as the great majority of the people in the hall was concerned, the rest of the business was routine—the work of the day was done. The other nominations were quickly made, and at 5:30 p. m. Secretary Root declared the convention adjourned without day.

Democrats in Harmony.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 17. — The warring factions of the New York state Democracy last night agreed to pull together, and all chance of friction in the state convention has been swept away. The up-state leaders in their scattering contested districts also agreed to compromise matters pending the November election, and the threatening clouds of discord gave way to a program of harmony which will pave the way for what is planned to be a notable welcome to the presidential candidate, who will address the convention to-night.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 17.—Judge J. Otis Humphrey, federal judge, who gave the Chicago packers their immunity bath, has refused any relief to the distillers and rectifiers of whisky. He decides that any whisky that is not absolutely pure and of natural color must be labeled as imitation. The decision upholds the government's contention.

J. J. HILL IS GUEST OF OLD EMPLOYES

Seventieth Birthday of Railroad Magnate Is Celebrated in Memorable Way.

SEVENTY MEN ATTEND BANQUET

First Engine Brought to State, Manned by Veterans, Pulls Special to Minnetonka.

St. Paul, Sept. 17.—Surrounded by seventy men who have been lifelong employes of his great system of railways, James J. Hill last night spent what he termed one of the happiest evenings of his life at a banquet given in honor of the railroad magnate's seventieth birthday by members of his immense force of helpers, every one of whom had spent at least twenty-eight continuous years in the service of either the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railway or the Great Northern.

From every walk of life and from all parts of the system, the aged railroaders, who had been in the service prior to 1880, came to make the night of the 16th of September, 1908, one of the most impressive in the entire seventy years of the noted railroad man's life. The old timers of the Great Northern themselves were hosts, and their superior, whom all have respected for the great number of years they have been in service, was their guest for the evening.

Historic Locomotive.

Shortly before 8 o'clock a special train consisting of the "William Crooks," the first locomotive brought to Minnesota, upon whose tender the wood fuel was heaped sky high, and one coach, backed into the union depot train sheds. The old engine was a picturesque sight. A midget compared in size to the "Oriental Limited" monster which pulls out of the Twin Cities each morning, the "William Crooks," newly painted and recently completely overhauled, was the one attraction for the several thousand spectators who had gathered to witness the departure of the unique train and its old time attendants and passengers.

Veterans in Charge.

The engine was in charge of the veteran Albion H. Smith, who has been in continuous service with Mr. Hill since 1868. With Smith and acting in the capacity of fireman was John H. Lynch, now an engineer at St. Cloud, who has been in continuous service since 1869. The train was in charge of S. W. Eastman, a passenger conductor on the Fergus Falls division, who has been in the company's service since 1871, and assisting him in the capacity of brakeman was Tony Manley, an old time passenger conductor of the road who first saw service in 1873.

Banquet at Minnetonka.

The journey to Lake Minnetonka was no new feature for the old-style engine and was passed without special incident. The banquet was served in the rooms of the Lafayette club, which had been suitably decorated for the occasion.

During the various courses several informal talks were made by the men, every one wishing Mr. Hill a long and happy life and many happy returns of the day. Reminiscences and tales of old railroad life were then told by Mr. Hill and his many guests, after which the guests and his many hosts adjourned sine die.

GUARDS AGAINST FIRE.

Special Wardens Are Employed to Patrol Bemidji and Vicinity.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 17.—In order to guard against a possible conflagration in Bemidji, the city council, at the request of Mayor Pogue, voted to engage the services of two men for the purpose of acting as fire wardens at night during the continuance of the extremely dry spell which is affecting everything in and about Bemidji, as well as other parts of the state.

Good Farming Shows It Pays.

Bisbee, N. D., Sept. 17.—Threshing is about half done in this vicinity. Wheat turns out from 10 to 25 bushels per acre, oats 20 to 50, barley 15 to 40. This year the good farming easily can be distinguished from the poor farming. From these figures it can be seen that the well farmed tracts will nearly produce the value of the land this year.

Summer Resort Threatened.

Honor, Mich., Sept. 17.—Beulah, a summer resort town on Crystal lake, near the northern terminus of the Ann Arbor railroad, is threatened with destruction by forest fires. Citizens and farmers fighting the flames have appealed to neighboring towns for assistance.

Skull Is Fractured.

Well Diggers Asphyxiated.

Winnipeg, Sept. 17.—Two residents of London, Ont., William Regan and John Richardson, were asphyxiated in a well they were digging for a farmer twelve miles south of Regina, Sask., yesterday.

TO SEEK SEATS AS SOLONS

Candidates Picked for Congressional Race—Tawney and McCleary Face Fight.

St. Paul, Sept. 17. — Later returns from the congressional contests of Tuesday have not changed the results. Miller wins over Bede in the Eighth district better than two to one, carrying every county except Pine, Bede's home county.

McCleary's vote is larger than the combined vote of the other two candidates, Gilbert Gutterson and Paul Ewert. Tawney's plurality in the First is about 3,500.

It is believed that the Democrats will make their strongest fight in the First and Second districts. Tawney will have to fight Andrew French, whom he defeated two years ago. In the Second McCleary is opposed by W. S. Hammond, the present congressman. These two are the only ones of the Republican congressional candidates that will have serious opposition, although all of them have nominal opposition.

First District—James A. Tawney, Rep., Winona (renominated); Andrew French, Plainview, Dem.

Second District — James T. McCleary, Rep., Mankato; W. S. Hammond, Dem., St. Charles (renominated.)

PLAN BIG DEAL IN MINNESOTA.

Hines Lumber Interests Consider Immense Purchase.

Duluth, Sept. 17.—It is learned here that the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago has [illegible] taking over the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Virginia road and the timber and sawmills of the Cook and O'Brien interests.

The mills are two in number, at Virginia, Minn., and the timber consists of about 1,000,000,000 feet, tributary to the road mentioned. The road is a 100-mile connecting link in the new line between Duluth and Winnipeg, running from Virginia to the Rainy river. The deal, if consummated, will involve several million dollars.

FIREBUG DESTROYS GRAIN.

One Neighborhood Infested by Unknown Incendiary.

Alberta, Minn., Sept. 17. — An unknown incendiary shortly after midnight last night set fire to and burned four settings of grain belonging to J. M. Buckley and those belonging to P. Kieff of Morris. About a week ago some party set fire to Edmond Barry's granary in the same neighborhood, but although the building was destroyed some of the grain was saved. An effort is being made to have the governor offer a reward, and bloodhounds from Mankato will be brought here and put on the trail.

In less than six weeks more the election contest will be decided.

Not a farmer in Red Lake county would vote against the agricultural school if he was fully informed of the many benefits it would bring.

The editor of the Spectator has just completed an unsuccessful campaign for the Republican nomination for representative. The people of this district very evidently concluded that the county option question overshadowed all other questions. The winner, Jens J. Opsahl, was assisted financially and otherwise by the county option forces, and Mr. Funkley was backed to the extent of five thousand dollars or more by the liquor and brewery interests. Of the result we have no apologies to offer, no one rendered any financial assistance, we did not bribe voters or slander our opponents.

The Primary Election

At this writing, Friday afternoon, the primary election returns are incomplete in the county. The fight was very close on county attorney with Michelet a winner by a small majority. Nelson wins the nomination for sheriff and Anderson for Supt. of Schools is probably nominated. All of the other candidates had no opposition at the primaries and are nominated. The vote in the country districts was very light.

WYLIE NEWS

Jim Dreeland returned home from St. Paul Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cruzon are entertaining relatives from Mentor this week.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schultz on Sunday, Sept. 13, 1908, a son. A more tickled man in Polk Centre cannot be found. They have four daughters.

The primary election law is a fizzle—you cannot make the farmer turn out and vote while there is any farm work to be done, barring those living near the polling places.

Politicians were as thick as flies around a sugar lump last week—but by the time this appears in print many of them will realize they got into the wrong pew when they entered politics.

T. P. Smidesang made a flying trip to St. Hilaire election day and came back on the delayed train. He reported election day as being a rather tame affair in the saintly city—about the same as in Wylie.

A heated argument took place Tuesday and the referee could not decide whether it was Indian summer or the smoke of the forest fires of northeastern Minnesota. If the wind was any criterion the latter won out.

Don't be afraid of an automobile when you see one coming to your house—its only a very tame politician seeking your vote and will not harm man or beast. Cheer him up, if you can, as he has troubles of his own.

Jim Hill is not such a bad fellow as most people up this way suppose—he wired $5,000 for the forest fire sufferers in the district northwest of Duluth last week. We take back a little of what we said about Jim being a bad cuss.

Everybody should turn out Saturday evening, Sept. 19th and hear Hon. L. H Johnson at Eckstein's hall talk on the Agricultural school question. He is father of the bill and knows all about it, and if you attend you will know as much about it as he does, and will cast your vote for the school at the special election Sept. 29th.

H. A. Johnson, of St. Hilaire, was down here last Friday and word was spread about that he was running for sheriff and everybody jumped onto the band wagon and signified their intention of giving him a solid vote, but Hokan put a damper on it by saying he was not in the race this year, but in two years from now may get into the game. He was simply out for fresh air and posting notices for the mass meeting of county Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy and wants to make it win.

anover, Pa.—Haymakers on the farm of H. A. Sell, near Hanover, noticed a cow in a near-by meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. Upon investigation they were astonished to find that eight weasels had attacked her. After a hard fight the farmers succeeded in killing several of the blood suckers and scattering the remainder.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE AND DOMESTIC ECONOMY OF RED LAKE COUNTY

Read and in Your Own Mind be Convinced of its Benefit: The Greatest Opportunity in the History of Red Lake County is at Your Door.

Parents who are educating their children "away from the farm" should remember this: "Ninety-five per cent of the men following an agricultural career suceed: ninety-five per cent of the men who take up commercialism fail."—Norman County Index.

Citizens of Red Lake County:

You are undoubtedly already acquainted with the fact that a movement has been started in Red Lake county, having for its object the establishment of a County School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy at St. Hilaire. In order that you may more thoroughly understand the workings of an institution of this kind and know the benefits to be derived from a school of this character, allow us to present to you a few facts drawn from similar schools in the state of Wisconsin. We do not wish to solicit your support without giving you an opportunity to know what you are supporting. We therefore ask you to carefully read what we shall have to say, and thus in your own minds to be convinced of the advantages of a school of this character.

In the first place let us see what the young men are expected to learn in schools of this kind. To the young men thorough instruction in the care of milk, cream and utensils is given. They receive full instruction in regard to running a farm separator and the manufacture of butter. Students receive practical training in the ripening of cream, churning, working and packing of butter, testing the value of milk and cream, etc. The purpose is to give to the young men very thorough training in such lines of the business as will serve to make them better creamery patrons, and teach them to furnish the products of the highest quality and conduct the dairy herd with the greatest profit.

A course is given in animal husbandry. In this course the work is very practicable. Trips are made to the best farm barns in the county to study methods of housing, feeding, and handling animals. Considerable stock judging is carried on by classes in connection with this subject. Thorough instruction is given in feeds and feeding.

A very thorough course in the subject of farm accounts is taught. A brief study of commercial law of importance to farmers is taken up. Business forms, contracts, deeds and mortgages are studied. A very practical course in business arithmetic is taken up. The students are taught how to measure wood, walls, land, tanks, etc. Special computations suited to farm practice are taught, such as income from dairy cows, feed rations, cost of feedings, cost of buildings, cost of fencing, cost and contents of silo, etc.

A course is given in farm carpentry. The students are taught how to care for, sharpen and use in a practical way such tools as should be used on a farm. Work on models that will teach how to make the different kinds of joints, splices, etc., necessary in the construction of buildings, machines, cupboards, and a variety of useful and ornamental articles for the home, is also given in this course. After the necessary preliminary work, the students soon learn the construction of buildings, machines, cupboards, paper racks, mail boxes, match holders, milk stools, book cases, and a variety of useful and ornamental articles for the home and farm.

Another very practical course is given in farm blacksmithing. The students are taught how to fashion from stock iron various articles useful on the farm, such as tongs, cold chisels, punces, rings chain links, clevisis, brackets, harrow teeth, etc. They are shown how to construct a serviceable forge and to otherwise equip a shop for farm blacksmithing. Original exercises are conducted in repairing broken parts of farm machinery. Something of the nature and structure of different kinds of iron and steel, as well as some knowledge of the processes by which each is produced is taught. Especial attention is given to the process of welding iron and steel and of tempering tools of steel.

What we have said so far pertains only to the instruction given to the young men attending institutions of this kind. But it is not the young men alone that are to be benefited by an institution of this kind. The young women of the farming communities as well as of the villages of the county are here offered opportunities of untold benefit. It is a selfevident fact that there can be no home without a woman who understands the art of homemaking. No farmer and no business man can be successful without that valuable adjunct a successful housekeeper. There is perhaps no part of the practical side of life that has been so sadly neglected in the past as the art of homemaking and home management. I do not think that you shall differ with me if I say that over ninety per cent of the young women growing up today know practically nothing about the art of housekeeping. The reason for this is that they have not had the opportunities to learn. What little they do know is simply what they have learned from their parents, for the most part inpracticable and unscientific. Now in an institution of this kind opportunities are offered which will enable every young woman to become an intelligent and practical housekeeper. In order that you may see and judge for yourselves, let me present to you a few of the things that the young women are taught in schools of this kind.

Cooking.

The cooking department is equipped as nearly like a home kitchen as is consistent with the number of students to be accommodated. Wood and gasoline ranges are used instead of individual gas plates. Convenient cupboards and kitchen cabinets such as should be in every well equipped kitchens are used here. Even the work tables used by the pupils are models of convenience in every respect.

The course in cooking includes a study of starchy foods; quick breads and other flour mixtures; a study of the yeast plant and its action; breadmaking; vegetables; cream soups, meats, their food value and methods of cooking; soups; desserts; planning cooking and serving simple meals.

During the second year dietetic values of foods are taken up, and each student plans a meal correctly balanced as to food nutrients and serves it to the class. Numerous special foods are prepared by the class covering subjects of the first year in a more advanced way.

Invalid cooking is taken up as a special branch of the work in cooking. The value of absolute cleanliness and daintiness in serving an invalid's tray with its effect upon the patient is taught; special diet for fevers and other individual cases; the making of gruels, broths and other dainty and nutritious dishes; special diets for convalescents.

Sewing.

The sewing department is equipped with sewing machines, draugthing tables, and everything necessary to teach the girls the best methods of making their own garments. They furnish their own material and use the finished products. The students become skilled both in hand and machine work.

Millinery.

The millinery, like the other practical work of the course, is not intended for professional use. The aim is to cultivate simplicity of taste and teach making the best use of materials and means at hand.

The course includes the making and trimming of hats and bonnets, the study of the harmony of colors, discussion of taste in selection of bonnets, hats, plumes, frames, tips, flowers and trimmings.

Home Economy.

The course in home economy is designed to cover the broad field of the home left untouched by the special branches like cooking, sewing and laundry work. An outline of the work is as follows: The house plan, drainage, sanitation, ventilation, heating and lighting; household furnishings and their care; house cleaning and sanitation; cleaning and preservation of clothing carpets, rugs and floors; household accounts, etc.

Home Nursing.

The lessons in home nursing are to meet the need in so many homes where the care of a sick one devolves on the family. The course includes care of sick room and bed; duties of nurse; care of patient; precautions in contagious diseases; disinfection of patient and room; special diets for the sick; nursing of special diseases; diet for children.

Emergencies.

The aim of this course is to give students the knowledge that every man and woman ought to have, of what to do in cases of accidents while waiting for a physician. The course includes circulation of the blood; hemorrhages and how to stop them; treatment and dressing of wounds; bandaging; artificial respiration; unconsciousness; poisons and their antidotes; fractures and sprains.

Laundering.

A well equipped modern home laundry is used to teach the principles of laundering. Special attention is given to the removing of fruit and other stains. Other things taught are; special treatment of flannels, silks prints and laces; fixation of colors; composition and action of various soaps, soda, bluing, borax and washing powders; making and using cold and boiled starch; care and use of irons; polishing devices. Each lesson is made practical by laundering material selected for the occasion.

The above outlined things are a few of the many practical things the young women have an opportunity to learn in schools of this kind. A great many other things might be mentioned but time and space does not permit.

There is just one more question that may demand a little attention, and that is the question of the cost of erecting and maintaining a school of this kind. The county is asked to build a school costing $15,000. A suitable location will be donated by the village of St. Hilaire. The assessed value of taxable property in this county is about four million dollars. This would mean that a tax levy of about three and eight-tenths mills would have to be made for building purposes. Assuming now that your property is assessed at $1,000. This would mean that it would cost you about $3.80 to erect this school. This investment is very insignificant when you consider the untold benefits that are to be derived from it by future generations. You have a school centrally located in the county to which you can send your children and to which you can go for adivse. It is not an investment that you have to make every year, but one that once made pays a continuous revenue.

Now let us look into the matter of the cost of maintaining a school of this kind. For a basis we will use the Dunn County School of Agriculture of Wisconsin. This school costs the county about $2,000 a year, about $4,000 being received yearly from other sources. Now assuming again that your property is taxed at $1,000, it would cost you about fifty cents yearly to maintain this school. From the above figures it is evident that the cost of this school is very insignificant and to the thinking man and woman there can be no question as to the benefits to be derived.

Throughout the country agriculture is now experiencing a wonderful intellectual uplift. It is such a forward movement as no other calling ever received, and no other age ever witnessed.

Only the educated farmer will have a chance in the sharp competition of the future. He will live so much better and make so much more than the farmer of today that it will make most farming of the present look primitive.

The farmer should be specialist. This requires preparation. Education counts for as much as experience in the preparation for profitable farming. Two years of special school work is more valuable than 20 or 25 years of the ordinary farm experience.

The farmer's wife and daughters ought to be something besides mere working machines. Too many of them grind out their daily tasks, calling them drudgery and sting them with all their strength year in and year out. A couple years of practical training at an Agricultural School, where they study many things their brothers study, and other things their brothers do not study, broadens their views and simplifies their methods of housework and farm life. The possibilities of their lives are opened up to them, and the way to a better and happier life is shown them.

Flowers

Flowers are among the luxuries of life which a steady demand has been created as civilization has advanced. Our forefathers were contented to cultivate them for a brief season of the year to enjoy them while the summer lasted; but the present generation demand them the year around. There is also a growing demand for golden grain belt beer which is the greatest home bevrage ever known. It is brewed from the best materials in a better way than other beers and should have a place on your home table. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

That County School

Editor Spectator:—

I am very glad to learn that Red Lake county is on the way to establish a School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy at St. Hilaire. I believe this is a proposition that almost every county in the state will have to consider sooner or later, and to my mind there is not another move in behalf of the rural population that carries half the possibilities for immediate and lasting good. Whatever can make farm life less irksome and more interesting and congenial; whatever helps to keep the boys and girls on the farm and to make them interested in their work and proud of results obtained, whatever makes farming a more intelligent and better paying occupation, these together are of the utmost importance to the whole county, to those living in the towns as well as those living on the farms. For without these conditions the farms are not at their best and most towns derive both their revenue and their importance from surrounding farm productivity and wealth. The farmer for his own good and the town-people for their own good need to take hold of this matter and put it thru.

Farming as an industry has not received the attention and therefor has not forged ahead as the other industries in the United States have. The farmers have worked away by themselves, unorganized and independent of their neighbors, and their progress in all things has been extremely slow. This is largely because of no united action. They have not undertaken to do things enough as a body. People otherwise occupied and living in cities have, by concerted and organized action, gotten the pie and well nigh the whole cheese in the form of aid for different things and also of national appropriations. Take for illustration and comparison the matter of state aid to the schools. The figures I use were sent to me upon request by J. W. Olsen, Supt. of Public Instruction.

There are 201 high schools in the state which, the last year, received $267,543 in state aid. In the same year the first and second class rural schools, 1,718 of them, received only $165,840, not much over half the amount received by the 201 high schools. Even if each of the 86 counties in the state should establish schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy and get, say, $2,000 state aid each a year the rural population would still get but very little more state aid than the 201 high schools. This is not saying anything about the towns having graded and semigraded schools for the people of the smaller towns would derive equal benefits from the high schools in the county and the school of Agriculture and Domestic Economy, depending on whether they would want to prepare themselves for agricultural or other pursuits.

Now the farmers are themselves to blame for this condition of affairs—paying the most taxes and getting the least in return. The cities spend a little money and build school houses as required by law and get the state aid; the farmers do nothing and get nothing. When the farmers will do a little for themselves and get in a position to demand their proper share of things they will get it.

There is good authority for the above statement as I shall show. That the County Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy will be dealt with fairly if not liberally when established is assured by these reasons: First, we have his word for it that the Speaker of the House of the state legislature is heartily in support of such schools; second, judging from their attitude in the last legislature, a majority of the state senators and representatives are ready to help such schools whenever the farmers will do their part; thirdly, the educators of the state and nation have for some years advocated the establishing of such schools. I know from personal talks with them that J. W. Olsen, Supt. of Public instruction; Prof. J. M. Drew of the Agricultural School at St. Anthony Park; and Geo. F. James, Dean of the College of Education, University of Minneseta, are all strong friends of the county Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy. In 1905 the National Educational Ass'n. appointed a committee to look into the needs of the rural communities and here is an extract from that report: "So thoroly is the committee convinced of the importance of such education in rural communities and what is essential for making such education effective, that in their opinion the establishment of county Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy is an absolute necessity for the proper development and organization of the rural school system."

There is another heavy bump of evidence to help convince the doubting voters of Red Lake county that they vote right when they vote for the school. I refer to no less a person than President Roosevelt and to what he is doing and saying on the subject. Very recently, in July last I think, he appointed a commission to investigate the educational, social and economic conditions on the farms in the United States. This commission is to report him in time so that he can make recommendations from it in report to congress when it convenes in December. The scope of the work he wants the commission to cover is best appreciated from his own words. He says:

"How can the life of the farm family be made less solitary, fuller of opportunity, freer from drudgery, more comfortable, happier, and more attractive?

How can life on the farm be kept on the highest level, and where it is not already on that level be so improved, dignified and brightened as to awaken and keep alive the pride and loyalty of the farmers' boys and girls, of the farmer's wife, and of the farmer himself?

How can the desire to live on the farm be aroused in the children who are born on the farm?"

I quote again from President Roosevelt to show the importance he attaches to this question of rural life:

"With the single exception of the conservation of our natural resources, which underlies the problem of rural life, there is no other material question of greater importance now before the American people."

Such is the testimony of our foremost men of our nation—testimony that no one can misunderstand or fail to appreciate. Everyone feels that there is a crying need for something to be done in behalf of the rural population and most of us realize that no ultimate good can be brought about without the farmers' taking hold and doing something for themselves. Just a little thought will make it clear to anyone that progress in anything or anywhere comes only after a clearer and more comprehensive insight is obtained in those things; that is, the farmers will make more money when they can apply the newest methods of farming thruout, but the "knowing how" must come before the making of the money. Social and economic progress must of necessity follow and be conditioned upon educational improvement. Social life on the farm will change only when the people come to look at it thru a higher intellectuality, that is, thru minds more familiar with life in general and trained to more quickly appreciate the advantages at hand. Economic conditions will be bettered to their full extent only when the farmer applies scientific and business methods in his work. This means more schooling of the right kind for the boys and girls and thru them the bringing of up-to-date knowledge to the farmers themselves.

The county Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy meets these conditions and fills their requirements to perfection. The counties which first establish such schools will be the first to secure to themselves ever increasing prosperity and happiness. Such a school will give the country boys and girls an education equal in polish to any other at the same age of the pupil and besides that, an untold amount of practical information and training. It will make the boys and girls look up to the farm instead of down on it. In short, it will put home life there on a higher level, educationally, socially, and finacially.

Is this claiming too much? Not at all. On the contrary, in a few years we shall see these claims fulfilled and other benefits and advantages brought about which we can not now forsee.

Thousands of Women Suffer in the Same Way.

Mrs. Thos. Dunn, 153 Vine St., Columbus, Ohio, says: "For more than ten years I was in misery with backache. The simplest housework completely exhausted me. I had no strength or ambition, was nervous and suffered headache and dizzy spells. After these years of pain I was despairing of ever being cured when Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and their use brought quick relief and a permanent cure. I am very grateful."

EYESIGHT WAS IN DANGER

From Terrible Eczema—Baby's Head a Mass of Itching Rash and Sores —Disease Cured by Cuticura.

"Our little girl was two months old when she got a rash on her face and within five days her face and head were all one sore. We used different remedies but it got worse instead of better and we thought she would turn blind and that her ears would fall off. She suffered terribly, and would scratch until the blood came. This went on until she was five months old, then I had her under our family doctor's care, but she continued to grow worse. He said it was eczema. When she was seven months old I started to use the Cuticura Remedies and in two months our baby was a different girl. You could not see a sign of a sore and she was as fair as a newborn baby. She has not had a sign of the eczema since. Mrs. H. F. Budke, LeSueur, Minn., Apr. 15 and May 2, '07."

SURE HE KNEW.

But His Eloquent Discourse Is Suddenly Brought to End.

"Got a bite, captain?"

"Yes; an' he's a whopper, too. I ain't quite sure whether I've hooked him. Yes, there he is. I feel him wrigglin' on the line. He's a great, big, striped bream."

"How do you know what kind of a fish it is?"

"How do I know?" repeated the old man, as he began slowly and deliberately to haul in his line, and he threw supreme pity for the ignorance into his voice. "How do I know? Why, young man, I can tell what kind of a fish it is by the way he bites. Now, there's an eel; he kind o' makes little bits of peeks at yer line, and then he takes hold and swims away with your line, sort o' easy like. Then there's the pike; he sucks yer bait, an' ye can't hardly feel him pull. An' then there's the perch; he takes hold right away, and swims off like a streak."

"And how does the bream bite?" interrupted the young man.

"Oh, he monkeys around a whole lot, and then he takes hold all of a sudden and swims away down stream. I knowed right away when this fellow took hold he was a bream. I knowed right away when this fellow took hold he was a bream. I never made no mistake. I——"

Just then the old man's catch came to the surface. It was a cast-off boot!

"THE PALE GIRL."

Did Not Know Coffee Was the Cause.

In cold weather some people think a cup of hot coffee good to help keep warm. So it is—for a short time but the drug—caffeine—acts on the heart to weaken the circulation and the reaction is to cause more chilliness.

There is a hot wholesome drink which a Dak. girl found after a time, makes the blood warm and the heart strong.

She says:

"Having lived for five years in N. Dak., I have used considerable coffee owing to the cold climate. As a result I had a dull headache regularly, suffered from indigestion, and had no 'life' in me.

"I was known as 'the pale girl,' and people thought I was just weakly. After a time I had heart trouble and was very nervous, never knew what it was to be real well. Took medicine but it never seemed to do any good.

"Since being married my husband and I both have thought coffee was harming us and we would quit, only to begin again, although we felt it was the same as poison to us.

"Then we got some Postum. Well, the effect was really wonderful. My complexion is clear now, headache gone, and I have a great deal of energy I had never known while drinking coffee.

"I haven't been troubled with indigestion since using Postum, am not nervous, and need no medicine. We have a little girl and boy who both love Postum and thrive on it and Grape-Nuts."

"There's a Reason."

STATE GUARDS MILK SUPPLY

Minnesota Has Taken an Advanced Position in Protecting the Public From Impure Milk, and Its Experts Are Continually Waging War Against Unsanitary Dairy and Creamery Conditions.

STATE CREAMERY EXPERTS.

H. T. Sondergard, Litchfield.
John E. Lindberg, Forest Lake.
James Sorenson, Maple Plain.
Edwin Hed, Mankato.
A. O. Storvick, Crookston.
H. A. Goetsch, St. Paul.
I. O. Dybevick, Madelia.

The present system of milk and cream inspection in Minnesota is the result of the bold espousal two years ago by the state legislature of the right of sanitary science to exist. To execute its laws this state appoints its agents to investigate the cleanliness and healthfulness of barns, dairies, kitchens, homes and even the personal habits and cleanliness of the hands, face and clothes, the assumption of which authority half a century ago would have been considered tyrannical and aroused factional strife.

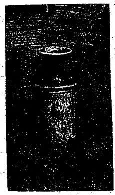
Finding their way daily among the most isolated settlements along the frontiers of the state or delving into the complex sanitary puzzle of modern cities, seven creamery experts—a small, drawn out skirmish line—have succeeded in placing this state, in two years, a long step in advance on the pathways of civilization.

A wide and swift river of milk streams into St. Paul and Minneapolis throughout the year, and that its white volume of 20,000,000 gallons may not be contaminated by the entrance of an impure gallon demands as watchful a sentinel as in the most responsible situations of war.

On Aug. 10, at Crookston, Creamery Expert A. O. Storvick, who has charge of the Ninth congressional district, condemned 100 gallons of milk found for Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth for the reason that it was dirty and unwholesome. If it had been permitted to arrive at its destination some thousands of babies, invalids and milk-drinking adults would pour into tender stomachs diseased food, causing unspeakable suffering and perhaps death.

The death rate of year-old babies in the United States is thirty out of every hundred. Two-thirds of these died on account of foreign properties in food milk. The number of invalids who take milk in the critical stages of life or death is beyond computation. Therefore the responsibility upon the shoulders of those whom the state chooses to fulfill its duties to its people is heavy and continuous.

The creamery inspector is a man of energy. He is the popular feature of all co-operative creamery meetings where he delivers an address, exploiting the purity of the product and discovering to the creamery directors new inventions for the care of milk and cream. Drawn by the authority which his position gives him into every milk shed and creamery of the land, his is an intimate association with the dairyman or farmer, and his success. Sometimes he advises the purchase of machinery, and a dozen times in a year, in the newer northern portions of the state, he is called on by gathering farmers to give the last finishing touches to crude local corporations that they may operate to produce wealth for the community of which they are a part and produce another missionary of sanitary science.



UNWHOLESOME MILK CAN.
Rejected.

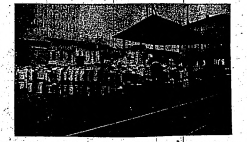
Creameries whose profit is returned to its patrons dot the communities of agricultural Minnesota, and even far into the iron range, where the cattle live on rich outcroppings of herbiage. The gospel of co-operation on a small scale has touched the Minnesota farmer's heart, and this small, unpretentious machinery of finance makes its exchanges with the market place through a disinterested creamery manager, whose care for purity and pride in his work transcends the possible economies of neglect.

The expert is at once his own detective and lawyer. By the laws of the state he is empowered as a police officer. His prosecutions in the state last year number 121. The list of prosecutions for the year ending August follows:

Selling milk without a license, 3; dirty milk house, 1; filthy cream separators and cans, 6; selling milk from cows in unsanitary barns, 1; selling milk below standard, 52;; selling unwholesome milk at creameries, 32; selling adulterated milk and cream, 26.

It is safe to say that 50 per cent will make no second violation and 75 per cent no third violation of the law.

The intimate inspection of milk by authorized bodies from the pasture whereon the cow feeds to the bottle of the babe or cup of the invalid has long been one of the noblest institutions of the government of Denmark, and was introduced in the United States in New Jersey, in the suburbs of New York, by a group of doctors, who without authority of law arranged with certain dairies that, for the permission of examining and directing their handling of milk and cream they would recommend their product to all their patients and the public at large.



STATE MILK INSPECTOR AT WORK PASSING ON SHIPMENTS.

Such a radical reform did this make in the business of selling milk that the legislature of New York was compelled, for the protection of that industry within its own borders, to pass the first sanitary dairy inspection law on the continent.

The legislature of 1907 placed Minnesota on the highest plane of compulsory sanitation, so far as milk and cream are concerned, reached by any state on the American continent and exceeding in some particulars the regulations of this industry in Denmark. The requirements of butter fat in the milk produced and sold in Minnesota are 3.5 per cent; in Denmark, 3 per cent; in New York, 2.5 per cent. In particulars of intimate inspection of all the premises and conditions of places where milk is produced, handled or sold, Minnesota also equals all other countries. In the personnel of its inspectors and their practical adaptability to the work there is no superior in a like sized territory on earth.

Laws without enough executives to enforce them amount to nothing, and when a commodity of such common use, especially by those in critical stages of life, is subject to fatal contamination without charge apparent to those who use it, forced purity fulfills as high a purpose as the government which enables it.

The creamery expert under the state law has the right to enter and police all premises where milk is produced on handled for sale. Milk must not be placed on the market which has been drawn from a diseased cow, or one fed on decayed or unwholesome food, or from a cow near time of calving. The cow barns must be cleanly and sanitary. The milk or cream must never come in touch with cans or vessels of any kind which have not been washed with boiling water. Milk must not be mixed with water or contain preservatives of any kind. Separators must be kept clean and in sanitary places, and all utensils and clothing used while about the milk must be clean. Creameries must not even have in their possession milk or cream which are not of the quality demanded by the state law.

Milk when shipped must have a temperature not to exceed 50 degrees. The Denmark law provides for a temperature of 41 degrees. It must not be left to stand, as often happens on branch lines when the last train into the depot or terminal for the week leaves early Saturday. The farmer makes his visit to town often on Saturday, and at that time creams his milk and cream along with him. If not sold to the local creamery the milk must be held until Monday before it is shipped out. The local facilities do not provide for the proper care of milk and cream during the intervening time, and as a consequence it is shipped impure, the inspectors find it and the farmer is prosecuted.

The inspectors, upon observing impurities in milk and cream while en route take the address of the consignor and of the party to whom it is shipped. He then pours into the milk a quantity of washing bluing which he mixes into the milk with a stick. The blue tinge cannot then be separated from the product and makes it unavailable for sale. Another chemical used by the inspectors for the destruction of the product leaves in the milk or cream a decided pugent odor, discernible as soon as it arrives at its destination.

The inspectors have condemned some 55,000 gallons of milk in the last few months. But their greatest accomplishment rests in the improved conditions of the dairy farms throughout the state. The law and the respect it is demanding by vigorous methods is educating all producers to a higher degree of care and the important business of dairying is reaching the highest standard.

This devotion of the state to the source of those things which people eat is but the beginning of the common practice of sanitary watchfulness among those producers who feed the world. That Minnesota should begin that pratice now on so high a plane gives an earned superiority to Minnesota milk and cream products wherever they are sold on earth.

CARLETON COLLEGE OPENS.

Has Unusually Large Enrollment, Especially in First Year.

Carleton college entered upon its forty-third year last week with a very large enrollment, the freshmen class being unusually large. At 9 o'clock the opening chapel exercises were held, and Rev. Alexander Milne, minister of the Pilgrim Congregational church of Duluth, delivered an address.

The new members of the faculty are as follows: Miss Dorothy Firman, B. A. Mount Holyoke, and M. A., Wellesley, who becomes assistant in English; Miss Margaret Holman, B. A., Smith, who becomes instructor in art history and Greek; James McCandless, B. A., University of Michigan, instructor in the department of rhetoric and oratory, and who takes charge of the physical training for the men; Miss Ruth E. Buswell, a Carleton graduate, instructor of pianoforte and history of music, and Miss Jessie M. Law, who for the last three years has been studying in the Royal conservatory of music in Leipsic, becomes instructor in violin.

Athletic interests in Carleton look very promising this year. Football will be under the supervision of Myron S. Curtis, Brown, '07, and field and track work will be in charge of Z. O. Fiscus, B. A., of Gettysburg college, Pennsylvania.

STUDENTS FLOCKING IN.

Attendance at University Expected to Take Forward Jump This Year.

From present indications all attendance records at the University of Minnesota will be broken this year. Judging from the number of prospective students on the campus and the records of growth in other years, Registrar E. B. Pierce predicts that from 100 to 200 more students will be registered this year than last, when a total of 4,421 were enrolled.

The dental college is already practically filled. It was able to accommodate but nineteen new students this year, and 150 registered during the first two days. Last year twenty-seven dental students were turned away because of lack of space in this department, and it is expected that the number of disappointed ones will be even greater this year.

Students desiring to enter any of the engineering courses are required to take a series of examinations in mathematics in case they do not hold state board certificates.

As the last day is always the heaviest, it is expected that next Tuesday will be the great registration day, although those who take examinations are expected to register Saturday and Monday.

Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the large barn on the farm of O. B. Carlson, occupied by Andrew Domagella, near Appleton. Six horses, twenty hogs, besides hay, feed and farm implements belonging to Mr. Domagella were also burned, with no insurance. Mrs. Domagella was badly burned trying to save the stock.

An Economical Suitor.

It was fair time in Selkirk and Sandy and his sweetheart were wandering round arm in arm, enjoying the sights. Presently they espied a smart looking pie shop, which they promptly entered. Sandy ordered one pie each, sat down and commenced to eat it. Meanwhile the girl looked shyly on.

"Is't fine, Sandy?" she timidly asked.

"Ay, 'tis awfu' fine, Jennie," he answered. "Ye should buy one!"

A daring robbery was committed in the Cook saloon, on the island opposite Red Wing, when Robert Keefe, better known as "Hickory Bob," snatched a jewel box containing jewelry and money to the value of $975 and made his escape. He was captured later by the Red Wing police, and most of the property was recovered.

While removing a gun from a wagon Alfred King of Duluth was accidentally shot and almost instantly killed.

New Zealand Golf.

Some incidents of the play for the golf championship were being discussed on the links. "Mushie is always hard to beat," said one of the party, "he plays so much with his head." "Yes," interrupted the satirist, "I heard that he was partial to wooden clubs."

Night Sweats & Cough.

E. W. Walton, Condr. S. P. Ry., 717 Van Ness St., San Antonio, Tex., writes: "During the summer and fall of 1902, my annoyance from catarrh reached that stage where it was actual misery and developed alarming symptoms, such as a very deep-seated cough, night sweats, and pains in the head and chest. I experimented with several so-called remedies before I finally decided to take a thorough course of Peruna.

"Two of my friends had gone so far as to inform me that the thing for me to do was to resign my position and seek a higher, more congenial climate. Everyone thought I had consumption and I was not expected to live very long.

"Having procured some Peruna, I decided to give it a thorough test and applied myself assiduously to the task of taking it, as per instructions, in the meantime.

"The effects were soon apparent, all alarming symptoms disappeared and my general health became fully as good as it had been in my life.

"I have resorted to the use of Peruna on two or three occasions since that time to cure myself of bad colds."

BEMIDJI SAVED BY TIMELY RAIN

Soaking Shower Comes When City Seemed Doomed to Destruction—Militia Out.

WISCONSIN HAMLET IN ASHES

Satuit Burned After Desperate Struggle; Rhinelander and Nearby Villages Safe.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 24. — Soaking rain which began at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon, probably saved Bemidji from a severe scorching, if not possible destruction by forest fires, which were advancing from two directions.

Forest fires which have been burning to the south and east of Bemidji in Hubbard county were sweeping on this city, fanned by a heavy wind from the south until clouds of smoke rolled over the lake. About noon the smoke was so heavy south of the city that much apprehension was felt that the fire would reach the city.

Telephone messages from farmers south of here told of a mountain of flames rushing through the forest south of Lake Plantagenet, nine miles south of Bamidji.

Rush to Save Town.

About 3 o'clock a fire was discovered six miles west of Bemidji, which gained much headway.

A. G. Rutledge telephoned Gov. Johnson for permission to call out Company K of Bemidji to assist in patrolling the fire. The company was ordered out and gotten ready to await orders from Capt. Otto.

At 4:15 o'clock, when the smoke was rolling heavenward to the west and south of the city, a heavy rainfall began, which lasted half an hour, thoroughly wetting the ground for five miles around. The rain has undoubtedly checked the advance of the fire, at least for the present.

Shevlin Threatened.

A telephone message received from Shevlin at 8 o'clock last evening says the forest fire is approaching that place from the north. Nearly every able-bodied man in Shevlin is out fighting the fire, and it is hoped to check the flames and prevent the burning of the village.

Fire has burned over an area of five miles square, and as the wind is from the northwest there is grave danger for the village.

Hamlet is in Ashes.

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 24.—After a desperate struggle lasting over forty-eight hours, Satuit, a settlement comprising a half dozen homes, three miles east of Rhinelander, fell before the onslaught of the fire god yesterday morning, and there is now nothing left of the hamlet but a few scattered mounds of gray ashes.

The settlers fled to Moen's Lake, where they are being housed.

As yet no loss of life has been recorded. Although the smake pall continues as dense as ever, the fires, corded. Although the smoke pall condering through the brushwood, and if anything have lost ground; certainly they have not gained any.

Rhinelander Safe.

Rhinelander is now as safe as it is possible for it to be, with lack of rain, and the apprehension felt here for the last two days is beginning to die out.

Woodboro and Gagen are out of danger as long as the wind remains down, and the villagera are constantly strengthening their defenses.

The settlements about Moens, Thompson and George lakes, all withing a radius of twenty miles of Rhinelander, have so far succeeded in keeping off the flames, but have no water protection and would fall easy victims to the gre in case the wind rose.

Over 1,000 Miles of Fire.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 24.—More than a thousand miles of fire wall about Lake Superior, Northern Michigan and Huron; probably two thousand miles is more like it. Not one continuous fire, but a thousand small fires, sometimes a mile apart or ten times five miles, broken here and there by cities like Duluth, Ashland, Marquette and adjacent cut-over regions.

The wind came up yesterday for the first time in several weeks. The effect was immediate. Two or three distinct fires can be seen from Ashland.

FOR OVERTHROW OF COLOMBIA

Alleged Filibustering Expedition, With 600 Armed Men, Was to Start From Boston.

Boston, Sept. 25.—The Post to-day publishes the disclosure of an alleged filibustering expedition which intended to start from this city on Oct. 1, composed of 600 men fully armed and equipped, for the overthrow of the United States of Colombia.

Attention was first called to the proposed expedition by advertisements in local papers several months ago, calling for recruits, graduates of the United States navy and army preferred.

Offices, it is claimed, were opened in Boston, Worcester and Lynn, and 600 men were secured.

The recruiting, it is alleged, was under the direction of A. W. Blanchard, a mining engineer, with offices in New York. Four machine guns and two Hotchkiss guns, with other equipment, it is claimed, had already been purchased from New York concerns.

A British tramp steamer had been secured, it is claimed, to transport the troops and arms to South America. A former major of the United States army, who lives in Providence, R. I., was secured to command, and the date of departure set for Oct. 1.

TRY FIVE TIMES TO KILL FAMILY

Chicago Blackhanders Terrorizing Italian, Wife and Children.

Chicago, Sept. 25. — The fifth attempt within a few months by Blackhanders to blow up the home of Antonio Lumia, a wealthy Italian jeweler, or otherwise to kill him, was frustrated yesterday when the police found eighteen sticks of dynamite in a vacant lot next to his house. With the explosives were found fuses and other things necessary to set it off.

For months Lumia and his family have lived in a state of terror, following the receipt of letters demanding money, on the threat that the lives of himself and his wife and children would be taken unless he paid.

Periodically every noon Schropp lapses into a sort of comatose state. His limbs stiffen and flies tickle his face in vain. He reposes in a deep slumber. In two hours he revives, but because he shows signs of being irrational the commissioners decided to send him to the hospital.

SHEVLIN STILL IN PERIL

Refugees From Northern Wisconsin Flock to Eau Claire to Escape Forest Fires.

Duluth, Sept. 25. — Fanned by a lively breeze, fires which have been smoldering in forests along the north shore broke out again yesterday, and reports from various points say that they are worse now than at any time this month.

Capt. Edward England of the tug Williams arrived in this port from Tofte, a little north shore village, and gave out the information that all the country up that way is again in flames and that the situation is serious.

Smoke is dense all over Lake Superior and boats are having difficulty in keeping their course.

Reports Are Discouraging.

Reports from nearly every city in the northern part of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota are most discouraging. Nearly every message says that the flames are growing in volume and fierceness, and that unless a drenching rain falls there is no hope of saving anything.

Trainmen on the Great Northern railway report serious forest fires in the neighborhood of Cass Lake. The town fire department was busy all day fighting the flames that were nearing the place.

Other fires are burning between Cass Lake and Bemidji. Small fires have been burning along the Great Northern tracks for several days, but no damage has been done, and they are not considered serious.

Fires at Fifield, Phillips and Coolidge and the surrounding country in Northern Wisconsin, while still burning, were reported as being under control.

Shevlin in Peril.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 25. — No rain fell in Shevlin yesterday, and business houses and dwellings, dry as tinder, still are in danger of brands from the forest fires that are sweeping in several directions near the town. A strong wind would doom the settlement to destruction.

Though the downpour that relieved Bemidji of any immediate danger of the flames has stayed the fires about Shevlin, the peril there continues to be great.

GIRL LODGES GRAVE CHARGE

Says Theatrical Man Engaged Her for Amusement Park, and Then Assaulted Her.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—George A. Gold, said to be a theatrical booking agent and owner of a theatrical concession at Forest Park, was arrested last night on a serious charge preferred by Emma N. Storme. It is said Gold conducted the booking agency to get victims for the "white slave" traffic. Besides the accusation made by Emma Storme, he is charged with causing the delinquency of girls who appeared in his theater at the amusement park.

Lieut. Alcock and detectives of the central station, while standing at Dearborn and Madison streets, overheard five girls talking about Gold's failure to pay them their wages. They questioned them, and Emma Storme told of the treatment accorded her by Gold in a State street hotel last Friday night. At the station the other girls said Gold had advertised for young women to become actresses and assured them they would be paid $6 a week while learning the profession.

Friday night, according to Emma Storme, on the pretense that he wished to pay her, Gold enticed her to a room and assaulted her. He forced her to remain with him all night and the next day took her back to the theater in the amusement park.

While fighting Gold she said she bit him on the left shoulder. Marks of teeth were found as she had described when Gold's shoulder was bared.

Gold said he did not force the girl to accompany him to the hotel or remain there, but that the following night she returned to the hotel with him. This statement the girl denied.

HIGH SOCIETY IS IN PANIC

Diplomats and Prominent Society People Flee on Account of Increase of Cholera.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 25.—Not only has the number of cases of Asiatic cholera increased, but the disease has invaded the aristocratic precincts of St. Petersburg. It has even reached the Winter palace, in which extensive preparations are going on in the expectation that the emperor and empress will spend part of the coming season in the capital. Other cases have been discovered in the palace of Grand Duke Nicholas Nichollevitch, the Tauride palace and the palace of Prince Alexander Oldenburg, a cousin of the emperor, and the imperial opera house.

Diplomats Leave Hurriedly.

A number of diplomats and prominent society people have hurried their departure abroad, but the exodus has been checked to a considerable extent by the prospect of being held in quarantine at the frontier.

That a panic prevails among certain classes is illustrated by the fact that many well-to-do people have ordered their newspapers discontinued during the epidemic. A grand duchess residing abroad, who is one of these, explained that she feared contagion through the mails.

In order to test the efficacy of vaccination in cholera cases several graduate students of St. Petrsburg voluntarily permitted themselves to be vaccinated, after which they drank a solution containing cholera germs.

CHOLERA GETS BEYOND BOUNDS

Five Hundred Cases Develop in St. Petersburg During a Day—Serious Lack of Facilities.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 24.—Lack of hospital and medical facilities with which to fight the plague of cholera still remains the most serious phase of the situation. The redistricting of the city and the closer search for contagious spots and cholera victims have resulted in an unprecedented number of cases being reported yesterday.

The authorities say that with adequate facilities they could stamp out the plague in two weeks

The hospitals have turned out every patient who could possibly be accommodated elsewhere, to make room for cholera victims, and the authorities have made requisition on a number of private houses, to be turned into temporary hospitals.

The idea of turning the schools into hospitals was abandoned, the public entering a vigorous protest to the suspension of school work and also submitting the buildings to the possibility of contagion.

Five hundred new cases have developed within the past twenty-four hours.

Early yesterday he aroused the girl and on the plea of leaving the country got her to come out for a short conference. Placing a revolver at her head, he commanded her to accompany him. Twenty-seven of the vessel's crew and passengers were saved.

The Star of Bengal belonged to the Alaska Packers' association and was on her way from Fort Wrangel to San Francisco with a cargo of 45,000 cases of salmon.

In addition to her crew she carried 100 Chinese and Japanese who were employed in the canneries of the company, taken aboard at Fort Wrangel.

THIRTEEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Terrible Accident on French Cruiser During Gunnery Drill.

Toulon, France, Sept. 24.—During gunnery drill yesterday one of the big turret guns on the French armored cruiser Latouche Treville exploded with terrific violence, completely wrecking the afterturret and killing outright the entire gun crew of thirteen men. A number of men were seriously injured, some of them probably fatally. The accident was similar to that aboard the gunnery schoolship Couronne, off Les Salins d'Hyeras, Aug. 12 last, when by the bursting of the breach of one of the guns six men were killed and eighteen injured. The drill yesterday had been proceeding for a considerable time, when, without warning, the whole turret seemed to blow out.

Spectacle Was Horrible.

Dismembered bodies were thrown in all directions, and several of them were hurled into the sea through the great breech caused by the explosion.

The spectacle was horrible, the dead and wounded together, with shattered arms and legs littering the decks. A call to quarters was souned and as speedily as possible the wounded were cared for. The gun that exploded was 7.6 inches bore, of which the cruiser carried two. Happening so soon after the accident on the Couronne, the explosion yesterday has caused a sensation in naval circles and doubtless will lead to a most rigid investigation.

Vote for it Sept. 29th

Wm. H. Taft, the Republican nominee and the next president, will speak at Crookston next Monday afternoon.

Not in a good many years have the farmers of this section had their work so nearly done as they have today. It is an excellent start for another year.

Vote for enterprise, education and prosperity—in fact, vote for the agricultural school.

Don't fail to cast your vote in favor of the agricultural school at the special election next Tuesday. In many ways such a school will benefit Red Lake county. It will, together with the creamery, make this one of the centers of scientific farming in northern Minnesota. It will bring in a desirable class of people and will do more to make this county prosperous and its land more valuable than any other thing we could do. Do not let work or business interfere but go and vote YES.

Special Train

A special train will leave here on Monday morning at nine-fifty o'clock to enable all who wish to go to Crookston to hear Wm. H. Taft. Senator Clapp will also deliver an address. The train will return early in the evening.

WYLIE NEWS

Most all the boys that exchanged hard work for North Dakota gold have returned.

It is rumored that we will get daily freight service on the Wylie line. Good, old boy Jim, but when?

The crickets were so numerous this year that many a farmer has to fan the oats before the horses will eat them.

Farmers are complaining that it is too dry to plow. Some want rain and others don't—its hard to be the weather man.

The extraordinary warm weather the past ten days has had a tendency to hatch out the grasshopper eggs that should have been a next year's crop—however no harm was done—in hatching.

The best yield of wheat in this vicinity was threshed on the farm of Aug. Mereen last week. The field, which was quite a large one, run a trifle better than twenty eight bushels per acre—machine measure.

Manager Cruzon has already taken in about fifteen thousand bushels of grain for the Farmers Elevator Co. since threshing commenced. Most of the farmers have their granaries filled and its the surplus that's being marketed.

During one of the windy days last week Leo Schultz had the misfortune to burn up three wheat stacks while threshing on the farm of Hank Neils. A few belts were rendered useless and one side of the separator was badly scorched.

The township board, according to posted notices, met on the range line south of here last Saturday and let out some contract work. They will meet again Oct. 3rd on the town line in the northwestern part of the township and let out similar work.

Hon. L. H. Johnson, father of the agricultural school bill, spoke to a small, but appreciative audience last Saturday evening. Everybody should turn out and vote for the school Tuesday, Sept. 29th. Don't let the work of a few hours interfere with a business proposition of this kind.

Dedrick Qvinlang (the name sounds aamiliar to a lot of farmers in the vicinity of Wylie) is causing a whole lot of trouble, not for himself as he has left for parts unknown a little over ten months ago, but to a lot of others, all of whom live in the vicinity of Red Lake county. Eleven are summoned for the near future to appear and show cause why they should not pay $1,229 with interest at six per cent. Nuff said.

Raymond Sumpter, the year and a half old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sumpter, died at its parents home at 10:30 Saturdry evening from poisoning. Early in the day the little tot had in some manner gotten ahold of a fly poisoning contrivance known as the Daisy Fly Killer. It consists of a little tin box in which the liquid poison is placed and a wick-like affair saturated with the poison protrudes through the cover of the box. The child had pulled the wick out of the box and when found he was sucking it. Medical assistance was hastily summoned but it was too late and the child died as stated above. The funeral was held from the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, Rev. Palm officiating. The remains were laid at rest in the Swedish Lutheran cemetery.

This is the last chance we have to appeal to the voters of Red Lake county to go to the polls on the 29th of Sept. to register their votes in favor of the county school of Agriculture and Domestic Economy. We make this appeal in behalf of Red Lake county, in behalf of the citizens of St. Hilaire, and in behalf of the growing generation of our county. Do not allow this opportunity to slip away from you, it may not again present itself. Do not allow yourselves to be influenced by a few dollars increase in taxation, a sum so small that you will never notice it, but go to the polls on the above named date and vote with the progressive element of our county. By so doing you shall rear to yourselves a monument which will proclaim to unborn generations your wisdom and foresight. Every son and daughter that shall reap its beneficient influence shall be a living monument to testify both by word and deed.

N. E. Beebe Writes

Editor Spectator:

Opportunities for us farmers to do something for our children are so few and far between that when one of real importance does present itself we ought to consider it well before passing it by. I have reference to the proposed county school of Agriculture and Domestic Economy at St. Hilaire, and I think a few words about the matter, as I see it, will be of interest to other voter.

I think we all see the great need of such a school for our boys and girls. We all want our boys and girls to get an education and especially an education that will help them make a good independent living through life. Such a school will give them a chance to become thoro, scientific farmers and in time make good money farming where we are now making only a bare living. Such a school located in the center of the county will be a saving to us rather than an expense if we look at it from the standpoint of sending even only a few of our boys and girls aways to Crookston or St. Paul. After the first cost of building the school it will not cost us more than fifty cents, on each quarter section of land in taxes to run it. Again, when we have such a school in the county most of us can have the help of the boys and girls on Saturdays and Sundays and not only their help but also the feeling of safety in having them under our care every week, which means a great deal to me. Most of the boys and girls are too young when they are through with the country schools to be sent away to cities, staying away for months at a time from home care. We want our children to have equal chances with other children in life and to give them that equal chance we must provide a practical education for them. I know of no better way than to establish such a school as we are about to vote for.

But the question of cost and taxes always comes up when we are to better our condition, and it is right and proper for us to look at that side carefully to see that the benefits to be gotten are not too highly paid for. I have considered closely this matter of cost and I have come to a firm conviction that a school will be worth many time the increase in taxes to us every year. If you will carefully consider these facts I think you will have the same opinion. The total valuation os the county is about $4,300,000. The average valuation of each quarter section of land is $800. The amount to be expended in building the school is $15,000. Thus it will cost less than 3.5 mills on the dollar or about $2.80 for each quarter section of land to build the school. But take notice, you farmers who live on your land and who will get the benefit of the school, the cities and villages and non-resident land owner will pay almost three-fourths, about seventy five per cent, of this cost. The cost of running the school the first few years should, in my estimation, be less than $4,000 a year. But say it will cost $6,000. Because the farmers living on their farms pay only one-fourth of the taxes it will cost them only fifty cents on each quarter section of land. Is there a farmer in the county who isn't willing to educate his boys and girls at that price, giving them the equal of a high school education? I don't think there can be. Then let us vote for the school to the last one.

But this is not all. The expense to the county will be still less. The law providing for the establishment of such schools provides also for a state aid, of $2,500 for the maintenance of them. And furthermore, it is almost a sure thing that the next legislature will provide more liberally for them still. What reasons have I for thinking so? These: Mr. L. H. Johnson, speaker of the House, is strong champion of such schools and says he feels sure he can get a bill passed in the next legislature appropriating money to pay two thirds of the yearly expenses of such schools, second, A. L. Hanson of this district and Rep. Opsahl both believe in such schools, as it seems all senators and representatives from rural communities do. The expense to the farmers and the county of running such a school will be very small indeed.

Someone has expressed the fear that because the law allows the county commissioner to spend as high as $20,000 in one year to build and maintain such a school of agriculture and domestic economy, therefor they will spend that much every year. This man reminds me of the cry-baby who came wailing to his mother and said, "The cat is looking at me mamma." "But my dear child," replied the mother, "we have no cat." "Well, persisted the child, "but when we shall get one." Has this person heard of any town spending $20,000 one year in a high school and then keeping up spending $20,000 a year in running expenses? Such talk is too silly to be even laughed at.

Let me say a word of appeal in conclusion. Look at this proposition with an eye to our future well-being and progress. Do you want your son to have a better start in life than you had? You can bequeath to him a farm with probably good buildings on it. But can he live from buildings alone? Remember the farm has run down and is likely running down every year. The boy cannot put the breaking plow into the virgin soil and raise bounteous crops in all kinds of seasons. The more the fertility has been taken out of the soil the more need, necessity is there to mix brains with the soil in cultivating it. A practical education in farming is worth more to your boy and girl in the long run than thousands in cash. Can we then conscientiously put aside such an opportunity as we have now to provide for our boys and girls an education which will better their lives thruout? Let us turn out to a man and vote for this School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy.

MAN HOLDS MANY JOBS.

Reporter Is Mayor, Magistrate, Auditor, City Clerk and Other Things.

Courtdale, Pa.—Not many public offices have escaped George Washington Williams, who is burgess or mayor, justice of the peace, auditor, secretary of the council or city clerk, and president of the board of health. Were he to lose his job as reporter on a local paper he might easily pick out and handle several other borough positions. Williams moved to Courtdale from Wilkesbarre two years ago. Almost immediately he was elected secrotary of the borough council. He still retained his newspaper job, an one night was detailed to report a Republican caucus. Much to his surprise the caucus selected him as a candidate for burgess. He accepted and was elected by four votes over Jacob Hunt, who had lived there 50 years. His administration is a big success. And then the other offices came. Only one person in Courtdale held as many offices as Williams. This was Miss Louise Bennett, organist of the Methodist Episcopal church, organist for the Sunday school, teacher, superintendent of the Junior Epworth League and president of the Women's Home Mission society. Just to end the rivalry, Williams married the girl.

Court Declares Lovers Cannot Be Indian Givers.

Altoona, Pa.—According to the interpretation of the law by Judge James Shull of Perry county, specially presiding in Blair county, when a lover gives a present to his sweetheart it is hers for all time.

James Polke gave Miss Lucy Deffley of Juniata a set of furs while he was courting her, and the weather was frigid; but later he fell in love with another girl, sent all Miss Duffley's presents back and demanded the seasonable furs. She told him to come and get them. He came and she showed him the present, which he appropriated.

The girl says he choked her twice when she tried to get them from him.

Suits for larceny and for assault and battery followed. They were tried recently.

Judge Shull eliminated the larceny charge and returned the furs, in this hot weather, to Miss Deffley, and the jury divided the costs in the other case.

It was a highly enjoyable affair throughout and the gathering broke up at a late hour.

Speaker of the House L. H. Johnson returned to his home at Minneapolis Tuesday after attending to some of his personal business matters and delivering several addresses throughout the county on the proposed county school of Agriculture and Domestic Economy. Mr. Johnson has rendered much valuable assistance and should the school be secured his efforts in its behalf will have played no small part in bringing it about.

D. Collins has purchased an interest in the Evenson photograph gallery at Thief River Falls and goes up this morning to take immediate possession. Mr. Collins is a photographer of no mean ability and his success in his new location is assured as far as his knowledge of the photography business is concerned. He will make regular weekly trips to this village to attend to his business here but will make his headquarters at Thief River Falls. The community will join in with the Spectator in wishing him the best of success in his new locality.

That County School

Editor Spectator:—

I am very glad to learn that Red Lake county is on the way to establish a School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy at St. Hilaire. I believe this is a proposition that almost every county in the state will have to consider sooner or later, and to my mind there is not another move in behalf of the rural population that carries half the possibilities for immediate and lasting good. Whatever can make farm life less irksome and more interesting and congenial; whatever helps to keep the boys and girls on the farm and to make them interested in their work and proud of results obtained, whatever makes farming a more intelligent and better paying occupation, these together are of the utmost importance to the whole county, to those living in the towns as well as those living on the farms. For without these conditions the farms are not at their best and most towns derive both their revenue and their importance from surrounding farm productivity and wealth. The farmer for his own good and the town-people for their own good need to take hold of this matter and put it thru.

Farming as an industry has not received the attention and therefor has not forged ahead as the other industries in the United States have. The farmers have worked away by themselves, unorganized and independent of their neighbors, and their progress in all things has been extremely slow. This is largely because of no united action. They have not undertaken to do things enough as a body. People otherwise occupied and living in cities have, by concerted and organized action, gotten the pie and well nigh the whole cheese in the form of aid for different things and also of national appropriations. Take for illustration and comparison the matter of state aid to the schools. The figures I use were sent to me upon request by J. W. Olsen, Supt. of Public Instruction.

There are 201 high schools in the state which, the last year, received $267,543 in state aid. In the same year the first and second class rural schools, 1,718 of them, received only $165,840, not much over half the amount received by the 201 high schools. Even if each of the 86 counties in the state should establish schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy and get, say, $2,000 state aid each a year the rural population would still get but very little more state aid than the 201 high schools. This is not saying anything about the towns having graded and semi-graded schools for the people of the smaller towns would derive equal benefits from the high schools in the county and the school of Agriculture and Domestic Economy, depending on whether they would want to prepare themselves for agricultural or other pursuits.

Now the farmers are themselves to blame for this condition of affairs—paying the most taxes and getting the least in return. The cities spend a little money and build school houses as required by law and get the state aid; the farmers do nothing and get nothing. When the farmers will do a little for themselves and get in a position to demand their proper share of things they will get it.

There is good authority for the above statement as I shall show. That the County Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy will be dealt with fairly if not liberally when established is assured by these reasons: First, we have his word for it that the Speaker of the House of the state legislature is heartily in support of such schools; second, judging from their attitude in the last legislature, a majority of the state senators and representatives are ready to help such schools whenever the farmers will do their part; thirdly, the educators of the state and nation have for some years advocated the establishing of such schools. I know from personal talks with them that J. W. Olsen, Supt. of Public instruction; Prof. J. M. Drew of the Agricultural School at St. Anthony Park; and Geo. F. James, Dean of the College of Education, University of Minneseta, are all strong friends of the county Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy. In 1905 the National Educational Ass'n, appointed a committee to look into the needs of the rural communities and here is an extract from that report: "So thoroly is the committee convinced of the importance of such education in rural communities and what is essential for making such education effective, that in their opinion the establishment of county Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy is an absolute necessity for the proper development and organization of the rural school system."

There is another heavy bump of evidence to help convince the doubting voters of Red Lake county that they vote right when they vote for the school. I refer to no less a person than President Roosevelt and to what he is doing and saying on the subject. Very recently, in July last I think, he appointed a commission to investigate the educational, social and economic conditions on the farms in the United States. This commission is to report him in time so that he can make recommendations from it in report to congress when it convenes in December. The scope of the work he wants the commission to cover is best appreciated from his own words. He says:

"How can the life of the farm family be made less solitary, fuller of opportunity, freer from drudgery, more comfortable, happier, and more attractive?

How can life on the farm be kept on the highest level, and where it is not already on that level be so improved, dignified and brightened as to awaken and keep alive the pride and loyalty of the farmers' boys and girls, of the farmer's wife, and of the farmer himself?

How can the desire to live on the farm be aroused in the children who are born on the farm?"

I quote again from President Roosevelt to show the importance he attaches to this question of rural life:

"With the single exception of the conservation of our natural resources, which underlies the problem of rural life, there is no other material question of greater importance now before the American people."

Such is the testimony of our foremost men of our nation—testimony that no one can misunderstand or fail to appreciate. Everyone feels that there is a crying need for something to be done in behalf of the rural population, and most of us realize that no ultimate good can be brought about without the farmers' taking hold and doing something for themselves. Just a little thought will make it clear to anyone that progress in anything or anywhere comes only after a clearer and more comprehensive insight is obtained in those things; that is, the farmers will make more money when they can apply the newest methods of farming thruout, but the "knowing how" must come before the making of the money. Social and economic progress must of necessity follow and be conditioned upon educational improvement. Social life on the farm will change only when the people come to look at it thru a higher intellectuality, that is, thru minds more familiar with life in general and trained to more quickly appreciate the advantages at hand. Economic conditions will be bettered to their full extent only when the farmer applies scientific and business methods in his work. This means more schooling of the right kind for the boys and girls and thru them the bringing of up-to-date knowledge to the farmers themselves.

The county Schools of Agriculture and Domestic Economy meets these conditions and fills their requirements to perfection. The counties which first establish such schools will be the first to secure to themselves ever increasing prosperity and happiness. Such a school will give the country boys and girls an education equal in polish to any other at the same age of the pupil and besides that, an untold amount of practical information and training. It will make the boys and girls look up to the farm instead of down on it. In short, it will put home life there on a higher level, educationally, socially, and finacially.

Is this claiming too much? Not at all. On the contrary, in a few years we shall see these claims fulfilled and other benefits and advantages brought about which we can not now forsee.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

A Usurer.

A story is told by a lawyer of Little Rock, Ark., about the sad case of a native of that town who sought justice by reason of the theft of a horse belonging to him. As, however, the man who took the animal returned it to the owner, the lawyer advised the aggrieved one to let the matter drop.

"Can't I have him arrested for usury, then?" demanded the man, indignantly.

"What on earth do you mean?"

"Daggone it, mister, he used the hoss, didn't he? Yes, sir, he used him mighty hard by the looks of him."

HE DEFENDS TIPPING.

"Somehow I don't approve these wholesale kicks on the tipping system," said a business man who is fairly prosperous. "I was a waiter myself once and know how it seems from the other side.

"Oh, no, I wasn't a regular professional, merely one of the college brand. Many college men, of course, help themselves through college by working as waiters and bellboys and boatmen and other things at summer resorts, and if they are squeamish about taking tips, why it isn't worth while taking such jobs.

"It came hard at first to take tips; gave me a sort of a feeling that I was unclassing myself. But it wore off. In fact there was a certain amount of satisfaction, after awhile, in getting a tip that had been earned by giving more careful service than the job really demanded. I remember now the pleasure it gave me to receive a gratuity and the 'thank you' was always meant.

"So now when life lies in less arduous places I find pleasure in giving a tip. I do not regard it as an overcharge or an extortion, merely a little reward that I can well afford to give to one who will appreciate it.

"If more persons would only look on that side of the question, the pleasure that a gratuity gives the recipient, I am sure there would be less kicking. Surely there is joy in kindness; at least I have found it so."

AFRAID TO EAT.

Girl Starving on Ill-Selected Food.

"Several years ago I was actually starving," writes a Me. girl, "yet dared not eat for fear of the consequences.

"I had suffered from indigestion from overwork, irregular meals and improper food, until at last my stomach became so weak I could eat scarcely any food without great distress.

"Many kinds of food were tried, all with the same discouraging effects. I steadily lost health and strength until I was but a wreck of my former self.

"Having heard of Grape-Nuts and its great merits, I purchased a package, but with little hope that it would help me—I was so discouraged.

"I found it not only appetizing but that I could eat it as I liked and that it satisfied the craving for food without causing distress, and if I may use the expression, 'it filled the bill.'

"For months Grape-Nuts was my principal article of diet. I felt from the very first that I had found the right way to health and happiness, and my anticipations were fully realized.

"With its continued use I regained my usual health and strength. To-day I am well and can eat anything I like, yet Grape-Nuts food forms a part of my bill of fare." "There's a Reason."

DEMOCRATIC PARTY AGAINST OUR NAVY

Objects to Appropriations to Make Us Equal to Our New Responsibilities.

Would Leave Us the Prey of Stronger Nations—Success of Monroe Doctrine Depends On Adequate Navy.

William Jennings Bryan has always opposed a great American navy. He went to Congress years ago, and if he accomplished anything worthy of note, the record has failed to show it. At that time the Democrats all over the country were looking to him with growing admiration because of his obstruction tactics. On July 9, 1892, he arose in his place in the House of Representatives and opposing a proposed naval appropriation, said:

"Mr. Speaker, I believe in a sufficient navy. We have this now, either in existence or in construction. We do not need more."

Is the Same Bryan Today.

Such was Mr. Bryan sixteen years ago and such he is to-day. He has opposed every proposed appropriation to increase and strengthen our navy, as a matter of defense and protection to our coast line, and a preventative of war with other nations, as a source of pride and prestige and insurance to our country. The matchless record of our navy at Santiago and in Manila Bay during the Spanish war interests him not. Had his ideas prevailed we would have had no victories on the water in that war.

Must Always Be Ready.

As wars between nations come suddenly, just as do personal conflicts between men, our navy must be maintained upon that basis of possible contingency. Our national history shows that wars have sprung suddenly into existence while wise men were proclaiming that war could not occur. There are many instances where the most unexpected occurrences have brought us to the very verge of battle.

We are not a military nation, yet we are a rich nation, and undefended wealth invites aggression. The very liberty of individual speech and action which we as a people so prize and guard, renders it possible that at times unexpected causes of friction with foreign powers may suddenly develop. Even at present this country is negotiating arbitration treaties with a number of the great powers. These treaties have a special usefulness because in the event of some sudden disagreement they render it morally incumbent upon both nations to seek first to reach an agreement to arbitrate and at least secure a breathing space during which the cool judgment of the two nations involved may get the upper hand over any momentary burst of anger. Such treaties are entered into with the hope of preventing wrong doing by others against us and also as a proof that we have no intention of doing wrong ourselves.

Preparedness Safest Peace Argument

Yet it is idle to assume that this world has yet reached the stage, or has come within measurable distance of the stage, when a proud nation, jealous of its honor and conscious of its great mission in the world, can be content to rely for peace upon the forbearance of other powers—as seems to be Mr. Bryan's idea. It would be equally foolish upon our part to rely upon each of them possessing at all times and under all circumstances and provocations, an altruistic regard for the rights of others.

Must Maintain American Prestige.

The United States can hope for a permanent career of peace on only one condition, and that is on condition of maintaining a first class navy—despite the obstructive tactics of the Democratic party.

The government has found it necessary to be liberal in appropriations for rivers, harbors and bays, for irrigation, for the construction of public buildings, and for various other public enterprises which redound either to the benefit of some specific locality or to the people at large. Every great power has found it necessary to provide protection for its commerce, its foreign trade, its ports, and its people doing business or traveling in other countries. We have become a great power. This nation today lines up alongside of the five great powers of the world. We have assumed responsibilities by the recent colonial expansion which was thrust upon us, and from which we cannot escape if we would, and ought not if we could.

Responsibility of World Power.

We have obligations to Cuba, where we have said to the world we will protect her against assault or invasion, against attacks upon her independence, integrity of territory, of her institutions. We have Porto Rico, which can be defended only from the sea, as Cuba can be defended only from the sea. We have the islands of Tutuila, Guam, Hawaii, and the Philippines far from the United States, all of which must be protected from the sea. We have assumed another obligation in the Panama Canal, which perhaps is greatest of all.

We have the longest line of sea coast of any other power in the world except one—7,000 miles—and in addition to that, Alaska. We have assumed responsibility for law and order in Panama. The spades and drills and steam shovels are there at work and the whole world is taking notice, because they are to alter the paths of commerce and to change the relations of nations. The future of the Monroe Doctrine is in the custody of our navy. Its peaceful recognition will be the tribute which other nations pay, not to the doctrine, but to our sea power.

We as a people do not fully appreciate the commercial jealousies now existing in Europe against us and which will be accentuated by the construction and completion of the Panama canal. Not alone our states on the Pacific, but the whole line of ports on the Atlantic Coast, will come into this competition, for the ports on the Atlantic coast are as near in miles to Japan, China and the Orient, by the Panama canal, as are the reservoirs that gather for distribution abroad, the products of Continental Europe, or London, through the Suez Canal.

Commerce and Our Sea Power.

This great future commerce cannot be protected by treaties alone. We cannot protect our commerce and expand our trade by mere arbitration at The Hague alone. We can only maintain commerce by having a sea power adequate for its protection, for the security of our islands, and to prevent a hostile fleet from destroying in a week the Panama canal, after it has cost us from two to three hundred million dollars and ten years to build.

It is therefore to the interest of every high-minded, public-spirited American to endorse the constructive policy of the Republican party, and encourage the establishment and maintenance of a first-class American navy.

HOW COULD BRYAN HELP?

His Prescriptions For Business Shown to Be Ineffectual.

(From the Pittsburg Gazette-Times.)

We hear of workingmen saying that this time they intend to vote for Mr. Bryan, because for the past ten months we have had hard times. But what good will that do? How is a tariff for revenue, ignoring the protection plea altogether, going to open the shops and mills? How will the election of Senators by direct vote start the wheels of industry? Or the publication of campaign contributions? Or the further harassment of the railroads? Or the reorganization of the House, so that the Speaker may be powerless? Why open this country now to the markets of the world when we have not sufficient demand to consume what we ourselves manufacture?

Exact Justice Highest Ideal.

The administration of exact justice by courts without fear or favor, unmoved by the influence of the wealthy or by the threats of the demagogue, is the highest ideal that a government of the people can strive for, and any means by which a suitor, however unpopular or poor, is deprived of enjoying this is to be condemned.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, at Columbus, Ohio.

Party Requirements.

As a party shows itself homogeneous, able to grasp the truth with respect to new issues, able to discard unimportant differences of opinion, sensitive with respect to the successful maintenance of government, and highly charged with the responsibility of its obligations to the people at large, it establishes its claim to the confidence of the public and to its continuance in political power.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, at Kansas City, Mo.

Labor and Capital United.

Anything that makes capital idle, or which reduces or destroys it, must reduce both wages and the opportunity to earn wages. It only requires the effects of a panic through which we are passing, or through which we passed in 1893 or 1873, to show how closely united in a common interest we all are in modern society. We are in the same boat, and financial and business storms which affect one are certain to affect all others.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, before the Cooper Union, New York City.

NON-PARTISAN LABOR PAPER.

Mine Workers' Journal, Representing 350,000 Coal Miners, Refuses Space to Politics.

The Mine Workers' Journal, official paper of the 350,000 coal miners of the country, published at Indianapolis, will not support Bryan in the coming election. In a statement to a correspondent the Mine Workers' Journal states:

"For obvious reasons we are compelled to decline publication of your well-written letter. It is contrary to the rules of the Journal to allow anything of a partisan political nature in its columns. Yours would invoke replies of a partisan nature and an attack on other partisan candidates from others who differ with you, and the columns of the Journal would be filled with letters of a partisan political nature to the exclusion of matter that is more interesting and calculated to do more good. Politics of a partisan character are excluded from the Journal for the good of the Journal and peace of its members."

Inspiration from Lincoln.

The leader of the Republican party during the Civil War was Abraham Lincoln. In all the varieties of controversy which it has since had to deal, it has never lost the inspiration of his leadership.—Hon. Wm. H. Taft, at Kansas City, Mo.

Political Notes.

The Republican party is greater than any man, a distinct contrast to the Democratic party, which has but one leader and he its master.—Hon. James S. Sherman.

It is announced that Mrs. Tennessee Claflin Cook is coming all the way across the ocean for the purpose of helping to elect Bryan. She is a determined woman, and Mr. Bryan probably will be unable to stop her.—Chicago Tribune.

Ex-Secretary Carlisle denies a rumor that he had declared for Bryan, but refuses to say more. This is about as much as has ever been known of his political position since leaving the Cleveland cabinet.—New York Times.

David B. Hill declines to enter the campaign for Bryan on account of his poor health. Mr. Hill's health has always been one of his best and most convenient assets when Bryan is running for office.—Omaha Bee.

Senator Foraker refuses to lend aid or comfort to the enemy.—Omaha Bee.

ONE KIDNEY GONE

But Cured After Doctors Said There Was No Hope.

Sylvanus O. Verrill, Milford, Me., says: "Five years ago a bad injury paralyzed me and affected my kidneys. My back hurt me terribly, and the urine was badly discolored. Doctors said my right kidney was practically dead. They said I could never walk again. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. One box made me stronger and freer from pain. I kept on using them and in three months was able to get out on crutches, and the kidneys were acting better. I improved rapidly, discarded the crutches and to the wonder of my friends was soon completely cured."

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

The disease was so bad on my hands that I could lay a slate-pencil in one of the cracks and a rule placed across the hand would not touch the pencil. I kept using remedy after remedy, and while some gave partial relief, none relieved as much as did the first box of Cuticura Ointment. I made a purchase of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and my hands were perfectly cured after two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap were used. W. H. The man who acts like a millionaire is a bluffer, for a millionaire never acts that way.

A Tarkington Epigram.

"Booth Tarkington, at a theatrical supper, spoke rather well," said a playwright, "on marriage. One remark in his speech struck me particularly by its epigrammatic truth. It was this:

"'Before she marries him, a girl's opinion of a young man is the same as his mother's; after marriage she comes around rather to his father's views.'"

AVOID RISK IN BUYING PAINT.

You take a good deal of risk if you buy white lead without having absolute assurance as to its purity and quality. You know white lead is often adulterated, often misrepresented. But there's no need at all to take any chances. The "Dutch Boy Painter" trade mark of the National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine white lead, on a package of White Lead, is a positive guarantee of purity and quality. It's as dependable as the Dollar Sign. If you'll write the National Lead Company, Woodbridge Bldg., New York City, they will send you a simple and certain outfit for testing white lead, and a valuable book on paint, free.
